Meade Explains Theories Leading To Brainwashing

FEB. 28 - Associate Psychology Professor Robert D. Meade explained this evening that brainwashing is the result of a mental breakdown caused by a lack of intellectual stimulation.

Speaking at the first in the Senate's Lecture Series discussions, the former Research Psychologist for the Defense Department observed that the U. S. is ahead of the Chinese Communists in brainwashing, which he referred to as a "re-education technique".

The theories behind it do not include brainwashing itself, Meade insisted. Research started when a Swedish ophthalmologist wanted to see what a person observes when for the first time after the removal of a life-long cataract he looks out on the world. According to Dr. Meade, the observer has sharper color perception but cannot distinguish shapes.

Directors Reveal 1-Act Play Casts

Donato Strammello and Bruce Jay, student directors of the Jesters, have announced the casts for the two one-act plays to be presented on March 7 and 9 in the Washington Room of the Student Center at 8:15 p. m.

The cast of "Hold on Hortense" by Courteline which is being directed by Junior Donato Strammello, consists of Dave Galaty, '64; Wilbur Hawthorne, '64; John Westney, '64; Elias Karson, '63; Fred Knier, '65; and Jim Levine, '65. Mary Ann Przybycien of Hartford plays the title role of "Hortense."

"Three Actors and Their Drama" by DeGhelderode which is directed by Sophomore Bruce Jay, has a cast consisting of Conrad Van Der Schroeff, '63; Peter Mellon, '66; William Eakins, '66; and Raymond Drate, '63. Gerda Schwartz of West Hartford will play the ingenue.

Following the performance on Thursday, there will be a discussion on the theatre of the absurd between the actors and the audience.

Tickets are available at the door or at the Mather Student Center.

Some of these people learned to distinguish shapes after awhile, he said, but some, especially the older people, could never make the adjustment.

This phenomenon was explained by a professor at McGill University in the 1940's, Meade continued. This professor developed the neurological theory that when first developed, the billions of brain cells are confused and only as they have sensory experience do junctions between nerve fibers grow together forming the mechanism by which nerve impulses are readily transmitted.

THOSE PEOPLE who are deprived of the use of their eyes cannot easily develop these mechanisms since they have not been influenced by external stimulation, Meade explained.

The problem of brainwashing is merely to reverse this building up process, said Meade.

Dr. Meade referred to a study at McGill done in 1954 in which students were asked to stay in a small dimly lit cubicle for two days. The students wore translucent goggles, earphones, heavy sleeves to restrict arm movement and gloves. Most students could not stay more than two days, he said.

According to Dr. Meade, many students heard voices, saw nonexistent things especially a window, experienced psychotic episodes and exhibited confused thinking. This mental deterioration lasted for some time after they left the cubicle, he said.

This is the basis of brainwashing, "man's great need for stimulation," Meade continued. A man in this condition is ripe for the brainwasher. First, he said, comes a distortion of a basic idea, then more and more until after two weeks a man can be brainwashed sufficiently.

"He cannot critically handle the changes he is handed," Meade said.

"If a man is in solitary confinement for more than a month in prison, we can predict he will never be the same man again," Meade emphasized. "He is ruined. He will never regain his social functions."

Red China Traveler Greene To Describe 'Inconsistencies'

Felix Greene, world-traveler and author, will deliver the fifth lecture in the college lecture series Monday, at 7:15 p. m. in the Chemistry Auditorium. He will discuss "China Revisited."

Greene has in the last three years traveled extensively in Red China. His new book, Awakened China, gives a report-in-depth from interviews and information obtained during his travel in China. In a four-month trip in 1960, he traveled more than 10,000 miles visiting Communes, hospitals, schools, prisons, and courts of law. His exclusive interview with Prime Minister Chow-En-Lai was the first granted a Western correspondent in many years.

"I went to China first in 1957," Greene said in Awakened China, taking with me all the prevailing assumptions and apprehensions generally prevalent in the United States. I expected to find a country of vast impoverishment and dreadful squalor and disease... a people embittered by the rigid coercions of a police state. That was the China I expected but it was not the China that I found.

"No one can be in China for more than a few hours without sensing an almost tangible vitality and an enormous optimism," Greene said.

