My dear Clemens:

The library of H. is complete except about 10 or 20 short biographical notes that I can readily attend to, and a section from my humor which it can get along very well without, or blank can make up in a day or two notice, anytime.

This work is done, and will done, and you can send him this to let him know that I say so.

He and I will be on hand.

Yours ever,

W. D. Howells.
