JULY, 1974

Annual Giving Tops $505,000 Goal

Trinity has exceeded its Annual Giving goal of $505,000, marking the second consecutive year that gifts totaled more than half a million dollars. This is also the largest amount ever achieved in the fund drive conducted each year to support the academic program of the College.

As of June 30, gifts and pledges totaled $506,626, just over the goal set last fall. A year ago, at the conclusion of the College's 150th Anniversary year, contributions totaled $502,042, passing the half-million dollar mark for the first time. Last year's goal was $475,000.

Contributions from alumni totaled $311,060, some $11,000 over the Alumni Fund goal of $300,000, and more than $19,000 above Alumni Fund gifts last year. There were 3,069 individual gifts to the Fund, up slightly from last year's 3,017 gifts, and the average gift was $101, compared with $97 last year.

Gifts from parents reached $97,418, but fell short of the $100,000 goal for the Parents Fund. The Parents Fund total, however, still went over last year's goal of $95,000, when gifts totaled $109,687 at the end of the drive.

Another $66,420 came from Business and Industry Associates, and $31,728 from the Friends of Trinity Fund.

In reporting the Annual Giving results, President Lockwood said "alumni, parents, friends and business associates should be proud of this remarkable achievement, the highest total in Trinity's history, and the second consecutive year over the half-million dollar mark. In any budget — especially a tight budget — the 'last dollars' seem to be the hardest to find, and yet they are the critical ones to have if the College is to maintain the excellence of the program for which it is known. Everyone should take pride for this help in the College's behalf, and as we turn our attention to the campaigns ahead, we especially thank those who volunteer their time and energy to participate in these important drives."

Martin D. Wood '42 of West Simsbury, again served as national chairman of the Alumni Fund Steering Committee. Other members included: James R. Glassco Jr. '50 of West Hartford, vice chairman; John Gunning '49 of West Hartford, distinguished gifts chairman; James P. Whitters III '62 of Boston, Mass., Boston Area chairman; Donald J. Vierung '42 of Simsbury, Hartford Area chairman; James B. Curtin '51 of North Haven, New Haven Area chairman; Donald R. Reynolds '51 of New York and W. James Tozer '63 of New York, New York Area co-chairman; Eric A. Fowler '54 of Newtown Square, Pa., Philadelphia Area chairman; and Ernest S. Corso '38 of Alexandria, Va., Washington D.C. Area chairman.

Other members of the Alumni Fund Steering Committee were: S. Anders Yocom Jr. '63 of Simsbury, promotion chairman; Samuel W.P. McGill Jr. '51 of Glastonbury, class agent chairman; David R. Smith '52 of Longmeadow, Mass., participation and telephone chairman; and Matthew M. Sheridan, M.A. '71 of Boston, masters degree chairman.

The Parents Fund was headed for the second year by Bruce N. Bensley of Morristown, N.J. Other members of the Steering Committee included: Rudolph M. Montgelas, Darien, Conn., special gifts chairman; Ralph J. Taussig, Philadelphia, Pa., past parents chairman; Chester L. Arnold, Darien, Conn., Class of 1974 chairman; John N. Fisher, Weston, Mass., Class of 1975 chairman; R. Schuyler Lippincott, Philadelphia, Pa., Class of 1976 chairman, and Charles A. Coolidge, Belmont, Mass., Class of 1977 chairman.

John T. Wilcox '39 of Wethersfield was chairman of the Business and Industry Associates and Herbert R. Bland '40 of West Hartford was chairman of the Friends of Trinity Fund.

The Annual Giving Drive, which is conducted between October and June each academic year, is channeled to the College's operating budget, which was $9.1 million for 1973-74. Of that amount, approximately $6.8 million came from tuition, room and board, and fees; $1.5 million came from endowment income, and the remainder, approximately $800,000 was expected to come from Annual Giving contributions and other sources.

3 Summer Programs Bring 800 Young People to Campus

The 90-acre Trinity campus, used by 1,650 undergraduates during the academic year, will become an athletic, cultural and educational center for nearly 800 young people from Hartford during July and August.

Three separate programs funded by a combination of federal, state and local government sources are enabling the College to open up its facilities to youngsters from 8 to 18.

For the fifth consecutive year, 250 boys and girls between 10 and 18 will use the College's athletic facilities Monday through Thursday mornings in the National Summer Youth Sports Program funded by the federal government. The program runs from July 1 through August 8.