"I came away certain that, whatever our view of it might be, what was taking place in China was one of the great historical events of our era," Greene emphasized.

He feels that "with a variety of hostile, friendly, or ambivalent feelings, Asian leaders are watching the transformation of China into a world power and are wondering when America will understand and come to terms with this reality."

"... China is a very inconsistent country," Greene continued. "There's too much going on. The country is full of experimentation. And it's changing all the time." "One important element in the whole China picture is her feeling about us. China is deeply involved with America. The intensity of her hostility colors her world perspective and profoundly influences her policies," he said.

Speaking about the conflict between the United States and Red China, Greene said that "out of this mutual distrust has come a tragic and almost total breakdown of communications."

Born in Britain, Greene has been sent on a number of missions by the British government. He originally came to America to head the British Broadcasting Corporation staff here. Currently he heads his own American importing firm and considers himself an Anglo-American.

A reception for the speaker will be held following the lecture at the Brownell Club at 84 Vernon St.

All-College Average Rises; QED Tops Fraternities Again

MARCH 1 - The all-college average for the Christmas term rose slightly from that of the previous Christmas term, from 77.0 to 77.13, according to a report released today by college Recorder and Statistician Mrs. Ruth C. Rogge.

QED led the fraternities for the fifth consecutive semester with an 82.15 average, an increase of 1.76 over their 80.39 of last year. Pi Kappa Alpha took second fraternity honors with a 79.26 average, a slight decline from their 79.29 average one year ago.

The Brownell Club topped 10 of the 11 fraternities with an 80.83 average.

Other fraternity averages were Theta Xi, 79.22; Phi Kappa Psi, 78.91; Alpha Delta Phi, 78.01; Alpha Chi Rho, 77.57; Delta Phi, 77.05; Delta Psi, 76.44; Psi Upsilon, 76.44; Delta Kappa Epsilon, 75.94; and Sigma Nu, 75.82.

The senior class topped the others with 48 men on the Dean's List. Juniors were second with 37, followed by the sophomores with 32 and the freshmen with 12.

Dean's List eligibility was based on an accumulative semester average of at least 85.0. Students on old curriculum have to carry at least five courses unless one of these is a thesis course with no grade until June. In those cases, eligibility is based on four January grades. Under the new curriculum, four courses must be carried.

Seniors also topped the college with their class average of 79.55 though this average was slightly below their 79.88 of a year ago. Junior averages were 78.15, sophomores averaged 76.81 and the freshmen 74.53.

The 480 fraternity men topped the 554 independents (including freshmen and Brownell Club members) 78.08 to 76.31, while non-resident students led resident students 78.0 to 76.97. Married students scored 78.52 compared to single students' 77.10.

According to the report, the average number of students per section stands at 18.70, with 45 sections containing from one to five students. There were only two sections with 81-85 students.

Poet Root of Birch Society To Consider 'Radical Right'

An active supporter of the John Birch Society will consider the question "Who Is the Radical Conservative?" in a Political Science Club lecture in the Chemistry Auditorium, 7:30 p. m., March 5.

Author, poet, and lecturer, E. Merrill Root, whose books include Collectivism on the Campus and Brainwashing in the High Schools, follows United States Communist Arnold Johnson, who defended the radical left here last December.

"We look forward to a stimulating evening in which the student, having been exposed earlier to the far left of the political spectrum, can now hear the arguments of the far right and weigh them for himself," Political Science Club President Richard Schiro said.

Admission to the lecture is by student identification card only. Root's prose works include The Way of All Spirit, Frank Harris: A Biography. He is also the author of nine volumes of poetry, the latest being Out of Our Winter, The Light Wind Over, and Shoulder the Sky.

His poetry has been praised by leading critics, including Max Eastman, New York TIMES, who spoke of his "friendliness to the reader," and said that he is the superior of Whittier. His poems appear in some forty anthologies and text books.

Root, born in Baltimore, Maryland, grew up in Providence, Rhode Island where he attended Classical High School. He was graduated from Amherst College, Phi Beta Kappa after having studied under the poet Robert Frost.

