REUNION WEEKEND — The Way It Was

HIGH POINT OF HALF TIME at Amherst game was the diagonal descent of three parachutists trying to hit the target in front of the stands. This one made it; another came close and a third nearly settled on the refreshment tent.

Major Appointments Announced English Named Vice President

James F. English, Jr., chairman of The Connecticut Bank and Trust Company, will become vice president for finance and planning at Trinity on July 1, 1977. English will remain as chairman of the board of directors at CBT.

In addition to monitoring the endowment, English will direct long-range planning and oversee development operations. He will also serve as liaison with the Consortium on Financing Higher Education.

Commenting on the appointment, Dr. Lockwood said: "Mr. English will bring us valuable experience in supervising our investments and in our long-range financial planning at a time when colleges need to exercise imaginative and careful management of their resources. Trinity is particularly fortunate to have in this senior position a person so experienced in investments and finance and, through his voluntary participation in College and The Loomis-Chaffee School. A director of numerous business corporations and charitable institutions in Connecticut, he has also served as a member of the Connecticut Commission for Higher Education, and has recently been appointed to the Council on Priorities and Planning at Yale University.

English is a graduate of The Loomis School. In 1949, he received his B.A. from Yale University and then held a Mellon Exchange Scholarship to Cambridge University in England, where he received a Masters degree. In 1956, he completed his LL.B. at the University of Connecticut Law School. English first joined The Connecticut Bank and Trust Company in 1951 and rose to the position of vice president for the Investment Division in 1959. Appointed president in 1966, he became chief executive officer in 1969 and chairman at CBT in 1970.

His father, the late James F. English '16, received the Honorary D.D. from Trinity in 1944. He was minister of the Connecticut Conference of the United Church of Christ.

Harold Martin to Dana Professorship

Dr. Harold C. Martin, president of the American Academy in Rome, has been appointed Dana Professor of the Humanities. The newly created professorship will be interdisciplinary in nature. The appointment is effective September 1, 1977. Martin will teach during the spring semester at Williams College.

According to President Lockwood, "Dr. Martin will be the first full-time professor at Trinity whose academic purview will include more than a single department. This concept, reinforcing

Parking spaces were at a premium, the parties were numerous, the events were varied and plentiful, the decible level was higher, tailgate lunches abounded, and Trinity defeated Amherst before a capacity crowd on Jessee Field. That was the annual Reunion/Homecoming weekend beginning November 5 when the campus played host to more than 1,000 alumni and their families. Its theme: "The Way It Was."

Although one event followed hard upon the heels of another, there was plenty of time for relaxed reminiscing and throughout the weekend the campus was dotted with small clusters of graduates getting to know each other all over again.

"I knew it had to happen sooner or later and today was the day," said political science professor Sam Hendel. "A student of mine just introduced me to his father whom I taught at C.C.N.Y. about 24 years ago."

Alumni arriving on Friday visited classes in session, lunched in the faculty dining room and later many attended one (or more) of the 11 class cocktail parties and other informal gatherings. In the evening, football coach Don Miller showed film clips from previous schedules and presented his fearless forecast for the Amherst game. The Student Theatre Arts group presented a seldom-seen production of Machiavelli's "Mandragola," known to some as "The Mandrake."

Saturday, the pace quickened with nearly a dozen events scheduled for the morning alone. Among them: an art exhibit in the Austin Arts Center, a Phi Beta Kappa meeting, a fencing exhibition, a symposium during which six alumni faculty members discussed (with the audience joining in) how the way it was compares with the way it is, an alumni rowing regatta, a talk by Connecticut's Commissioner of Education titled "Who Runs the Schools?" a show-and-tell slide presentation of his Patagonia trip by President Lockwood, and a soccer game.

In the afternoon, more than 6,000 watched the Bantams powerhouse their way to a 24-17 win against Amherst for a season mark of 6-1. Halftime as usual was capped by the precision formations and perfect pitch of the Kazoo Marching Band. As he has for some years, religion professor Frank Kirkpatrick provided distinctive game commentary. "We have just received a partial score: Army, 5." An unexpected divertissement was the appearance of three parachutists plummeting toward the field in a valiant attempt to land on a small, circular target. One did, and the other two came respectably close.

The game was followed by a reception in the Austin Arts Center and then dinner and dancing in the Mather Campus Center where the annual awards were presented (see photos on page 4).

Somehow, time was found to elect new officers of the National Alumni Association. They are: President, Bernard Wilber, Jr. '50; Senior Vice President, George Lynch '61; Vice President — Alumni Fund, Thomas DePatie '52; Treasurer, John T. Fink '44. Elected to the Executive Committee were Theodore Tansi '54, Jeffry Fox '67, Richard Morris '68, Elaine Feldman '76, and Robert Andrian '75. Robert Chamberlain '55 was elected a Junior Fellow.

Then, on Sunday morning, after religious services and the dedication of twin planting urns at the entrance to Downes Memorial, a gift of the Class of '13, it was suddenly over. That was the way it was.

the interdisciplinary study now so necessary in liberal learning, permits a distinguished teacher like Professor Martin to offer courses outside the departmental frame. Thus, this appointment confirms the College's commitment to explore broadly the various academic fields represented in the Humanities."

A limited number are awarded nationally each year. Dr. Ranbir Vohra, professor of political science was the first Dana Professor on the Trinity faculty to be honored under the grant.

Martin, who served as president and chancellor of Union College and University from 1965 to 1974, is a nationally-known teacher, administrator and author. For fifteen years he was a lecturer in English and comparative literature, as well as director of general education, at Harvard University. He has received

Dana Professorships are awarded under a grant supported by the Dana Foundation which recognizes outstanding professors by underwriting a portion of their salary.

Horizons Talks At Mid-Passage

At the end of its first semester the innovative "Horizons" program appears to be an unqualified success. The two-semester course, which by next May will have presented 21 lectures from as many different academic departments, has been attracting—on a voluntary basis—between four and five hundred students each week.

This makes the course unusual in two respects: first, because it is probably by far the most multi-disciplinary course being offered in the country and, second, because more than twice as many students are attending regularly than was anticipated. If the same proportion of the total student body at the University of Maryland were to register for the same program, for example, the enrollment would be over 8,000 for the course!

The objective of Horizons is to show Trinity undergraduates the current thinking in academic disciplines other than those in which they tend to concentrate. Lecture topics range from "Sexual Equality in Soviet Russia" to "Beyond the God Beyond God: New Views on Divine Transcendence." The course is expected to be especially valuable for freshmen and sophomores who might otherwise never have a firsthand grasp of the academic options available to them. It has been noted, however, that a large number of faculty are in the hall each week, for they too are interested in what is going on beyond their own bailiwick.

Beginning next January the number of persons exposed to the intellectual breadth of Trinity will increase dramatically. The Connecticut Humanities Council is funding a series of half hour programs on Connecticut Public Television based on the Horizons series. Taping of the segments has already begun and CPTV officials (Hartford Channel 24) estimate the weekly viewing audience at more than 12,000. Name of the series? "The Leading Edge."

KRIEBLE SCHOLARSHIP winner David N. Marks, '77 stands before spectrophotometer in research lab of Loctite Corporation. At right is Dr. Robert H. Krieble, Loctite president and son of founder Dr. Vernon K. Krieble. The scholarship has been awarded annually since 1961 to an outstanding chemistry student in memory of Dr. Krieble, a former Trinity chemistry department chairman. Marks, who plans to become a research chemist, is a straight "A" chemistry major and laboratory assistant.

Trinity Joins Computer Network

Trinity's newest computer went on stream this fall. The event was signaled by a lecture given by Robert B. Tuttle '67 who is director of operations and development in the department of computer science at Yale. Tuttle was one of the first Trinity students to become actively involved with the original computer installed in 1966. He has been awarded the M.S. and the M. Phil. in computer sciences from Yale.

The new computer, a Digital Equipment Corporation PDP 11/34, provides about seven times the storage capacity of the existing systems.

The new system has twelve terminals which can be used simultaneously by students and faculty for teaching or research. A number of academic departments have become active clients of the computer services, among them Political Science, Engineering, Education, Economics and Sociology.

A new application promises to expand the usefulness of the system. The College has joined a national computerized network which gives immediate access to the results of research conducted at colleges and universities throughout the country. Use of other colleges' and universities' computers via the tie-in with "Telenet" is almost unlimited. This makes it possible now for Trinity to obtain a wide range of information from universities with larger computers and greater storage capacity. The Sociology Department, for example, can now pose questions about national census and election statistics and receive an almost instantaneous printout response from the computer at Yale.

Campus Hosts Parents Weekend

Unlike the previous year, the weather was kind to the hundreds of parents on campus for Parents Weekend in late October.

The weekend began with the annual parent and student banquet at the Hartford Hilton where President Lockwood told the capacity audience that "There is no real way to forget the past in education. Rather, we must use what we have learned so as to equip individuals with insight and compassion, qualities so necessary in the pursuit of the general welfare of a society. That is the task of liberal education. It can never be a luxury to deliberate thoughtfully about significant matters as they pertain to the critical issues of our time."

A number of events on Saturday gave the parents a panoramic view of campus life and issues. Lively discussions and question and answer sessions with President Lockwood and at a faculty-study panel showed a considerable amount of interest in the "open curriculum" and the student advisory system. Students introduced parents to faculty at luncheon and at a cocktail reception. Many attended sporting events and the Theatre Arts production of "Mandragola."

On Sunday the religious groups on campus held special services and the Lockwoods hosted a coffee reception in their home for all parents and students.

Free University Opens Its Doors

The campus this fall has been alive with a number of new, innovative and substantive programs, among them the Mellon Symposium and the Horizons series. Perhaps the most unusual is a program that originated with the students and speedily went on to ensnare the faculty and staff. Operating largely underground at first, it suddenly emerged as the Trinity "Free University" complete with 24 courses and a mimeographed catalog.

Within two hours after registration opened, three courses were oversubscribed. Absolutely precise figures are not available because administrative overhead is negligible but it is believed that more than 200 students, plus some faculty and staff, are participating in "Free University."

Courses are being taught by students, administrators and regular faculty. President Lockwood is teaching a course titled "Herman Hesse — The Game of Life." Vice President Thomas Smith has a course called "The Elements of Surf-casting." Lynn Boettger '79 teaches a course in her apartment kitchen named "Baking." Robert Shor '78 meets with a group on the roof of Elton dormitory for a course in "Observational Astronomy." Susan Penn '77, Cheryl Kassow '77, and Susan Kepnes '77 are team-teaching a course in "Amazon Aesthetics." Two faculty members, history Lecturer Michael Lestz and assistant psychology Professor Andrew Baum, are collaborating on "Topics in Psychohistory."

"Free U." has stripped administration costs to the bone. As the catalog says, "In order to sign up for a course, one need only go to the front desk at Mather and write his/her name on the appropriate sheet in the notebook provided. Soon each course will meet to organize its direction, number of meetings, how often, how long, etc. at a time which will hopefully be convenient for all involved. A note on each sign-up sheet will indicate either a time and locale of the first meeting or will simply state that teachers will contact students."

The idea for the "school within a school" originated with Steve Kayman '77. While visiting a friend at Williams, Kayman was introduced to a shorter, less ambitious program being conducted there. "The Williams 'Free University' only operated during a low level open period of a few weeks between semesters," he says. "I thought Trinity could sustain a full curriculum for an entire semester."

Kayman thinks that Trinity is the only college in the country to offer such an ambitious program. A somewhat similar program at Wellesley, he notes, is taught only by administrators.

Classes at the Trinity "Free University" run from two to ten or more sessions. There are no charges except for books, materials and, in one class, a shared model's fee. Kayman and assistant psychology Professor Alan Fink are the major coordinators, assisted by religion Instructor Larry Fader, assistant religion Professor LeBaron Moseby and Dean of Studies J. Ronald Spencer. Students on the committee are Jane Beddall '79, Lisa Calesnick '78, Karen Ezekiel '79, Barbara Grossman '78, Douglas McGarrah '77 and Yolanda Sefcik '79.