Another 150 boys and girls between 8 and 13 will use campus facilities for four hours a day, Monday through Friday, in the Hartford Recreation Cultural Arts Program funded by the Hartford Parks and Recreation Department and the Connecticut Commission on the Arts.

This program began June 24 and runs through August 9.

Meanwhile, some 300 youngsters will be using the Trowbridge Memorial swimming pool in a related summer recreational swimming program offered by the Parks and Recreation Department.

Eighty high school students from Hartford and Waterbury will be living on campus for six weeks in an Upward Bound program funded by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the State Department of Community Affairs. Beginning this summer, the Twin Valleys Upward Bound, jointly sponsored by Trinity, and Manchester and Mattatuck community colleges, is expanding from 54 to 80 students and offering the special residential summer program in addition to year-round service to underachieving students. The Upward Bound program runs from July 6 to August 17.

The athletic and cultural programs will be directed by Richard A. Taylor, assistant professor of physical education at Trinity. The Upward Bound program will be directed by Raymond S. Blanks, assisted by a support staff of family liaisons, teachers and tutors. Trinity students will also be instructors in the cultural arts program.

The national Summer Youth Sports Program at Trinity, funded by the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, is one of four such programs in New England and 105 programs nationwide. Trinity's is the only program in Connecticut. Purpose of the program is to expand opportunities for disadvantaged youths to engage in competitive sports and receive sports skills instruction.

The 1974 Hartford Recreation Cultural Arts Program is an expansion of a recreation program held annually at Trinity through the Hartford Parks and Recreation Department. Supplemented by a grant from the Connecticut Commission on the Arts, the program will introduce Hartford children to various artistic and cultural expressions.

Children who sign up will have a chance to participate in arts and sculpture, dance, drama, photography, various crafts, outdoor education, and either beginning, intermediate or advanced swimming instruction.

The Upward Bound program, which began last summer at Trinity under a $55,000 grant from HEW, has received double that amount in federal funding for the expanded program this year, in addition to a $16,000 grant from the state Department of Community Affairs, through the Community Renewal Team.

As a result, the program is being increased from 54 to 80 students, and the summer program has become a "live-in" academy designed to increase the students' academic abilities and social development.

The fall phase will continue to provide counseling services, tutorials and character building processes, in addition to Saturday classes in English and mathematics.

Cape Cod Picnic
The Annual Cape Cod Picnic for alumni will be held during the last two weeks of August, date and place to be announced. If you plan to be on the Cape during that period and wish to attend, write to the Alumni Office for further details.

CAMPUS NOTES

Dr. JOHN EMMETT SIMMONS III, associate professor of biology, will spend the next academic year in a teaching and research position at the University of Kuwait where he will be doing research in endocrinology and teaching a course in general physiology. The University, located in Kuwait City on the northeast tip of the Persian Gulf, was established in 1966 by the government of Kuwait.

IVAN BACKER, director of community relations at Trinity, has received an honorary degree from the Shanti School, an alternate Hartford public high school dedicated to open education, using the whole community as a classroom. In the citation Backer, a former Shanti School Board member, was praised for "his community forums, his commitment to neighborhood, to the social, cultural and political life of the city."

At the 25th annual Honors Day Ceremonies held May 16, 65 Trinity students received academic prizes and awards. For the first time a student in the new Individualized Degree Program tied with a regular undergraduate to win a prize. The IDP student, LLOYD McCARTHY, shared the Frank Urban Memorial Prize for Excellence in Beginning Greek with MICHAEL L. ROY '76. The Human Relations Award was presented jointly to three students, PAUL ACAMPORA '74, JAMES A. FINKELSTEIN '74, and CHRISTINA MEDINA '75. The Human Relations Award is given to a student for his or her endeavors to further the development of good human relations and sportsmanship. The Samuel H. Fishzohn Award for community service was shared by two seniors, PETER BASCH, for environmental work, draft counseling, Red Cross and consumer protection work, as well as participation in student government, and CAROL MANAGO who "played an active role in the affairs of the Hartford community during her undergraduate career." Another Fishzohn Award, this time in the areas of Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, was shared by Ms. MEDINA and TERRIE ROUSE '74, who was cited for "her continued commitment to different services and programs in and outside the College." Other awards and prizes were given in the fields of chemistry, history, government, economics, engineering, music, fine arts, Spanish, Greek, Latin, French, drama, public speaking, poetry, prose writing and social science.