He studied English at the University of Missouri and Theology at Andover and Harvard, but never took an advanced degree.

Root has lectured widely at colleges and universities and in leading cities across the United States.

The Roots live on a 200-year-old farm in Rhode Island. He now devotes his time entirely to writing and speaking, after having taught for forty years at Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana, one of the three foremost Quaker Colleges in this country.

THE LADY IN THE SHEATH, Leslie Stark catches the attention of the other Compass players who will be performing tomorrow in the Washington Room, 2 p. m. The Jesters are sponsoring the group who perform political satire. Other week-end events include the Junior Prom this evening, a Folk Song Fest with Howie Mitchell, Sunday, 2 p. m., Washington Room, and the Trin-MIT basketball game, Saturday evening, Field House.

Letters To The Editor

Comments On Ben Reid Committee

To The Editor:

The report on the developments in the Reid case since February, 1962, was factual and well written. However, your reporter failed to include two of my comments which in our interview I stressed as being of great significance.

The first comment had to do with the importance of student initiative. If it had not been for George Will's intelligence and social concern, and if it had not been for the support he received from Ronald Spencer, Jerry Gough, David Wilson, Ralph Allen, Jack Chatfield, Arthur McNulty, and other students, I am convinced that Benjamin Reid would not be alive today. It is true that the faculty and administration members of the Committee contributed an experience and an expertise the students did not and could not be expected to possess. What would have been the use of our experience and research abilities if the students had not pointed out to us the existence of a possible gross injustice in the case of Benjamin Reid? Therefore, by far the greater part of the credit for helping to save Benjamin Reid's life belongs to the students who found out that he was going to be executed and who protested. My second comment had to do with the significance of the student-faculty - administration cooperation in the Reid case. George Will has gone into this matter in his fine letter, but let me stress two points from the point of view of a college administrator. This kind of working together on matters of deep social concern bears its best fruits when there is a specific problem to be solved. In addition, there must be a degree of urgency to its solution and the solution should be achievable, if possible, within the academic year.

WHAT I am saying is that this intensive and very wonderful working together with the lasting respect and friendship and sense of accomplishment cannot develop from an effort to "ban the bomb," important though that may be to many people, or from a crusade for world government. These problems are too general and their solution is not possible over the short range. On the other hand, the efforts of student committees to eliminate discrimination in certain specific areas and for certain specific purposes (voting rights would be a good example) do offer opportunities for intensive joint activity.

Cafeteria

Criticized

To The Editor:

Cafeterias in all schools have been criticized by dissatisfied students ever since institutional cooking was initiated. I would like to add a much needed criticism of our Freshman Dining Hall. This criticism I am sure has entered the minds of many who have eaten there.

It is true that one does not expect the food at an institution to meet up to the quality of home cooked meals. But I sincerely feel that the management could do something about increasing the quantity of the food served. I do not wish to go into details in this letter, but I am sure that many of us have been and are dissatisfied with the small portions of meat, etc., which are served, and with the restrictions imposed on being served second helpings. I am also sure that many of us have been annoyed at having to leave the Freshman Dining Hall dissatisfied and hungry. I contend that we should not have to buy extra food in the Dining Hall in order to have a meal suitable to what we have been used to most of our lives. Since this is our home through most of the year, we should be fed in a manner similar to a well-fed home. If the quality of the food cannot equal that of a home cooked meal, surely the quantity can. I hope this criticism will not be passed off lightly.

Allen Cooper '66

PERHAPS what we should have is a joint student-faculty-administration committee to recommend each Fall three or four very specific cases or areas of activity that might lend themselves to the type of the type of joint effort that led to the commutation of Benjamin Reid's death sentence. If a student, faculty member, and administrator limited himself to working on one specific case each year, we might find that at the end of the year four or five problems had been solved or been brought closer to solution by the work of four or five joint committees. The sense of accomplishment would be beyond description.

Spencer's 'Viewpoint'

To The Editor:

DODD DINNER

Feb. 25 - The Young Democrats have opened to campus sale tickets to its March 8th dinner in Mather Hall, announced Publicity Co-chairman John Lemega.

