Trinity Struggles Against Superior Weight.

In a hard-fought battle Trinity struggled against superior weight on the Union field in Schenectady on Saturday. The team was not quite up to its usual form, being a little out of condition on account of the long, weary trip of the day before. For Trinity, Pond and Landefeld excelled, Pond showing great speed in running down the field under punts and tackling the runner. Von Donnenberg, Union's strong guard, played a good game.

Union kicked off to Trinity, Madden rushing the ball back 15 yards. On the third down Lee fumbled, the ball going to Union on our twenty-yard line. Union carried the ball over for a touchdown and kicked the goal. Score, Union 6; Trinity 0.

Union kicked again to Trinity. The ball remained near the center of the field until near the close of the half when Union again carried the ball over for the second score, missing the goal. Score, Union 11; Trinity 0. No more points were made in the first half, the half ending with the ball in Union's possession on Trinity's thirty-yard line.

We kicked off to Union in the second half and they, by a series of tackles and end plays carried the ball over the line for the third touchdown. Our team braced up after this and no further score was made until the very last minute of play, when Union obtained the ball on a fumbled punt, carrying it over and making the final score Union 22, Trinity 0. The last part of the second half developed into a punting game in which Landefeld completely outkicked his opponent.

The line-up:

Union	Trinity
Davis	Lauderburn
	Rehr, Hubbard
Patton, capt.	Dougherty
Von Dannenberg	Cameron
Nutt	Buths
Norwood	Chamberlain
Dann	Landefeld
Shutter	Pond
Robinson	Lee
McNab
Harvey	O. Morgan capt.
Moore	T. Morgan
Raymond	Madden

Time of halves, 25 minutes; touchdowns, Harvey, Moore, Raymond 2; goals, Patton 2. Berkshire, Perdue, umpire; Draper, Providence, referee; Van Weelden, Trinity, and Smith, Union, linesmen.

Twenty-six men reported for practice on the football field yesterday afternoon and the play between scrub and 'varsity went off with a good deal of snap. The majority of the college body was on the side lines and lent their aid by continuous cheering and singing of a very hearty character. Much enthusiasm is being shown over the coming game with Wesleyan.

ALL OUT, TRACK MEN!

On Friday afternoon the second cross-country run was taken by several candidates for the track team. Captain Remsen is desirous of having this light work kept up regularly from now on by the men who are to try for the team. The work will consist of a cross-country run two or three times a week when the weather permits, while the men will run on the track in the gymnasium during the severer part of the winter.

Last year the track team made as creditable a showing as any of our athletic organizations. We were victorious in both of our dual meets. All but two of the regular members have returned to College this year and much new material of a promising sort has turned up. So we have the best of chances for a successful season next spring if everybody will start right now to do a little work. Let us see every one of last year's men on deck. Let those of the new men who have run before come out and show what they can do, and above all, let those who have never tried to run take a few jogs with the cross-country runners and they will be surprised to see what hidden capabilities they possess and will be glad to buck in and develop them. Let's have a record breaking track team in 1905!

RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES.

A regular meeting of the Missionary Society was held in the Latin Room last evening at 6.45. Quite a number of Freshmen were also present. It was decided to divide the members for the ensuing year into two or three classes, each class to appoint a leader and take up its own line of mission study. All those interested in this work are asked to hand their names to the secretary, Mr. Licht, as soon as possible.

A meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was held last night at 9 o'clock.

Trinity for Roosevelt

A Big Parade Saturday.

Practically all the voters in College are casting their ballots today for the Republican ticket. The Republican Marching Club of the College marched in the big parade down town on Saturday, forming a part of the Bulkley Battalion and wearing their uniform. The Trinity contingent was commanded by Captain C. F. Clement, assisted by First Lieutenant W. B. Roberts and First Sergeant G. P. Pierce. The other sergeants were Remsen, Rhodes, Harriman and Burrows (chief musician). The corporals who paraded were Bowne, Burwell, Cowper, Curtiss, Haight and Rehr. Nearly fifty men were in line and the line of march was about six miles in extent.

This parade completed the work of our Republican Marching Club for the campaign. The men were photographed on the campus before starting.

Rev. L. H. ROOT'S SERMON.

Rev. L. H. Root, Missionary Bishop-Elect of Han Chow, China, preached at the Sunday morning chapel service. He spoke on the subject of the life of China in a masterly and interesting manner. Mr. Root has been a missionary in the Han Chow district for several years and has made a thorough study of the Chinese people.

As a befitting text to accompany his subject, Mr. Root selected John 10: 10—"I am come that they might have life and have it more abundantly," and, continuing, spoke in substance as follows:

"As a background on which to throw the life of China let us first consider the life of a Christian nation like our own. First, the physical life; every day we are learning how to live better. Physicians are teaching the laws of health. Disease after disease is being conquered. Surgeons are curing and healing. Every thoughtful man is looking forward to the time when the blood in our veins will carry with it more physical life than now.

