TRINITY COLLEGE

HARTFORD

CONNECTICUT

HERE IS THE HEART

The phenomenon of final classes and graduation takes place thousands of times each spring, and has for many springs, but to every man who is leaving College, it is a remarkably important personal event. Very few will entirely agree with the Alma Mater that "college days are from care and sorrow free", a singular statement of monocellular bliss, but the passing of those college days is a distinct milestone in our lives.

Trinity College faced anything but a normal year in September 1946. The war had been over little more than twelve months and thousands of ex-soldiers, sailors and what-have-you turned to colleges equipped to accommodate only a fraction of their number. Perhaps there was a revolution in education. Who knows? The Ivied Walls buckled a little on the first impact and then got used to it. Magazines were packed with soulful and stirring predictions about the returned veteran, "his lined face thoughtful," etc., but actually there were almost none of the neurotic heroes whose problems could guarantee the magazines a high circulation. Much to its credit, American education seemed capable of taking a major invasion in stride.

Within a year or two of the commencement in 1950 colleges will "return to normal", whatever that is, and a much vaunted phase of the post-war period of American education will be over. The Class of 1950 has almost encompassed that period and it may not be inappropriate to take those four years, certainly memorable in our lives, and review them before the old grad's disease sets in and we begin singing about college days being "from care and sorrow free" and sentimentally meaning it.

Perhaps we had better straighten ourselves out on the utopian life that the Alma Mater suggests. College undergraduates can be good, bad or just ornery, but protect us from the day that they enter bovine bliss and face the challenges of education with a cud of pure contentment. We have seen restlessness and accomplishment at Trinity, in fact those two things seem necessary to one another. What has been accomplished has evolved as a product of pulling and hauling on all sides, student, faculty and administration.

The war suspended the great majority of activities on campus. That was challenging as each had to justify itself by performance and hardly one organization could ride on the coat tail of reputation. All in all, that painful rebirth was successful, blunders, inexperience and occasionally frayed tempers notwithstanding. If any one factor can be cited for this success, it probably is

JOHN EDWARD CANDELET

Assistant Professor of Economics and Veterans' Counsellor

Mr. Candelet came to Trinity in September of 1946. Before that time, he had been head of the Department of Economics and Assistant to the President of Rhode Island State University, a Lieutenant Commander at the U. S. Naval Air Station of Ottumwa, Iowa, and Assistant Dean of Students at Northeastern University.

He was graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Colby in 1927, receiving his M. A. there in 1928. In 1929 the University of Pennsylvania gave him an M. B. A. and in 1945 he was awarded an L. L. D. by Parsons College.

If one bright morning a student is seen madly dashing toward an entry in middle Seabury, the chances are that he's trying to get to one of Mr. Candelet's classes before the door closes. If he is accidentally locked out, "that comes under the heading of too bad!" If a class does not appear to be quite "on the ball," and wide awake, Mr. Candelet will not hesitate to tell it so.

Mr. Candelet is a professor who takes a personal interest in his students, who considers it an insult to his effectiveness as a teacher if one of them fails a test, who makes a course vital by drawing constant parallels to current affairs. In lectures, he is a perfectionist, trying to make every detail simple and clear.

As Veterans' Counsellor, he has solved the problems of many individuals. As the last veterans leave, they carry an eternal indebtedness to this man. They will remember his sincerity, his kindness, his patience, and above all, his understanding. For these reasons, we dedicate this book to him.

in the fact that there never grew up a general distinction of veteran, non-veteran. When that cropped up (someone taking the magazines too seriously) it was healthily hooted down, as a rule with the utmost "service incurred" condemnation, a priceless legacy from the war.

It is unwise to laugh too loudly at the groping efforts that had to precede student activity. If a blunder is spectacular enough there is just a chance that it will be remembered and prevent another for about four years. Then by the law of college turnover, the faculty and administration should gird up their loins for a repetition. It is to the credit of these more permanent groups that, by and large, they have kept hands off and not prevented this valuable experience which is one of the important phases of a college education.

No eulogies are called for when discussing campus activities. The hiatus is over and a firm foundation has been reestablished for the old times and new organizations have something more than a toe-hold, however there are no grounds for smugness or self-congratulation by the students . . . yet. Again citing the law of college turnover,

Occasionally We Tried The Bishop's Patience

it is sheer nonsense to consider anything in student organization for granted. In other words, the hectic rebirth of civilian activities on campus will count for nothing if there is not a vigorous follow-up, and that we cheerfully leave to the following classes.

At graduation a class will be told by some distinguished man how important they are to America and the world. Although this line suffers from repetition, it is dynamically true. The rub will come when, as college graduates, we find that society has not been waiting breathlessly for us to take over and do things properly. As a matter of fact, the greatest probability is that we will be told that we are freshmen again. Although that is a pride-pricking treatment it is almost a certainty that we and our classmates, when we too are getting a bit bald, grey or paunchy will administer the same dose of cold water to the Class of 1970 and on.

In order to bolster your courage as a coming freshman and perhaps make you a little more tolerant when you have stopped thinking in collegian terms, here is the 1950 IVY. In twenty years a lot of these, your classmates will be somewhat changed and perhaps you too will enjoy seeing a reminder of yourself in your "from care and sorrow free" collegian days.