One hundred tickets are available for immediate sale to the Trinity faculty and student body on a first come first served basis for meal (swordfish or roast beef) priced at three dollars. Another 80 tickets have been reserved for guests from outside the campus.

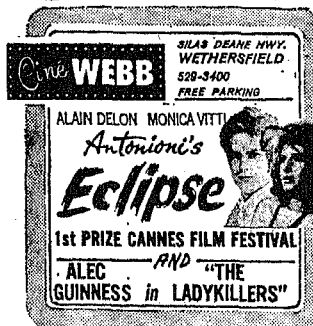

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained from any Young Democrat or, immediately, from Robert Schwartz, Box 186.

J. Ronald Spencer's "An Undergraduate's Viewpoint," in the current issue of the TRINITY COLLEGE ALUMNI MAGAZINE, deals with the recent visit of the Communist Arnold Johnson in a manner remarkably perceptive and understanding. His explanation of the tragedy and the pathos these lost idealists represent clearly expressed the thoughts of many of my colleagues and myself on current Communist philosophy. Each of my acquaintances who read the article did not fail to comment on its high quality. If Mr. Spencer is an example of the Trinity man, the College may rightfully take pride in itself.

Wrestlers End Season With Perfect Mark

by JOE MARTIRE

FEB. 27 - The Trinity wrestling team concluded its short but successful undefeated season today by copping its third victory in eight days with a 22-10 decision over the American School for the Deaf in a scrimmage match.

Sophomore Joe Noyes (133) extended his victory streak to five wins and recorded his third pin of the season, while 140 pounder Francie Jacobs won his fifth straight match by decision. Junior Bill Daley, in the 157 pound class, pinned his opponent in the second period to finish the season with a 4-0 mark. Freshman Lindsay Dorrier (150) and junior Mike Dearington (167) also finished the wrestling campaign with unblemished 3-0 records. Dan Moore (177), the only senior on the squad, was absent today and ended with a 2-0 mark.

The finest dual scrimmage of the season was held Monday against the University of Hartford. The Bantam grapplers romped to 54-5 margin over the Hawks. Noyes, Jacobs, and Daley won two matches each, while Mike Malm (147), Mike Fierstein (160), Mike Daves (163), Joe Martire (who lost a previous bout), and Dorrier all pinned their opponents. Bob Tomford (137) and Dan Moore won by decision.

The overwhelming success of the season, which was attributed to experience and aggressiveness rather than conditioning, and the praises and encouragements of opposing coaches has led to spirited interest to continue the informal sport on an expanded basis next winter.

Joe Martire, the squad's organizer and "part-time coach", noted that the team had only four workouts together prior to the first match, but nevertheless wrestled impressively. The team's talent and desire made up for the lack of training. All of the fourteen boys who participated will wrestle in the intramural tournament which starts next week, except Vinnie Fiordalis who suffered a shoulder separation in the first match.

—UN CONFERENCE—

FEB. 22 - Political Science Club members Richard Schiro, Stanley Marcuss, Keith Watson, and James Levine guarded the interest of Venezuela in the Model United Nations Conference at Georgetown University in Washington, D. C.

The conference, organized in the U. N. pattern, included debate on such topics as "Colonialism," the "Developing Decade," "Disarmament," and the perennial Red Chinese admission issue.

Commenting on the conference, Schiro described the affair as poorly conducted by the chairman. He said much time was wasted in debate over whether or not the admission of Red China was a question for the General Assembly or a credentials committee.

Williams Scores Hatrick

Skaters Rout W. P. I. Sextet

FEB. 25 - The improving Trinity hockey team won its third straight here today and came from behind to defeat W.P.I. 8-4 on the loser's ice. The win was the fourth of the campaign for the visitors, who have also lost four.

Center Bert Williams was the star for the Bantams, his third goal midway through the second period completing his hatrick and putting Trinity comfortably ahead to stay. Also notable was the play of freshman wing Frank Deland whose two goals and two assists tied him with Williams at six points for the day.

