TRINITY COLLEGE, HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

NOVEMBER/DECEMBER, 1977

CHARLES KURZ and his wife, Candy, did not allow new parenthood to interfere with tenth reunion plans. Oblivious to the activity around her, seven-week-old Catherine slept contentedly through the Field House luncheon.

Three Construction Projects Under Way

Alumni and parents who visited the College during October probably noticed bulldozers, tractors, and mounds of dirt at various locations on campus. These blemishes exist on the otherwise well-manicured grounds because Trinity has undertaken three substantial construction projects, the first major building on campus in ten years.

The most expensive and long-awaited project is the addition to the College library. A new wing will be added to the east end of the present structure, providing 250 new study spaces, shelving for 200,000 more volumes, and an additional 2,650 square feet of work space. Some renovations will be made of the existing structure, especially the lobby area, in order to integrate the two sections.

The estimated cost of the project is $3 million, half of which has been received thus far from donors. Fund-raising efforts for the library are continuing.

On the south end of the campus, beyond Wheaton, Jackson and Smith dormitories, another student residence is underway. The new dormitory will be similar architecturally to neighboring structures, and will provide approximately 100 new student accommodations. The College decided on this type of dorm, which contains a configuration of single rooms and suites, on the basis of student preference. It will be ready for occupancy in the Fall of 1978.

At the corner of Summit and Vernon Streets, work has begun on a new President's house. The brick structure will contain a combination of private space for family living and an area for entertaining guests and holding official college functions. The existing President's house at 115 Vernon Street will be converted to faculty offices for the Department of English. This move will free a good deal of space in Seabury Hall, allowing the College to renovate the historical structure and increase the dimensions of some of the offices in that building.

The College did not undertake the current construction in anticipation of increases in the size of the student body or the faculty. In recent years, more students have opted to live on campus than did in the past, causing some overcrowding in existing dormitories. An incremental increase in the number of faculty since 1970, plus the establishment of the new Writing Center on campus, have made the faculty office squeeze particularly acute.

The one area where increases are expected is in the size of the library collection. There are currently some 560,000 volumes in the Trinity library, and new books are being accumulated at a rate of 10,000 per year.

All of the new construction will conform with state and federal regulations for handicapped persons.

Financial Report Is Favorable

Trinity's financial supporters can take satisfaction in a report, released last summer, which shows that the investment performance of the College's endowment funds compares very favorably with that of over one hundred leading colleges and universities.

Compiled by NACUBO (the National Association of College and University Business Officers), the figures cover periods of one, three, five and ten years respectively, all ending June 30, 1976. During each of these periods, the total return (income and capital appreciation) on Trinity's portfolio significantly exceeded the average for all the institutions measured. In these four time periods

REUNION—HOMECOMING

Record Crowds And A Toast For $12 Million

The banner that trailed behind the vintage biplane as it droned above Jessee Field said it all: "Welcome Home Alumni."

It was the first October reunion that Trinity had held in a number of years, and the record attendance indicated that alumni liked returning to the campus in early fall. Resplendent autumn colors, a diverse schedule of activities, and memories of undergraduate years drew over 1200 alumni and their spouses to the College October 7, 8 and 9.

Cars bearing license plates from New York, Ontario, and Ohio began arriving on campus Friday morning, and some alumni took advantage of the opportunity to attend classes that afternoon. Reunion groups had their first chance to renew old acquaintances at class cocktail parties Friday night held at various locations on campus. Although everyone insisted that he recognized everyone else, name tags undoubtedly spared many an alumnus an embarrassing moment.

Later in the evening, visitors had to choose between a Chapel recital by College Organist John Rose and a concert in memory of Professor Clarence "Pete" Barber by classical guitarist Eliot Fisk.

Parking spots were at a premium on Saturday morning, and security chief Al Garofolo instructed his staff to have mercy on alumni, who showed exceptional creativity in carving out spaces for themselves on the crowded campus. Highlights of the morning included a panel on college admissions, featuring Trinity staff and Nat Abbott '32, a former director of admissions at Princeton; President Lockwood provided slides and commentary for a crowd of about 125 on his recent trip to Nepal with a group of Trinity students.

Fortified by traditional Field House fare and with the knowledge that the football Bantams were the favorite, enthusiasm ran high among the alumni who jammed Jessee Field at 1:30 for the kickoff. But the men from Williamstown had not read the paper, and as the game went on it was painfully evident that the Ephmen would provide the only disruptive note of the weekend. However, alumni and students could find some solace in other athletic triumphs. The soccer team edged Williams 1-0, the junior varsity football team trounced the Ephmen 51-14, and the women's field hockey team shut out Western Connecticut State College 9-0.

The annual reunion-homecoming banquet in Mather Campus Center was the focal point of the evening. In addition to the presentation of the alumni awards (see page 5), a very special announcement was made by Dr. George W.B. Starkey, chairman of the board of trustees. Alumni joined him in a champagne toast in celebration of the achievement of the $12 million goal in the "Campaign for Trinity Values." In remarks following the announcement, President Lockwood noted, "It has been the alumni response that has made the difference in this effort. Over half of all the sums given or pledged came from alumni."

Heartened by the good news heard at dinner, many alumni converged on the Washington Room, where they were entertained by the Trinity Pipes and Ken Morgester's Orchestra.

On Sunday morning, The Reverend Richard Aiken '52 delivered the Chapel sermon in a special service commemorating deceased alumni.

Alumni Director Jerry Hansen was pleased by the large turnout for the weekend, especially the number of young graduates and alumni from non-reunion classes.

"The fall reunion date has really caught on at Trinity," Hansen said. "Every year I come away from reunion with new ideas as to how the weekend can be improved. Expect some changes next year!"

Watkinson Celebrates 25th Trinity Year

Twenty-five years ago in September, Trinity acquired a collection of rare books, manuscripts and bibliographical volumes representing almost every field in the humanities — "The Watkinson Library."

This important collection, which was endowed by David Watkinson for public use, is internationally known to scholars who write the Library with reference and bibliographic questions. The collection offers unique research opportunities to Trinity students, faculty and visiting scholars.

The twenty-fifth anniversary was marked by a celebration on September 20 sponsored by the Watkinson Trustees and the Trinity College Library Associates. Several hundred guests were in attendance. Among the speakers were Library Trustees Donald B. Engley, former Trinity Librarian; G.

SHAKESPEARE'S HENRY IV, PART I was performed by the Theatre Arts Department over Parents Weekend. Roger Shoemaker, assistant professor of theatre arts, played Sir John Falstaff (left) while Hope Malkan '80 (right) was Mistress Quickly. Prince Hal was ably portrayed by John Thompson '81, Michael Countryman '80 was Hotspur, and Francis Stodolink '80 took the role of Henry IV. The play was directed by George Nichols III, professor of theatre arts.

CAMPUS NOTES

The College recently announced the appointment of two academic departmental chairmen. Dr. DONALD D. HOOK has been appointed as head of the department of modern languages and Dr. ANTHONY D. MACRO chairman of the classics department.

Hook joined the Trinity faculty in 1961 after teaching at the University of Rhode Island, Chadron (Nebraska) State College, the University of Hartford, Central Connecticut State College and St. Joseph College. He received the B.A. from Emory University, the M.A. from Duke University and the Ph.D. from Brown University. He has co-authored four books dealing with the German language and, in 1976, wrote a popular history entitled "Madmen of History."

Macro joined the Trinity faculty in 1969. A native of London, England, he received the B.A. with honors and the M.A. from Wadham College, Oxford. He later studied at Indiana University and has taught at the University of Maryland and Johns Hopkins University. From 1962-65 he was a director of the Westminster Press, London. The author of numerous articles on aspects of classical Greece and Rome, Macro's study of the cities of Asia Minor under the Roman imperium will soon be published in a scholarly journal.

Mrs. PAT LEE of the Career Counseling Office organized and coordinated a New England regional seminar of the U.S. Civil Service Commission which was held at Trinity. The seminar instructed college career counseling office members in civil service procedures.

Dr. MILLA RIGGIO, assistant professor of English, was one of the participants in the 63rd Hartford Adult Lecture Series sponsored by Hartford College for Women entitled "Nobel Laureates: International Authors." Riggio spoke on Patrick White of Australia.

STEPHEN MINOT, professor of English (part-time) appears in "The Best American Short Stories 1977" edited by Martha Foley. In a review by Anatole Broyard in the New York Times Book Review Section, Minot's story was one of several singled out for attention.

GEORGE CHAPLIN, associate professor and director of studio arts, now has paintings on view in the U.S. Embassies of New Delhi, Brasilia, Luxembourg, Ankara, Tel Aviv, Helsinki, Nairobi, Peking, Guatemala City, San Jose, Budapest and Tehran. Chaplin's paintings were selected by the Art in Embassies program of the United States State Department.