G. KEITH FUNSTON
President

THE MAN WE LIKED TO CALL PREXY

Few colleges in the country can boast so young, so spirited, and so ambitious a president as Trinity's G. Keith Funston. In his few years at the Hilltop school he has already become a college tradition, and has the alumni as well as the undergraduates proclaiming that the school is enjoying a "Golden Age." Since President Funston's arrival the scholastic average of Trinity's students has increased, Elton Hall and the Memorial Field House have become realities, and sports teams on all levels have met with a consistent string of victories which have sounded throughout New England.

Valedictorian of the Class of 1932 Keith Funston is well aware of the potentiality which rests in each undergraduate. It is his belief that every effort should be made to bring out leadership "in the classroom, in extra-curricular activity, in the fraternity and dormitory, in the chapel, in the neighboring community, and on the playing field." It is with an eye toward making matriculation at Trinity a highly coveted possession that President Funston performs his daily duties.

Dignity and geniality are rare gifts that Dean Arthur H. Hughes brought to Trinity College. During the war, as acting President he demonstrated a talented combination of profound scholarship and able administration. Dean Hughes has won the respect and affection of the campus by his friendliness, good sense and humor. Among his many accomplishments, he is something of an expert on Indian place names in Connecticut. Perhaps a failure in Math 1T is somewhat less serious if one comes from Poquonock, Wepawaug or Menunkatuck. To know Dean Hughes is to understand the real meaning of integrity.

Arthur H. Hughes
Dean

AND THE DEANS WHO DOUBLED AS FRIENDS

No doubt the only person on the campus able to recognize or call by name every student at Trinity, Dean Clarke is beset with problems that would challenge the most accomplished magician. Just about every tale of woe imaginable is placed on his desk during the year, yet somehow, almost miraculously, they are all dealt with successfully. One of Trinity's most avid rooters, Joe Clarke is also coach of the highly capable swimming team—but more of that on another page.

Alpha Chi Rho

The Alpha Chi Rho Fraternity was founded at Trinity College in 1895, and it has grown to 29 chapters in colleges and universities throughout the country. The Phi Psi Chapter has the honor of being the only national fraternity ever founded at Trinity College. The aim of Alpha Chi Rho is to secure a membership of the highest standard, thoroughly homogenous in quality, and permanent in its allegiance to and effort for the Fraternity and the college. The Fraternity urges good scholarship, athletic endeavor, and literary effort.

Alpha Delta Phi

The Phi Kappa Chapter of Alpha Delta Phi sprang from a local organization, The Phi Kappa Society, which was founded at Trinity in 1835. The Phi Kappa Society was incorporated into The Alpha Delta Phi in 1877, and the Chapter has been continually active ever since.

Like many of the other fraternities on Trinity's campus, the Alpha Delts are entertaining ideas of building a new house in the not too distant future, but for the moment the theme is one of redecoration.

Thus, with strength in their numbers, and a view to the traditions of the past, the Alpha Delts look forward to continued success in the future.

Delta Kappa Epsilon

During the early months of the year, four men were initiated and several more were pledged.

Numerous social activities took place at the house, including Fall party weekends, Monday night dinners for the faculty, mid-season parties, and a gala cocktail party for the professors and their wives.

Under the very able direction of Brother Hubbard, the house reached a new high in intra-mural activities, the real peak being the completion of an undefeated touch football season.

Supervising the social functions was Brother Shepard, while Brother Sutton struggled with the books, and Brother Simpson acted as Brother Pi.

Delta Phi

Delta Phi, third in order of establishment of American college fraternities, was founded in 1827 and in 1917 established its Sigma Chapter at Trinity by uniting with the oldest local fraternity in America—the I. K. A., which was founded at Trinity (then Washington) College in 1829.

Returning this Fall to a House that had been tastefully redecorated during the summer months, gave the Chapter an added boost to spread the name of Delta Phi. Socially and academically the Sigma Chapter of Delta Phi remained as active as always, and continued under the guiding hand of its faculty advisor, Dr. Arthur Adams.

Delta Psi

The Epsilon Chapter of Delta Psi, founded at Trinity College in 1850, has just marked its 99th year on this campus. As in the beginning 99 years ago, so now is St. Anthony still a small, cohesive organization, believing—with the Fraternity at large—that quality, and not quantity, is the goal of any truly fine Fraternity.

St. Anthony and Trinity have grown together, and St. Anthony is proud of the part it has played in this growth, and proud of the leaders it has produced that have helped in making Trinity the college it is today. The Hall looks forward to next year—its Centennial—with pride in what it has accomplished, and confidence in what its second century will bring.

Psi Upsilon

The Beta Beta of Psi Upsilon evolved from the Beta Beta Society founded in 1842. This Society was founded to promote high ideals of scholarship and intellectual enthusiasm. In 1882 the Beta Beta became a chapter of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity, which now has 29 active chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

The Brothers will remember this as the year the house received a fresh coat of paint and the celebrated cellar a new door. They will remember this as the year bacon occasionally appeared for breakfast due to the lobbying of J. E. "Lacroose" Friday.

Sigma Nu

Founded at the Virginia Military Institute in 1869, Sigma Nu was early known as the Legion of Honor. It was the purpose of the Founders to establish ideals of intellectual achievement, character, and social development—on the foundation stone of honor. The Trinity chapter was organized in 1918 as Sigma Nu's 91st chapter, and has been functioning smoothly ever since.

Last year's big event was the capture of the coveted Alumni Trophy, while one of the many of this year's highlights consisted of winning the "Gismo" Contest during the football season.