"Next, our intellectual life. We are studying all things. Men are striving for truth in every direction. Scientists seek to learn more of this universe in which we live and endeavor to understand the things we touch and see and hear. The human mind is being explored. Already psychology has made great progress. We are filled with a desire for knowledge which will remain unsatisfied so long as aught of mystery remains.

"And our moral life. We are not perfect—far from it. On every side we see evil and meanness. Each one of us feels the impurity and wickedness of his own heart. But we are striving for higher things. The world is growing better. We will not rest until we can present ourselves noble and pure, before the most pure God.

"With this background then, let us look at the life of China. Two facts are salient: the greatness of the Chinese people, and the evident failure of their life, notwithstanding.

"The first characteristic impresses one strongly as he gives thought to these people. Their number is enormous. It is variously estimated from three to four hundred millions. And their antiquity is marvelous. Authentic records extend back some three thousand years. It is believed that they have lived in the same place for fifty thousand years. The physical aspect of the Chinese is stupendous. For ages they have been an intellectual people. Confucius lived within two hundred years of the founding of Rome. While our ancestors were still barbarians the Chinese had an advanced civilization. Most striking is their genius for morality. I do not mean that the Chinese greatly excel in virtue, but rather that their standards and conceptions are high. Heathen as is their religion, they

FOOTBALL.

A few statistics show a rather deplorable fact concerning the football squad this fall. During the season so nearly at an end, seven guards have been tried, eight ends, three tackles, three quarterbacks, three fullbacks, and eight halfbacks. These numerous changes imply good work an impossibility. There are various reasons for this condition of affairs,—some ill circumstances, but many times poor excuses on the part of mean-spirited individuals.

That the football record so far this fall has not been satisfactory, has not come near to our hopes for it, is due to the main fault that there has been no scrub. In two months, on only ten nights has there been a sufficient scrub, and inclusive in those ten nights the scrub was filled at times by Alumni. Men, when asked to come out on the scrub, have complained that they are too busy, but in most cases those men wasted their time selfishly, or spent their time in far less important and unnecessary affairs.

The training table has been a decided failure in comparison with what it might and should have been. At the beginning of the season preparations were made for thirty men at the training table. Eight is the largest number that has used this, and three of these are substitutes. The fault in this case was not entirely that of the individual, but the fault of the several eating clubs in allowing their temporary prosperity to interfere with College interests. The blame may not, and probably does not, rest on all alike, but the condition of affairs is lamentable. This year may prove a lesson in this respect, and may help to subject the society spirit to the College spirit, of which it is really only a part.

The season did not get started early enough, and many of the present squad came into the game very late. As a result some are not familiar with the very rudiments of the game. There is evidence of this in the fact that some do not thoroughly know the signals. They show this lack when they attempt to pick up the ball instead of falling on it, and in waiting for the ball when receiving punts.

Hard luck has entered somewhat into the season's work. There is not the competition necessary for a hard-working, alert team. Previous to the Union game no one had been laid out during the game, but scrimmage work has kept two or three of our good men from important games. Again, the team is mostly Freshmen, and necessarily largely inexperienced. In this respect the future is bright.

There is a strong desire at Trinity to win, but, seemingly, an unwillingness on the part of individuals to make the absolutely necessary sacrifice. Fine spirit has been shown on the part of a number of men out for the team, who entirely lack the physical requirements for such a game, but the spirit they have shown could well be emulated by men who have the physique.

While the defeat at Union was discouraging, the spirit shown warrants hope that Trinity will give a good account of herself. Union outweighed Trinity twenty pounds to the man. Trinity played four substitutes in the game. Also the team was partly disorganized by the long trip.

The team is in good physical condition, and, as shown by the New York and Schenectady games, plays better in long games. In both of these games Trinity outclassed her opponents towards the close of the halves. There is but one more game to talk about. Meanwhile, let Trinity work.

TO THE CLASS OF '98.

November 3, 1904.

TO THE CLASS OF 1898:

As a Trinity man you are certainly aware of what a great year this is for Trinity College and of some of the most prominent features tending to make it so, namely: the opening of the College year with seventy-two new men enrolled, the Inauguration of President Luther, and the general activity among the Alumni in forming local associations so as to lend their aid toward the making of the "greater Trinity."

There has also been instituted by the undergraduates the semi weekly paper, THE TRINITY TRIPOD, the purpose of which is to keep all Trinity men in closer touch with the College by furnishing all Trinity news at the earliest date. The management of this paper is now getting out a handsome Inaugural number in book form which will contain the history and views of the College, pictures of the Alumni and of the Inauguration, and a great deal of other matter well calculated to place Trinity College before the public favorably. I can assure you that this effort is worthy of the best support of all Trinity men.