Says Kayman, who teaches a course titled "Renting: A Guide to Tenants' Rights," "We expect to double the number of courses offered for the spring semester."

First Annual Alumni Soccer Game

Distinguished alumni clashed with Trinity's powerful varsity in the First Annual Soccer Game on Sunday, September 26. The result was a 1-1 tie, although the alumni claimed a moral victory because of their aggressive play which caused varsity goaltender, Alex Waugh, more than passing concern on many an occasion.

While the emphasis was on youth in alumni ranks — among others, Hobie Porter '76, Jeff Kelter '76, Bob Andrian '75 — there were also dedicated "oldsters" like Ben Tripken '66, Roger Richard '69, Peter Wiles '70, Mike Beutyman '69 and George Wheelright '70.

After the contest, players and their families enjoyed conversation and a barbecue. Said one alumnus as he went to his car, "Wait'll next year!"

Fall Mellon Series Key Campus Event

The campus has been considerably enriched during the Christmas term this year by an outpouring of activity—lectures, colloquia, and symposia—from the Mellon Symposium. Nearly every week since the end of August has seen a program offered in the unique series funded by the Mellon Foundation. All the events are related to "The Search for Values in the Modern World: Interdisciplinary Lessons from the 19th Century."

In addition to the five Trinity professors participating, visiting scholars in the series have come from the University of Connecticut, Rutgers University, Pennsylvania State University, Clark University, the University of Pennsylvania, and Wesleyan University.

The purpose of the symposium is to permit a group of scholars from different fields to explore in detail problems that arise in each discipline but whose solutions have important consequences for other disciplines. Trinity scholars in the program which began last summer are: Dr. Frank G. Kirkpatrick, associate professor of religion; Dr. Samuel D. Kassow, assistant professor of history; Dr. Alan M. Fink, assistant professor of psychology; and Dr. Milla B. Riggio, assistant professor of English.

A sampling of the colloquia and lecture titles indicates the far-ranging nature of the exploration into the symposium topic: "Moby Dick," "Hegel and Historicism," "Aesthetics and Politics," "The Self-Annihilation of Theology in the 19th Century," "The Two Disciplines of Psychology: Reflections on Curricular Implications," and "Myths and Paradigms."

In addition, seminars were held twice weekly for study of Nietzsche, Darwin, Kierkegaard, Dostoyevsky, Feuerbach, liberal theology, Freud, early experimental psychology, Jungian psychology, James and Titchener.

Coordinator of the series, Riggio, says that the Symposium is "tremendously exciting, probably the best thing I've done." For all of the participants, the interdisciplinary nature of the program, bringing a variety of approaches to bear on a subject, has made the Mellon Symposium an extremely meaningful project.

All of the activities have been open to students and all have been well attended. Riggio estimates that between 70 and 120 students have been at each lecture.

Former President of Trinity Dies

Albert Charles Jacobs, legal scholar, aide and friend to the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and president emeritus of Trinity College died Friday, October 29 in Ann Arbor, Mich. He was 76.

Dr. Jacobs, who was said to come from the classic mold of skilled teacher turned administrator, assumed the presidency of Trinity in 1953 in the midst of the Cold War and relinquished it in 1968 as the Vietnam War approached its peak.

In that time, Dr. Jacobs increased the size and salary of the faculty, saw the student body grow from near 900 to more than 1,100 and Trinity move into the first ranks of American colleges. He maintained the value of a strong liberal education.

Shortly before he retired, Dr. Jacobs wrote an article in The Hartford Courant remarking on the rapidity of change in the modern world and said that "man himself in the conquest of nature" had been "too little concerned with the nurture of the soul and spirit." Liberal education offered such needed sustenance, he wrote.

His interests, however, spread far beyond academic circles. He was a devout Episcopalian and served as chancellor of the diocese of Connecticut. He was an influential Republican who served on a special board of the Republican National Committee studying the party's future goals. In 1958 he was chairman of the United States delegation to an International Labor Organization session on maritime law. He returned talking of a firsthand view of Communist political tactics.

Dr. Jacobs also served on the board of directors of many businesses including the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. and the Aetna Insurance Co. On his departure from Trinity, he became chairman of the Board of Directors of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Boston.

His close association with Eisenhower began in 1947, when the war-hero general became president of Columbia University where Dr. Jacobs was a distinguished law professor. Dr. Jacobs was named provost and the Columbia announcement of the appointment said that he would be Eisenhower's "principal assistant" and act as "alter ego and successor" during Eisenhower's absences. Those absences were frequent.

Dr. Jacobs was born in Birmingham, Michigan, the son of a lawyer. Both his parents' lineages could be traced to the first settlers of Massachusetts. His education at the University of Michigan was interrupted by World War I. He served as an Army private and returned to graduate with honors that won him a Rhodes Scholarship.

He spent six years studying and teaching at Oxford, where he earned his law degree. He became the first full-time American Fellow at Oxford.

He joined the Columbia Law faculty in 1927. He authored several law books and his case books on domestic relations and on tenant-landlord relations became standards. His tenure at Columbia broke with World War II. He worked in Washington as director of the Navy's dependents welfare division. He won the Legion of Merit for his efforts in revising the Navy's casualty administration procedures and the serviceman's dependence allowance act and missing persons act.

After the war he returned to Columbia to find his time increasingly consumed by administrative chores. His busy schedule held his family in New York City almost the year round. It was their pressure that led him to accept the chancellor's position at the University of Denver where he doubled as professor of law.

Dr. Jacobs soon ran afoul, however, of that boisterous western school's athletic interests. He demanded that scholarship be placed ahead of football and accordingly siphoned money from the alumni fund to increase faculty salaries. He eliminated 300 marginal courses in a curriculum revision and ordered dieting for what had been a heavy and expensive schedule of football luncheons. During his stay in Denver, attendance at football games was said to have dropped from an average of 110,000 to 50,000.

Trinity had been searching for a new president for months when Dr. Jacobs met a member of the search committee at a Psi Upsilon fraternity reunion in California. The Trinity Tripod, the college newspaper, years later reported Dr. Jacobs said he would accept the leadership of the small college only if it was offered to him "on a silver platter."

Apparently it was, because a few months after the reunion during the University of Denver homecoming, The Courant broke the news that Dr. Jacobs would be the next Trinity president.

Later he said "the decision to accept the Trinity offer was the toughest I ever had to make. When I left Columbia to come to Denver, I expected to spend the rest of my life there."

Trinity, he said, held the opportunity to exercise real leadership. Faculty salaries doubled during his years at Trinity and millions were spent on new buildings, including the Mather Student Center, the McCook Mathematics-Physics Center, two dormitories, the Austin Arts Center and the Life Sciences Center which was named after him.

As the years passed he complained of the fear that he was doing so much that none of it was being done properly.

"As a law professor, I could be a perfectionist. As an administrator, one feels that one can never do anything well," he said. He called the feeling "distasteful."

For relaxation he smoked a pipe, golfed and went trout fishing.

Once in his later years at Trinity, he was faced with disciplining one of the college's best students for violation of parietal hours. Pressure built for leniency.

On the day of reckoning he met with the student leader in his office. Dr. Jacobs said he had spent several sleepless nights wrestling with the problem and then suspended the student for a year. The student was shocked, but later praised Dr. Jacobs' adherence to an "older set of values."

Dr. Jacobs was the recipient of 15 honorary degrees, including a Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Trinity at the last Commencement exercise he presided over in 1968.

While at Trinity, Dr. Jacobs bought a summer home on Chappaquiddick Island in Edgartown, Mass. and after his retirement divided his time between that and a home in Ann Arbor.

He leaves his wife, Loretta Field Beal Jacobs; a son, Travis B. Jacobs of Middlebury, Vt.; two daughters, Mrs. LeRoy Butcher of Sarasota, Fla. and Mrs. Karl D. Malcolm, Jr. of Ann Arbor; a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Newman of New York City; and six grandchildren.

Contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society.

The above was written by Joel Lang, staff reporter of The Hartford Courant, and is reprinted with permission.

On Friday, November 19, more than 300 members of the Trinity faculty and administration and friends gathered in the College Chapel for a Memorial Service to honor Dr. Jacobs. The Lesson was read by Edwin P. Nye, dean of the faculty. Remembrances were given by Dr. George W. B. Starkey, chairman of the Board of Trustees, President Lockwood, John A. Dando, professor of English, and Travis B. Jacobs, son of the deceased. The Reverend Dr. Alan C. Tull officiated.

President's Fellows For '77 Designated

President Lockwood recently appointed 26 members of the Class of 1977 as "President's Fellows." Each academic department and program at Trinity named one outstanding senior for this honor. The annual designation of President's Fellows was first begun in the Fall of 1974.

The Fellows meet periodically with President Lockwood and various faculty and administrators for discussions of educational and other matters. Referring to these meetings, the President said in a letter appointing each Fellow: "I look forward to hearing your comments. In particular, I will be interested to learn your views about the Trinity educational experience, since one of the primary purposes of our discussions will be to reflect on the value of the liberal arts as they are embodied at the College."

One of the purposes of the President's Fellows program is "to honor undergraduates who have established truly superior academic records," the President said. "I am pleased to have this opportunity to recognize the kind of intellectual excellence for which Trinity stands."

The Chinese Puzzle

Political Science Professor Ranbir Vohra Looks Behind the Iron Curtain

Within weeks of Mao Tse-tung's death a series of startling events took place in China, intriguing the scholar and confusing the layman. Madame Mao Tse-tung (Chiang Ch'ing) and three of her close "radical left" associates (Wang Hung-wen, Yao Wen-yuan, Chang Ch'un-ch'iao), who had occupied positions of power in the Party ever since the Cultural Revolution (1966-68) have been publicly humiliated and eliminated from the political scene. They have been accused, among other things, of conspiring against the Party and the state, of plotting to assassinate Hua Kuo-feng (the current Prime Minister and head of the Party), and, according to some sources, of having even attempted to murder the ailing Mao Tse-tung.

These four, once recognized as "Maoist purists," had earlier this year been behind the dismissal of the "moderate" Teng Hsiao-p'ing. Teng, who had lost power during the Cultural Revolution, had himself been dramatically restored to the position of the de facto Prime Minister by Chou En-lai. After Chou's death the criticism mounted against Teng by the left was that he was a "capitalist-roader in the Party." Now the condemned "gang of four" is in turn being accused of having trod the deadly "capitalist road" for a long time. Millions of Chinese in Peking, Shanghai and other cities are currently holding mass demonstrations to denounce the Chiang Ch'ing clique — the same people who with equal enthusiasm were denouncing Teng not so many days ago!

Several questions are raised by these happenings: are we witnessing a ruthless struggle for naked power? Or is it a policy struggle? If it is a policy struggle why are those under attack, regardless of their policy alignments, invariably dubbed "revisionists" and "capitalist roaders?" Are the common people so naive that they can be manipulated to switch from one line to the other and back, without question? Is there no credibility gap? How has Hua Kuo-feng, a relatively unknown figure, gained his position of preeminence? Was the military used to suppress the radical leaders? If it was, what are the relations between the Party and the military?

To appreciate what is currently taking place in China one has to go back to 1973, at least, when the 10th Congress of the Chinese Communist Party was held following the traumatic Cultural Revolution and the fall of Lin Piao. The two reports presented at the Congress were by the "moderate" Chou En-lai and the "radical" Wang Hung-wen. Chou stressed the need to strengthen the centralized leadership of the Party and pay increased attention to economic development. His goal: make China a "powerful, modern, socialist state" by the year 2000. Wang, 36-year-old textile worker from Shanghai who had shot into prominence during the Cultural Revolution and been appointed the third most important member of the Party, stressed Mao Tse-tung's revolutionary line and said that "cultural revolutions" should be a recurring phenomenon.

