TRINITY 6—WESLEYAN 32 Wesleyan's Team Shows Better Training.

Wesleyan won the annual football contest on Saturday afternoon by the score of 32 to 6. The score does not give any idea of the closeness of the fight for almost half of the game. That the superior team won there can be no doubt but for 28 minutes of the first half Trinity had all the better of the battle and Wesleyan only won out through the superior condition of her men. This, however, is an important factor in a game and was made only too evident on Saturday.

Trinity Field was crowded when the two teams came on the field. Wesleyan was the first to appear and ran through signals before our team made its appearance. The day was an ideal one and the crowd was in a good mood for the great game.

The game started at 2.45, with Trinity defending the south goal and Wesleyan kicking off to our five-yard line, Pond returning it by a nice run 20 yards. Trinity now showed wonderful offensive ability, and on line plunges by Madden, Pond, Morgan and Landefeld, carried the ball 65 yards before Wesleyan was able to stop them. Wesleyan held on their 20-yard line. Wesleyan was compelled to punt, the punt going 35 yards, Lee being downed in his tracks by Eyster. Again our offensive play netted us 35 yards when Wesleyan again held for downs, and again was compelled to punt after failing to gain around our ends. The punt went 45 yards. Once more Trinity marched toward the Wesleyan goal. When the 30-yard line was reached Madden broke through the line for a gain of 25 yards, Eyster preventing him from scoring by a tackle from behind. Wesleyan gave a splendid exhibition of holding and we lost the ball on downs. On line plunges Wesleyan gained 25 yards and was compelled to punt, the punt carrying about 20 yards, Lee running it back 10 yards, bringing the ball to Wesleyan's 30-yard line. Morgan failed at a goal from the field, a touchback resulting.

Wesleyan kicked from the 25-yard line and Lee was downed by Eyster before he could carry the ball back three yards. Wesleyan held for downs and Landefeld punted for 35 yards, the ball going out of bounds. Wesleyan seeing they could not gain punted on the second down, the ball going over Lee's head. Failing to gain we kicked, Van Surdam running the ball back 32 yards, bringing the ball to our 35-yard line. Trinity held, and securing the ball rushed it five yards when they were held for downs. Wesleyan now slowly pushed the ball down the field for a touchdown, our men apparently weakening and being unable to withstand the rushes of their heavier opponents. The goal was kicked. Score, Wesleyan 6, Trinity 0.

Wesleyan kicked off to Clement who ran the ball back ten yards. Landefeld punted 50 yards. Van Surdam ran the ball back 25 yards. Wesleyan again rushed the ball down the field to the 20-yard line where the ball was lost on a fumble. Landefeld's punt was blocked and Wesleyan scored a touchdown, Bailey scoring it. Attempt at goal failed. Score, 11 to 0. This ended the scoring for the first half.

THE CITIZENSHIP OF THE COLLEGE GRADUATE.

The Subject of a Correspondence Between Mr. Lincoln Steffens and President Luther.

This subject of the citizenship of the college graduate, whether or not the college course and life tends to make the average young man realize his duty and responsibility as a citizen, is especially interesting at this time, following the presidential election, and the following letters have added interest on account of the writers:

MR. LINCOLN STEFFENS,

Care of McClure, Phillips & Co.,
No. 141 East 25th Street,
New York, N. Y.

My Dear Sir: I am one of the many thousands of people who have read your articles on Political and Business Dishonesty with interest and shame, and I am one also of the thousands who feel grateful to you for what you have done in this matter. I am writing to ask you this question—whether in your investigations you have accumulated facts which would enable you to say that the college graduate, as a rule, is any more or less susceptible to corrupting influences than other men. Within the last few years all colleges and universities, I think, have made a special effort to impress upon their students a sense of the duties and responsibilities of citizenship. It has occurred to me that you, better perhaps than any other man in the country, would be able to say whether these efforts so far have been productive of any result at all.

I would greatly appreciate an answer, even a brief one and remain
Yours very truly,

FLAVEL S. LUTHER,
President of Trinity College.

Aug. 2, 1904.

My Dear Sir:

I cannot answer your question about the college graduate in politics; at least I cannot as you put it. My facts are really not enough to draw any conclusions, but I can tell you this, and I am sure it will interest you:

When college graduates go wrong in politics it seems to me they are worse than the other fellows; and the reason apparently is that having a sense of wrongdoing they become cynical. On the other hand the man who knows no better, whose whole ethical development is the result only of resisting the few temptations he does resist without much thought and only by force of character, this man improves as he goes along. Now of course the college can't make men good, but I do wish that along the teachings they could devise some means of giving the men actual experience say in ward politics in the college town, so that when their prior morals are put to the practical test they will break down not quite so suddenly and not quite so completely.