Theta Xi

The Alpha Chi Chapter of Theta Xi Fraternity was originally founded as the Trinity Colony of Theta Xi in March, 1948 by eleven upperclassmen desiring a new and more progressive union. In less than seven months, the Colony had grown to number 27 men and had leased a house at 84 Vernon Street. In February, 1949, the Colony, now having expanded to 35 members, was installed as the Alpha Chi Chapter of Theta Xi—the first national fraternity to be established at Trinity College in 30 years.

Trinity Commons Club

The Trinity Commons Club was founded on this campus in 1931 as a local non-Greek letter fraternal organization. This year the brothers took over the third section of Jarvis, which has proved to be a valuable encouragement to unity and brotherhood.

The usual social activities have been held, climaxed by the annual Spring Banquet, which is the Mecca for long-lost alumni brothers. The Alumni Association, which lapsed during the war, has been reactivated, and promises to be an even more vital unit of the CTC than it has been in the past.

Tau Alpha

Tau Alpha, organized in March of 1949 as a local fraternity on the Trinity campus, has thrived in its healthy environment, and at present its membership consists of sixteen brothers and one pledge. In the future, Tau Alpha hopes to be affiliated with a national fraternity, and at present has the backing of the alumni of two fraternities, Alpha Tau Kappa—once a local here, and Phi Gamma Delta—a national fraternity whose Tau Alpha Chapter was once located at Trinity.

FRATERNITY PRESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION

The Fraternity Presidents' Association, newly organized on the campus last fall, is made up of the Presidents of each active fraternity at Trinity. The purpose of the group is to promote friendly relations between the Fraternities by creating a more personal relationship between the Presidents. This is done by having a dinner followed by an informal meeting one evening at each house during the year. Since there are no officers, the president of the house acts as chairman of the meetings.

Since its formation, the Association has done much to bring the Fraternities closer together.

THE IVY

The Ivy is a 77 year old institution. Its predecessor, the Tablet goes back to the founding of Washington College. Any student who looks through the Ivy archives in the Library stacks will find that it provides an interesting record of college traditions. He will discover, for instance, that Crew was once the chief sport at college. There was also bicycle racing, roller polo (polo on roller skates), lawn tennis, and ice hockey. Germans were held besides "proms." There was much hazing of Frosh in the form of "rushes." Daily chapel used to be compulsory.

The 1933 Ivy shows a handsome portrait of President Funston, who was, among many other things, Phi Beta Kappa, Vice President of his class, Medusa, and Assistant Editor of the Ivy. In the period between 1910 and 1920 undergraduates posed stiffly for their pictures in high, starched collars, and dark blue suits. Throughout the thirties, the dark suits remained, but the high collars were replaced by lower, non-detachable ones. In 1950, this conservatism in dress has relaxed into a more informal tone. The design of the Ivy has also become more and more informal. With the photo-offset process used by this book, more pictures are being printed than ever before.

The editors of the 1950 Ivy hope that each succeeding staff will produce a bigger and better book.

AIR R.O.T.C.

The Air R.O.T.C. was established at Trinity College in September, 1948. The group pictured above is the first to complete the series of courses which qualify college graduates for commissions in the Air Force Reserve.

The unit was organized under the direction of Major William E. Taylor and has become extremely active in intramural activities. The undergraduate Group-Commander is Seymour Page, Jr.

Highlight of the year's activities was the Military Ball held just before Christmas at the Hotel Bond.

With last year's editor Bob Herbert voluntarily retiring to the position of "elder statesman" on the Executive Board, the Tripod staff chose Peter Van Metre, John McGaw, and John Coote as Editor, Business Manager, and Managing Editor respectively, and elected columnist F. Scott Billyou to serve with Herbert as member-at-large of the Board.

With a predominantly sophomore staff, assisted by veterans Rau, Mitchell, Mathews, Brown, O'Conner, and Sports Editors Blum and Smith, the paper had its usual running battles with various campus factions, and was barely able to hold its own against the greatest enemy, campus lethargy.

For the first term the paper was sent weekly to all Trinity parents, but owing to lack of funds, this mailing list was cut back in January to those actually subscribing to the sheet. The active staff reached a post-war peak of some forty members, indicating a gradually widening interest in extra-curricular activities on the campus.

TRINITY REVIEW

The college's literati produced a Review with a new, more appealing format, which printed fine contributions from students and solicited faculty and alumni. Authors of two or more works accepted by the magazine are considered for election to the Editorial Board.

HARLEQUIN

Harlequin continues to probe the absurdities of college life and to poke fun at the pseudo college sophisticate's mania for sex, martinis, benzedrine tablets and white buckskin. He has performed admirably under the deft strokes of cartoonist O'Connor's quill and the stewardship of Monsieur Blum.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council of Trinity College was instituted for a three-fold purpose: to promote amicable relations among the fraternities, to promote the standards expressed in the Fraternity Criteria promulgated by the National Interfraternity Conference, and to make recommendations and to take such steps as seen calculated to increase the fraternities' contribution to the college life.

Each fraternity with an active chapter in good standing is entitled to appoint one graduate member and one undergraduate member to the council. This year saw the beginning of a delayed rushing plan, which the council at the request of the college, voted on last spring.

THE MEDUSA

Founded in 1893, the Medusa is one of the oldest honor societies on campus. Its main duty is to uphold College traditions, but as a disciplinary council it has the power to recommend individuals for censure or expulsion.

The tapping ceremony takes place in the spring before the statue of Bishop Brownell. Outgoing members of the Medusa tap seven Juniors who have especially distinguished themselves in their first three years at college.