Trinity will be well represented this year at Theatre III, Manchester (Conn.) Community College's summer theatre program. Appearing there in a production of George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" were MILLI SILVESTRI, assistant director of the news bureau,

DEBORAH THOMAS, (M.A. '70), and BRIAN McELENEY and ANNE SCURRIA, both June graduates of Trinity in Theatre Arts.

*****

Three Trinity students have received honorable mention in the 53rd annual Atlantic Monthly Creative Writing Contest for Colleges. KATHERINE WOODWORTH '75, who spent last semester writing as an independent study project in London, was noted for her poem, entitled "Wolf." JOHN HOWARD, a 1974 graduate who has studied writing both at Trinity and at Wesleyan, was honored for his short story, entitled "Sanctum." A graduate of Washington and Lee University, Jason Mathews, who was enrolled in a creative writing course at Trinity was also honored for a short story, entitled "Her Lover, the Moon." All three winners were students of Mr. Stephen Minot, part-time professor of English, whose teaching specialty is creative writing.

*****

Students from colleges and universities all over the country, including Carnegie-Mellon, Connecticut College, Drew University, Brown, Swarthmore, Kenyon, Tufts, Jackson, and the University of Pennsylvania, are studying in Italy this summer at the Trinity College/Rome Campus. Nine of the 45 students participating in the summer program are from Trinity. They are: CONSTANCE BROWN, WENDA HARRIS, PENNY KALIKOW, ELLEN MANN, WILLIAM METZ, CONSTANCE REEVES, JOAN SEELYE, ROBERT SHAW, and SALLY WEBER. This year, the Trinity/Rome Campus is under the direction of Dr. BORDEN PAINTER, chairman of the History Department.

*****

Dr. JAMES BRADLEY, of the Classics Department, has been promoted to associate professor. A 1957 Trinity graduate, and valedictorian of his class, Bradley taught at the University of North Carolina, Harvard, Hobart, and William Smith College, before coming to Trinity as an assistant professor in 1970. He received an A.M. and Ph.D. from Harvard in 1959 and 1969 respectively and spent a year at General Theological Seminary.

*****

Dr. MARTIN LANDSBERG, who came to Trinity in 1973 as instructor in economics, has been promoted to the rank of assistant professor. A 1969 graduate of the University of California at Santa Cruz, he received an M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin in 1971 and 1974 respectively. He is a specialist in the field of monetary theory.

*****

Dr. MONA RABINEAU, formerly visiting assistant professor of education, has been named assistant professor of education. A 1950 graduate of Simmons, Dr. Rabineau received her M.A.T. from Radcliffe in 1952, and Doctor of Education degree in 1966 from Harvard.

Mrs. MARJORIE BUTCHER, former lecturer in mathematics, has been named associate professor in mathematics, part-time. She holds a B.A. and an M.A. from the University of Michigan.

CHARLES SIMONSON, who retired for the third time in February of 1973, is doing his 1910-vintage home over. He proudly reports his granddaughter, Ann Coates Lescher, is a high honors student at Chaffee School, a cheerleader for football and basketball, and is on the lacrosse team. Charles says she seems to be inclined to apply for entrance to Trinity when the time comes two years hence.

19 Mr. Clinton B. F. Brill

Deepest sympathy is extended to CLARENCE TUSKA on the death of his wife, Edith. Clarence has moved from Princeton to Hightstown, New Jersey.

AUSTIN KING of Ames, Iowa was honored at a meeting of the Iowa Bar Association in which the Association presented him with a certificate attesting to his membership of the bar for a period of over 50 years.

Our 55th Class Reunion was superb! On Friday we attended the Immortals' Dinner at the Hartford Club with special tables reserved for our classmates and wives. The opportunity to join with other vintage alumni and friends was a rare treat. The Class was presented with a special trophy in recognition of unusual sustained interest in Trinity activities over the years. The combination of good cheer, good food and good company in good surroundings was unbeatable.

On Saturday, IRV and Mary PARTRIDGE hosted a cocktail party and buffet supper for 1919 men and their wives at the Partridge homestead in old Wethersfield. Later the group journeyed back to the campus on the Hill to enjoy the Pops Concert by the Hartford Symphony Orchestra.