MOHAMED JIBRELL, assistant dean of students, presented a paper on language and education in Somalia at the Colloquium of the Second Festival of the Black World on Arts and Culture in Lagos, Nigeria. He also was a panelist in a conference on Revolutionary Education in the Third World at the School of Education, New York University, and presented a paper entitled "War Clouds in the Horn of Africa" at Old Westbury College, Old Westbury, New York.

Dr. JOHN WILLIAMS, professor of classics and an organist, recently spoke on "Liturgy and Music: Harmony or Dissonance?" in Hamlin Hall.

Dr. SONIA M. LEE, assistant professor of modern languages, gave a paper at a conference of the Modern Languages Association on "French Literature of New England." The article, entitled "The Awakening of the Self in the Heroines Ousmane Sembane," has been published by Doubleday in a collection called "Black Women: Sturdy Bridges." Ousmane Sembane is a Senegalese novelist.

Dr. RANBIR VOHRA, Charles A. Dana Professor of Political Science and chairman of the department, gave a talk on International Relations at the Unitarian Church of Hartford.

Six recent works by ROBERT A CALE, visiting artist in Trinity's fine arts department, have been purchased for inclusion in the Lessing J. Rosenwald Collection, considered the most important print collection in the nation. The Educators nationally, as well as at Trinity, have noted a decline in the writing ability of students. In a broad-gauged attack on undergraduate writing problems, Trinity has established a Writing Center, increased the number of composition courses in the curriculum, and made writing an important component in the freshman seminar program.

The Writing Center, which opened its doors in September, is staffed by Dr. Carl Brown, Allan K. Smith Lecturer in Composition; and three teacher-certified graduate assistants. All students who wish to improve their writing skills are being encouraged to take advantage of the Center, which is open daily from 9:00 to 5:00 for "drop in" business.

The Center works particularly closely with the instructors and students in English 100, the basic critical and expository writing course offered by the English department. There are 90 students currently enrolled, in 5 sections of about 18 each. Five sections of the course will also be offered next term.

Incoming freshmen who have scored below 50 on a 60-point scale on the Test of Standard Written English (which is part of the College Board Series) are told during the summer before their enrollment that they should take English 100. Freshmen who have scored satisfactorily on the test and upperclassmen are also eligible. As part of the course, students meet weekly with Brown or another teacher for half-hour tutorial sessions. Brown, who has taught composition at Stanford University where he served as director of their computer-assisted writing program, is familiar with the most modern teaching methods in the field. He maintains that the intensive nature of the tutorial setting is most effective in aiding students with their writing.

Professors in the freshman seminar program are also doing their part to ensure that new students have plenty of writing experience in their first months at Trinity. Most of the seminars, which are one semester courses, assign eight to twelve papers. A survey taken at the end of the fall semester in 1976 revealed that a substantial majority of freshmen believed their writing improved as a result of the seminar experience.

According to Brown, the attitudes of most students using the Writing Center or enrolling in writing courses are conducive to learning. "Writing problems, as common as they are today nationally, are not viewed by students as something they should be ashamed of," Brown said. "Students who visit the Writing Center, either of their own volition or because faculty have referred them, are eager to improve their skills. Business has been brisk!"

Phi Beta Kappa Keys Awarded

Eleven Trinity seniors were recently elected into the Connecticut Beta Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. The Beta Chapter, chartered in 1845, is the eighth oldest chapter of Phi Beta Kappa in the United States.

The new Phi Beta Kappa members are: Ellen Harwood Burchenal of Wilmington, Delaware; Malcolm Ries Daniel of Baltimore, Maryland; Beth Amy Domb of Morris Township, New Jersey; Elaine Louise Fleming of Windsor, Connecticut; Scott Roy Goddin of Whippany, New Jersey; Nanette Claudine Harvey of Manhasset, New York; Kathy Lee Jabs of Bristol, Connecticut; Stephen Lawrence Miller of Rydal, Pennsylvania; Robert Barry Schlesinger of Narberth, Pennsylvania; David Jeffrey Weisenfeld of Roslyn Heights, New York; and Roger Craig Zierau of Newtown, Pennsylvania.

works presented to Rosenwald at Alverthorpe Manor, Jenkintown, Pa., join nine other Cale pieces previously included in the collection.

Dr. LEONARD E. BARRETT, Charles A. Dana Professor of Religion and director of intercultural studies, who spent over ten years studying the Rastafarian religious cult in Jamaica, has had a book published on the subject by the Beacon Press. Entitled "The Rastafarians — Sounds of Cultural Dissonance," the book appeared in both hard and soft cover editions and has an introduction by C. Eric Lincoln.

Dr. JOSEPH D. BRONZINO, Vernon D. Roosa Professor of Applied Science, has had a new book published entitled "Technology for Patient Care: Applications for Today, Implications for Tomorrow" published by C.V. Mosby, St. Louis. Bronzino was also elected vice chairman for professional development and newsletter editor for the Biomedical Engineering Division of American Society for Engineering Education (ASEE).

President LOCKWOOD has been elected to a three-year term on the board of directors of The American Council on Education. He was also the guest speaker at James P. Bowdoin Day, ceremonies at which Bowdoin College honors its leading undergraduate scholars.

"Architecture and Social Behavior: Psychological Studies of Social Density" is the title of a book co-authored by Dr. ANDREW S. BAUM, assistant professor of psychology recently published by Lawrence Erlbaum Associates.

JUDITH ROHRER, art historian in residence, appeared in Arts Magazine recently with review articles on artist Carol Kreeger Davidson, the "Gaudi Drawings" and "The Goddess and the Slave" show. Another review on the artist Buren, who will be shown in the Wadsworth Atheneum in December, will appear shortly. Rohrer has been asked to serve on the Advisory Council for the Connecticut Trust for Historic Preservation.

Dana Foundation Offers $105,000 Challenge

The Charles A. Dana Foundation has challenged Trinity alumni. The Foundation has offered the College a $105,000 incentive grant contingent on increased contributions and greater participation in this year's Alumni Fund drive.

As a result of the challenge, the Alumni Fund goal has been set at $325,000, an amount approved by the executive committee of the National Alumni Association at their November meeting. The goal is $75,000 more than was raised last year. A participation goal of 40% has been established, an increase of 10 percent over last year. More than 4,500 individual gifts will be needed.

Alumni will earn the challenge grant for Trinity according to the following terms:

- When contributions to the Alumni Fund reach $300,000, the Foundation will give Trinity a bonus of $50,000.
- The Foundation will match dollar-for-dollar all contributions over $300,000, to a maximum of $25,000.
- The Foundation will give Trinity $2,000 for each percentage increase in the number of alumni donors, up to $20,000.
- Gifts from the Classes of 1967 to 1977 in excess of $26,000 will be matched dollar-for-dollar by the Foundation, up to $10,000.

To qualify, gifts must be received by the College, and all pledges paid, by June 30, 1978. Corporate matching gift funds will count toward the dollar goals.

According to Mrs. Constance E. Ware, director of development, "We take great pride in the fact that Trinity was invited to apply for this grant. That we were successful in obtaining it is a reflection of the confidence the Dana Foundation shares in Trinity's alumni and in the College itself."

"Alumni support was the keystone of our successful $12 million capital campaign, with more than half the gifts coming from alumni. With that campaign now behind us, the Dana Challenge provides an excellent incentive for building an outstanding Alumni Fund. I am confident alumni will accept the challenge, and win the full $105,000 from the Foundation."

Solicitations for the Alumni Fund, including personal visits, phonothons, and mailings, are well under way. National chairman of the Alumni Fund is Thomas C. DePatie '52, assisted by more than one hundred volunteers.

Gifts of $1,000 or more qualify the donor for membership in the Founders Society; gifts of $150 up to $1,000 qualify for membership in the Anniversary Club. All gifts to the Alumni Fund qualify to meet the terms of the Dana Challenge.

Student Profile:

Modifying An Old Computer

Last spring, sophomore Eric Fossum did a two-credit independent study with the psychology and engineering departments. His project, as anyone familiar with computer technology can attest, was not a simple one for a 19-year-old undergraduate to undertake. By the summer, Eric had modified Trinity's ten-year-old PDP-8 computer so that it could be used for cognition and memory experimentation, an important area in experimental psychology.

Modifying the PDP-8 involved numerous hardware and software changes. The cognition and memory experiments being conducted by Dr. Karl Haberlandt of the psychology department required that subjects read a series of sentences flashed on a cathode ray terminal (which looks like a T.V. set) and then make judgments as to how logically the sentences related to one another. One crucial aspect of the experiments was recording subjects' reaction times to the sentences they had read. But the PDP-8 was not designed to communicate with a cathode ray terminal, and it had no mechanism to measure time intervals. These adaptations, together with software changes, took Eric "about 15 hours per week during the semester, plus a couple of weeks in the summer" to accomplish.