Jay Geiger, Roger Hall, Frank Sherman, Jon Lambert during tapping ceremony.

The Sophomore Dining Club, one of Trinity's honor societies, was founded in 1897 by a group of students and faculty interested in furthering the college's public relations. The principal function of the club is to act as host throughout the year for the college by entertaining official visitors on the campus.

Each of the present forty-one members is listed with the Dean's office and the Public Relations Department by name, class, and major course of study. The college administration then is able to assign a visitor interested in a particular department to a member of the club majoring in that field.

The Senate is a body of twelve men, which forms the main organ of our student government, usurping what executive, legislative, and judicial functions it can. It manages the fund for student activities, formulates various student policies, enforces Frosh regulations with the help of the Medusa, and generally manages to remain inconspicuous, although performing a real service to the undergraduates.

As a symbol of student power, it must represent student interests to the administration. All Senate meetings are open to the student body, affording an opportunity for anyone to offer an opinion or present any special problem he may have.

JESTERS

This fall, after an absence of several years, the Jesters moved back to the campus. They felt that the advantages of being closer to their audience outweighed the disadvantages of Alumni Hall, for it was to Alumni Hall, with its dust and athletic fragrance, that they returned. It is still believed by some that Golden Boy should have been the play to initiate this new atmospheric home of the Jesters.

The lower floor of the old gym was used as the stage, and an area in the center of the floor was set aside for the action of the play. Using the pillars, which grow rather inconveniently out of the floor as one wall, and by placing rows of chairs as three other sides, an arena effect was achieved. The paraphernalia of the gym was hidden by curtains which were black, creating an all too somber effect for the first Jester production, French Without Tears. The four audiences for Rattigan's high comedy were surprised by the transformation of this ageless relic.

This play used two casts, and since each used only seven characters, a larger number of men were used in the play than at first thought possible. Among those who had parts were Robert Mansback, Ned Williams, Ronald Rowland, Albert Kranz, Sam Ramsey, David Collier, Leonel Mitchell, Joe Hyde, and Richard Avitabile.

In March the Jesters presented Paul Osborn's adaptation of John Hersey's A Bell For Adano. Joe Hyde will be long remembered for his Hamlet-like Joppolo, but even he couldn't have accomplished much without Pat Keller, Marland Berdick, Robert Drew-Bear, Richard Hooper, Stuart Woodruff, Herbert Park, Robert Sawyer, Scott Billyou, Michael Billingsly, Whitney Smith, Edwin Bleeker, Neal Edgar, and James Stanley. In May G. B. S's Androcles and the Lion completed their season.

PIPES

The 1950 PIPES, under the direction of Paul Thomas, boast perhaps the finest collection of talent that the group has ever seen. Singing on and off campus engagements, the Pipes have established themselves as a versatile, professional, and polished organization.

BISHOP'S MEN

Trinity's new octet, THE BISHOP'S MEN, was warmly received on campus following its first formal appearance at the Junior Prom. The group had a very informal beginning, but it is now assured that the Bishop's Men will become a landmark on Trinity's campus.

This year, under the able and enthusiastic direction of Mr. Clarence Watters, the Trinity Glee Club has had one of its most successful seasons.

Their fall schedule included concerts of light music at several preparatory schools, but their major accomplishment was at the Smith College Christmas festival, where the combined choral groups of both colleges presented Bach's Magnificat.

During the Trinity Term, the club presented a concert in the Chemistry Auditorium and a joint performance with the Radcliffe choral group in the Mather Chapel.

Scheduled for the spring was a concert with the Bel Canto Chorus of Hartford to be held in the Bushnell, the program consisting of Mascagni's Cavalleria Rusticana.

Officers this year were: Wilson Pinney, President; John Petrinovic, Business Manager; Ned Kulp, Assistant Business Manager; and William Austin, Librarian.

VARSITY "T" CLUB

The Varsity T Club is the representative body of the varsity athletic lettermen of Trinity College. Membership is obtained by an individual's winning one major T or two minor letters in a varsity sport. Student athletic interests and social activities are co-ordinated into this organization which can represent its needs to the administration and faculty and carry out its powers to the benefit of the entire campus. This year the club sponsored one informal dance in Hamlin Dining Hall.

THE BAND

In its fourth year of existence, the Trinity College band is quickly becoming a very active and integral part of campus life. The thirty-five members of the organization have become the core of school spirit by playing at all home football games and pep rallies and making trips to Amherst and Tufts for away games. On most Thursday afternoons, the band may be heard in the lower regions of Alumni Hall banging out many tunes in rehearsal for its appearances at games. After two years of satisfactory participation, the members are awarded a school letter along with a band emblem.

With the help of a five-man band committee headed by Raymond Lang, Director Merle Walker has worked hard to make the organization a respected and efficient one.

BOOSTERS' CLUB

The Boosters Club was founded in 1945 to promote greater interest in school activities and functions. At its inception the membership was small and the greater part of its efforts were devoted to publicizing athletic events, special lectures, and other campus activities of interest.

The Boosters Club has not done too much

"boosting" this year, but it hopes to do a great deal more "boosting" with increased membership. The club has the distinction of being the single campus organization which has tried to make every college attraction its special field of endeavor. The club has worked and will continue to work for an increase in school spirit.

WHO'S WHO

The names of eleven members of the Trinity student body appeared in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities this year. These students, selected by an anonymous committee of Trinity undergraduates, were chosen on the basis of character, scholastic and athletic ability, leadership ability, and extra-curricular activities. The eleven men chosen this year are pictured.