W.P.I. who is a member of the hockey league that includes such New England teams as Holy Cross, started off fast as Tech center Tim Baker scored two unassisted goals within the first six minutes. Seventy seconds later, Williams scored Trinity's first goal on a pass from captain Dudley Clark and Gary Millar soon tied up the contest with a shot past W.P.I. goalie John McCaffery. Deland got the assist. For the next five minutes the teams battled evenly, but with only two seconds remaining in the period Williams turned the tide with his second goal, being aided by fresh wings Colin Studds and Jim Bird. In the second period, Trinity continued to press and within two minutes Deland made the score 4-2. At the seven minute mark Trin goalie Bob Zolto's nemesis Baker scored again, but Williams found the range again just nine seconds later to put the visitors up by two.

From this point on, it was all Trinity as Bird scored towards the end of the period, and Deland and Millar added goals within the first two minutes of the third period.

Trin goalie Zolto followed his usual pattern of improving as the game progresses and finished with 32 saves. McCaffery was just a bit more busy, foiling 35 Trinity shots.

Coach Penn Hargrove said that the team was helped by the fact that the two offensive lines are now equal in strength and may be substituted with no loss of power.

JIM THORPE*

THE MANLY ARTS

Football's just not the game it was when Dad was yelling himself hoarse over "Big Jim" Thorpe. New rules have sharpened the action, equipment is lighter, stronger. The same holds true for the fans. Gone are the Hoover collars and the heavy fabrics. Now the accent is on lightness—style with comfort.

We at Stevens have changed, too. But our accent is still on the individual. From our small beginnings in North Andover, Massachusetts, in 1813, we've become one of the world's largest manufacturers of textiles. Daily, 35,000 Americans turn up at our 55 mills from Maine to Georgia and hundreds of others go to our sales offices across the country. The fact of the matter is, fabrics are necessities and wherever there's a need, there's a Stevens salesman.

Yes, things have changed since Jim Thorpe's day. To find out precisely how much they have changed, plan now to talk with the Stevens representative, E. Marshall Palmer, who will be on campus March 6th.

Gish Stars For Trin

Rally Downs Brandeis Five

by PETE KINZLER

FEB. 26 - Behind the prolific scoring of Bill Gish, the Trinity Bantams rallied from a 19-31 deficit to emerge victorious over Brandeis 77-70.

For the first 15 minutes of the game, Trinity could do no right. After baskets by John Fenrich and Bill Gish gave Trinity a 4-0 lead, Brandeis reeled off 13 straight points, with guard Gary Goldberg contributing ten of them on five long jumpers.

During this period, Trinity tried a man-for-man press, but it proved highly ineffectual, as Brandeis was able to move the ball around for the good shots. On the other hand, Brandeis's press forced the Bantams into innumerable errors. They not only committed almost every violation in the book, but when they were able to get off shots, they would miss four and five in a row.

Union Mermen Sink Swimmers

FEB. 26 - The Trinity mermen succumbed to a strong Union team here today losing their sixth straight meet, by a convincing 60-35 score. For Union it marked their ninth win in ten outings.

Trinity picked up its first points in the 200 yard freestyle on a second place finish by Rich Ashworth behind the visitors' George Shaner with a 2:06.1. The Bantams got back into the meet moments later when Dave Raymond broke the college record in the 200 yd. individual medley with a 2:24.3 and Ian Smith copped third in the same event.

However, at this point the New Yorkers turned on their strength and won the diving, 200 yd. butterfly, and 100 yard freestyle, finishing one-two in the latter two events. The Bantams were hurt by the absence of butterfly artist Dave Koretz and by the disappointing third place finish of Fred Prillaman in the 100 yard freestyle.

Dave Raymond followed with a 2:26.8 win in the backstroke, but the loss of the 400 yard freestyle relay clinched the win for the visitors.

FEB. 27 - Westminster School gained the first two places of the 100 yard breaststroke event to cop an exciting 48-47 victory over the Trinity freshman swimmers here today.

The visitors won the first two events, but first place finishes by Jim Emmet, Tony Bougere, and captain Jeff Seckler put the Bantams ahead until the breaststroke event, turned the tide.

TRINITY then called a time-out, as the fans yelled for the frosh. Their cry seemed warranted, as the Bantams still could not get untracked. Shortly after the time-out, Brandeis went on an eight point scoring spree, as Steve Heller and Steve Smith put in many easy shots for the Judges.