The result was "COGLAB," a programmed system which is being used by faculty for research and in classroom instruction. According to Dr. David Ahlgren, assistant professor of engineering, "Eric applied his theoretical understanding of computing in both the hardware and software areas to produce a system which has great value for the experimental psychologist. We always hope that our engineering students will develop the ability to synthesize large, useful systems and many of them do. But Eric's talents in this area are quite unusual."

Tinkering with computers has been a hobby of Eric's since he was in ninth grade at Simsbury High School. He first learned about computers when he participated in a program for gifted children at the Talcott Mountain Science Center in Avon, Connecticut. When he was sixteen, he was hired by a computer consulting firm to work on weekends and after school, first as a programmer and eventually as a systems analyst. Because he wished to continue working there after he entered college, Trinity was the only school Eric considered attending. "I applied to Trinity on the early decision plan, and never really thought of going anywhere else," Eric said. "I was very pleased to be accepted. I like the atmosphere here, the close relationships one can develop with faculty and students. And I like the physical surroundings, especially the Long Walk!"

Producing "COGLAB" is only one of several computer-related projects that Eric has undertaken since coming to Trinity. Last summer, he was employed by John S. Waggett, assistant dean of faculty, to investigate developing an in-house data processing system to be used by many administrative offices at the College. Eric also set up programs and organized data for the Admissions Office which will facilitate their record keeping and the newly-launched Admissions Support Program.

Although Eric spends a good deal of time in the computer lab, he still views his work with computers "primarily as a hobby and a way to make money." A double major in physics and engineering, he plans on graduate school in physics after graduation.

Keith Funston, former Trinity President; and Wilmarth S. Lewis, noted collector and author.

The occasion was also marked by the publication of a handsomely illustrated catalogue entitled "One Hundred Gifts to the Watkinson Library," representing a selection of gifts during the first 25 years of its being housed at the College. The catalogue contains a preface by Ralph Emerick, Trinity Librarian, and a hundred illustrations that range from a Spanish Bible of 1476 to a first edition of "Alice Through the Looking Glass," with an original drawing by Tenniel.

The Early English Imprints Collection of the Watkinson Library includes a first edition of "Leviathan" by Thomas Hobbes, printed in 1651. It is one of the most valuable titles in the collection.

David Watkinson, a man who never went to college but became known as a scholar, entrepreneur and philanthropist established the Library in 1858 as "The Watkinson Library of Reference." It was housed in the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford until 1952 when, through the efforts of Wilmarth Lewis and Keith Funston, it became part of the Trinity College Library.

The collection has grown from 12,000 volumes to over 130,000. According to Emerick the wealth and size of the collection continues to grow because of the many friends of the Library.

President's Fellows

Twenty-seven members of the Class of 1978 have been appointed President's Fellows for the academic year. Each department and program at the College designates one outstanding senior for this honor, which was established in the Fall of 1974.

The Fellows meet periodically with the President and members of the faculty and administration to discuss topics of general educational interest, as well as the students' academic experience at Trinity. One of the purposes of the Fellows program is to honor students who have established superior scholastic records.

The Fellows and the department of program which they represent are as follows:

American Studies: Susan Cohen, Pittsburgh, PA
Art History: Malcolm Daniel, Baltimore, MD
Biology: Kathy Jabs, Bristol, CT
Biochemistry: Margaret O'Connell, Hamden, CT
Chemistry: Ann McNichol, Wayne, PA
Classics: Anneli Sandstroem, Providence, RI
Computer Coordinate: Brian Baczyk, New Britain, CT
Dance: James Merrell, Radnor, PA
Economics: James Essey, Hartsdale, NY

Education: Leslie Cooper, Stead AFB, FL
English: Beth Domb, Morristownship, NJ
Engineering: Benjamin Hall, Bedford Hills, NY
History: Robyn Weinstein, Hartsdale, NY
Individualized Degree Program: Linda Lipp, West Hartford, CT
Intercultural Studies: George Margolis, Lyme Center, NH
Mathematics: Roger Zierau, Newtown, PA
Modern Languages: Maria Del Pilar Cordova, Vega Baja, PR
Music: David Kilroy, Worcester, MA
Philosophy: Margaret Eisen, New York, NY
Physics: Luther Wells, Jr., McComb, MS
Political Science: Michael Smirlock, Westbury, NY
Psychology: Anne Shapiro, Brooklyn, NY
Religion: Marc Blumenthal, Springfield, NJ
Sociology: Chryssi Vitsilakis, Hartford, CT
Studio Arts: Sarah Rogers, Dedham, MA
Theatre Arts: Jory Lockwood, Old Greenwich, CT
Urban and Environmental Studies: Mimi Baron, Clayton, MO

Scholars Named

From Illinois

Four outstanding Illinois high school students have been awarded scholarships to attend the College. Scholarships for Illinois Residents, Inc., a private scholarship fund, has enabled nearly 300 Illinois students to study at Trinity since 1943.

Names of the new Illinois Scholars who will become members of the Trinity Class of 1981 were announced jointly by Dr. Daniel Alpert '37, director of the Center for Advanced Study, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill. and president of the Scholarships for Illinois Residents, Inc., and President Lockwood.

The amount of the scholarships, renewable for three years, varies with the financial need of the scholars.

Following are the new Trinity Illinois Scholars:

PATRICIA ANNE BEAIRD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Beaird of Belleville, Illinois, graduated from Belleville High School West.

JOYCE MARIE FLETCHER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Fletcher of Chicago, graduated from the Emil G. Hirsch High School.

PETER ANYUAN WANG, son of Mr. and Mrs. Y.K. Wang of Normal, Illinois, is a graduate of University High School.

MARGARET LEETE WOODBRIDGE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Woodbridge of Lake Forest, Illinois, is a graduate of The Hall School.

From The Capital Area

Eight Greater Hartford high school students have been named Capital Area Scholars. This is double the number of four-year Capital Area Scholarships awarded by the College last year. Recipients of the scholarships, worth more than $125,000 in financial aid over the next four years, live in Hartford, West Hartford, Collinsville, Farmington and South Windsor.

Most Capital Area Scholars rank academically in the top 10 percent of their class. They tend to be involved in extracurricular activities and most have worked part-time to help defray educational expenses while in high school. This is the 18th consecutive year that Trinity has awarded such scholarships to local students.

The scholars announced are:
MARIE BERNADETTE DITARANTO, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco DiTaranto of West Hartford, is a graduate of Conard High School.

MICHAEL EDWARD FOURNIER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Fournier, Jr. of Collinsville, graduated from Canton High School.

FRANCES KELLY LAWLER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George V. Lawler of Farmington, is a graduate of Farmington High School.

CYNTHIA LAVERNE MATTHEWS, daughter of Mrs. Mary Brathwaite of Hartford, graduated from South Catholic High School.

TIMOTHY JON OBERG, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linwood W. Oberg of South Windsor, graduated from South Windsor High School.

IRENE ANN PAQUETTE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Paquette of Hartford, graduated from South Catholic High School.

BRENDA LAVON RANDLE, daughter of Mrs. Earlene Randle of Hartford, graduated from Hartford Public High School.

ERIC JOHN WOODARD, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Trehwella of South Windsor, graduated from South Windsor High School.

Sons & Daughters Visit The Campus

Eighty-five alumni sons and daughters preceded their parents to campus Reunion-Homecoming weekend to attend the annual admissions program for alumni progeny.

The students, all high school seniors, checked in at the Admissions Office on Thursday afternoon, October 6. After dinner, college officials gave them tips on using their time at Trinity to help them with the difficult task of selecting a college.

In succeeding days, the students went to regularly scheduled classes, toured the Trinity campus, enjoyed meals with undergraduates in the student dining hall, attended athletic contests and fraternity parties, and had interviews with the admissions staff. Panel discussions and group meetings with faculty, students, and administrators provided the visitors ample opportunity to ask questions of all kinds.

Most participants were housed in college dormitories as guests of current Trinity students. Several of the hosts and hostesses were freshmen who, as high school seniors, had attended the 1976 program and found Trinity to their liking.

The weekend was "a tremendous success," according to John S. Waggett, assistant dean of the faculty and adviser to the freshman class. "We feel we are providing a real service to alumni and their college-bound offspring through this program," Waggett the College's average standing fell in the top 30% of the group covered.