It may be said that these men represent the goal of a liberal arts college. Certainly they have achieved a degree of well-roundedness which is recognized and to be admired by these fellows. They may be considered as the true "aristocrats" of our college society, "gentlemen" whose example is full worthy of emulation. They are made of the stuff that will guarantee similar awards in the future.

"YOU'RE ON THE AIR."

WRTC was first organized in February of 1947. Since that time it has grown to three studios and offices in Cook Dormitory, a well equipped technicians' workshop, and a staff of better than forty-five men.

The station broadcasts Monday through Saturday with a variety of programs designed especially for college listening. Preparation and production of these programs is directed by members of the staff, many of whom have had several years of experience in the radio field. All broadcasting conforms to the rules and regulations of the Federal Communications Commission.

It is pledged to a program of Worship, Study, Giving; Evangelism, Service, and Prayer, which is carried on by frequent Corporate Communion, talks by men prominent in religious work and living, donations of profit from the sale of Christmas cards to Church and charitable organizations (this year a scholarship fund is being set up in the Philippines and the Church Society for College Work), leadership in the Advent and Lenten Compline services, and aid to Hartford's parishes in the form of Lay Readers, Church School Teachers, and Youth Workers.

CARDINAL NEWMAN CLUB

The Cardinal Newman Club, an organization which fosters the spiritual, intellectual, and social interests of the Roman Catholic students, celebrates this year its tenth anniversary as a religious club at Trinity College.

Since the end of the war, the club has been under the able direction of the Reverend Robert A. Callahan of St. Thomas Seminary, Bloomfield. With his guidance, the club obtained a wide variety of clerical and lay speakers for the regular bi-monthly meetings. In addition to these meetings, the Newman Club's activities for the year included two dances at St. Joseph's College, two communion breakfasts, and a week-end retreat held in the Spring.

B'NAI B'RITH HILLEL SOCIETY

Although it has functioned for a comparatively short period of time, the Trinity College Hillel Foundation, which has groups in colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada, is to foster religious and cultural interests among college students of the Jewish faith. This year at Trinity the society was fortunate in being able to hear interesting and informative talks given by both campus and off-campus authorities. Debates and discussions on pertinent topics were also scheduled. The Social Committee planned several dances and outings during the year.

The present officers of Hillel are: Ralph Kestenbaum, President; Edward Shapiro, Vice-President; Morton Rosenberg, Secretary-Treasurer; Donald Rome, Corresponding Secretary.

PROTESTANT FELLOWSHIP

The Protestant Fellowship was formed in the autumn of 1947 to fill the need for an organization to explore the tenets of those faiths not already represented on campus. Its members dedicated themselves to the study of the history of Protestantism, its influence on the world, and its duties in present day society. At the same time it was hoped to broaden the cultural background and enrich the religious life of the college community through lectures and discussions.

Among the highlights of this year's activities was a lecture on church music by Herbert White. The officers are Robert Obrey, President, and Art Brown, Vice-President.

THE ATHENAEUM

Working with a nucleus of ten debaters from last year's speech contests, the Athenaeum Society under the direction of Mr. James Egan, engaged in debates with Amherst, Wesleyan, Connecticut and other traditional rivals, entered the New England Forensic League's Regional Tournament, and staged exhibition intra-squad debates before civic groups in the Hartford area.

The principal topics debated during the year were nationalization of basic non-agricultural industries, outlawing the Communist Party, extending full recognition to Franco Spain, and refusing Communists permission to teach in American colleges.

For the first time since the war years the Society entered separate freshman teams in inter-collegiate contests.

ENGINEERING CLUB

The Engineering Club was organized to give the students majoring in engineering an opportunity to become better acquainted, to foster a spirit of fellowship, to bring to their attention current topics of interest, and to promote interest in the field of engineering. This is accomplished by sponsoring a series of lectures, showing motion pictures, and organizing field trips to neighboring industrial plants. Students majoring in engineering are automatically made members of the organization. Membership is, however, open to all interested students on campus. The club has Harold J. Lockwood, professor of engineering at Trinity College as its advisor. The officers elected for the 1949-50 academic year were Ernest Sunega, President, Bernard Wilbur, Vice-President, and Fritz Albright, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Brownell Club, formed in the spring of 1949, is an independent organization whose object is to provide social and athletic activities for those who are not members of fraternities. Of the eighty members, off-campus men predominate at present, but it is hoped that many resident students will join. The enthusiastic support of Mr. Shaw, faculty advisor, the Administration, and the members has firmly established the club.

The club promotes school spirit in many ways. Several dances, preceded by buffet suppers, were given during the big football weekends of the fall. Members actively participate in all intramural activities, also. Because of the rapid growth of Brownell, the Administration has given it permission to use Goodwin Lounge as its headquarters during the day.

The Fall of 1949 found the Trinity Corinthian Yacht Club in possession of two boats, a full racing schedule for the Fall term, and an authorization to run the Friday night movies on campus.

Under the supervision of Don Sheahan, the movies were both successful and remunerative. A double feature, "Ride the Pink Horse" and "One Touch of Venus" was particularly successful.

In the fall the racing teams travelled throughout New England, competing against such schools as Brown, Amherst, Coast Guard, Yale, Harvard, Annapolis, and Wesleyan. For the Spring Term the team has a schedule of five meets, starting early in April.