Broadly speaking, the dilemma of the Chinese leadership stems from these two "lines." The "moderate" (sometimes referred to as "pragmatic") line is for economic growth and modernization before further social equalization. It is, therefore, for carefully planned development and for social stability. Planning implies institutional control, functional specialization and growth of technology, which in turn demands a supply of well-trained scientists and professionals. The proponents of this line would encourage colleges and universities to foster competitive talent; allow for differences in the wage scales; and provide material incentives for peasants and workers—all this to promote production.

To the followers of the Maoist line the moderates are an anathema, because if their path is followed it would mean the death of revolution. It would lead to the growth of bureaucratic elitism (which has deep roots in the Chinese tradition) and to the re-emergence of such anti-revolutionary tendencies as cliquism, nepotism and authoritarianism. The government and the Party would get divorced from the people and revolutionary gains would come to naught.

Unfortunately, the revolutionary line of Mao Tse-tung, however appealing in the abstract, is like a religious ideal — worthy of bearing in mind but not convenient to follow in practice. There is no way to institutionalize "permanent revolution," to maintain endlessly the momentum of "class struggle," or to keep society in a state of imbalance and upheaval so that ideology can retain the central place on the national stage. The key element in the Maoist ideology demands the changing of human nature. People must renounce all selfishness and individual concerns and seek only the good of the greater cause in their activities.

In the Marxist myth when the final emancipation of humanity takes place, with the dissolution of the bourgeoisie-led class society, a new social consciousness will emerge and eradicate the drive for profit; the division of labor will wither away so that no divisions will remain between mental and physical labor, between urban and rural labor or between different trades and professions. Mao, impatient to see China reach this stage, carried out two rather eccentric social experiments using the entire nation as his subject—the Great Leap Forward in 1958, and the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution from 1966-1968. Both the experiments temporarily shook the entire fabric of the nation. But they failed to achieve the results sought.

After each upheaval it was left to the so-called moderates to guide the country back to a state of normalcy. Unfortunately Chou En-lai, the greatest moderate of them all, died before Mao and could not see to the full revival of the Party and the cutback of the role of the military.

During the months between Chou's death in January and Mao's death in September, the radicals maneuvered themselves into a position of greater strength at the cost of the moderates. Teng Hsiao-p'ing was dismissed and Hua Kuo-feng, no doubt with the blessing of Mao, replaced him in March, as a compromise candidate. But the radicals were mistaken if they thought they could manipulate Hua.

At the time of writing this article the moderates appear to be well in command. The power struggle is probably over but the policy struggle will, no doubt, continue. The term "capitalist-roader" is indiscriminately used to malign the enemy of the moment, but the "two lines" are quite distinct and will remain so for a long time to come because the Maoist vision will always remain attractive.

A credibility gap must exist between the leaders and the intellectuals but they have been under attack for so long that their voices have been stilled. Perhaps their day of deliverance is also near. As far as the common folk are concerned they have a traditional approach to government. They simply accept whoever is in power. Demonstrations only mean that the opposition is weak, not that it does not exist.

In conclusion, one can say that today, Hua Kuo-feng appears to head a coalition of interest groups (including the professionals in the military) that favor stability and order, planned economic growth and modernization. If he has the requisite qualities of leadership he may emerge as the new Chou En-lai. It is, however, worth bearing in mind that the word "moderate" in the Chinese context does not possess the attributes we associate with it in America. Both the "moderates" and the "radicals" are communists and their goal is the same—a communist China. Only their paths to this goal differ.

Italian Trip Huge Success

By Georgia Hansen

On October 5, 80 Trinity alumni and parents left Kennedy Airport for seven marvelous, exciting, educational days in Italy. Their sojourn started in Rome, moved on to Florence and ended in Venice, with side trips to Naples and Pisa available for those who wished to take them.

There were well-conducted scheduled tours in each city to the most famous landmarks, but time was also allowed for individual sightseeing and shopping. Many took the opportunity to visit the Barbieri Center, Trinity's Rome Campus, which is located on the Aventine Hill above the Circus Maximus.

The main places of interest for everyone in Rome were the imposing Colosseum, the ancient Forum, the Pantheon, the inspiring St. Peter's, the beautiful Sistine Chapel, the Trevi Fountain, the Spanish Steps and the many lovely piazzas. In Florence the group was awed by the magnificence of Michelangelo's "David" and other works, the Cathedral of Santa Maria del Fiore, the Ponte Vecchio, and the Uffizi Gallery which houses the greatest collection of paintings in Italy. In Venice everyone had to take a gondola trip on the Grand Canal and feed the pigeons in the Piazza San Marco, as well as view the exquisite mosaics in St. Mark's and tour the Doge's Palace.

However, the days and nights of Trinity's happy and congenial group were not occupied by sightseeing alone. It would be remiss not to mention the delicious Italian cuisine and palatable wine served in the many attractive restaurants which were enjoyed by all. Also tempting shops filled with leather goods, glassware, jewelry, and clothing attracted many. Suitcases were noticeably bulging when the group boarded for the flight home.

Although a little footsore from walking, and stiff-necked from looking, Trinity's band of alumni and parents unanimously agreed that their trip to Italy was a memorable experience, enjoyed by all.

Plan to join us next fall on our trip to Greece.

EMPLOYMENT

The Career Counseling Office is seeking the assistance of alumni in helping current students locate employment. Alumni whose organizations employ college graduates are urged to return to campus in February or March 1977 to conduct interviews with Trinity seniors. In addition, our office would appreciate receiving information about any current job openings so that we can refer the information to qualified alumni who are in our file of active job-seekers.

Any assistance which alumni can offer will be very much appreciated.

GUILD OF CARILLONNEURS

At the request of the present Guild of Carillonners of Trinity College, Suzanne Gates has agreed to serve as correspondent with graduate carillonners who would like information on present happenings in the Trinity Guild and update on the renovation of the instrument. If you have any questions or wish to be put on our mailing list, please contact: Alumni Guild of Carillonners c/o Trinity College Chapel, Summit Street, Hartford, Connecticut 06106.

Three Boats Join The First Annual Alumni Regatta

By Curtis Jordan '74

After many weeks of phoning and planning the First Annual Alumni Regatta became a reality Saturday morning of Reunion/Homecoming (November 16).

Through the work of many area alumni, most notably James Cowdery '76, three boat loads of alumni returned to race. Finding all the alumni in peak physical condition, the referees were quick to raise the question whether to race the full 2000 meters or not. None of the alumni objected to the idea of going the full distance even though a few alumni later rudely suggested that no one complained because no one was told until they were on the starting line.

The start was quick and clean; soon it was apparent that this race would be a closely fought contest. Each boat yearning to set claim to the cherished Grand Challenge Jug, a gift from an area alumnus for the occasion. Coxswain Will Matthews '76 coaxed his boat to a one-half length lead at the 1000 meters, with the other two boats battling for second place. With 500 meters to go Matthews' boat had a mere three-quarters of a length over the fine eight coxed by John Mezochow '74. Andy Anderson's '75 boat had caught a minor crab several hundred meters before and had dropped back to a full length behind the leading boat. Realizing his position, Andy called on stroke Steve Hamilton '70 for an early sprint. Courageously Hamilton rallied to the call and drove the boat up for the final 500. Realizing that Anderson's boat was now closing on the field rapidly both of the other coxswains called for their sprints 100 meters later. With only 100 meters to go the boats were virtually even. With hearts pounding and muscles aching each oarsman searched for that little bit extra. Big Phil Wendler '75 stroke of Matthews' boat was able to find it and pulled his crew out to a narrow victory. Closely following were John's boat one-quarter length back and one-quarter length behind him was Andy's boat. A new alumni course record was set at 6:02.5.

Congratulations and the honored Grand Challenge Jug were given to the winning crew by regatta chairman James Cowdery and in his speech, he praised all the alumni for returning and promised a bigger and better regatta next year. Afterwards beer and cocktails were provided for the breaking of training ceremonies along with coffee and donuts.

Notable returning alumni: Steve Lines '71, Steve Hamilton '70, Phil Wendler '75, Will Matthews '76, Constance Doyle '74, Jon Doolittle '76, Andy Anderson '75, Jay

Fisher '75, Dick Dale '70, Jeff Bolster '76, John Mezochow '74, Rob Rosenberg '73, David Banash '72, Drew Isaac '75, Curtis Jordan '74, Burt Apfelbaum '75, Geoff Booty '76, Jamie Cowdery '76, Von Gryska '75, Jamie Tilghman '75, Milt Marder '75, and Win Hayward '76.

Alumni Offspring Admissions Weekend Proves Successful

Sixty-five sons and daughters of alumni stayed the night on campus early in October to inaugurate a new kind of orientation program for alumni offspring planning to enter college next fall. A joint effort of the Alumni and Admissions Offices, the September 30 to October 2 program introduced the high school seniors with special Trinity ties to the campus, the faculty, the students, and to the admissions process itself.

CINDY CASALE, seventeen-year-old daughter of Dr. Albert Casale '56, counsels with Susan Haberlandt, associate admissions director.

Before the three days were over the students had heard panel discussions which explained what to look for when visiting a college; how to handle oneself in an interview; and the significant features of social and academic life. Guests also attended classes and were individually counselled by the admissions staff. They joined Trinity undergraduates to discuss problems of adjustment to college and were led through the complicated applications and admissions procedures. Two nights were spent in the dorms with student hosts.

Parents and students together heard general presentations on admissions and financial aid and watched the Bantams defeat Bates on the gridiron, a fitting climax to a successful new program. Director of Alumni and External Relations Jerry Hansen says the program is definitely on the agenda for next year.

eight honorary degrees, including the L.H.D. from Trinity in 1970.

He has served on numerous boards of directors, executive committees and commissions, among them the Commission on Independent Colleges and Universities, the Association of Colleges and Universities of New York State, the Massachusetts Committee on Fulbright Awards, the (NY) Governor's Commission on Compensation of the Legislature and the Judiciary, the Harvard Graduate Society Council, the Schenectady Trust Company and the Schenectady Museum.

Among his trusteeships are the Roxbury Latin School, Hartwick College, Albany Medical College, Dudley Observatory, the Landis Arboretum and the Huyck Preserve.

GIFTS AND PLEDGES TO THE COLLEGE

July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1976

During the 1975-76 fiscal year, the College received more than $4.3 million in gifts and pledges, including once again the half-million dollars in Annual Gifts needed for the year's academic program. Coming at a time when Trinity is engaged in its most ambitious fundraising program, this substantial support from alumni, parents, and other friends, from business and industry and from philanthropic foundations, is gratefully received.

As the Summary of Giving on the next page indicates, Annual Gifts totaled $501,168, the fourth consecutive year that contributions for the budgeted programs of the College exceeded a half-million dollars. Restricted designated gifts of $2,735,843 and bequests and deferred gifts of $1,104,773 bring total gifts and pledges to $4,341,784.

As a result, the Campaign for Trinity Values is now at $9.4 million of the $12 million goal, and we will be working steadily during the coming months to bring this capital campaign to a successful conclusion.

Our Annual Giving Program received national recognition last July in the form of a United States Steel Alumni Giving Incentive Award based on Alumni Fund performance during a prior year. That award-winning performance, I'm proud to report, was admirably sustained during the year just completed.

While capital gifts aid Trinity over the long term, it is the Annual Gifts which permit Trinity to continue to offer an outstanding academic program within the limits of a balanced budget. In this 1976-77 academic year, with a total College budget of $11.3 million, Trinity will again need $500,000 in Annual Gifts.

To all those who have joined with us in these efforts to sustain this venerable College and assure it a distinguished future, I extend my thanks and best wishes. Certainly the challenge is worthwhile.