The question interests me very much, and I should like to talk with you some time about it. But meanwhile let me thank you for your kind word about my articles.

Yours sincerely,

J. LINCOLN STEFFENS.

CONGRATULATIONS, WES- LEYAN.

The Wesleyan game has been fought and won and our rivals are the victors. That the better team won their can be no dispute. True, for the first twenty-eight minutes of the first half our team outplayed them at all points of the game but it is the full game that counts and so we were defeated. That the Wesleyan men knew more football than our team we are not willing to admit and do not believe. The game hinged on the condition of the players. Wesleyan's team had trained faithfully during the entire season and were in fit condition to meet us. Several of Trinity's team had done little or no training and the result was that we played Trinity football for twenty-eight minutes and then the body overcame Trinity pluck and despite the fact that every man fought with all his strength that strength was not enough to overcome the Wesleyan attacks and we lost. We do not mean to lessen the glory of Wesleyan's victory. They won because they played the better football for the longest period of time and we extend to the victors our heartiest congratulations.

To our team, "The Tripod" offers congratulations for the plucky fight every man put up. There was no quitting even when victory was certain. Trinity spirit was everywhere predominant, both in player and the undergraduate on the sideline. May it continue to increase as it has this season and may the lessons of this season be taken to heart and worked for our benefit for next year.

CRITICISM OF THE GAME AND SEASON.

Until Trinity men as a whole learn to take their football season as a serious business and not as something to be gone through with as a necessity, then defeat will always result. Saturday's game furnishes a lesson that all should learn and learn well. That Trinity was completely outplaying Wesleyan in all departments of the game as long as her men were in condition, there can be no doubt to any fair-minded person. For the greater part of the first half Trinity's team was most plainly the better team. For one who has lived in Hartford and been able to keep track of the actions of the Trinity players, it was not hard to account for the sudden slump towards the end of the half. The teams were to fight a long battle and the one whose members had trained most faithfully was to win. Trinity's men had shown too great fondness for the city life to be in condition to withstand for seventy minutes the attacks of the men from Wesleyan, every one of whom had trained faithfully from the beginning of the season.

The game has been fought out perhaps many times since Saturday and many excuses have been made for certain failures to do certain things, but to the Trinity men it must be evident that for success every man must do his share in insisting on the proper regard of the fundamental principles of training by every candidate for the team. It seems to me, an outsider, that the Alumni can also help in this matter by taking a greater active interest in the team. I know of no college in New England where fewer Alumni appear on the athletic field to assist in coaching the teams and in instilling the right kind of spirit in the men. There are a certain few in Hartford who show up on the field but to me at least it seems that some of Trinity's former stars should show enough college spirit to come back for a few days or even a day and put spirit into the men by showing more active interest in them. "N."

ALUMNI NOTES.

From San Francisco comes the news of the serious illness there of Ashton Potter, '92, on the eve of his departure for Europe, where he was to spend the winter with Mrs. Potter, who is a daughter of Dr. W. F. Mac Nutt, of San Francisco. His condition is reported to be critical, and, after having already undergone three operations, he is now about to be subjected to a fourth. He is a son of the late Howard Potter, a nephew of Bishop Potter, and served both in the Spanish War and in the 4th Cavalry out in Manila.

HORATIO ROGERS.

Horatio Rogers, jurist and soldier, an LL. D. of Trinity in 1896, died at his home in Providence, November 12, at the age of sixty-eight. Death was due to hemorrhage of the brain. A widow, two sons and a daughter survive. He completed his college course at Brown University in 1855. Two years after his graduation from the Harvard Law School, Mr. Rogers enlisted for the Civil War in the 3d Rhode Island Heavy Artillery. He was breveted brigadier-general of volunteers at the close of his service; he was twice elected Attorney General of the state, and in 1891 he was appointed associate justice of the State Supreme Court bench. He retired in 1903.