Recent Bequests and Memorial Gifts

Trinity acknowledges with a deep sense of loss the passing of alumni and other friends of the College. It seems appropriate to list the bequests and memorial gifts which have been made to honor them.

- A gift of $500 for the alumni fund in memory of Lawson Purdy '84.
- A gift of $500 for the alumni fund in memory of The Rev. Charles N. Shepard '91.
- A gift of $1,000 for the scholarship fund in memory of Edward S. Dobbin '99 and Mrs. Dobbin, bringing this fund to $5,000.
- A gift of $500 for the scholarship fund in memory of B. Floyd Turner '10, bringing this fund to more than $3,500.
- A bequest of $13,986.23 from the estate of Clarence I. Penn '12, one third for a scholarship fund, one third for the library and one third for general purposes.
- A gift of $1,000 for the alumni fund in memory of Chester D. Thompson '15.
- Gifts totalling $1,035 to the alumni fund in memory of Sydney D. Pinney '18 and a bequest of $2,500 from Mr. Pinney's estate for the Class of 1918 Scholarship Fund, which now totals more than $64,000.
- A bequest of $5,000 for a scholarship fund from the estate of Thomas A. Shannon '25.
- Additional gifts of $535 for the scholarship fund in memory of Charles Z. Greenbaum '71, bringing this fund to more than $6,500.
- Additional gifts of $1,500 for the scholarship fund in memory of The Rev. Flavel Sweeten Luther, former President of the College. This fund now totals $10,000.
- A bequest of $2,596.21 for a scholarship fund from the estate of Arthur J. Ulmer.

TRINITY REPORTER

July, 1974 Vol. 4 No. 9

Issued nine times a year in October, November, December, January, February, March, April, May, and June. Published by the Office of Public Information, Trinity College, Hartford, Conn. 06106. Second class postage paid at Hartford, Connecticut.

With a class roster of 21 names, eight members and several wives attended the reunion program. They were ARMSTRONG, BARBER, PARTRIDGE, POTTER, SILVERBERG, TRAUB, TUSKA, and VALENTINE. Nostalgic messages were received from a number of absentees.

Directly after reunion, CLARENCE TUSKA left for his summer domicile in New Hampshire and VIN POTTER, lately of Houston, Texas but now residing in West Hartford, left for Switzerland and other European parts. SAM NIRENSTEIN, another follower of Marco Polo, wrote from Jerusalem that he would be enroute to Albania at reunion time.

At the time of our 55th reunion, the Alumni Fund record for the Class of 1919 showed 16 donors for a total of $1919. What a coincidence! Someone was watching!

MAURICE ROSENBERG was recently honored by the New Britain (Conn.) Bar Association. He was one of five lawyers who have been members of the bar for at least 50 years and were honored for their distinguished service to the legal profession.

FRED HOISINGTON says his sole claim to fame currently is his national rank of No. 5 in the senior 75S and No. 2 in Eastern LTA senior 75S. His grandson, Fred Hoisington IV, elder son of Fred Hoisington III '53, and he won the national grandfather-grandson doubles championship in 1971, and is now on the tennis team of Pembroke College, Pembroke, North Carolina.

Bishop CONNIE GESNER, AB NEWTON, SERENO GAMMELL and JIM CALANO attended the Immortals dinner at the Hartford Club on May 24th. They were accompanied by their spouses. The good Bishop rendered the invocation. Short interest talks were given by JACK WILCOX, president of the Alumni Association, alumni director JOHN HEYL and president TED LOCKWOOD. Gold tie clasps with the inscription "Trinity Immortal" were presented to them in attendance. We were also presented with individual cards enabling us to attend all athletic events and dramatic productions on the campus as a guest of the College. A delightful time was had by all. Be sure to take in the next one.

Bishop CONNIE GESNER recently visited the Church of St. Thomas of Canterbury, Sherman, Connecticut for confirmation. For the past three years, at the invitation of the Bishops of Connecticut, he has made confirmation visitations throughout this diocese.

YOUR SECRETARY and AL MERRITT had a very enjoyable meeting at the 55th reunion of the Hartford High Class of 1919 held at the Avon (Conn.) Country Club on June 14th. Al traveled all the way from Fairview Park, Ohio to attend the occasion. He was accompanied by his charming wife, Beatrice. You may recall that Al transferred to Trinity after spending two years at Dartmouth. He is a good friend and benefactor of both colleges. Al is retired after operating a highly successful insurance agency in Cleveland for many years.

