Howland Urges Support For Building Fund Drive

By John Wiltington

May 14 — Senator William Howland, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, urged support for the building fund drive today at a weekend college arts festival. Howland stressed that the $12,000 Christmas ticket had been the college’s only source of revenue. The festival would include performances and assistance from the Jesters, Glee Club, fraternity parades and Masses, and a college organized football game. The Senate was declared carpe diem.

Keith Funston

The Commencement speaker, a Life Trustee of the College, will have his 12 years in the presidency of Trinity at the ready for the student body. While an undergraduate at Trinity, he purchased the first annual yearbook. He was declared a man of the future.

IFC Airs Weekend Violations

Discuss Changing Spring Fetes

May 14 — An exceptional four-hour meeting of the Interfraternity Council today resulted in a recommendation that the social fraternity’s spring weekend be canceled. It was decided that the gas had been used up for this year and the fraternity would be held in the afternoon.

Jesters Choose Tuttle President

May 16 — Richard Tuttle, ‘63, was elected president of the Jesters today by a unanimous vote. Tuttle, who has been on the IFC Executive Board since the beginning of the year, has been a member of the IFC for two years. In the election, Tuttle received 104 votes, while his opponent, Justin W. Colvin, received 1 vote.

The Jesters are a social fraternity and are the largest social organization on campus. They have a membership of over 500 men.

Chaplain Thomas Replies To Evaluation Criticism

By LEO SHILTON

MAY 17—Chaplain J. Moulton Thomas derided that there was a lack of "intellectual exploration" in the Chapel, clarified his stand against monitored Chapel attendance, and reaffirmed the close harmony between the Chapel and the Religion Department today in a Chapel talk.

On the subject of required Chapel attendance he said, "I am surprised to see that the evaluation which criticizes secularizing re-treats to secular authority (monitoring church attendance)."

Chaplain Thomas reminded the congregation that they were not here five years ago when another study was made concerning the then required daily attendance. "Then the church was a dungeon, a place you had to go to," he said. "Now it is a place where one can go if he wants to." Citing the improvement in attendance after the initial drop immediately following the abolishment of daily chapel, he said, "I feel the beginning of a new tradition."

Uncomplimentary Attitude

"I knew before I came here that his attitude was not complimentary towards the Chapel," he stated. "I was asked to come not as a teacher, but as a pastor of a family of the college." Citing the report criticizing the "lack of intellectual exploration," the chaplain questioned those who wrote the report as to whether they took advantage of the opportunities in the chapel. He then proceeded to list the Sunday Vesper speakers, and stated that of the thirty professors who have spoken in the Chapel each Sunday and Friday for the past two years, "The Chapel does offer opportunities for thinking," he declared.

Stressing that there was no conflict between the Chapel and the Religion Dept., he said, "I was asked if he was pleased with the increased enrollment in the department, "It is not only the scholarship of religion professors, but also their quality and character that make the Department popular."

Theoledge Department

He suggested that the name of the Department be changed to "Theoledge Department," stating the difference between the functions of the Department and the Chapel. "After all, the chief function of the Chapel is worship," he concluded.

Looking ahead, the Chaplain suggested that each fraternity choose a date when it can have its own service and then all fraternities could hold one for the whole Chapel. "That would be a service," he said. "If the Dean of Men had his own service, all the fraternities would be able to participate and dedicate themselves to the highest practice capable of a Trinity man."

Johnson Advises CODE Activity

MAY 19—Stressing the necessity of a positive and well-planned program, Religion professor William A. Johnson this afternoon addressed a meeting of CODE. He emphasized informed knowledge of the college and the community about the nature of CODE, performing social services for those in need, and participating in social action (freedom riding, picketing, and the like).

The latter point, Johnson maintained, is the most important for words without action are as useless as a rebel without a cause. Following Johnson's talk, Sentinel Coordinator reported that 150 had been sent by the organization to the North. Student Movement to support tutorial projects in Philadelphia and Prince Edward County, Virginia. The money, he said, was raised in a fund drive two years ago. He also made reference to a book which was recently presented to him to purchase necessary books and literature because of the increased enrollment in the college and the community.

Stressing that there was no conflict between the Chapel and the Religion Dept., he said, "I am pleased with the increased enrollment in the department; it is not only the scholarship of religion professors, but also their quality and character that make the Department popular."

To Hold Concert

Sarah Lawrence College, recent host to colleges at the Intercollegiate Conference on Civil Rights in the North, has announced it will hold a benefit jazz concert on Sunday, June 3, the proceeds of which are to go to the southern policemen. Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, Sarah Lawrence's Student Member, has said that she hopes the show will net $300.

The evening of modern jazz, song and dance has been composed and will be performed entirely by students. Columbia's John "Churchville's" original jazz composition entitled "Boredom, Anxiety and Despair," dealing with social and political problems, will be the central theme. The music will be supplemented by Sarah Lawrence singers and dancers.

Sarah Lawrence is one of many colleges participating in the fund drive for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC). Donations of protest have been raised recently in northern colleges because of the arrests of SNCC leaders by the state of Louisiana on charges of non-violent civil rights.

There are at present five student leaders—the Four Dogs and one while awaiting court decisions for pursuing quoads for educational activities, including SNCC chairman Charles Martin. The anxiety charges, conviction of which brings up to two years of hard labor, have been dropped, but other charges remain.

"Boredom, Anxiety and Despair" will be held in Reisner Auditorium and will begin at 8:00. Admission is $1.00.

Trackmen Pummel Jeffs 81-45 in Final

By JOE MARTIN

May 15 — The trackmen rolled to their sixth straight dual meet victory today with an 81-45 scoring over Amherst, the first dual meet of the se-season. The win enabled the Bantams to finish undefeated on the championship circuit, and one of Coach Kurfth's finest wins since he took over the reins a decade ago.

Amherst, however, had the meet's standout in Fred Sa.Ucs, who won the 200 meters with a sub 50 second 440 as well as 880. Previously, Dick has run a 51.4 victory.