Theodore D. Lockwood

The Alumni Fund Record

The Alumni Fund began in 1948-49 when the Alumni Association appointed a commit- tee to organize and promote an annual fund. Members of the first committee were Sydney D. Pinney '18, chairman; John S. McCook '35, Fred C. Hinkel, Jr. '06, George C. Capen '10, and George Malcolm-Smith '25. The Alumni Fund's original purpose has remained through- out the years: "to provide some of the necessities of education."

Corporate Contributors of Matching Gifts

The College received more than $43,000 in corporate matching funds in 1975-1976, as a result of annual gifts from alumni, parents, and friends. Companies with matching gift programs will make a contribution to Trinity equal to, and sometimes greater than, contributions made by their employees to the College. As a general rule, contributions by alumni to the Alumni Fund or the Campaign for Trinity Values are eligible for corporate matching gifts. Some companies also match gifts to the College by directors, by retired employees, by the spouse of an alumnus and by non-alumni parents and friends. There are more than 600 companies in the U.S. which have matching gift programs.

In the 1975-1976 year, 142 corporations contributed a total of $43,761 in matching funds to Annual Giving. Of this total, $35,053 matched gifts to the Alumni Fund, $5,773 matched gifts to the Parents Fund, and $2,935 matched gifts to the Friends of Trinity Fund.

One corporation, which gave a quarter of a million dollars to 339 schools and colleges across the country, reported that Trinity led the list of all institutions receiving its matching gift funds. Some of the colleges and universities near the top included Yale, Harvard, Smith, University of Pennsylvania, Wesleyan, and Brown.

Information is available from the College's Development Office concerning companies with matching gift programs.

Representatives of The Travelers Insurance Companies present a contribution of $3,310 to President Theodore D. Lockwood. The gift from The Travelers was based on the number of Trinity alumni currently employed by the insurance company in the U.S. and Canada. From left are John V. Halldin, Manager of Personnel Administration for the Hartford Field Office; President Lockwood; Christopher J. Shinkman, Director of Career Counseling at Trinity; H. Stuart Massie, Jr., Manager of Life, Health and Financial Services Department, Hartford Field Office, and Gerald J. Hansen, Director of Alumni and External Relations at Trinity. Trinity has 68 alumni employed at The Travelers, including seven recruited from the graduating class of 1976.

President Lockwood accepts a check for $16,848 from Aetna Life & Casualty presented by John J. Martin, center, general manager of the Hartford Branch Office, and Herbert R. Bland '40, managing partner of R.C. Knox & Company. The contribution from Aetna matches individual gifts made to Trinity by 44 Aetna employees and agents during the past year.

10 Mr. George C. Capen
87 Walbridge Road
West Hartford, CT 06119

On July 31 in Liberty Corner, New Jersey, Jo and HOBE COOK quietly celebrated their 67th anniversary. They have three children, six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

16 Mr. Erhardt G. Schmitt
41 Mill Rock Road
New Haven, CT 06511

Our emotional 60th is now long past, and those of you not present have been sent programs of the Immortals' Dinner and the Memorial Service.

I hope you were all glued to your TV sets on Saturday, July 31 to see the Sports Spectacular Show by CBS, showing our great Trinity Crew winning the Ladies' Challenge Plate at Henley. What a show for Trinity College, and what a splendid help it was for all of us "Special Gifts" fund raisers for the Campaign. Let us all give credit and congratulations to Gerald Hansen, Jr., Director of Alumni and External Relations for his thoughtfulness in sending out the alert about the CBS TV Show to alumni, fund workers and friends of Trinity Rowing. How about another additional pledge, Boys, and a remembrance to the crew and other sports!

I was sorry to hear from JACK TOWNSEND about the passing of our classmate, LLOYD MILLER on October 19 in Ogdensburg, New York, and we extend our sympathy to his wife, Elaine. He was Commander of Motor Boat Squadron, an interest which he continued until recently on the St. Lawrence River at Ogdensburg, where he had moved to be near his married daughter, Mary Catherine Lyons.

After enjoying the fine Trinity-Amherst game and a week later agonizing at Wesleyan-Trinity, I can only say that feelings went from alpha to omega. I hope a lot of you got back for the football games this fall. Write me some news.

19 Mr. Clinton B. F. Brill
Route 13, Box 227
Tallahassee, FL 32303

Our Class had a good delegation at the Immortals' Dinner at the Hartford Club on May 21. This has become an annual event for those of our group who live in the New England area. They are all enthusiastic about this get-together and derive great pleasure from it.

The urge to travel seems to have taken a firm grip on a number of our classmates. IRV PARTRIDGE and his wife left at the end of May for a tour of the British Isles. HENRY VALENTINE and his wife did likewise. BEN SILVERBERG joined the Trinity group which visited Rome, Florence and Venice. VIN POTTER flew to London on May 26 and from thence to Dublin. He spent June and July traveling in Northern Ireland and The Republic of Ireland. He spent two weeks at 1614 Crawfordshim Inn which he describes as "choice!" Next came a cousin's wedding with attendant festivities. He then went to an inn at Portballintra, on the Antrim Coast Road, then to Donnagal, Sligo, Dublin, and back home.

YOUR SECRETARY and his wife flew to London on August 30, then spent a week in Edinburgh, after which they spent three weeks at the Moulin Hotel in Moulin, which is next to Pitlochry in Perthshire. From that headquarters, they visited many of the interesting places in the eastern Highlands. Then back to New York for two weeks and to home in Tallahassee, Florida.

The children of the late SID PINNEY '18 announced the marriage of their mother, Mrs. Louise Wells Pinney, to HARMON TYLER BARBER (our own Ham) on June 20.

22 Mr. Henry T. Kneeland
75 Duncaster Road
Bloomfield, CT 06002

TED HOLDEN, who died on September 5 in Portland, Maine, was literary editor of The Hartford Times for many years, and though he was forced to leave college in his second year because of failing eyesight, he found recovery and went on to a literary career. He was characterized as truly "a gentleman of the press" as anyone talking with him would discover. Ted was a man his class and Trinity can be proud of.

Spring and fall sports are over but I shall have to revert to baseball. MICKEY DORAN writes in reference to that fateful game at Storrs that "Bob Reynolds pitched that game and I caught him, and our player who was knocked out by the cross-eyed pitcher was our late HAL REDDISH and not FREDDY BOWDIDGE '23 as reported." Mickey's address is 203 Heritage Village, Southbury, Connecticut 06488. Blessed memories — among our best — NED KENDALL's letter about the ambidextrous Middlebury pitcher has produced this interesting comment from KEN SMITH '25, director of the National Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, New York. Ken says with authority that such pitching is entirely legal and "neither Bowie Kuhn, Marvin Miller or Justice Burger can stop it. Anthony (Count) Mullane pitched in the major leagues from 1881 to 1894. He developed a sore arm and experimenting with his left, Mullane became efficient as a southpaw. The Count enjoyed telling of his experiences fooling the batters, not only pitching from either side, but catching them napping off base, throwing with either hand. Most of the time he wore no glove." He names several others but ends by saying, "We had a distinguished Trinity pitcher pop in last summer — MOE DRABOWSKY '57. He sauntered into the October 5, 1966 game for Baltimore against the Los Angeles Dodgers, and struck out the first six Dodgers for a record. His autographed ball from the event is in the Hall of Fame."

For a non-athletic entry, YOUR SECRETARY tried his pen and received a certificate as the winner of the most accomplished poet award in the poetry contest at the 1976 Greater Hartford Civic and Arts Festival, held at the Old State House on June 13.

The BOB HARTTS have changed to a condominium way of life at 1005 225 Belleville Street, Victoria, B.C., V8V 4T9.

YOUR SECRETARY attended the highly successful 17th annual banquet of the Trinity Club of Hartford at the College on October 27. Dr. Robert Oxnam, professor of history at Trinity presented a very interesting talk on U.S.-China relations in light of present day events. Where were the rest of my Hartford area classmates?

Did you guys know that our own KEN SMITH is an actor — not a bad one either. A rather latent talent has emerged which put our famed director (baseball, you know) into the annual opera put on by the Cooperstown (New York) Opera Company. He didn't sing a solo but in the chorus he excelled and distinguished himself with rather neat steps on stage. Another did you know item? Ken plays the squeeze box (accordion), a gift from the baseball writers' association upon his retirement, in accompaniment to his gentle baritone voice. When Betty NOBLE and YOUR SECRETARY with wife, Olga, were visiting the Smiths this summer, Kenny entertained with his playing and singing; many were the songs of our undergraduate days. Kenny and Emmy are excellent hosts. How he does it I don't know because Kenny is a "very busy guy." Ken wants to be remembered to all his friends (he rattled off names like a computer — what a mind —, but I don't dare to list any for fear I might slight someone).

GAYLORD DuBOIS, who retired at age 76, is still doing some writing for publication and a bit of editing. He says his wife, Mary, is often taken for his daughter at age 71! Daughter Miriam Nelson has built a new home adjoining the DuBois property in Orange City, Florida, after selling her flourishing newspaper in Grande Cache, Alberta.

We of 2T6 are all mighty grateful to learn that our good NORM and his dear Jean PITCHER are now back to normal going after a rough year; especially, we are grateful that Norm came back so well from a bout from pneumonia. The Pitchers want to express their deepest thanks and appreciation to all of you who so kindly wrote to them. This meant so much to them, as inspirational words of encouragement always do.

On the brighter side of the coin, I am sure we are all pleased to learn that our good JIM BURR and his dear Betty have been able to travel through Greece, other parts of Europe, Scotland, England, and golf in the International Seniors. Jim has become president of the Wolverine Seniors Golf Association in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

MEETING AT POSTGAME reception at Austin Arts Center are John and Lois Fink '44, New Haven, and Louise and John Wilcox '39, Wethersfield, Conn.

We of 2T6 are happy and honored to learn from JOE HUBBARD's wife, Kay, that she was pleased to receive from us the leaflet of the Memorial Service at the time of our Reunion. It was good also to hear from The Very Reverend FRANCIS PRYOR III. We are sorry he could not be with us, and hope and pray his dear wife, Marion, is by now enjoying her normal good health.

27 Mr. Winthrop H. Segur
34 Onlook Rd.
Wethersfield, CT 06109

The one thing that really gladdens the heart of a senile class secretary is to receive a letter with some news from a fellow classmate. Thank you Sir STAN BELL of Rochester. Stan reports he had a nice visit with ROBERT CONDIT, 1927's favorite man of the cloth, and his lady. Bob seems to have an ideal setup with which to enjoy his golden years — summers at Lake George, where nearby his son runs a radio station, and winters in Crescent City of the Sunshine State. Sounds like a splendid way to enjoy good health.

Another visitor to his Rochester abode was DAVE LOEFFLER '26 and his wife. A full report was given on his 50th Reunion and induction into Trinity's Immortals, fully enjoyed by both. Incidentally, another class will be going through the same thing come 1977 and you all come, do you hear?

Happy to report that another coat-of-arms has been hung on the walls surrounding the massive Round Table where sit the Knights of the Class of 1927. Sir ROGER HARTT's family crest was duly installed in October. Speaking of families, Roge reports the addition of a second granddaughter, increasing the total number of grandchildren to 11. "If any of you guys can top that, just leave me know." Roge also reports buying a condo and his new address is 45 Southport Woods Drive, Southport, Connecticut 06490.

Your chairman, ANDY FORRESTER, and the writer had the pleasure of sitting with FRANK CONRAN and his lady, Julie, at the Amherst game. Frank has decided to join other classmates as a Knight of the Round Table and the coat-of-arms of the Conran family has now been duly hung in the Great Hall. Welcome aboard, Sir Frank.

There are still seats available with the other

Knights of the Round Table. Induction ceases on our 50th. If any classmates are interested in joining just drop your Secretary-Treasurer a note. He'll be awaiting.

28 Mr. Royden C. Berger
53 Thomson Road
West Hartford, CT 06107

ROYDON BERGER, president of the Charter Oak Color Slide Association in Hartford, presented an $800 check for Camp Courant, Hartford. The check represented the proceeds from the International Color Slide Show held earlier this year.