The College also compares its investment results each quarter with the well known stock and bond averages. Since the figures are readily available, these comparisons are much more current. As of June 30, 1977, the total return on Trinity's portfolio over periods of one, three, and five years came to 7.9%, 43.9%, and 26.4% respectively. This makes reassuring reading when compared with corresponding figures for Standard and Poor's 500 Stock Index of .7%, 33.2%, and 13.8%.

The supervision of the College's investments is the responsibility of its Trustees' Finance Committee, chaired by A. Henry Moses, Class of 1928.

THE KRIEBLE SCHOLARSHIP, awarded to the outstanding chemistry student, was presented to Robert S. Schlesinger (left), a senior from Narberth, Pennsylvania. The full-tuition scholarship was instituted in 1961 in memory of Dr. Vernon K. Kriebel who invented the sealant LOCTITE at Trinity, where he taught for 35 years. Schlesinger is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and hopes to attend medical school. He is pictured here with Dr. Edward Bobko, Chemistry Department Chairman and Dr. Robert Kriebel, Chairman of the Board of Loctite Corporation and son of its founder.

said. "The opportunity to ask questions and share opinions in a relaxed, informal setting stands in sharp contrast to the anxieties often generated by the college selection process. And, although it is not our central purpose, if we can 'sell' promising and well-qualified students on Trinity in the process, we reap an additional dividend."

The program, which was coordinated by the Offices of Admissions and Alumni Relations, will be repeated next fall. Information on the weekend will be sent to alumni over the summer.

Mellon Group Studies Models

Six faculty members are engaged in interdisciplinary study this fall under a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

The topic of this year's Mellon Symposium is "Models, Metaphors and Theories." Participating faculty are investigating the ways that the notion of "model" is used in various disciplines as an explanatory device.

According to Dr. Brooke Gregory, assistant professor of physics, models and metaphors are means of understanding one concept by reference to other, usually more familiar, concepts. Thus, one may refer to the similarities between a computer and the human mind, or to the solar system when describing the makeup of an atom.

The concept of models differs in various fields. The Mellon group has faculty representatives from the areas of logic, history, literary criticism, economics, physics, and mathematics.

The members of the symposium, who are relieved of two-thirds of their teaching obligations for the term, present public lectures throughout the semester. Distinguished scholars from outside the College are invited to campus to discuss their work. This is the third year that such symposia have been conducted at Trinity under the Mellon grant.

In addition to Gregory, the participating faculty members are: Dr. Howard DeLong, professor of philosophy; Dr. Edward Sloan, professor of history; Dr. Ralph Walde, associate professor of mathematics; Dr. James Wheatley, professor of English; and Dr. Diane Zannoni, assistant professor of economics.

Four Holland Scholars Named

Announcement has been made of the winners of the Holland Scholarships for 1977-78. They are Roger Zierau '78, David Ostafin '79, Eric Grevstad '80, and Michael Grabscheid '80.

The Holland Scholarships are awarded annually to the highest ranking students in the junior, sophomore and freshman classes. The full-tuition scholarships, which are held during the year following the award, are funded by a bequest of Mrs. Frances Holland. Mrs. Holland was the daughter of Bishop Brownell, a founder and first president of the College.

New Appointments Faculty

This year 16 new full-time faculty members have joined the academic staff. They are:

JAMES L. BEAVER, assistant professor of economics. Beaver received the B.S. from Iowa State University and the Ph.D. from the University of Virginia, where he served as acting assistant professor.

CARL R.V. BROWN, the Allan K. Smith Lecturer in Composition and Director of the Writing Program. He received the B.A. and M.A. from Arizona State University and the Ph.D. from Stanford University. Brown has taught at Stanford and at several high schools.

RONALD K. GOODENOW, assistant professor of education. Goodenow received the B.A. from Grinnell College, M.A. from the University of Wyoming, and the Ph.D. from the University of California at Berkeley, where he served as teaching assistant. He has taught at Bloomsburg State College, SUNY at Buffalo, and the University of San Diego. He also served as consultant to UNESCO, and taught at Alvan Ikoku College of Education in Nigeria.

DAVID E. HENDERSON, assistant professor of chemistry. He received the B.A. from St. Andrews Presbyterian College and the Ph.D. from the University of Massachusetts, where he was a post-doctoral research associate. Henderson also served as teaching assistant and research assistant at the University of Massachusetts.

CATHERINE LOWE, visiting assistant professor of modern languages. Lowe received the B.A. from Hollins College and the M.A. and M. Phil. from Yale University, where she served as teaching fellow, instructor and lecturer.

J. WAINWRIGHT LOVE III, instructor of music. Love received his A.B. from Harvard and is currently a candidate for the Ph.D. there. He has taught at UCLA and Indiana University.

HAROLD C. MARTIN, Charles A. Dana Professor of Humanities. Martin received the B.A. from Hartwick College, an M.A. from the University of Michigan, and the Ph.D. from Harvard, where he taught for 15 years. He has also taught at Washington University, and was president of the American Academy in Rome, and president and chancellor of Union College.

ALAN S. MUSGRAVE, instructor in philosophy. He received the B.A. from Brown University, and has also studied at the University of Edinburgh. Musgrave has taught at the University of New Orleans and the University of Massachusetts, and has served as teaching assistant, tutor and independent study supervisor at Harvard.

HOWARD NANNEN, lecturer in and acting director of urban and environmental studies program for 1977-78. Nannen received his B.A. from Dartmouth, and the Master of Architecture from the University of Massachusetts. Alumni Award Winners

ROBERT DREW-BEARD '52 from Caracas, Venezuela received the award for the alumnus coming from the greatest distance for Reunion.

Board of Fellows Bowl, awarded to the reunion class with outstanding class spirit — Class of 1952.

Jerome Kohn Award for the reunion class with the largest percentage of its members returning for Reunion — Class of 1952.

George C. Capen Trophy for the area alumni association which has best fulfilled its functions during the preceding year — Trinity Club of New York.

Parents Crowd Campus Weekend Of October 28

Stuart Johnson of Washington, D.C. (left), father of Thomas '79, gets acquainted with Dr. and Mrs. Norman Roulet of Shaker Heights, Ohio, parents of Laura '81, at the Parents Association Directors meeting.

The weather was spectacular for parents who visited their sons and daughters on the Trinity campus, October 28-30. The scheduled activities were more numerous than in past years, and good attendance at all events indicated the wide-ranging interests of Trinity parents. The Concert Choir, the Sailing Club, the Trinity Pipes, the Theatre Arts Department, and assorted athletic teams are some of the groups which helped to make the weekend such a success.

Parents reacted favorably to the two on-campus banquets held Friday and Saturday nights, which replaced the single banquet held in previous years at a downtown hotel. Total attendance at the dinners exceeded the 1000 mark.

Quinnipiac College, and cross-town rival University of Hartford. Losses were inflicted on the Bantam harriers by Keene State, Eastern Connecticut, Williams, Union, Wesleyan, Southern Connecticut, Amherst and W.P.I. The Trinity team, directed by faculty members Miller Brown and Ralph Walde, also participated in the New England Small College Athletic Conference meet and the Eastern Championships, producing no noteworthy results in either.

Senior co-captains Danny Howe and Jon Sendor were joined by junior John Sandman and freshmen Alex Magoun and Bob Williams as the top Bantam runners.

The 1977 season saw the attempted establishment of a women's cross country team. Sophomore Lanier Drew was the only member, but she performed admirably. In the one women's race on the schedule, she finished ahead of all the Coast Guard, Eastern Connecticut, and Connecticut College women, completing a three-mile course in a time of 18:54.

Join ASP

The Admissions Support Program (ASP) is a way that alumni can participate in a systematic campaign to identify and recruit potential Trinity students. The two primary elements of the program are: (a) alumni identification of and contact with promising high school students who might be interested in applying to Trinity; and (b) a matching process by which applicants to Trinity are "paired" geographically with alumni who serve both as sources of information and, in the event of the candidate's acceptance, "recruiters" for the College.

Participation in the program will probably take no more than 15 hours of your time in the course of a year. If you are interested in taking part, please fill out the form and return it to: Admissions Support Program, Williams Memorial 218, Trinity College, Hartford, CT 06106.

WOMEN'S CREW: Building Strength

The women's crew continued its growth and success in the Fall of 1977, its second varsity season. Andy Anderson '75, who coached the men's freshman lightweights to a national championship last fall, took over direction of the women's program this year. A turnout of 30 women allowed Anderson to fill three eights (Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Novice) as well as a Novice four.

The competitive season opened on October 8 with the Greater Holyoke Regatta on the Connecticut River at Holyoke, Massachusetts. The Novice and Junior Varsity eights both placed third in their races. The Varsity boat was somewhat disappointing, not making the finals, but winning the petite, or consolation finals, for a fifth place finish in the Varsity division.