THE TABLET OF NOV. 9th

The regular issue of "The Tablet" for Nov. 9th was distributed Friday. The number is called the "Inauguration Number" and well deserves the title. An interesting feature is a supplement in the shape of a photogravure of President Luther in his doctor's hood. The engraving will doubtless be preserved and framed by most of the students. The number contains nine additional pages. No attempt is made to give as full an account of inauguration day as is possible with a newspaper, but the whole train of events is related in a connected, narrative style under the main caption, "The Inauguration of President Luther," thus affording a complete account in a convenient form. President Luther's inaugural speech is inserted in full, characteristic extracts of the others, both at the ceremony and at the alumni luncheon, are given. The three editorials are on the inauguration. In one the college body is deservedly congratulated for the spirit manifested on the great day. The purely literary features of the number are two poems, one, an anonymous song, the other entitled "Book Life," and written in blank verse, by Curtiss, '06. The jolly stroller is missing but would seem to have written up the exchanges, for there the pen of a humorist is evident.

Newly Elected Manager of Football.

THE COLLEGE YEAR.

Editorial from "THE WORLD'S WORK" for November.

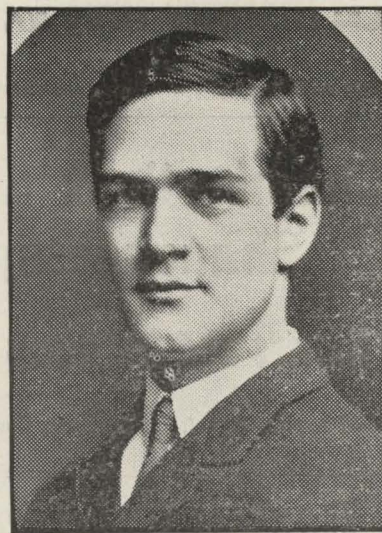

The beginning of the college year, a month ago brought several facts under discussion. For instance, in almost every college there was an increase in the number of students—in some colleges a very large increase. The demand for higher training keeps pace with the growth of wealth and population—perhaps outruns it, by mere physical measurement. Endowments and gifts to colleges continue to be made in ever-increasing sums. Yet the demands, especially of the larger universities become greater every year. Columbia University, in New York City, for instance, has immediate need of more than two millions of dollars; and President Wilson, of Princeton, it will be recalled formulated a plan of enlargement and improvement, last year that calls for about twelve millions.

Dr. Alfred G. Mayer, a little while ago, put into concise form in Science the statistics of higher education in the United States, which show that the number of our universities and colleges in 1902 was 638, and the number of students, including graduate students, was 112, 433. The number of colleges has increased by 50 per cent., and the number of students by about a hundred per cent., during the decade. But how small a part the college-bred are of the whole population is yet somewhat startling, for they comprise but one in every 700. There were twice as many teachers in 1902 as there were in 1889. The value of college property was multiplied by almost three; the endowment funds were two and a half times as great; gifts for other purposes were nearly three times as great; and the total income, exclusive of benefactions, was more than trebled. The number of books and libraries was doubled.

In spite of this increased prosperity, the average salary of teachers has probably declined. In one of our largest universities, the average ten years ago was $1,500. It is now only $1,257. In another one the average was $1,454, and now it is $1,355. This low average has been caused by the engagement of an increasing number of instructors and other subordinate members of the teaching force. The salaries of the professors themselves have not declined, but the increasing proportion of college instruction is now done by subordinate members of the faculties. Sir William Ramsay, during his recent visit to the United States, made more than one plea for increasing the salaries of teachers of high grade.

College training, except in those universities that are maintained by the States, is yet paid for by rich men and dead men. The students, even at those institutions where fees are highest, pay not more than one-third of the cost of the training that they receive. It is an industry that must yet be endowed—a fact that hints of its ecclesiastical history. In the perfect economic state, the State will pay for the training of all its children. But we need not yet bother ourselves about the ideal economic state. There is enough work for us to do in training well as large a number of capable youth as possible, at the expense of rich men, living or dead, at the expense of the State, or in any other way, if only enough youth be trained, and be trained well enough.

In the second half Wesleyan continued her rushing tactics, and as our team fought for every inch of ground the game was interesting, although it was apparent that we were outclassed. Wesleyan scored four touchdowns and kicked one goal. About the middle of the half Captain Morgan picked up a fumbled ball and running 95 yards scored a touchdown from which he kicked the goal.

AN INTERESTING FACT.

On the 1st of March, 1904, THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL reached a stage in its history very interesting to its management and its members and one which is unique in the history of American Life Insurance.

On that date, but little more than fifty-eight years from its organization, it had received from its members in premiums the sum of $228,376,268, and had returned to them or their beneficiaries $228,724,073, or $347,805 more than it had received from them.

The Connecticut Mutual is the first American Life Insurance Company to return to its members one hundred per cent. of its receipt from them. And it holds besides $65,000,000 of assets, with a surplus of over $4,600,000 to protect over 70,000 policy-holders insured for over $166,000,000.