29 Mr. James V. White
22 Austin Road
Milford, CT 06460

KARL KOENIG is doing some writing on his years at Trinity from 1925 to 1929. He requests that classmates or contemporaries send him materials, photographs and/or stories about that era. He is especially interested in acquiring photographs taken during these years. Karl requests permission to copy all material submitted and promises it will be returned. Proper credit will be given. His address is Johnny Cake Hill, Hamilton, New York 13340.

30 The Rev. Canon Francis R. Belden
411 Griffin Rd.
So. Windsor, CT 06074

The only news item at the writer's desk concerns the CLASS SECRETARY. He retired from the active ministry of the Episcopal Church after over 41 years, the last 25 of which he was Canon of Christ Church Cathedral in Hartford. Elected Canon Emeritus by the Cathedral Chapter, he and his family were honored at a reception on June 1. Among those present was the Chaplain of Trinity College, who presented a Certificate of Recognition from President Lockwood and one of the College's Anniversary Tiffany plates with the College seal.

33 Mr. Ezra Melrose
186 Penn Dr.
West Hartford, CT 06119

EZRA and Minna MELROSE finally made it overseas. They spent 15 days in Israel and stopped over in Rome and Florence on the way home. It was an exciting and most meaningful trip. Daughter HARRIET '73 has returned to Trinity after dropping out for a few years.

34 Mr. John A. Mason
564 West Avon Rd.
Avon, CT 06001

Congratulations to Class Agent ANDY ONDERDONK who raised $8,904 from 56 contributors. This is 109% of the 1934 quota for the 1976 Alumni Fund. After 22 years of faithful service, Andy has resigned as Class Agent. Indeed we are all grateful for his effective and successful work.

Jane Clark, widow of NAT CLARK, married William G. Anderson of Sherborn, Massachusetts on October 12.

FRED BASHOUR keeps busy working for the Hartford Board of Education and the Connecticut Fair Rent Commission. We know also that he finds time to continue taking fine bird pictures.

Marie and BILL HENEERY took an eight-day trip to Lima, Peru last fall.

JOHN KELLY retired last summer from his long time work for the FBI. This past fall he coached the Trinity JV soccer team.

We hear that DEL WHEELER has recovered from a serious facial operation.

Our sympathy goes to the families of GEORGE MUIR who died October 22, and AL CIVITTOLO who died September 12.

Helen and CHUCK KINGSTON spent much of November at Del Ray Beach, Florida.

CHARLIE BIERKAN has retired as curator of the Old State House in Hartford after eight years of service. He spends much time in West Campton, New Hampshire, taking pictures of the beautiful White Mountains.

Jean Rogers, daughter of DOUG RANKIN, is a senior at the University of Missouri. Her husband, Charles, recently graduated from the University of Missouri Law School and is a counsel for that state.

YOUR SECRETARY was given a surprise dinner by the Delta Psi Trinity alumni on November 5. Among those present were HOFF BENJAMIN, DOUG GAY, BERT HOLLAND, and CHUCK KINGSTON.

It was good to see Irene and GUS UHLIG at the Trin-Amherst game.

35 Mr. Albert W. Baskerville
73 Birchwood Dr.
Derry, NH 03038

GEORGE WALKER is still working for the Defense Department as an inspector at Terry Steam Turbine Company in Niantic, Connecticut. He has bought a new home in Old Lyme, mostly as a summer residence. George hasn't decided when to retire as he still likes his job and says he is able to get up at six in the morning and amble off to work.

BOB LAU has been reelected secretary-treasurer of the Mercer County, New Jersey Library Commission and also to a three year term on the executive board of the Ewing (New Jersey) Township Democratic Club. In addition, Bob is in his second year as a member of the Mercer County Community College Veterans Affairs Advisory Commission in Trenton.

BOB RODNEY looks forward to retirement next year after 40 years of college teaching and administration. He will devote a terminal leave to finishing a third book on Mark Twain and some research in Europe on American writers abroad. Bob, who has served as dean of liberal arts at Eastern Montana College for the last nine years, cautions prospective retirees to beware of Montana if they do not want to be lured into clean air, blue skies, mountain trout, ski runs, fast air travel, and other snares of the Big Sky country.

ED BOEGER is enjoying early retirement in Florida, and enjoyed having lunch with the JOHN MASONS '34 on one of their visits.

37 Mr. Robert M. Kelly
33 Hartford Ave.
Madison, CT 06443

BILL HULL, our highly efficient Class Agent, and formerly director of the Casualty-Property Department of the Travelers Insurance Company, has now retired after 38 years in the business. Bill plans to alternate his time between his Leete's Island home in Guilford, Connecticut and his place in Siesta Key, Sarasota, Florida. Good luck, Bill and Ruth.

ED COLTON is another retiree after better than 36 years with the Eastman Kodak Company in Rochester, New York. Ed, his wife and youngest son are now living at 3131 N. Longhorn Drive, Tucson, Arizona. If any others of '37 are in that area, Ed would really appreciate their contacting him.

JOHN BANKS and his wife, Billie, were honored at a surprise party given by the congregation he has served for 21 years — Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy, Massachusetts. It was 35 years since his ordination and marriage were celebrated. John has appeared on CBS-TV Morning News in his hobby as beekeeper (six hives on the parish house roof). His son, Peter, was recently appointed to the pathology staff of the Mayo Clinic.

Second Annual Alumni/Varsity HOCKEY GAME

Saturday, February 19, 8:00 p.m.

The big Class news of the year was the awarding of a Trinity honorary degree to The Rt. Rev. BOB KERR, Episcopal Bishop of Vermont. The Class extends its warmest congratulations.

Professor GUS ANDRIAN and wife, Peggy, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary in August at the Algonquin, St. Andrews, New Brunswick as arranged for them by their children, BOBBY ANDRIAN '75, daughter Barry, a sophomore at Trinity, and son Billy. They met RAY HANSEN '59, organist, and like HERB BLAND, an insurance agent "par excellence". On their return from Canada, the Andrians visited with YOUR SECRETARY and wife, Anne, at their retreat in nearby Jonesport, Maine.

Since retirement from Trinity a year ago, YOUR SECRETARY has completed a five-lesson series called "Discover the Stars" (published by See-Bak, Inc., New Britain, Connecticut, 1976). He has coauthored with WILLIAM BUCKLEY MA '27 a history of education in Connecticut, published in October by the Connecticut Retired Teachers Association as part of its contribution to the Bicentennial.

This fall he delivered three lectures on the history of American education at University College, Galway, Ireland, upon the invitation of President James Mitchell.

CARMINE LAVIERI, Winsted, Connecticut, has been busy with meetings and speaking engagements in his role as president of the Connecticut Bar Association.

43 Mr. John L. Bonee
McCook, Kenyon and Bonee
50 State St.
Hartford, CT 06103

JACK McLOUGHLIN was home in Hartford for one of his infrequent visits to attend a family wedding. Jack resides with his family in the Philippine Islands and his visit happened to coincide with the wedding of TOM TAMONEY's ('42) daughter, Debbie. Jack and Tom are first cousins. The wedding turned out to be a "mini-reunion" for the Class of 1943, including Jack, HARRY TAMONEY, GEORGE TRACY and YOUR SECRETARY. And, more importantly, it was a wonderful wedding party!

JIM McANDREWS — since we're talking about weddings — his oldest son, Michael, was also married in August. Jim and YOUR SECRETARY enjoyed some chowder together at the old Honiss Oyster House in Hartford.

JOE SULLIVAN reports that he is in the communications field and has established a business office in Wethersfield, Connecticut known as Nutmeg Communications, Inc.

45 Mr. Andrew W. Milligan
15 Winterset Lane
West Hartford, CT 06117

REED SCHROEDER, president of Schroeder Brothers Corporation, McKees Rocks, Pennsylvania, has been appointed chairman of the National Fluid Power Association's technical board. He has also been appointed to NFPA's convention committee and planning committee.

48 The Rt. Rev. E. Otis Charles
231 East First So. St.
Salt Lake City, Utah 84111

DAVE LAMBERT has been appointed general counsel of the U.S. Small Business Administration, Washington, D.C. With the exception of 11 years in the contracting, pricing and administration field, Dave has been with various government agencies since 1951 when he joined the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

YOUR SECRETARY spent a long weekend with ART WALMSLEY at St. John's Abbey during the May meeting of Associated Parishes. In August there was a happy Trinity reunion with ALLEN NEVINS and his wife, Polly, who were in Salt Lake City, Utah visiting their son.

JOE HEISTAND has been elected Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of Arizona and was consecrated in Phoenix, Arizona by The Most Reverend John Allin, Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church.

49 Mr. Charles I. Tenney, C.L.U.
Charles I. Tenney & Associates

JULIEN BISSONETTE's son, Todd, was married this summer to Giles McMillan of Fayetteville, North Carolina. Todd is director of Camp Leach in Washington, North Carolina.

ALLAN ZENOWITZ, U.S. regional director of Civil Preparedness for the Northeastern U.S., Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, attended the 1976 National Security Seminar at the U.S. Army War College. He is also a member of the U.S./Canada Civil Emergency Advisory Committee.

51 Mr. John F. Klingler
344 Fern St.
West Hartford, CT 06119

A record number of classmates turned out for our big 25th. Everybody had such a great time they can hardly wait for the 30th. Al Simpson is to be congratulated for making the trip from California. Everybody agreed, none of us have changed. One of the highlights of the weekend was watching Ned Kulp in his familiar role of cheerleader. Brad Minturn was the visiting preacher for the 10:30 service. For the classmates who missed a sensational weekend we plan to see you on our 30th, if not before.

52 Mr. Douglas C. Lee
628 Willow Glen Dr.
Lodi, CA 95240

DAVID HATFIELD has a new job as administrator of operations of the United Hospitals, Inc. in St. Paul, Minnesota.

Having had an acute case of writer's cramp for the last three years (coincident with our move to California), I find that as a result the flood of class notes has been reduced to a trickle. In an effort to rectify that situation, will all classmates whose last names begin with the letters A-F please take pen or typewriter in hand and drop a line — either directly to me at the address above, or to the College. How about it?

53 Mr. Paul A. Mortell
508 Stratfield Rd.
Fairfield, CT 06432

The Rev. DAVID DEAN has been named Imperial Chaplain of the Shrine of North America. His one year term will conclude in July 1977.

JOHN BIRD, owner of the Flying Chef in Livermore, California, appeared on the Kathryn Crosby Television Show in San Francisco. John was demonstrating the new Cuisinarts Food Processor from France.

55 Mr. E. Wade Close, Jr.
200 Hunter's Trace Lane
Atlanta, Georgia 30328

BILL LaPORTE was elected Republican Town Chairman of Newington, Connecticut with the help of WALT McMAHON '54 and ED PIZZELLA '54. Bill was also recently selected to appear in "Who's Who in the East" for his business, civic and political activities.

DAVID JOHNSON is now rector of St. Boniface in Siesta Key, Sarasota, Florida.

58 The Rev. Dr. Borden W. Painter
110 Ledgewood Rd.
West Hartford, CT 06107

BOB BACK has been named investment research officer in the Trust Department of Harris Bank in Chicago. Bob joined Harris in 1974 as an investment analyst after being with Brown Brothers Harriman & Company, and Allstate Insurance. Bob, Linaya, and their two sons live in Buffalo Grove, Illinois.

PETER GOODWIN has been selected as a Fellow in the Religious Public Relations Council, a national, interfaith organization that honors members of the secular press for contributions to religious life in America. Peter serves on the staff of Daily News in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. In 1974, he received the Brotherhood Citation of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

60 Mr. Robert C. Langen
2 Sachems Trail
West Simsbury, CT 06092

ERNEST HADDAD has accepted a position as director of legal services with Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Massachusetts, Inc., Boston. He says it is not in the field of higher education but capitalizes nicely on his government experience.