The Head of the Connecticut Regatta was scheduled for the next day, but bad weather conditions at Middletown forced postponement until October 10. The weekday race date caused Trinity, as well as several other colleges, to withdraw.

October 15 saw the Bantam oarswomen back on the water against Simsbury High School. Simsbury, with a fledgling crew program, did not provide much competition for Trinity, as all three boats won rather easily. On October 23, Trinity travelled to Boston for the traditional Head of the Charles Regatta. The Varsity and Junior Varsity boats, competing in the same division, finished eighth and 33rd respectively. The Novice four finished 35th out of 40 crews, many of which had considerable previous experience.

The Trinity men's crew also entered eleven boats in the Head of the Charles. The Varsity lightweights were most impressive, finishing third behind Princeton and Pennsylvania.

The Charles competition provided a preliminary look at the Trinity-Mt. Holyoke rivalry which was to be renewed the following Saturday in Trinity's Goodwin Cup Regatta. At Boston, Mt. Holyoke finished three places and 20 seconds ahead of the Bantam Varsity, so Trinity was naturally the underdog on Parents Day. The Mt. Holyoke crew, coached by Burt Apfelbaum '75, soundly defeated Trinity in the Novice and Junior Varsity races. The Varsity race saw Barnard College join in the challenge, but its boat could not effectively compete with either of the others. Trinity took the lead at the start, and pulled decisively away when Mt. Holyoke lost control following a steering problem midway up the one-mile course. The Bantam Varsity rowed its best race of the year, winning by 2½ lengths to capture the Goodwin Cup for the fourth consecutive year.

ANNUAL REPORT

July 1, 1976 to June 30, 1977

GIFTS AND PLEDGES TO THE COLLEGE

The 1976-1977 fund-raising year was an excellent year for Trinity. In many ways, it was a prelude of things ahead.

Total gifts and pledges to the College for the period between July 1, 1976 and June 30, 1977, were $3,022,780. Of this, $2,596,143 was for the College's capital fund-raising drive, the Campaign for Trinity Values. Another $426,637 was raised for the Annual Fund.

The year was a period of intense activity by hundreds of volunteers for the capital campaign. So much momentum was created that we were not long into the present fiscal year when the $12,000,000 goal was surpassed. Campaign gifts are still coming in. This "extraordinary effort to sustain the values of a Trinity education" has been a great success, and serves to deepen the pride we all have in Trinity.

In the midst of this excitement, the Annual Giving program held up admirably, though for the first time in five years our gifts and pledges totaled less than $500,000. We are grateful to those who rallied to Trinity's aid with annual gifts to sustain the quality of our academic program.

Now, with the capital campaign behind us, we expect to turn our efforts to making the Annual Fund one of the best in the nation. Our Parents Fund is already envied by many; we have been offered — and have accepted — a generous challenge grant from the Charles A. Dana Foundation to stimulate a major increase in the Alumni Fund in 1977-78.

Is Trinity a better college for all this energy and sacrifice? Definitely yes! We know that what has been gained in the capital campaign will benefit students for generations to come. Philanthropy makes it possible for Trinity to have an outstanding faculty and superior academic resources; it permits our students to pursue the highest scholarly goals.

Theodore D. Lockwood

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE TRAVELERS Insurance Companies present to President Lockwood a contribution of $4,311 for the annual giving fund. The amount of the gift is based on the number of Trinity alumni currently employed by Travelers in the U.S. and Canada. From left to right are Christopher J. Shinkman, director of career counseling at Trinity; President Lockwood; John V. Halldin, manager of the Personnel-Administration Department at Travelers; and Wayne W. Wall, manager of Traveler's Group Department. There are 81 Trinity alumni employed by the Travelers.

The Trinity Club of Hartford's "Man of the Year" award was presented to Dr. Borden W. Painter, Jr. '58 (center), associate professor of history at the College. Painter, who is also an Episcopal priest, received the award for his service to Trinity and the community. He is pictured here with Norman Kayser '57 (left), chairman of the Club's awards committee, and Wendell Stephenson '50, president of the Trinity Club of Hartford.

Trinity then travelled to Middlebury to play the then-undefeated Panthers. The weather was uncooperative, the field was a quagmire, and turnovers plagued both teams. Trinity struck first when John Flynn '79 converted an interception into a touchdown from twenty yards out. The Panthers finally got their offense rolling, something the Bants were never able to do. Middlebury led 7-6 at halftime and 20-6 when the final gun sounded.

Trinity ventured to Colby College, hoping to complete a sweep of the three Maine schools. The Bantams were successful in doing so, but only with a 24-23 squeaker over the Mules. That victory raised the Trinity record to 3-2, but it was to be the last success of the 1977 season. The Bantam rushing attack got untracked for the first and only time. Paul Votze '79 ran for 109 yards and Rob Claflin '78 picked up 98 more, as Trinity rebounded from a quick Colby score to build a 21-8 halftime lead. Votze scored two touchdowns on short runs, and Foye hit McNamara with a one yard touchdown pass as the half ended. Colby abused the Bantam defense with long passes to tie the game with 15 minutes to play. Bill McCandless '79 kicked a 24 yard field goal for the winning points, and Colby closed to the final margin with a safety in the wild action of the last minute of play.

A large Parents Day crowd was disappointed when Coast Guard took advantage of Trinity errors to overcome a 14-10 halftime deficit in routing the Bantams 45-14. On the day, Trinity gained only 84 net offensive yards.

A strong Amherst team easily handled the Bantams, who were still reeling from having Coast Guard storm past them the week before. The Lord Jeffs used big plays to build a 21-0 first-quarter lead, and continually thwarted Trinity's offensive attempts with their superb defensive personnel. Trinity again fell victim to turnovers as Amherst picked off five passes and recovered two Bantam fumbles. The final score was 49-14 in favor of Amherst.

The Bantams brought a 3-4 record and hopes of salvaging the season into the finale against Wesleyan. Trinity also had the added incentive of trying to avenge the humiliating defeat at Middletown last year. The revenge was not to be, as Trinity once again suffered a multitude of costly mistakes. Ahead by 13-6 at halftime, Wesleyan struck quickly and often in the final two periods to build the final margin to 43-12.

The freshman football program had a season full of injuries and scheduling difficulties, but still managed a winning record of 3-2.

16 Mr. Erhardt G. Schmitt
41 Mill Rock Road
New Haven, CT 06511

What a pity we all could not be with PUCK LYON and Florence at their sixtieth wedding anniversary on October 27th. Puck, this is an incredible achievement. Congratulations and best wishes to you both.

I am very sorry to report the death of JOHN S. GUMMERE '17. Many of you must remember him as a fine gentleman and an eminent scholar and assistant librarian at the Yale Law Library. I am told that he was fourth generation of Trinity men, one of his forbears being a Bishop SCARBOROUGH of New Jersey. He was a thoughtful and kindly man and often responded generously to Trinity Endowment requests. We shall miss him.

I recently returned from the seventh reunion of our World War I Overseas Flyers, Inc. Club in Washington, D.C. We were entertained at the new Smithsonian Air and Space Museum by one of the astronauts and also at the Army/Navy Club by Senator Barry Goldwater and General Tullman of the U.S. Air Force Academy. We missed FRANK LAMBERT of our class greatly. Frank, please write me. Another good Trinity man there was LIPPI PHISTER '18.

17 The Rev. Joseph Racioppi
264 Sunneholme Dr.
Fairfield, CT 06432

MIKE SCHLIER, Secretary Pro Tem, reports that JOE RACIOPPI wants him to continue on for a while in that capacity. Mike says that Joe is doing fine but is still under the doctor's care.

WEARY CREAMER and his wife, Liz, have returned from their trip to England and Weary is again working on his book, "Roads." I don't know the exact subject matter but it should be interesting because of Weary's experiences.

BILL HASBURG made a gallant effort to make our 60th Reunion but his trip north started with an overall blackout of Southern Florida. By the time he reached the homes of his daughters in New Jersey his health was not too good and he couldn't make the remaining distance to Hartford.

23 Mr. James A. Calano
35 White Street
Hartford, CT 06114

I arrived home late on the evening of September 12th to find a note at my door left by the STAN MILLERS, who were gracious enough to try to visit me while stopping over at the Hartford Hilton Hotel en route to Maine. However, I managed to talk to them by phone and had a very pleasant chat with both of them. The bride and groom sounded very happy and healthy. They were entertained by DAVE HADLOW '25 of Farmington, Connecticut during the day.

26 Mr. N. Ross Parke
18 Van Buren Avenue
West Hartford, CT 06107

We, of the Class of 2T6 join with many Trinitarians to express our deepest sympathy and prayerful Love to Dorothy Walsh and Her Loved Ones at the loss of her good husband, WILLIAM WALSH, who has served so many so well.

