Sun Yat-Sen Memorial Service

Sunday
22nd March, 1925
2:00 p.m.

International House
Riverside Drive
New York

"The stone was rolled away, and with the dawning day,
The prison broke, the spirit woke; the stone was rolled away.
Then at the tomb, thy ointment bring, and there thy sweet spice lay,
'Till angels bright in morning's light, shall roll the stone away.
Thy sweet spice is thy very life, and ointment is thy clay,
War is that tomb, but Peace shall come, and roll that stone away."