As of September 1, FRANK JAGO assumed new duties as rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Mount Holly, New Jersey.

62 Mr. Barnett Lipkind
432 E. 88th St., Apt. 404
New York, NY 10028

WADE BREED writes that he and his children — Charlotte, 13, William, 12, and Alfred, 9 — visited New England for three weeks in July. He and the boys canoed the Allagash River in Maine for one of those weeks. Wade stopped by Trinity on his way back home and had supper at the DKE house.

JOE NARDIELLO received the Doctor of Philosophy degree at Johns Hopkins last May.

SAM CURTIS, educator and free lance outdoor writer-photographer from Bozeman, Montana, has been awarded the second highest honor for magazine writing in the Outdoor Writers Association of America Deep Woods Writing Award contest. His prize winning entry, "Camping with Kids," appeared in the February issue of All Outdoors, a national magazine for outdoor families. Sam was awarded $125 and a Deep Woods certificate. He recently collaborated with Strung and Earl Perry on a book, Whitewater, published by Macmillan.

63 Mr. Timothy F. Lenicheck
152 Willow Avenue
Somerville, MA 02144

DICK SMITH is the organist on a very favorably reviewed new recording released by Te Deum Record of Dundas, Ontario, Canada.

SANDY CREIGHTON, whom I see frequently because our offices are in the same building, has moved from Concord, Massachusetts to a home on Longmeadow Road in Lincoln, Massachusetts.

ELI KARSON has left Northwestern Mutual Life and joined Connecticut Mutual Life operating out of West Springfield, Massachusetts. Eli recently purchased a new home in Somers, Connecticut.

JOHN SIMZIK will shortly assume new duties at Coopers & Lybrand in New York. He will be working with the new pension reform law.

I have always felt that we all enjoy browsing through class notes and finding out about each other. Our enjoyment, however, is directly proportional to material submitted to me, or to me via the College's Alumni Office. Contribute to pleasure in the aggregate — write a note.

64 Mr. Beverly N. Coiner
150 Katherine Court
San Antonio, TX 78209

HARRY PRATT has been promoted to major and writes that he has a new son, Harry Steman, born the 4th of June.

THOMAS WILTBANK has been appointed assistant medical director of the Regional Red Cross Blood Program in Washington, D.C. He and his wife, Carole, have moved to Leesburg, Virginia.

CHRIS GILSON is now in New York City where he is managing the retail branches of Citibank in lower Manhattan — West Side. He says there is a lot to learn in each new area of banking and he continues to be stimulated.

65 The Rev. David J. Graybill
213 Cherokee Rd.
Hendersonville, TN 37075

TOM SNEDEKER is now vice president of corporate finance at George Engine, Harvey, Louisiana. Tom is president this year of the Junior Achievement of New Orleans' 3000 plus high school students and 110 companies. He also finds time for tennis and sailing.

DAVID WILLIAMS is director of the cardiac catheterization laboratory at Rhode Island Hospital and is assistant professor of medicine at Brown University.

JIM ROOSEVELT is one of two attorneys staffing the Dechert, Price and Rhoads offices in London, England. He and his wife, Sharon, have a flat in Chelsea and are proud new parents (see Births). Jim was on hand to cheer the Trinity Crew on at the Henley Regatta. While there, he ran into PETER ROHMAN who was in England on business from Athens.

66 Dr. Randolph Lee
Office of College Counseling
Trinity College
Hartford, CT 06106

I don't have a whole lot of news to report, but those of you who were here at the Reunion picked up the Class Directory anyway, and that gives us a good picture of what everybody is doing at the moment.

I did hear from GEORGE BENT last summer who told us at that point that he had just purchased a new home in Pittsburgh.

I also got a very nice long letter from TOM WILLIAMS late in the summer telling us that he was not going to be able to get East for our reunion, but also filling us in on his life for the past decade. Most recently, Tom and his wife, Pat, have been in the process of remodeling and extending their apartment, the key feature of which for Tom is his gourmet kitchen. He writes that he is beginning to get into French, Chinese, Indian, Greek, Mexican, and Japanese cooking, and that might even beat some of the fine San Francisco restaurants, which is where Tom is living. He also told us that he saw BOB GOLUB several months ago while Bob was out west with his wife and stepdaughter. The Golubs now live in Miami, Florida.

Speaking of remodeling homes, YOUR SECRETARY has been busy at that task as well. We moved from the top of Vernon Street down to 65 Vernon here on the campus, and I and my wife, Linda, and two daughters, Jennifer and Kerrith, spent a good part of the summer working on the house. I mentioned that largely so that when any of you are in the area you don't have any excuse not to stop by and say hello.

That's about all we've got this month, and I wish you all a very pleasant Holiday Season.

First Annual Alumni/Varsity BASKETBALL GAME

Friday, January 21, 7:30 p.m., Ferris Athletic Center. Interested alumni please contact Ron Cretaro, 527-3151, Ext. 284.

67 Mr. Tom Safran
943 1/2 Hilgard Avenue
Los Angeles, CA 90024

Apparently a few of my sources have been incorrect, as evidenced by a recent letter I received from JAMES H. PURDY. Jim wrote to comment on a recent news article I had written about him that was based on what turns out to be a misinformed grapevine. To set the record straight, Jim has been rector of St. Bernard's Parish, Bernardville, New Jersey since 1973. He serves on several committees and boards of the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey, is active in various community responsibilities and projects and is a member of the Board of Trustees of Far Hills Country Day School. Jim, who married Emma Hodge Sarosdy in 1972, enjoys such activities as tennis, platform tennis and a bit of sailing.

My next bit of news comes directly from a Travelers Insurance Company news release so is bound to be more accurate. DOUGLAS CARLSON of West Hartford has been appointed assistant investment officer in the public bond division of the securities department at Travelers.

Moving on, I am happy to share with you news of JOHN DAVISON's latest addition to his harem: Amanda Hunt, born March 16, joins her sisters Christina, 6, and Lindsey, 4.

And now for a different sort of creation — BOB EBINGER writes to say that he has just completed a dramatic short story filming in Mendocino, California, where he is enjoying the fantastic scenery. Bob plans to move to 369 N. Avenue 53 in Los Angeles and has "plenty of room for visitors."

A brief card from CHARLES HECKSCHER, Jr. indicates that he is currently residing at 22 Nippon Street in Philadelphia and working at United Engineers and Constructors, Inc. If you happen to be passing through Philadelphia at the tailend of this Bicentennial year, you might be able to reach Charles at (215) 248-2106.

Along similar professional lines, ROBERT JENKINS is now a partner and principal in the architectural firm of Chambliss/Dillon & Associates in Grand Junction, Colorado. He, his wife, Joyce, and daughter, Kate, 4, have been living in Grand Junction for about three years and by the time you read this, will probably have their second child.

Also in Philadelphia is CHARLES KURZ, who has recently purchased a new home in the historic section of Society Hill. I had the pleasure of getting together with Charles this summer for a few rounds of tennis, since he was in L.A. on business. Other extracurricular activities of his include being a director of the William Penn Charter School Alumni Society.

Yet another alumnus residing in the Philadelphia environs (East Mt. Airy, Pennsylvania) is JOHN LOEB, who is currently working as the director of sub-regional development for the Philadelphia Health Management Corporation. His wife, Eva, is a first year medical student at the Medical College of Pennsylvania.

Congratulations are in order for both MARK SHAPIRO and his wife, Laura. He recently graduated from Texas Technical Law School and she from Texas Tech Medical School. They now live in Columbia, South Carolina.

Finally, BOB SANGER dropped us a brief card from Winston/Salem, North Carolina, where he is working with International Treasury group as a financial analyst. Bob has three children: Ricky, 10; Hank, 8; and Patrick 2 1/2. He coaches the Optimist Club Soccer team, on which both of the older boys play.

It is with deep regret that we inform the Class of 1967 of the death of PETER HENDERSON. Pete died in a helicopter accident near Guatemala City, Guatemala, on October 4. Those of us who shared our years at Trinity and afterwards with Peter will miss him and our sympathy is extended to Pam and his family.

That appears to be the extent of my news for now. That surplus of cards and letters which I reported in my last article has been sufficiently depleted and I am sorry to say, back to its normal "skimpy" self. So, please keep the postmen busy and let us hear from you.

JOE PERTA is a housing finance economist with the National Savings and Loan League in Washington, D.C., which involves housing finance studies and analysis in developing countries. Joe has completed his Masters of Science in foreign service at Georgetown University, and hopes to have his Masters in economics within a year by taking evening classes.

JOHN STAPLES, who graduated from Pepperdine University School of Law, Los Angeles, last May, is working for the law firm of Donald B. Black.

After completing his residency in obstetrics-gynecology at the University of Connecticut, STEVE PHILLIPS is in private practice in Sanford, Florida.

BARRY SABLOFF is loan officer for the First National Bank of Chicago.

GEORGE BARROWS, now on the faculty at the University of Louisville School of Medicine, was awarded the American Cancer Society Junior Faculty Fellowship. George has presented papers to the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

CHARLES MILLER is a dermatologist in St. Louis County, Missouri and teaches part time at the Washington University School of Medicine. In 1977, he and his wife, Patti, plan to take two years off to travel and will work part time in developing countries. They spent this past June traveling and hiking in Belize and Northern Guatemala.

While working as a consulting psychologist at Personnel Research and Development Company in Cleveland, Ohio, BILL SNOW received his Ph. D. from Case Western Reserve. His wife, Irene, has finished her first year in Case Western Reserve Dental School, and as of this past September she and Bill became the proud parents of their first child. Bill likes Cleveland and invites anyone needing a resting spot near University Circle to feel free to call.

I regret to inform my classmates this is my last column as Class Secretary. Not only that business and personal responsibilities are demanding more of my time but I think someone closer to the Hartford area has a better chance to see more classmates more often. I have enjoyed being Secretary and will miss it. I wish to thank all of you for helping keep this column and your classmates well informed.

ALAN GIBBY is dean of students at Lancaster Country Day School. In addition to assisting the headmaster, he teaches math and coaches soccer and tennis. This fall he began work on a Master of Counseling degree. He and his wife, Barrie, spent last summer visiting BILL and Priscilla NEWBERRY in Cambridge. Bill has been working on a project for Harvard involving the use and development of some of its land. From all reports, his creativity has been quite well received. Alan also reports that KEN and Rosemary JOHNSON teach in high schools in New London (Conn.). Ken has become involved in the local theater and now is sought after to play leading roles. The last Alan heard, DAVE CARMAN teaches at the Sidwell Friends School.

Congratulations to DOUGLAS LEIGHT and BILL THOMPSON for recently becoming Fellows in the Society of Actuaries. Doug works for New York Life and Bill works for Aetna Life and Casualty in Hartford. Fellowship means successfully completing a rigorous series of exams which requires quite a bit of hard work and effort.

For most of us the period following graduation has been one of reflection. The good times past became more vivid when fall came and we were no longer 'neath the Elms of our dear old Trinity. BILL BROWN reflected on the shores of Weekapaug, Rhode Island and continues to philosophize in the Sebago Lakes region of Maine. I continued work at the Beach Club in Rye Beach, New Hampshire for my fifth year before entering the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy this fall. While I was at the Beach Club, JIM GASCOIGNE, ANDY MERZ, and DAVE LUDLUM stopped on their way down from a week-long canoe trip in the wilds of Maine. Some of us chose to seek the road of adventure before settling in to any responsibilities. HOBIE PORTER took the road West with some high school buddies. CARLYLE FRASER bought himself a Dodge Van to go with his CB radio.

GREER CANDLER continued her amazing recovery from a back injury in Michigan and was looking for an apartment and job with CAROL MONAGHAN in Boston. Joining them in their search were ALISON KAYE and NANCY MOTLEY. ROBIN SMITH had to stop her search for a while when bone spurs were removed from her leg at the Yale-New Haven Hospital, but is contemplating her Christmas vacation in Hawaii.

