SUMMER SCHOOL

TRINITY COLLEGE offers the following courses for its summer school of 1945. Credit is given for these courses—toward a Bachelor's Degree for all and toward a Master's Degree for some. Although Trinity College does not award the Bachelor's Degree to women, all summer school classes are open to both men and women, and credit can be transferred to other colleges awarding such a degree.

All classes will be held at the indicated hours in classrooms and laboratories on the campus. These buildings are fairly cool even on hottest days. Information concerning the exact building and room may be obtained at the time of registration.

The summer school of 1945 is divisible into two 6-week periods. One is from June 25 to August 4 and the other is from August 6 to September 15. A few courses extend over the entire twelve weeks and are not divisible. Most courses, however, offer credit for just one period and are followed or preceded by other courses, so that a student may secure credit in any one of a number of courses during each section of the summer school if he so desires. Registration may be made by mail or on June 23 or June 25 from 9:00 to 12:00 in Jarvis Hall, Room 1. Classes start June 25.

The director of the Summer School, Dr. Irwin A. Buell, will be glad to answer any questions concerning credits, admission requirements, et cetera.

FEEES

Tuition is charged in general at the rate of $10.00 for each semester hour of credit. A small laboratory fee is necessary in a few courses to cover the cost of materials. A registration fee of two dollars must be paid by all students. Fees should be paid at the time of registration.

CAFETERIA

A cafeteria on the campus will be open to all summer school students, both men and women.

DORMITORIES

Dormitory rooms are available for all young men in attendance at the summer school. Young women will have to live off-campus. Attempts will be made to find suitable rooms for them.