During the winter months, the dinghy hulls were worked on in order to provide further facilities for intra-mural as well as inter-collegiate competition by spring.

Officers for the Trinity Term are as follows: Fred Jackson, Commodore; Mac Jacoby, Vice-Commodore; Dean Clarke, Rear Commodore (Honorary); Phil Nash, Secretary; Craig Ludlow, Treasurer; William Peelle, Advisor.

Established in 1948, the Trinity Art Club, or T. A. C., was organized for a three-fold purpose: To provide interested undergraduates with a medium through which their works might be assembled and displayed, to exchange views with other amateur artists, and to foster the growth of interest in art at Trinity.

The members of the club, whose efforts vary from sculpture to different forms of painting, gave two interesting exhibitions this year. The success of these showings has built a firm foundation on which the group hopes to flourish.

The invaluable advice and aid given by Mr. Taylor and Mr. Pappas has guided T. A. C. over several obstacles. The officers for the '49-'50 season are George H. Wittman, Jr., President, and Donn Wright, Vice-President.

Lawrence, projected a series of weekly programs designed to inform students on campus of the Democratic Party's position on current issues, and sponsored several lectures open to all students.

With the Class of '49 eagerly grasping the sheepskin last June, the prospects for a good pigskin season in the fall faded. The vaunted line of '49 disappeared with graduation—no more would the names of Ponsalle and Holmgren smack the ears of Trin rooters. Meanwhile, the Freshman Class of '52 had advanced to the hallowed ground of upperclassmen and the record they carried with them on the gridiron was unblemished

As the weeks of hectic preparation fled, the first test on the gridiron loomed—and the prospect of meeting a Williams squad with one game under their belt was far from joyous. The balmy Saturday for the initial examination of the Hilltoppers arrived and Williams started to fulfill the ominous warnings of various speculators. After a costly Trin fumble and interception the Ephmen tallied the first six points and the home stands groaned with apprehension. But the Blue and Gold retaliated quickly and surged ahead with Vibert's extra point—only to have their efforts nullified by another Ephmen TD, plus point after. From this point on, a frustrated Williams eleven was never again to see the shadows of the goal post—an innovation on the Trin field was beginning to have telling effects—the two-squad system employed made first downs for the opposition scarce as Phi Beta Kappa keys and touchdowns for Trin as easy as a 59.4 in Math. Trin went on to amass a total of 415 yards, producing the final result of 34-13.

The next adversary on the schedule was Norwich—and the poor Cadets, land minded as they are, found themselves quite at sea. The Hilltoppers seemed to have possession of the Leahy amulet—everything worked—Norwich 0 Trin. 71—even the scoreboard refused to be witness to the massacre. The next week found us in alien territory at Hobart and with our former ace quarterback, Whitey Kunkiewicz, unable to play in his senior year, Ed Ludorf filled the position, and was not long in showing the fans the type of football wizardry they hoped for. The first touchdown against a disillusioned Hobart came on the fourth down in aerial form—Ludorf to Aiken. Pickett and DePatie turned the game into a complete rout as both scooted and scampered at will. The score, luckily for Hobart, only reached the proportion of 42-0.

Trin now was intent on coaxing the Middlebury Panthers into their trainingcage. Trin's '48 campaign had bogged down in the Panther's den and now the Bantams were eager for something to crow about. The dreaded Black Cat turned pussy for 60 minutes. Goralski and Magnoli, abetted by Hall, Ludorf and Pitkin, snapped the offensive whip and the final score was 69-13, Trin.

The invading Engineers from Worcester Tech had little luck in their attempt to stop the surging wave of Blue and Gold. Two veterans performed spectacularly in the humiliating defeat of 62-0; Corcoran unleashed his winged feet and took a Tech kickoff for a 95-yard jaunt—then Eblen added confusion to the melee by taking the bandages off his injured knee and adding six more points. The schedule was getting tougher—there was still the psychiatric ward in Middletown to contend with.

Before the straight-jacket force could be met there was a formidable hurdle to be cleared in the land of Lord Jeff. Probably the biggest crowd of loyal Hilltoppers ever to travel to an away game showed up for one of the best contests of the season. The Jeffs were not to be pushed around—the first quarter found both teams looking sluggish—the field wet and commencing to be soggy made running bog down and passing dangerous. Indeed, this was not the description of the first quarter alone; the half came and went and still both teams could not utilize the occasional breaks afforded them. Aiken repeatedly got Trin out of tough scrapes and placed the Jeffs back on their heels—a 50-yard boot landed within inches of the one yard stripe. The third quarter saw little in offense—both teams excelling in their defensive rolls—Little Sam Nakaso, Sherman, Garrison Oberg, Wentworth, McDonnell, Hutnick, Simoni and Kulus all contributed to the great defensive game put up by the Bantams. Something was due to break—but when—AND FOR WHOM?—were the things that kept everybody treading water in the bleachers. Finally, De Patie on a pitchout from Ludorf did the trick—a faster piece of running never will be seen. Vibert, having shown his mastery of the extra point (8 for 9 in the Worcester game and 9 for 10 against Middlebury) added the extra 'one'. The deciding blood had been drawn—the Jeffs let down—on their next punt Goralski scooted 40 yards for pay mud. The Jeffs did manage to score but failed in the conversion—Trin immediately duplicated the action, and Vibert's sure toe paid off once again. Trin 21-Amherst 6.