Not everyone is involved in academia this year. CHIP GOODE returned from his camp directorship in Maine to New York City and began a training program with the Champion Paper Company. KEITH DEMPSTER is working in a sales training program for the Foster Company in Chicago. Also in a sales training program is JOHN LINEHAN with Procter and Gamble. BOB PETERSON is working with the accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, and Mitchell in New York City. Remaining in Connecticut are ROB MEYERS and ELAINE FELDMAN, both working for banks in the Stamford and New Haven area.

In the Boston area, ROB FERNALD is working with the "Money Market" at the First National Bank of Boston and is rooming with me on Park Drive. PAULA GALIETTE has finished the executive training program at the Jordan Marsh Company and is now a sales manager. SUE

EVERTS is working at the Ski Mart.

Some of us are back to school. PETER LEBOVITZ is attending the Amos Tuck Business School at Dartmouth. CICI CHICK is attending paralegal school in Philadelphia. JIM (Sols) SOLOMON is at the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania.

It was great to see a lot of you at the Amherst game. I hope that I will be able to include more of you in my next report, so please write.

IN MEMORY

ROBERT BURTON GOODEN, 1902, M.A. 1904, HON. 1922

The Rt. Rev. Robert Burton Gooden, retired suffragan bishop of the Diocese of Los Angeles and the oldest prelate in the world-wide Anglican communion, died August 24 at his home in Glendale, California. He was 101.

Born in England, he came to this country in 1888 when his father decided to move the family to America. The family was among those who rode the transcontinental railroad on its maiden voyage across Canada and eventually settled on a ranch in Madera, California.

After graduating from high school in Ventura, he entered Trinity with the Class of 1902. As an undergraduate, he was a member of Alpha Chi Rho fraternity and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He remained at Trinity to earn his Master's degree in 1904.

He then entered Berkeley Divinity School where he earned his Doctorate in Sacred Theology and was ordained a deacon by the Bishop of Connecticut.

He returned to California where he was ordained to the priesthood. He served at Trinity Church in Santa Barbara, St. Paul's, Ventura, at Trinity, Escondido and St. John's, Fallbrook, before being called as rector of St. Luke's, Long Beach in 1907.

In 1912, he was appointed headmaster of Harvard School in North Hollywood where he served until he was elected suffragan bishop of the diocese in 1930. At that time he resigned as headmaster but was recalled in 1933 and continued as "interim headmaster" as well as suffragan until his retirement in 1947.

Even in retirement, Bishop Gooden remained active, giving sermons, conducting confirmations, participating in liturgical rites and serving on church commissions.

He is survived by his five children: The Rt. Rev. R. Heber Gooden, assistant bishop of Louisiana; The Rev. Robert B. Gooden, Jr., retired priest of the Los Angeles Diocese; Mrs. William Minkler of Pasadena; Mrs. Sterling Beckwith of Menlo Park; and Mrs. Alex Badger of Glendale.

WILLIAM PERRY BENTLEY, 1902

W. Perry Bentley, founder of the Uvalde Construction Company of Dallas, Texas, died April 6 in Dallas.

Mr. Bentley was born February 22, 1880 in Westerly, Rhode Island. At Trinity he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. After graduation he attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology, earning an S.B. degree in 1904. He worked for the New York Telephone Company and Stone and Webster in Boston before moving to Texas to work in construction. In 1919 he formed the Uvalde Construction Company, serving as its president and chairman of the board until his retirement in 1966.

A co-founder of the Foundation for Research on the Nature of Man, he was also a member of the Technical Club of Dallas, the American Society for Psychological Research and the American Society of Civil Engineers.

He is survived by a son, Russell B. Bentley; and a daughter, Mrs. Frances B. Shapard.

FRANK ZUBEK, JR., 1908

The Rev. Frank Zoubek, Jr., a retired Episcopal priest, died August 18 in Roseville, Minnesota.

He was born September 14, 1886 in New York City. He attended Trinity for three years. In 1910 he graduated from Seabury Divinity School in Faribault, Minnesota and was ordained priest that same year. He received a B.A. degree from the University of Minnesota in 1911. From 1911 to 1914 he was rector of St. Peter's Church in St. Paul, and then for one year was an instructor at Seabury Divinity School. In 1915 he was made dean of the cathedral at Faribault, where he served for ten years. In 1925 he became rector of St. Mary's Church in St. Paul, where he served until his retirement from parish work in 1954. After retirement he served as chaplain for several St. Paul area hospitals and veterans homes.

The Rev. Zoubek is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Poole Zoubek; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Z. Yeakel; three sons, Frank W. Zoubek, Charles M. Zoubek and Philip A. Zoubek; ten grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

WILLIAM STUART BUCHANAN, 1909

William S. Buchanan, of Hightstown, New Jersey, died July 27.

He was born May 18, 1887 in Brooklyn, New York. While an undergraduate at Trinity he was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Jesters, the baseball team and was class historian. After graduation Mr. Buchanan worked for the Consolidated Edison Company of New York until 1919. In that year he became general manager of the George A. Williams and Son Company of New York City. In 1941 he became owner of that company, where he worked until his retirement in 1954.

He is survived by a son, William S. Buchanan, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Louise Buchanan Walker; three grandchildren, John B. Walker, Class of 1960, Mrs. Sally Walker Woodruff and Mrs. Lynn Buchanan Heim; and six great-grandchildren. His son-in-law, John F. Walker, was Class of 1929.

JOHN FARNLEY REDDICK, 1912

John F. Reddick died August 24 in Los Angeles. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen Fickle Reddick.

He was born May 19, 1890 in Winamac, Indiana. Mr. Reddick attended Trinity for two years and graduated from the University of Chicago in 1911. He was a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, Jesters, the Glee Club and the golf team. He served in the U.S. Army in World War I. After the war Mr. Reddick worked in the advertising and publicity departments of the Chicago Tribune and the Goodyear Tire Company in Akron, Ohio.

HORACE FORT, 1914

The Rev. Horace Fort died August 29 in Lund, Sweden. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Stanny von Engestrom Fort; a daughter, Margery F. Palmgren; and two sons, Douglas Fort and Richard Fort.

Mr. Fort was born November 9, 1890 in Baltimore, Maryland. At Trinity he was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, the Glee Club, Medusa, and was Junior Class president. He received his divinity degree from Berkeley Divinity School in 1919. In 1920 he attended the London School of Economics and subsequently became a naturalized British citizen. He was ordained a priest in the Church of England. As he was interested in adult education, he became general secretary of the Church of England Tutorial Class Association in 1922. He was then appointed vicar of the Holy Trinity Church in Brighton, and later rector of St. Mary's Church in Bedford.

From 1945 to 1960 he lived in Sweden and from 1960 to 1968 in Switzerland, serving as a priest in English churches in both countries. In 1968 he returned to Sweden where he lived until his death.

ELBERT CHARLES COLE, M.A. 1918

Elbert C. Cole, a former professor of biology at Williams College, died September 9 in Middlebury, Vermont. He was 85.

Professor Cole received his B.A. degree at Middlebury College in 1915, his M.A. from Trinity in 1918 and his Ph.D. from Harvard University in 1924.

He was a teacher of biology at Hartford Public High School from 1915 to 1924, and an instructor of biology at Trinity in 1918-19. He retired from Williams College in 1956 as the Samuel Fessenden Clarke Professor of Biology, Emeritus. He was also proprietor of Cole Enterprises, publicity services.

Dr. Cole served as an alumni and term trustee of Middlebury College, a trustee of Porter Hospital, and as director of Berkshire Frozen Food Lockers Inc.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Grierson Cole; two sons, Gerald Ainsworth and Elbert Charles, Jr.; and a daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Cole Deming.

NELSON FREDERICK ADKINS, 1920, M.A. 1921

Nelson F. Adkins, a retired New York University professor of American literature, died July 27 in New York.

Dr. Adkins was born February 3, 1897 in Hartford and was a graduate of Hartford Public High School. At Trinity, he was associate editor of the Ivy and graduated Phi Beta Kappa. In 1921 he received his M.A. degree, also from Trinity. In 1925 he was awarded a Ph.D. from Yale University. He joined the faculty of New York University in 1925 and taught at that institution until his retirement in 1970.

Professor Adkins was the author of Fitz-Greene Halleck and Freneau and the Cosmic Enigma, and he contributed to several literary publications while at NYU.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lillian Bixler Adkins.

FREDERIC TALBERT TANSILL, 1922

Frederic T. Tansill, former Trinity athletic standout, honored alumnus and retired business executive, died November 3 in New York City. He was 78.

Mr. Tansill entered Trinity in 1918 to begin a long association with the College that was to continue until his death. As an undergraduate he combined his academic work with athletics and many other extracurricular activities. For three years he was a member of the varsity football and basketball teams and was elected captain of both sports. He was also a member of Medusa, the Sophomore Dining Club, and Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. On the social side, he was chairman of the Sophomore Hop, Junior Prom and Senior Prom.

As an alumnus, Mr. Tansill's contribution to Alma Mater were many and varied. He served on the Executive Committee of the National Alumni Association, as both a Junior and Senior Fellow, as a member of the Alumni Committee on Endowment, as president of the New York Alumni Association, and as chairman of the homecoming and reunion committees.

Twice the College honored him for his work in alumni matters. In 1959 he was recipient of an Alumni Medal for Excellence and, in 1962, he received the Eigenbrodt Cup.

In 1972, Mr. Tansill's classmate and close friend the late Glover Johnson, and his wife Dorothy, dedicated the Tansill Sports Room in the Ferris Athletic Center in his honor.

Four years after graduation from Trinity, Mr. Tansill earned his LL.B. from New York Law School. He joined George Kern, Inc., wholesale meat packers, and then became associated with the Federal Water & Gas Corporation where he became vice president and secretary. He served the utility for more than 15 years.

When the company moved its headquarters from New York City in 1947, he became affiliated with Chock Full O' Nuts Corporation which operates a restaurant chain and roasts and markets coffee. Mr. Tansill retired from the firm as executive vice president several years ago.

Mr. Tansill is survived by his wife, Muriel, a brother, Duncan, and a sister, Amy, all of New York City; a brother, Albert, of Atlanta, Georgia; and his son, Douglas, Class of 1961, of New York City and Wilson Point, Connecticut, a member of the Trinity Board of Trustees.

James M. Symes, retired board chairman and chief executive officer of the Pennsylvania Railroad, died August 3 in Feasterville, Pennsylvania. He leaves a daughter, Jeanne D. Symes.

Mr. Symes was born July 8, 1897 in Glen Osborne, Pennsylvania. After graduation from high school in 1914, he worked for the Pennsylvania Railroad as a clerk. He steadily gained experience in both freight and passenger operations, and in 1921 he became a freight movement director in Cleveland. From 1928 to 1934 he served as superintendent of transportation. In 1939 he was made general manager. Subsequent promotions were to deputy vice president, operations in 1946; vice president, operations in 1947; executive vice president in 1952; and in 1954 to the presidency. In 1959 he became chairman of the board, retiring in 1963. He remained a director and was named chairman of the executive committee.

Mr. Symes received honorary degrees from several institutions, including Waynesburg College, Marietta College, Temple University and Duquesne University. Trinity awarded him an honorary doctor of laws degree in 1955.

DANIEL JOSEPH KENEFICK III, 1958

Daniel J. Kenefick III died March 16 in Palm Beach, Florida. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Kenefick; a son, Daniel J., IV; a daughter, Dorothy D.; and three sisters, Mrs. John Otto III, Mrs. Nelson Graves and Mrs. Appleton Fryer.

Mr. Kenefick was born November 13, 1934 in Buffalo, New York. After graduation from Trinity, he went to work for the Manufacturers and Traders Trust Company in Buffalo. In 1971 he moved to the Niagara Frontier Bank of New York in Buffalo where he was vice president of business development. He had moved to Florida shortly before his death.