ELMER MULFORD sent his regrets that he could not attend his 50th reunion because he and his wife, Alice, were on a trip to Greece, Yugoslavia and Italy. "Doc" is still selling Buicks and, in April of this year, celebrated his 55th anniversary for "Mulford's as a Buick dealer in Bridgeton, New Jersey."

The class of 1925 is proud to announce the appointment of its youngest member, CLIFTON BOCKSTOCE, to the position of vice president in charge of financial affairs and treasurer of the College. He is extremely well qualified in the field in which he will serve Trinity, having been in the investment business for many years. Clif was unanimously elected to honorary membership at the Class's 45th reunion in September 1970. Clif had done a lot for Trinity, especially in the athletic area; he was particularly instrumental in the formation of The Friends of Trinity Rowing and was its first president. The indoor rowing room is named in his honor. The entire class joins me in wishing him the highest success in his new venture.

We've had some interest shown in our suggested "warm-up" for our 50th, sufficiently enough to plan for it. So get yourselves together and plan to attend the Trinity-Williams game in September 1974 and we'll go to it. Specifics will be sent to you later. But in the meantime, get your blue reunion coat, white ducks and crew hat ready.

Dr. H.M. Dadourian Dead at 95; Taught Math, Physics 30 Years

Dr. Haroutune Mugurdich Dadourian, 95, died June 1, 1974 at Hartford Hospital after being stricken at his home in West Hartford. A physicist by training, he taught physics and mathematics at Trinity for 30 years, and was one of the college's most respected and influential teachers until his retirement in 1949.

Dr. Dadourian

Since retirement, he had remained active and continued to attend events at the College. He was a frequent participant in local peace marches, continuing his long-standing interest in world affairs.

Born Dec. 5, 1878 in Erekek, Armenia, Dr. Dadourian received his secondary education at St. Paul's Institute, Tarsus, Turkey. Arriving in the United States in 1900, he earned his Ph.B., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in physics from Yale, where he won a freshman prize in mathematics and was graduated with honors in physics.

After teaching physics at Yale's Sheffield School and serving as an aeronautical engineer for the Army for two years, he joined the Trinity faculty in 1919 as associate professor of physics. In 1923 he was appointed Seabury Professor of Mathematics and Natural Science, a post he held until his retirement in June, 1949.

Dr. Dadourian was the author of five books, "Plane Trigonometry," "Introduction to Analytical Geometry and the Calculus," "Analytical Mechanics," "Graphic Statics" and "How to Study, How to Solve."

He also wrote more than a score of scientific papers on the principles of dynamics, radioactivity, X-rays, radiation, electrons, elasticity, properties of tuning forks, sound ranging and relativity.

Since 1921 he had been specially listed in "American Men of Science" as a physicist "whose work is supposed to be the most important."

He was a member of the Armenian Students Association of America, a fellow of the American Physics Society, a member of the Connecticut Civil Liberties Union, the American Civil Liberties Union, and the American Mathematical Society, as well as the American Mathematical Association, the Connecticut Valley Association of Mathematics Teachers, Sigma Xi scientific society and the American Association of University Professors.

Often vocal on political matters, Dr. Dadourian was a critic of nuclear testing and was active with the Committee for Sane Nuclear Policy. In 1939 and 1940 he supported U.S. entry into World War II, and was president of a group called Defend America by Aiding the Allies, and argued in 1940 that "The only way to hold this hemisphere together is to prevent Hitler's success over England."

In a 1972 interview, Dr. Dadourian called the Vietnam war a "perfectly insane thing to do...There is no Hitler in Vietnam to fight."

Interviewed during a peace march in 1963, when he was 84 years old, Dr. Dadourian said: "I will walk. I have walked the last two years. I do not take part in any other public demonstration...I am not a professional pacifist...The danger of the elimination of mankind is so great that I feel everything must be done to prevent a nuclear holocaust."

President Lockwood, a student prior to Dr. Dadourian's retirement, described Dr. Dadourian as "one of the most distinguished and best-known of Trinity's faculty, and a teacher with an extremely strong and colorful personality. He will be long remembered by his colleagues, his friends and his former students."

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ruth M. Dadourian, whom he married in 1918. Contributions in Dr. Dadourian's memory may be made to the Scholarship Fund at Trinity College or to the Armenian Students Association of America, P.O. Box 180, Upper Darby, Pa. 19082.