Yes, it was here once more—our arch rival from Wesleyan had come up to pay us a social call (we hoped). Wes came into camp carrying a record that Vassar could have equaled in the Big Ten—but, that wasn't new in the historic Trin-Wes series—and more than once the outcome of the foray found the Hilltoppers saying, "Wait 'Til next year." Many of the seniors on the squad, Rog Hall, Bill Pitkin, Corcoran, Eblen, Sherman and Barrows remembered only too well the recent defeats handed us by the Cards. The previous night witnessed one of the biggest rallies in Trin history, and the crowd that assembled at the gates well before opening time showed evidences of laryngitis, drooping eyelids and occasional hiccups. As was to be expected Wes was tough—a line that almost matched ours—and it looked as if the big game might end up in a tie. Finally the old scoring combination of Ludorf to Aiken clicked—a catch by the latter few will forget—and Vib—yeah man, he kicked the extra point. Wes, not to be outdone, scored on a long pass and the game rested on the slim margin of '1'—all depended on Wes's conversion. Final score Trin 7—Wes 6.

A perfect season for Trin was in sight but Tufts had been acting erratically all season long and once more stomach butterflies were rampant. Tufts was by no means a pushover—fighting hard all the way, they thwarted the Blue and Gold's goal-line drives. Eventually, Ludorf hit Aiken for the only score of the game—Vib did miss the point—but who cares—we had our undefeated season—eight perfect games for the Hilltoppers.

Much more went into the season's Un-Un record than is presented here; it can be said in three words—Jesse, Parks and Christ. Just for the records, in the past four years Trin has lost only 5 games, winning 23. This year we ran up an accumulative gain of 3090 yards against 996 for our opponents. Trin's accumulative score—346 points against 38 for our opponents during the '49 season.

Along with the honors taken by the team as a whole both Capt. Hall and Capt.-elect Oberg gained individual recognition. For Capt. Hall—it was a place on the All-Connecticut and an honorable mention on AP's Little All-American. Our Captain-elect Oberg placed himself on All-Connecticut, All-New England (INS), All-East and Little All-American (AP).

The Blue and Gold Soccer squad proved no exception to the fall victory trend, winning five, tying Wesleyan 2-2, and losing only to Amherst 5-1. Under the leadership of Bob Wood, the booters promoted soccer to a major sport. The high spot of the season came with a victory over Yale, 1-0.

Fitting tribute to Coach Hal Shetter was the election of Nick Nelson to the All-American Soccer Squad, and the placing of Cort Nelson and Captain Bill Wood on the All-New England team.

BASKETBALL

With probably one of the toughest schedules a Trin five ever had to face the 'big Oo' had his hands full. Only five Varsity men reported back for practice. Still with the squad were three regulars: co-captains Bill Pitkin (winner of the "Most Valuable Player Award", which takes in all major sports, in '49) and Ron Watson (last year's winner of the "Coach's Foul Shooting Trophy") plus our hook shot artist, Moon Curtin. Outside talent from the former Freshman Club and the admittance of Bob Jachens (a transfer student last Fall) to a varsity playing status, were counted on heavily.

The first game was with the ex-champion Crusaders from Boston. Little time was available for the team to reach perfection and consequently little was looked for in the contest up in the Boston Garden. Holy Cross (or just plain Cousey) was clicking and the Blue and Gold with the lack of experienced players and practice failed to register any type of an upset—H. C. 77—Trin 39.

From here in, the Bantam five started a rapid pace in improvement and for a stretch of four games bowled over all opposition in their way. Then the old nemesis—Wesleyan—met us on their own court—the outcome was stunning, to say the least. With our star forward Ron Watson hospitalized, the Cards registered 57 to our 56. Once more the team hit their stride, overthrowing five more quintets before the fateful trip to Tufts. Tufts had been playing good ball all season and we hit them on one of their best nights. Trin bowed once more by the score of 79 to 72.

Again we had the pleasure of entertaining the Cardinals and this time, with Watson in for partial duty, Trin exhibited some of the class shown previously against a powerful Yale Club—Trin winning the latter 60 to 56. The whole team joined in the Cardinal (70-55) route. From any point on the floor the Blue and Golders were a threat. Pitkin and Jachens were always dangerous outside the keyhole range, while Watson, Hutnick, Curtin, Naüd, Goralski and Van Lanen were potent factors near the post. For the remainder of the games Trin continued to glide along, finishing the season with only three defeats.

Sam Nakaso continually delighted the fans by outjumping 5-footers and up (for Sam that's an effort) and stealing the ball from his bewildered opponents. The defensive play of the Blue and Gold was something to watch. The shifty and flexible zone remained a troublesome barrier for all opponents to hurdle. Pitkin's stellar play off the backboard earned us many a victory.

As the season drew to a close against an over-aggressive Coast Guard Quintet, the Trin five had not broken a record. Before the Hilltoppers got through breaking the backs of the ambitious sailors, two records went by the wayside. Trin racked up the highest team score of her history—and the high total game score of 126 points in '44 against Wes (Trin winning by 42 pts.) was outdone by the high total of 151. Both records rest on the efforts of the entire team, with special mention for Van Lanen, who tossed in a foul shot in the closing seconds of the game. Another fine season for Coach Ray Oosting,—and “Oo,” what a season!

The Trin Natators really did a job for us this year. The Varsity squad headed by Captain Grill took six out of their nine engagements. Indeed, Coach Joe Clarke can be rightfully proud of the record established by his tank men. In the last show of the season—The Red Cross Benefit Meet—Kirschner, head breast stroke man of the aquatic force, broke the pool record—parting the waves at a sensational 2:23.4 pace.