With 4:30 remaining in the half, Brandeis led 31-19. Then Trinity suddenly did an about face. Captain Brian Brooks hit two jumpers, and this seemed to inspire the team. Urged on by the vociferous incantations of Dean Lacy, Trinity rallied behind Gish and pulled to a 37-37 tie at halftime, as they sank nearly 80 percent of their shots in this span.

The second half started slowly, as the Bantams seemed to have lost their momentum. Then Gish, who had 12 points in the first half, put on another of his sparkling second half scoring displays. Utilizing a long jumper and his beautiful hook shot, Gish enabled Trinity to move ahead to stay.

The Bantams broke a 50-50 tie and moved to a 59-52 lead; thereafter Brandeis could get no closer than two points, and that they accomplished only once. Much of the credit must go to the Trinity defense, which turned a first half sieve into a tight defense in the second half.

After the horrendous first 15 minutes, when the team shot well under 30 percent from the field, the team's shooting was excellent; and they ended up with a fine 41 percent for the entire game. Gish, playing his finest varsity game, shot a torrid 52 percent from the field in garnering his 28 points.

Barry Leghorn, who shot only 33 percent, still managed to score 20 points, while Fenrich turned in his usual fine job under the boards with 18 rebounds, as Trinity out-rebounded Brandeis 48-28.

Theta Xi Cops B'ball Crown
Defeating Sigma Nu, 60-48

FEB. 25 - Even though they have no house to display it in, Theta Xi won the intramural basketball trophy here tonight as they downed a taller quintet from Sigma Nu, 60-48. The contest was the playoff between the champions of the National and American leagues.

TX captain Steve Bralove tallied 21 points for the Unicorns to take high scoring honors, while Ron Yates contributed 17. Yates also held the Nu's high-scoring guard Tom Halloran to 7 points.

Theta Xi possessed a slim 26-24 lead at the half, but in the first few minutes of the second half Bralove began to find the range. After center Dan Saklad had brought SN to a 35-30 deficit with a jumpshot, Bralove scored on a set and a drive, Yates tallied a foul shot, Bruce MacDougall followed with a lay-up, and Bralove chipped in two more jumpers to make the score 45-30 at the midway mark.

From this point on, the teams battled evenly until the last minutes that saw the Nu's Bob Ebersoll lead a rally that fell short.

The game started off very slowly and after the first ten minutes the score stood in the Nu's favor 7-3. Buckets by Yates and Bralove tied the count at nine apiece, and TX increased their lead to 22-14 as both teams began to find their shooting eye.

Behind the rebounding of substitute center John Pagnoni, Sigma Nu rallied in the waning moments of the half, a shot in the last two seconds by Joe Sinicrope making the score 26-24, Theta Xi.

Sigma Nu gained entry into the finals even though they lost several weeks ago to the Jarvis Frosh. The latter five was disqualified because several of their regulars were found to be ineligible. Theta Xi was undefeated in National League play.

WES FITNESS

January 11 - THE WESLEYAN ARGUS reported today Wes students are more physically fit this year as compared with past performances.

While proficiency in only seven events was tested this year, the mean of all the scores placed Wesleyan "well above" the 70th percentile.

A midwestern college audience recently heard this answer in a talk by A. T. & T. Board Chairman, Frederick R. Kappel

"To us this is an important question because we hire nearly 3000 college graduates yearly. To get an answer we went to our own files and examined the records of nearly 17,000 people. We checked each man's comparative success against what he achieved in college.

"As a group, the scholars won handily. Of the men who stood among the top third in salary for their level of experience, more than half were also in the top third of their college class. Only a quarter were in the bottom third.

"And contrary to age-old beliefs, extracurricular activities proved a lesser indicator unless the individual had an outstanding achievement. Mere 'joining' was not enough.

"The study indicates, at least as far as the Bell System goes, that there's little opportunity for college students who practice 'diplomaship'—the belief that a diploma automatically leads to job success. Such thinking will not make telephone service what we know it can be.

"The men we want are men with intelligence plus those other attributes that give you the feel, the sense that they will make things move and move well—men who want to excel and are determined to work at it.

"Nothing short of excellence will do."