As we grow older we realize that health plays an ever most important factor in our lives and so we hope and pray BEN WARNER can report that his dear wife, Elizabeth, has pretty much regained her good health — and this same prayerful hope goes for the well-being of the NORM PITCHERS.

Your Class Secretary is grateful to be able to report bringing up-to-date the Books of Remembrance for The Rev. Thomas Hooker's Church, The Center Church in Hartford, and St. John's Episcopal Church in West Hartford, is now preparing to set up an art exhibition in the State Bank for Savings in West Hartford for the month of October 1977; and engrossing and illuminating the First Distinguished Award presented to The Honorable Helen M. Loy by the Past Presidents Association of the CONNECTICUT FEDERATION of the Business & Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Wethersfield, CT 06109

What a difference fifty years make! Your Chairman, ANDY FORRESTER, and Your Secretary left their Immortal seats vacant for Trinity's opening home game with Bowdoin. Why? Well, let's put it this way: WTIC's FM 89.3 described the field as Jesse's Swamp and they weren't kidding! Chicken? Yeah, maybe, but not soaking wet and chilled to the bone.

28 Mr. Royden C. Berger
53 Thomson Road
West Hartford, CT 06107

Our appeal for news brought replies from four members, all of whom are enjoying retirement.

WALT EBERSOLD is "following the customary relaxed mode of living on beautiful Cape Cod." He enjoys flounder fishing in spring and fall, soaking up the sun on the beach in summer and a visit to Bermuda during the winter.

BOB GIBSON retired from the office of Bishop of the Diocese of Virginia in 1974. He enjoys having time to travel, play tennis, and keeping involved with some part-time and board member work. He looks forward to our 50th reunion next year.

ART PLATT also plans to attend the 50th. He lives in Carlisle, Pa., where he had been connected with Dickinson College. So far he has kept busy at home but hopes to do some traveling soon.

BILL NILES writes that he has just moved into his new home in Manzanillo "the building of which was an unforgettable experience." Manzanillo is due west of Mexico City, on the coast. Bill and his wife Mary would like to see or hear from any friends. His address is A.P. 374, Manzanillo, Col., Mexico.

32 Julius Smith, D.M.D.
242 Trumbull St.
Hartford, CT 06103

BILL BLAKE tells us he is now retired, lives in Sarasota, Florida and was the owner of the Seaside Apartments in that city.

DAVE GALINSKY and MIKE ZAZZARO were both sorry to miss our 45th; Dave was off to Philadelphia to visit son, Ronald, and Mike was at a dental convention in Miami.

Got a fine letter from BILL BOEGER, who has traveled extensively as director of advertising for the National Geographic Magazine, and is now retired and sharing more time in his homes in New Canaan, Connecticut and Stowe, Vermont.

33 Mr. Ezra Melrose
186 Penn Dr.
West Hartford, CT 06119

Heard from TOM WADLOW that THAD JONES and his wife, Mary, stopped in on their way from Indiana to Hawaii last June. They had a great reunion, including a Mystic River cruise aboard Sabino, an antique steamship. The Wadlows are concentrating on sailing — Bermuda to Nova Scotia. Thad is happily retired and lives in Hawaii and Muncie, Indiana.

34 Charles A. Tucker, M.D.
7 Wintergreen Lane
West Hartford, CT 06117

Had a nice note from DOUG RANKIN who is still with the Hartford Faience Co. He and his bride are still in Newington and are grandparents with a daughter still in school and a son a recent lawyer. HOFF BENJAMIN visited JOHN MASON this summer in Chatham on Cape Cod and helped supervise the construction of Phyllis' and John's new house. John continues to provide more class news than everyone else put together. He writes that BEN MCCLURE's son died this spring after a fourteen-year-battle as a quadriplegic. CHARLIE TOWNE recently retired from The Hartford Courant after an illustrious career. BRYANT GREEN retired recently and he and Betsy are touring the country in a camper. They were expected in Hartford but liked the weather too much in the South, according to the last report. The peripatetic SEYMOUR SMITH and Masie have just returned from a trip to Yugoslavia where they had a great time. It was interesting to compare notes since Your Secretary and wife, Ruthie, had spent some time in that country a few years ago.

37 Mr. Robert M. Kelly
33 Hartford Ave.
Madison, CT 06443

JOE GRECO's youngest son, Lt. Stephen Greco, is stationed with the U.S. Army in Hawaii. Joe will visit him on December 7th. Joe was at Pearl Harbor as a fighter pilot on December 7, 1941.

BRUCE RANDALL retired from his sales position with Blandin Paper Company in New York City and is back in his hometown of Bridgewater, Connecticut. Bruce's wife, Edith, died in October of 1976. His daughter, Diane, married Kent Wells, Jr. last April and lives in Bruce's former home in New Canaan, Connecticut.

Dr. MILTON KOBROSKY was written up this summer by The Hartford Courant in their column "Looking Back . . ." The column was devoted to his football days at Trinity.

BART WILSON reports the birth of his second granddaughter, Jennifer Anne, on October 31 in Walnut Creek, California.

38 Mr. James M. F. Weir
27 Brook Rd.
Woodbridge, CT 06525

JOHN PARSONS is now vice president of Morton Smith, Inc., Providence, Rhode Island. He writes that he is a Lloyd's of London intermediary. Jack says that Wimbledon is almost as good as the Aetna World Cup.

39 Mr. Earl H. Flynn
147 Goodale Dr.
Newington, CT 06111

ETHAN (MIKE) BASSFORD, as we go to press, is enroute to or from Norfolk, England for another visit. We look forward to an anecdote or two from him upon his return to his "new" Merrie Old residence in Hartford within walking distance of his office.

JACK FOLLANSBEE reports a new business address as a publisher representative: THE FOLLANSBEE CO. INC., 11520 San Vincenti Suite 207, Los Angeles, CA 90049. It sounds like Jack is all set for a good seat at the 1984 Summer Olympics.

CARLTON NELSON is not only basking in the Florida sun as a relocated Pratt & Whitney Aircraft technical writer but is now also enjoying driving his 1923 Stanley Steamer as the lead vehicle in area parades featuring restored cars. Recently, he was awarded a trophy for "the most interesting" car in a field of 176 entries. Years of hobby work have been rewarded. Those "invigorating" New England winters perhaps required him to keep the steam up for 21 years.

JACK WILCOX at a recent (August) date was Cape Cod bound for a bit of vacationing. We expect to hear more later.

C.C. JOHNSON SPINK has not retired. He is continuing on as president and publisher of the Sporting News through 1982. Your Secretary apologizes for a previous report but also claims a 14-to-18-hour working day.

40 Dr. Richard Morris
120 Cherry Hill Dr.

DAN LOHNES is athletic director and head football coach at St. Andrew's School in Middletown, Delaware.

MILTON BUELL is now vice president of Emmett and Chandler, Los Angeles, California.

In addition to his full-time job as director of planning and program of the Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania, JOHN HARDWICK is working on an Ed.D. degree in adult/continuing education at Temple University. His wife, Marion, is taking evening courses in psychology. His daughter, Cathleen, has graduated from Lake Forest College; son, Christopher, is a junior in journalism/public relations at the University of Wisconsin, Madison; and his son, Timothy, has entered the University of Iowa at Iowa City, majoring in psychology. John says his higher education at Trinity "took" and became contagious.

EDWARD ALBEE was one of fourteen writers — seven from the Soviet Union and seven from the United States — taking part in the first U.S.A.-U.S.S.R. writers' conference this past June.

51 Mr. John F. Klingler
344 Fern St.

There have been slim pickings this month as far as news from all of you goes.

We did hear from RON DINER who tells us that his second child, Abigail, was born last April (see Births). Ron is a financial manager with Curtin and Associates in Largo, Florida. He and his family recently moved to Stuart Boulevard in Clearwater.

DAVE (Swiftly) GILBERT also wrote us with news of a new child and new home. The Gilberts had their second son in March (see Births) and moved into a new home in Canton, Mass. Dave was recently promoted to manager of office services with Liberty Mutual Insurance Company in Boston.

What else is happening?

By the time you read, our 10th reunion will have come and gone. However, since I had intended to be there I promise to fill in all of you who were unable to attend. Nevertheless, you will have to wait until the next issue for the news.

RICH RATZAN and his wife, Sue, and their children, David and Will, recently returned East "as originally prophesized" six years ago. Doctors Ratzan are now living in Hartford where they are practicing and teaching medicine.