In the clean sweep of our rival Wesleyan the mermen accumulated 46 points against the opposition's 22. The H2O lads from the New London area did not fare any better with the Blue and Gold—we sunk the Cadets by the one sided score of 58-17. (no wonder the Coast Guards' main duties are within sight of land).

Last year saw the organization on an informal basis of the first intercollegiate lacrosse team in Trin's history. The energetic work and skillful playing of Carl H. Tiedmann, the team's first captain, and the kind and invaluable assistance of Mr. Edward Waters, Dartmouth '38, as part time coach combined to mold a group of generally inexperienced players into a team of fine spirit and considerable ability. Providing most of their own equipment, the team played a five game intercollegiate schedule, beating Brown, Nichols and the Springfield J. V.'s while losing to W. P. I. and Amherst.

BASEBALL

Although the traditional Southern trip saw three of its six games rained out, the Trinity nine returned home and missed a .500 season by two games. Even though his team failed to compile an enviable record on the diamond in the 1949 season, Coach Dan Jessee looks forward to a successful Spring with the return of several capable lettermen and some new life and talent due to report from last year's frosh aggregation.

This year the team will swing South playing Quantico, Univ. of Virginia, two games with Western Maryland, and a contest with V. M. I. With suitable sun-tans and southern drawls, the men will return to Hartford to play all the top talent on the East Coast. Twenty-one games have been scheduled, and Dan and the boys are out to win them all.

TRACK

Both Coach Booth and Parks are looking forward to one of Trin's best season in track. Last year's team, headed by John Noonan, met tough opposition and with a series of bad breaks came out below the 50% mark in their schedule.

However, one of the oddest and most unusual incidents in track befell the spirited club—in a meet with Worcester Tech both teams accumulated 63 points—depriving the Blue and Gold and the Tech men of a decisive outcome

TENNIS

Coach Hal Shetter's netmen failed to shine brilliantly on the courts last year, but hopes are high for this coming spring. Norman Eckland will take over the coaching reins this spring and carry on the fine job by 'Hal'. While the record was not too impressive, spirit ran high and returning lettermen are out for revenge.

FROSH GRID

Over sixty candidates for freshman football greeted Coach Fred Booth on the opening day of practice last fall, and therein started the tough job of building a football team from a group of fellows who were new to the system and even newer to their teammates. Fred was ably helped in this assignment, not only by the tireless efforts of "Ike" Wooley (class of '16), Major Folan of the

Anxious to maintain the undefeated season of their predecessors, the boys took the field and although they finished with a two-two-one record they produced a host of good-looking prospects for next year's varsity.

The team started off by losing a heart-breaker to Springfield 6-0; then battled to a 0-0 tie with Amherst. The following week saw a smashing 27-0 win over Massachussets, but the joy was short lived as the boys dropped a hard fought game to Cheshire, 18-13. The win over Wesleyan, 13-7, needless to say highlighted the season.

Officials' raised arms indicate a score as does Binda's resting in the end zone.

STARS OF

In Freshman Basketball was found another bright spot on the yearling calendar as the Boothmen hooped their way to eleven wins against only two losses. Sparked by Wally Novak and Bruno Chistolini, who scored 181 and 176 points respectively, the Blue and Golders showed tremendous potential as future varsity stars. Also, Novak finished the year with an 85 per cent mark in free throws, making 47 out of 55.

Consistently good on the rebounds were Dave Tiechman and Bob Lee, with Charlie Wrinn helping out. Accurate shooting and good ball handling plus teamwork were the things that spelled defeat for the opponents with the additional ever present spirit and desire to win.

The team started off badly by losing to a very good Holy Cross combine by the score of 58-33. Then Chistolini, Novak, and Wrinn combined their efforts to produce forty points and a win over Leicester Jr. 75-46. After trouncing Massachusetts 60-37 the boys suffered their second and last defeat at the hands of the Yale Frosh, 70-60. With Wrinn dropping twenty points and Novak thirteen, Morse College was smothered and "Booths' Boys" went on to hop all over Hopkins to the tune of 71-34, with Novak swishing nineteen. Amherst proved to be a thriller but Chistolini's twenty-two points and some excellent defensive play by Del Mastro brought home victory 59-57. The team got by Trinity School by one point, 49-48, and then blasted St. Thomas, 93-58, with Wrinn making thirty-two points. The rest of the season was taken in stride by Fred Booth's fine club. Wins over Wesleyan, Cheshire, Kingswood and Monson rounded out a very successful season for the first year men.

The frosh swim team made a "splashing" record as they literally and figuratively swamped six of their eight opponents, losing only to Yale and Deerfield. Ray Parrott, team captain, broke the freshman and pool records in the one hundred yard breaststroke with a 1:05.7. Ray LeMaire broke the college freshman record in the Yale meet with 23.7 seconds in the fifty yard freestyle and Parrott set another new record in the hundred yard breaststroke with a sizzling 1:03.2.

INTRAMURAL BOARD

The Intramural Athletic Program plays a large part in the school life of 75% of Trinity students. Through the efforts of Stu Parks and the Intramural Board, this program now encompasses such sports as touch football, tennis, volleyball, basketball, table tennis, swimming, squash racquets, wrestling, bowling, softball, track and golf.

In the past years Sigma Nu has dominated the competition for the Alumni Cup, but with the addition of five new organizations, competition is more spirited than ever.