This letter is being sent to all the members of our class in the hope that '98 will do her duty in subscribing both for the paper and for the Inaugural number, and above all send in your photograph at once to the Manager, Mr. Irving R. Kenyon. This will not put you under any obligation financial or otherwise and to make the book the success it should be it must have at least the pictures of five hundred Alumni, two hundred and twenty-five of whom have already responded. Your classmates, college-mates, and friends who buy the book will take interest in finding your picture there. We want to have the '98 ranks full and not a man missing.

Have you sent in your picture? If not do so at once before it slips your mind.

Yours for College and Class,

EDGAR F. WATERMAN,

worship no licentious gods such as the Greeks and Romans held and which are so common in heathen religions. Their moral code is lofty. The relations between brothers, between friends, husband, wife, etc., are set forth in wonderful terms. They believe in conscience and in the Golden Rule. The morality of their ideas is unique.

"Now let us look at the other side of the Chinese life. With all the wonderful character and achievements of this people, why do we regard them of so little moment? Partly through ignorance, perhaps, but chiefly because of their lack of progress. For a thousand years China has made no advance. Its life is better characterized by death. But why this stagnation? Why has China stood still while the western world has made such wonderful progress in civilization? The answer comes—she has lacked Christianity. Her people have had no hope in their hearts. Christianity is essentially a religion of hope and progress. Christians believe that man was made to dominate the world.

"The Chinaman concedes to man much less of power and importance. He would not dig a tunnel for fear of arousing the wrath of the earth spirit. To imitate Franklin and experiment with a kite in a storm would seem suicidal to him, for would he not surely be destroyed by the storm spirit? Thus progress in physical achievement was early arrested. Likewise in intellectual matters the Chinese have made no progress. Their classics are splendid but their education embraces nothing more. The educated Chinaman knows nothing of mathematics, history or science. It is as if we learned only Horace and Homer in our whole system of education. The second fault is the lack of diffusion of knowledge. Not more than one man in twenty can read, and the proportion among women is about one in one thousand. Out of four hundred millions of people not more than two hundred thousand read newspapers. The third fault is by far the worst. It is a fixed principle among the Chinese scholars that no man should presume to know more than his glorious ancestors. Hence all originality and progress is condemned and sometimes severely punished. Their moral life is likewise a failure. Despite the natural basis for high conduct, their moral code proves ineffective. They usually know what is right, but they say to themselves, 'What is the use?'

"To live is to hope, and without hope there can be no real life. Our hope is our God, and the Christ our life. We are not to stand at a distance however, and criticise the Chinese. We must give them the remedy which we hold in our hands. We can teach them the blessings of Christianity and arouse them to greater civilization by means of schools, hospitals and missions. Much has been done but a beginning only has been made. They have the character, but true life will come only with effort on our part."

In closing Mr. Root made an appeal to the students. "If I have accomplished my purpose I have helped you to realize our calling as Christians, not only for ourselves but for the Chinese Empire. Is it too much to expect that Trinity College will send more men to that field, like Littel and Walker, men whose names will some day be emblazoned as heroes on the College walls. May Trinity always give of her sons to China."

LEHIGH'S HONOR SYSTEM.

Last May the students of Lehigh University adopted an honor system, a statement of which appears as follows in "The Brown and White":

We, the students of Lehigh University, do hereby pledge ourselves on our honor, to abstain from all fraud in University written recitations, quizzes and examinations, and to take proper measures to prevent any infringement of this resolution, according to the following rules:

1. All students of Lehigh University shall constitute a committee for the faithful fulfillment of the above resolution.
2. The society known as the Arcadia shall be the virtual head and governing body of the aforementioned committee.
3. It shall be the duty of every student to report to the Arcadia in person, any infringement of the above resolution. If, however, a man is seen cheating by any member of the aforementioned committee, the man seeing the offense may have the privilege of telling the offender to leave college. In case he refuses to do this he shall be reported.
4. Upon the receipt of such a report, the Secretary of the Arcadia, in the presence of the Society, shall draw from a box containing the names of the members of the two upper classes, the names of fifteen men. Twelve of these men shall be selected by the accused to form a jury for trial. The jury thus selected shall be called to order by the aforesaid Secretary for organization, after which it shall proceed to the trial.
5. If the accused is convicted, he shall be notified to leave college within two days. Failing to comply in this, his name shall be handed to the Faculty for their action.

AN INTERESTING FACT.

On the 1st of March, 1904, THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL reached a stage in its history very interesting to its management and its members and one which is unique in the history of American Life Insurance.

On that date, but little more than fifty-eight years from its organization, it had received from its members in premiums the sum of $228,376,268, and had returned to them or their beneficiaries $228,724,073, or $347,805 more than it had received from them.

The Connecticut Mutual is the first American Life Insurance Company to return to its members one hundred per cent. of its receipt from them. And it holds besides $65,000,000 of assets, with a surplus of over $4,600,000 to protect over 70,000 policy-holders insured for over $166,000,000.