Elstein

Also in Hartford is ALLEN ELSTEIN who has just been promoted to associate actuary in Connecticut Mutual Life's Corporate Actuarial Division in Hartford. Allen joined the company after receiving his M.A. at Penn State University in 1969. He became a company officer in 1972 and a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries in 1973.

One of our classmates has already retired. BILL ROTH, his wife, Sue, and their three children and a "neurotic cocker spaniel," recently returned to Culver Academy in Indiana where Bill has entered the field of guidance counseling.

ROBIN TASSINARI is now living in Chatham, New York and teaches at the Albany Medical College where he serves as assistant professor of medicine and psychiatry. If you are ever in the area you can find Robin at R.D. 167, wherever that is, in Chatham.

Finally, JOHN RAY, Jr., lives in North Carolina with his wife, Loretta, and newly born daughter, Teresa Maureen. According to John they spend a lot of time fishing on the outer banks when John isn't working at his new job as the chief of programs of mobility, chief of maintenance at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base.

68 Mr. Joseph L. Reinhardt
1113 Dixon Blvd.
Cocoa, FL 32922

DAVE BORUS is now associate dean of admissions at Earlham College. Dave's son, Matthew Gabriel, celebrated his first birthday on July 31st.

BILL BARRANTE has opened an office for the practice of general law in Torrington, Connecticut.

BILL BACON is deputy supervisor of diving for explosive ordinance disposal, Naval Sea Systems Command, Washington, D.C. He writes that his job affords him the opportunity for considerable travel and experience with various types of technologically advanced deep sea diving equipment. Bill is still swimming and recently won two firsts in the National AAU short course championships in Ft. Lauderdale.

KERRY HAMSHER received his Ph.D. in clinical psychology from the University of Iowa last May and is assistant research scientist in the Department of Neurology at the University of Iowa Hospitals.

JOHN FOX has finished work on a new log cabin in Fairbanks, Alaska. John has two daughters, Colleen Jessica and Cara Eileen. He holds a Ph.D. in forest hydrology from the University of Washington.

Castellani

FRED CASTELLANI has been appointed director of customer service, group pension operations, at Connecticut General Life Insurance Company, Bloomfield, Connecticut.

69 Mr. Frederick A. Vyn
19 Shoreham Club Rd.
Old Greenwich, CT 06870

Hartford, CT 06103

BOB BERARDINO has written that he and his wife, Martha, are both working part-time and sharing child-rearing responsibilities. Their first child, Jennifer Beh, was born October 2, 1976.

JUDY DWORIN raised a few eyebrows in downtown Hartford this summer. According to an article in The Hartford Courant, Judy, who is presently an assistant professor and director of dance at Trinity, had her class "dancing in the streets." Her summer class involved teaching local school teachers how to use movement in education. At one point, the class did a "follow the leader" pantomime in Bushnell Park. Then they frolicked off to the Travelers' Plaza where they conducted a sculpture class using their friends' bodies as "clay" and "shaping" each other. Finally, the class had a "mirror program" watching their own reflections in the gold-tinted glass of the new United Technologies building. Although a few feathers were ruffled among the Travelers executive set, the caper was generally well received by the Hartford citizenry. It should be noted that one of Judy's students was PATTY MANTELL '73.

"Hopefully" in his last year of his Ph.D. program in atmospheric science at the State University of New York at Albany, JOHN HELSDON wishes us to note that present at his wedding (see Weddings) were DAVID WOLFF and CHARLEY CARROLL '69 who was an usher.

ELMOND KENYON is a vice president with the C.M. Smith Agency, Inc. of Glastonbury, Connecticut. He has moved to his new home at the Connecticut shore in East Lyme. He writes that he would welcome anyone in our class to give him a call and stop by for a visit. Elmond has two children: Meredith (6) entered the first grade in September; and Blair (4) "will keep the home fires burning for another year."

On May 25, 1977, JOHN PYE was promoted to dorm supervisor at Mount St. John's School in Deep River, Connecticut. The school houses emotionally disturbed adolescent boys. The day after his promotion, he had the misfortune to fall from a treehouse which he was helping the boys make, breaking his foot and back. He spent Memorial Day weekend in the hospital, but recovered rapidly enough to assume his new duties as well as paddle in the Deep River Raft Race on July 30th. After all that, his entry lost. John, I sure hope you have completely recovered, and I wish more people had as positive an attitude as you seem to have exhibited over the past few months.

JAY SCHINFELD is finishing his chief residency in obstetrics and gynecology at Albert Einstein Hospital in Bronx, New York. He plans to begin a fellowship at Harvard in July in infertility and endocrinology. His wife, Sandy, is a researcher in family planning and public health at Columbia Presbyterian's International Institute of Reproduction.

LEN SCHNEIDER will return to school this fall full-time after working for five years as a social worker. He plans a doctorate in social work at Columbia University and has received a National Institute of Mental Health Training Grant. He has moved to Ridgefield Park in New Jersey.

MIKE SOBOTKA and his wife moved into a new house on July 28th in Jamaica Estates, New York. He is presently director of marketing for the Charles B. Schwed Co. in New York City.

STEVE TREMONT is practicing medicine and living in Enfield, Connecticut. He is associated with New Britain General Hospital.

Born in Tulsa, Oklahoma, he attended South Side High School in Rockville Centre, New York before entering Trinity with the Class of 1949. Following his graduation, he attended the New York University Graduate School of Business.

Before joining the TIAA, Mr. Straley was for 23 years with the Home Life Insurance Company of New York where he was vice president for securities.

He is survived by his wife, Janet, of Rockville Centre; three sons, Michael, Peter and David; a daughter, Pamela; his mother, Mrs. Helen B. Straley, and a sister.

Sterling B. Smith, Professor Emeritus, Dead At 78

Sterling B. Smith, Scovill Professor of Chemistry, emeritus, died October 21 at Waterbury Hospital, Waterbury, Connecticut. He was 78.

Born in New Haven, he was graduated from Yale University in 1920 and received his master of science degree there three years later. He earned his doctorate from New York University in 1927.

He joined the Trinity faculty in 1923 as an instructor in chemistry. He was promoted to assistant professor in 1927, associate professor in 1938 and full professor in 1952. In 1955 he was named Scovill Professor of Chemistry and head of the department. Dr. Smith retired in 1965.

Dr. Smith was widely noted for his research in several of the "pure science" aspects of physical chemistry, particularly phase rule studies of three and four component systems.

A former chairman of the Connecticut Valley section of the American Chemical Society, he was the author of numerous articles in professional chemistry journals and was a member of Sigma Pi Sigma. Dr. Smith was instrumental in the planning of the Clement Chemistry Building.

He is survived by his wife, Harriet; two sons, Edward C. Smith of Bristol, Connecticut, and Robert M. Smith of Haverford, Pennsylvania; a sister, Mrs. Philip Harriman of St. Petersburg, Florida; and seven grandchildren.

A memorial service was held in the Chapel on November 17.

RECENT BEQUESTS AND MEMORIAL GIFTS

Trinity acknowledges with a deep sense of loss the passing of alumni and other friends of the College. It seems appropriate to list the bequests and memorial gifts which have been made to honor them.

A gift of $1,000 for the scholarship fund in memory of Edward S. Dobbin '99 and Mrs. Dobbin, bringing this fund to $10,000.

A gift of $1,000 for the alumni fund in memory of Hobart W. Cook '10.

An additional amount of $5,000 from the estate of Julia Allen Eaton for the scholarship fund in memory of her husband, William S. Eaton '10, bringing this fund to more than $22,000.

Gifts totalling $550 for the scholarship fund in memory of B. Floyd Turner '10, bringing this fund to more than $8,300.

A gift of $5,000 for the alumni fund in memory of William H. Merchant, Jr. '25.

Gifts totalling $15,000 for the scholarship fund in memory of Florence S. Harrison and Muriel Harrison, deceased wife and daughter of the Rev. A. Palmore Harrison '31, bringing this fund to more than $17,000.

A bequest of $1,200 for a chapel coat of arms from the estate of Henry D.B.B. Moore, Hon. '48.

A gift of $500 for the parents fund in memory of Janet A. Yellen, M.A. '62.

An additional amount of $1,034.91 for scholarship purposes from the estate of Sara M. Brown in memory of her first husband, Allen C. Morrison, bringing the total bequest to $46,772.73.

Gifts have also been received in memory of the following alumni and friends:

SOCCER:A Strong Showing

The varsity soccer team completed its 1977 season with a 7-4 record, the second consecutive winning season under Coach Robie Shults. A major goal this year was to turn the tables on the four opponents who inflicted losses upon the Bantam booters in 1976. That goal was almost reached, with Trinity gaining avenging victories over Williams, UHartford and Wesleyan while only losing again to Babson.