BRUCE NELSON BISHOP, 1974

Bruce N. Bishop was killed September 9 in Hartford. He leaves his parents, Stanley J. and Jeannette G. Bishop; two brothers, Steven A. Bishop and John M. Bishop; and two sisters, Mrs. Gail B. Snyder and Joanne M. Bishop.

He was born May 8, 1952 in Hartford. He graduated from South Catholic High School, and received a B.S. degree in mathematics at Trinity. He worked part-time in the Trinity library and tutored at McDonough School in Hartford. At the time of his death, Mr. Bishop was active in community organizing efforts in Hartford's South End and was a leader of the Allen Place Block Club.

JOHN W. SLUSARZ, 1974

John W. Slusarz, died suddenly on October 27 in West Hartford.

At the time of his death Mr. Slusarz was attending the University of Connecticut School of Dental Medicine.

Born June 27, 1952 in Hartford, he attended Conard High School and graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Trinity in 1974 with honors in biology and general scholarship.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Slusarz, and a brother, Robert S. Slusarz.

RECENT BEQUESTS AND MEMORIAL GIFTS

Trinity acknowledges with a deep sense of loss the passing of alumni and other friends of the College. It seems appropriate to list the bequests and memorial gifts which have been made to honor them.

TENNIS

Coach Jane Millsbaugh's women's tennis program produced fine results for the second consecutive season. The varsity team had a 9-2 record, losing only to Williams and Yale. The junior varsity was 4-3.

The third and fourth varsity singles players, Betty Wallace '80 and Sue Levin '79, led the team with 10-1 individual records. Muffy Rogers '79 and Wendy Jennings '80, number one and two singles respectively, were close behind with 9-2 records.

In the Connecticut State Intercollegiate Women's Tennis Tournament played at Wesleyan, Muffy Rogers won the singles championship for the second year in a row. Levin and Wallace teamed up to capture the doubles title.

Trinity placed second behind Williams in the New England Championships played at Amherst College. The 1976 squad was a young team and will lose only one senior, Captain Gwynne MacColl, to graduation.

TRINITY SPORTS ROUNDUP

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The 1976 version of Bantam football ended the season with a 6-2 record. The second half of the season was somewhat disappointing after Trinity won its first four games. The season ended on a sour note as traditional rival Wesleyan took advantage of 11 turnovers to rout the Bantams 44-0.

This year's team was centered around a group of 19 seniors. Under the leadership of tri-captains Don Grabowski, Pat Heffernan, and Rick Uluski this senior group filled 14 of 22 starting positions. This is the largest senior class in several years and the impact of its graduation will be felt in 1977.

Coach Don Miller can be extremely proud of his defensive unit, particularly for their performance against the rushing game of opponents. Bantam defenders allowed only 70.1 yards rushing per game. Ends Uluski and Grabowski, linebackers Mike Leverone '77 and Joe Delano '79, and tackle John Griglund '77 were standout performers. Griglund missed the final game due to a knee injury. Junior Dave Poulin also played well at defensive tackle after moving over from offensive guard.

The defensive backfield did not give up a touchdown by passing until the fifth game of the season. Cornerback Tony Trivella '77 was the interception leader with six. Sophomore safety John Flynn broke into the starting lineup midway through the season and picked off five passes. He also made 45 tackles, placing him fourth among Trinity defenders.

Because of a scheduling change Trinity, accustomed to opening its season against Williams, travelled to Bowdoin for its first game. The Bantams had last played the Polar Bears in 1957 but handled their new opponent easily. Trinity opened up its new multiple offense to produce 23 second half points and a 30-14 victory.

Trinity hosted a Bates team with a highly productive offense and proceeded to shut them out 24-0 on the first Saturday in October. The Bantam offense was hampered by a slick field while the defense played inspired ball, producing two touchdowns. Dave Jan-carski '77 was the defensive hero with a blocked punt and a 47 yard interception return for a touchdown. His efforts earned him a spot on the weekly ECAC honor roll.

The Bantams beat Williams for the first time since 1970 with a 16-0 verdict for their second consecutive shutout. The game was played in a violent wind and rainstorm at Williamstown, with field conditions similar to three 1975 Jessee Field games. Junior Rob Claflin returned a punt 54 yards for the TD which clinched the victory. The defensive front seven played extremely well, holding the Ephmen to just 32 yards rushing.

Trinity returned home to face a tough Middlebury team in a battle of the only two undefeated teams in New England. The Bantams came out on top for the fourth consecutive week, handing the Panthers their only loss of the season 15-6. Defensive back Trivella and sophomore placekicker Bill McCandless were named to the ECAC team for their performances. McCandless booted three field goals to tie a Trinity record.

The Bantams' perfect season was ruined when they were upset 21-14 by a previously winless Colby College team. The Mules made several key plays to take advantage of Trinity turnovers. The Bantams dominated the game in all phases except on the scoreboard. Sophomore quarterback Mike Foye had a great day passing, completing 23 of 35 passes for 238 yards and a touchdown. Those statistics earned him ECAC recognition.

Trinity got back on the winning track with a 35-0 romp over a young and injury-riddled Coast Guard squad. Senior quarterback John Gillespie had a good day and earned ECAC laurels for the final week in October.

Then came an always tough Amherst squad to challenge the Bantams on Reunion/Homecoming Weekend at Trinity. Trinity used a strong passing game to come from behind and take a 24-17 victory from the Lord Jeffs. Split end Tom Lines '77 had an outstanding day, even overshadowing the excellent Amherst receivers. Lines caught five passes for 180 yards, including scoring plays of 58 and 60 yards, and earned ECAC honors.

The Amherst win was only the third since coach Don Miller came to Trinity from Amherst in 1965. Each of the previous two had been a part of a 7-1 Trinity season, and the Bantams entered their final game hoping for a third such occurrence. But the Cardinals were determined to salvage a respectable season from what was expected to be a banner year. Wesleyan had been upset three times in seven weeks and vented all its frustrations on the Bantams. Wes took advantage of numerous Trinity errors in piling up 37 second quarter points enroute to a 44-0 decision. It was a frustrating end to an otherwise fruitful season for Trinity.

Final offensive statistical leaders for Trinity were: Rushing — Pat Heffernan, 485 yards and three touchdowns; Passing — Mike Foye, 49 of 84 for 563 yards and two touchdowns; Receiving — Tom Lines, 30 catches for 508 yards and four touchdowns.

The preseason outlook pointed out many key holes which untested players would have to fill. Credit must be given to all concerned for having put together the success of a six victory season. The coaching staff can be credited for enthusiasm and innovation; the spirit of this team, especially in important games, was admirable. The Trinity College football program is surely on the upswing.

VARSITY SOCCER

The varsity soccer team responded well to first year head coach Robie Shults and produced a fine 7-4-1 record, the first winning Trinity soccer season in seven years.

Shults, who moved up to the varsity post in the absence of Roy Dath who was on sabbatical, credits his two senior captains Zan Harvey and Jim McGrath for having provided the leadership and spirit which were important parts of the success story.

The Bantam booters opened the season strongly with wins over Central Connecticut (3-1) and M.I.T. (4-3). Their record fell to the .500 mark with losses to two strong teams, Babson (4-2) and Williams (4-1). Victories over Connecticut College (3-1) and Bentley (4-0) came before and after the important Tufts game. Trinity rallied for two goals in the last seven minutes to tie the Jumbos (2-2). A road victory over Union (4-3) set the stage for the game against cross-town rival University of Hartford. The Bantams were disappointed in that contest for, even though they controlled the tempo of the game, they came out on the short end of a 2-0 score. Wins against Coast Guard (4-1) and Amherst (1-0) brought Trinity's record to 7-3-1 with a lone game remaining against Wesleyan.

A victory for Trinity would give them a shot at post-season play, but the Bantam hopes were destroyed by the Cardinals. Although Wesleyan controlled the first half play, the score ended at 0-0. Trinity took the control early in the second half and a goal by Greg Madding '78 gave the Bants a 1-0 advantage with 30 minutes to play. Wes tied the game a few minutes later and sent the game into overtime. Everything collapsed for Trinity as Wes scored three goals in the overtime session for a 4-1 win.

Goalie Alec Waugh '78 played well all season, recording shutouts against Amherst and Bentley. The offensive leader for Trin was senior wing Duffy Shea who collected 10 goals and two assists. Center Greg Madding scored eight goals while assisting on four others. Senior Mark Moore also added much to the Bantam attack with five assists. Outstanding defensive players were McGrath and sophomore Jeremy Meyer.

WOMEN'S CREW

The Trinity women's crew, in its first year as a varsity sport, had its most successful season since being formed five years ago. With a large turnout of women, Coach Lisa Learned '76 was able to form three boats (varsity, junior varsity, and novice) for competition in six regattas during a five-week racing season.

The crew opened its season against Mt. Holyoke. All three boats were apparently victorious but the varsity was later disqualified because a steering problem caused them to veer off course. Trinity was a winner across the board the next week against Marist College. The varsity race victory allowed Trinity to retain the Goodwin Cup for the third straight year.

Trinity next participated in the National Invitational Women's Regatta at Holyoke, Massachusetts. Inclement weather forced officials to cancel activity following the preliminary heats, but medals were awarded on the basis of times in the heats. Trinity's varsity was first ahead of Radcliffe and Dartmouth, while the Bantam JV and novice boats finished second in their respective divisions.

Trinity placed second to Yale in the Head of the Connecticut Regatta at Middletown. The JV and novice boats finished 22nd and 15th respectively. In the Head of the Charles Regatta in Boston, the Trinity varsity placed 12th in the 40 boat women's division. The JV boat came in 32nd in the same division while the novice crew was 29th in their division. Trinity ended the season with a challenge against Kent School. Kent's varsity beat the Trin JV boat but the novice women nudged out the Kent JV's by a length and a half.

With most of this year's members returning, the Trinity women's crew can look forward to success in the future.

FIELD HOCKEY

The women's field hockey program produced two winning teams in 1976. The varsity record was 4-3-2 while the junior varsity ended with an 8-1 mark. The JV's only loss came against Smith by a one goal margin. The leading scorer for the junior varsity team was Beth Bonbright '79 (seven goals).

The varsity recorded wins over Wellesley, Miss Porter's School, Wesleyan, and Mt. Holyoke. They lost to Williams, Brown, and Yale while tying Smith and Connecticut College. The loss of only three seniors makes the outlook for the future promising. Heading the list of players who will return in 1977 are co-captains Cackie Bostwick '79 and Olivia Brown '78. Bostwick was the leading scorer this year with seven goals in nine games. Brown also served as co-captain this season along with Alyson Henning '77.

CROSS COUNTRY

The varsity cross country team had a 3-9 record this year, but the record does not tell the whole story. This was the most successful group of harriers in several years at Trinity. The individual times were good and the team is a young one with much hope for the future. Thirteen of the runners will return in 1977, including the top three of Captain Danny Howe '78, Jon Sendor '78, and John Sandman '79.

This year's team was coached by three Trinity faculty members. Dr. Ralph E. Walde, associate professor of mathematics, Dr. W. Miller Brown, associate professor of philosophy, and Michael E. Lestz, lecturer in history all worked hard in trying to make the running program a success. The one thing they accomplished above all else was to stimulate interest in the sport.

WATER POLO

The 1976 Trinity informal water polo team enjoyed the most successful season in its four-year existence. Trinity hosted an Invitational Tourney in September, the first time such an event was held here.

The Ducks completed the regular season with a 10-5-1 record and participated in the New England Championships. A determined effort brought a second place finish in that tournament and a berth in the East Coast Championships. The Bantams played well once again, ending with a fourth place standing. Senior Dave Teichman was named to the All-East team for his tournament performance.

Teichman, co-captain along with Rob Meyer '77, was instrumental in the success of the team, serving as both coach