Trinity was hampered by several early season injuries and this was partially responsible for a slow and inconsistent start. An opening victory over Central Connecticut, 3-2 with two Bantam goals coming on penalty kicks, a fine Coast Guard team by a 3-2 margin.

Holding a 6-3 record with three games remaining, Trinity had hopes of post-season tournament play, but that possibility hung on the outcome of the Amherst game as the selections were to be made early in the next week. In a battle of two evenly-matched teams on a muddy field, the Lord Jeffs came out on top, 2-1, thereby crumbling the Bantams' tournament hopes.

When the game with Bentley was cancelled due to the weather and an inability to reschedule, the Trinity season came down to a single game against arch-enemy Wesleyan, who had been selected to the ECAC tournament. The story of the game was all Trinity; all that can be said for Wesleyan is that there were eleven red uniforms on the field. The Bantams routed the Cards by five goals to none. Trinity came close several other times, while Wesleyan seriously threatened to score on only one occasion. Goalie Al Waugh '78 recorded his third shutout of the season, the only time Wesleyan was held scoreless in its twelve game regular season.

Trinity's offensive attack jelled after a slow start and developed into a balanced attack. Sophomore Joe Capasso and freshman Ken Savino were the top scorers with four goals each. Close behind with three goals apiece were seniors Thomas Madding, and Bill Dodge, and freshman Dan Kahn. Thomas was also the leading playmaker, assisting on four Trinity scores. Overall, the Bantams outscored their opponents 23-17 and were only held scoreless once. The success of a 7-4 record was elevated by the big wins over rivals Wesleyan and UHartford. There was a positive feeling about Trinity soccer in 1977.

The junior varsity soccer team, under the direction of Roy Dath and John Kelly '34, was not as successful as the varsity. Frustration was the story of their season, as they finished with a record of 1-7-1. The victory came over M.I.T. in the first game of the year, and the only other success was a 2-2 tie with a strong UConn team. Three one-goal losses and two overtime defeats added to the Trinity frustration.

WOMEN'S TENNIS:*Undefeated!

The Fall of 1977 was a banner season for the Trinity women's tennis team. Coach Jane Millspaugh's women recorded a perfect 9-0 slate in match play, and, for the second consecutive year, captured second place in the New England Intercollegiate Tournament.

An undefeated season was the major goal of the 1977 netwomen, and they accomplished it with remarkable ease. Tufts and UConn were the toughest opponents, each winning three of the nine individual matches which make up a team match. Trinity handily defeated Williams for the first time ever, 7-2. That was an early season match, and the victory boosted the team's spirit and their chances to go unbeaten through the season. The other six opponents (Connecticut College, Smith, Mt. Holyoke, Springfield, Brown and Amherst) all fell victim to Millspaugh's charges by identical 8-1 scores.

Trinity fared equally well in the two tournaments in which it took part. On October 8 and 9 the Connecticut State Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament took place at Wesleyan. Wendy Jennings '80, Trinity's number one singles player, lost in the singles finals to a woman from UConn whom she beat later in the week when Trinity met UConn in a dual match. The final match for the state doubles championship pitted two Trinity teams against each other. Seniors Barb Fischer and Vivi Dunklee defeated the freshman team of Holly Doremus and Dede Seeber in two sets for the title.

Trinity entered the New England Tournament, held October 21 through 23, with an undefeated record and hopes for improving upon its second place finish of the previous year. Coach Millspaugh felt that Dartmouth would provide the major competition, and unfortunately, she was right. Dartmouth edged the Bantam women in the team standings by capturing both the singles and doubles championships. Finishing second out of 47 colleges which participated in the tournament, Trinity can be proud of that showing as a fitting climax to the best season in its women's tennis history.

In the New England, Jennings was seeded third and fought her way to the semifinals where she lost in three sets to the eventual singles champion. Number two singles player Betty Wallace '80 fell in the third round of play, losing to the number one seed from Yale. In doubles, the team of Fischer and Dunklee, also seeded third, lost in the semifinal round of play; Doremus and Seeber advanced through the consolation bracket until they, too, were defeated in the semifinals.

Through the regular season the Trinity netwomen compiled some impressive statistics. They won 50 of 54 singles matches and 17 of 27 doubles contests. Wendy Jennings was the top player, winning all nine of her matches, seven of them in straight sets. Other undefeated singles players were Ellen Sherman, a senior playing #6, with an 8-0 mark and Barb Fischer, playing #4 singles during the regular season, at 7-0. The Doremus-Seeber doubles team compiled a 7-1 record and sophomores Sandy Yearley and Susie Pratt teamed up to win six of eight matches.

Trinity also produced a successful junior varsity tennis team this fall. Brown was the only one of five opponents able to defeat the JV's; their final record of 4-1 included wins over Williams (3-2), Tufts (4-1), Smith (5-0), and Mt. Holyoke (3-2).

FIELD HOCKEY:A Winning Season

The Trinity field hockey teams completed their seasons in late October. Coaches Robin Sheppard and Sue McCarthy organized 26 women into two highly successful teams; the Varsity produced a 6-2 record and the Junior Varsity won all seven of its contests.

Mt. Holyoke (3-2) and Williams (7-4) were the only teams to defeat the Bantam women in varsity competition. Varsity victories came over Connecticut College (3-0), Tufts (6-0), Western Connecticut (9-0), Smith (8-1), Amherst (3-1) and Brown (1-0). The JV's played the same schedule as the Varsity, with the exception of Western Connecticut, outscoring their seven victims by a combined score of 31-5.

Senior forward Tina Poole was the leading scorer for the Varsity, recording 11 goals on the year. Poole was named Trinity's most valuable field hockey player for her efforts. Following behind her in offensive output were senior captain Olivia Brown and freshman Dottie Bundy with 8 goals apiece. Bundy was a pleasant surprise, moving up to the Varsity after the second game of the season to fill a void caused by an injury to Susie Saltonstall '79. Lisa Parker '80 led all Junior Varsity scorers with 8 goals.

Varsity goalkeeper Anne Warner '79 performed admirably, allowing 12 goals while her team scored 36. Sophomore Cindy Higgins was the most improved player, and Frances Dobbin '79 was elected captain for next season.

CROSS COUNTRY:Disappointing

The cross country team had a disappointing season. Last year's 3-9 team was the most successful in years, and the return of all the key members built an optimistic outlook for the 1977 harriers. Early season races against superior opposition disheartened the Bantam runners who went on to defeat only three of eleven opponents. Trinity victims were Connecticut College, was followed by a disappointing 2-0 loss to M.I.T. Division III power Babson College dropped the Bantam's record to 1-2 with an impressive 4-1 win in Trinity's first home game.

Shults' team put its finest early season game together in front of the Homecoming Day crowd for a 1-0 victory over Williams. Greg Madding '78 scored the lone goal in the second half of play. Tufts handed Trinity its third loss on the following Saturday by a 2-1 score.

The Bants rebounded strongly from that defeat, stringing four victories in a row to raise their record to 6-3. After a 2-1 win over Union, Trinity hosted cross-town rival University of Hartford and defeated the talented Hawks by a 3-2 score. Senior tri-captain Aaron Thomas scored the winning goal on a corner kick, assuring the emotional victory that was one major highlight of the season. The Bantam kickers continued their fine play and winning ways defeating Connecticut College 3-0 on Parents Day and edging

FOOTBALL:A Losing Season

The 1977 season marked the celebration of the 100th anniversary of intercollegiate football at Trinity College. The performance of the Bantams this fall was anything but distinguished as they won three games and lost five. This was the first losing season of Trinity football since 1969.

Trinity started the season strongly, defeating Bowdoin 21-7 at home and travelling to Bates to beat the Bobcats by a 14-7 score. In the opener, the Bantam gridders watched Bowdoin take the kickoff and march for a touchdown. That produced the only points of the first half and the only Polar Bear points in the game. Trinity rallied for 21 second-half points to take the victory away from Bowdoin.

Bates also jumped out to a 7-0 lead by scoring on its first possession of the game. The Bantams several times squandered excellent opportunities set up by the defense, but a 46 yard touchdown pass from Mike Foye '79 to Pat McNamara '80 tied the score in the final ten seconds of the half. The winning score came in the final period when sophomore Tom McGowan intercepted a Bobcat pass and returned it 11 yards for a touchdown. The defense played a major part in setting up and preserving this victory, putting up a successful goal-line stand with three minutes to play.

Williams College marred Trinity's record and its Reunion/Homecoming Weekend with a 28-0 win over the helpless Bantams. The Ephmen used a strong passing attack to build a 21-0 halftime lead. They were the first of several teams to exploit Trinity's defensive weakness against the pass. Williams intercepted five Foye passes and recovered two Bantam fumbles enroute to the victory.
