BASKET BALL VICTORY

Strong Delphi A. C. Team Defeated in the First Home Game.

The basket ball team won a most creditable victory on Friday evening when it defeated the strong Delphi A. C. team by the score of 34 to 20. The only poor feature of the game was the very poor attendance and poor support given the team which is by far the best basket ball team Trinity has had in the past three years. The team was without the services of ex-captain Duffee and Pond but their places were capably filled by Bowne and Marlор both of whom played a good game.

The game for the first three minutes was exceedingly fast and exciting neither team scoring. Captain Powell got the first point on a goal from foul. After that the Delphis played superior ball for seven or eight minutes running the score up to 11 to 3. Then the locals gave an excellent exhibition of team work and by the clever goal shooting of Powell and Landefeld ran the score up to 14 to 11, when the first half ended.

In the second half the team continued to play a fine game, especially Powell and Landefeld, whose clever passing and goal shooting was the best seen on Trinity floor for several years. In fact, it was so clever that the Delphis could not solve it at all and the game ended with the score 34 to 20.

The victory was undoubtedly due to the clever work of the two above-mentioned men, assisted by Madden, Marlор and Bowne. With a little more practice on the part of the entire team there can be no doubt but that the team will develop into one of the fastest quintets that has ever represented the college. Captain Powell has proved himself to be a cool headed leader and deserves the support of the college body. If the team does not prove to be a winner it will be for lack of proper support. The Delphis are one of the strongest amateur teams in this state and the victory shows the ability of our team. The summary:

Trinity	Lineup	Delphi A. C.
Marlор	right forward	House
Landefeld	center	Gates
Bowne	right guard	Oakes

Goals—Landefeld, 6; Powell, 4; Reeve, 3; Oakes, 2; Madden, 2; Bowne, 2; Marlор, 1; House, 1; Buckley, 1. Goals from foul—Buckley, 1; Oakes, 5; Powell, 1; Landefeld, 3. Referee, Coughlin; umpire, Cooley. Times of halves, 20 minutes.

President Luther will be one of the speakers at the annual dinner of the Williams College Alumni Association at the Hartford club on Friday evening, January 27.

CHAPEL QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Trinity Tripod:

Dear Sir:—They tell me that to fight the devil with fire is a bad plan because it is foolhardy to choose a weapon with the use of which your enemy is most familiar. And yet, this fact evidently did not deter "Trinity True" from attacking my "long-windedness" with the same article and more of it. When you sift down those three columns of "Trinity True's" effusion you have before you practically this: First, because we have no "Union" we should have compulsory chapel; second, I am a lazy beast devoid of will-power and as such I am persona non-grata at Trinity.

As regards argument number one, I consider it totally irrelevant to the question. I am decidedly in favor of a "Union," so-called, such as exists in other colleges, but when anyone says that because we haven't one we should have compulsory chapel, it is about equivalent to the argument that because a man can't play billiards he must read the Bible. In other words, it is absurd.

Strange to say, I feel a trifle delicate about touching upon argument number two. However, I must attempt to justify myself to some extent. Perhaps I am lazy, and perhaps I am devoid of will-power. May I ask one question? Do lazy people usually lose or gain in weight? It may be of interest for "Trinity True" to know that in three months I lost ten pounds in weight, which loss the doctors directly attributed to overwork and lack of sleep. If, then, I was lazy, my laziness was in attending chapel only. Listen, Mr. Editor, to "Trinity True's" statement in plain English; it amounts to this: That any man who devotes himself to his college to his own physical detriment is not such a man as the college needs if it be true that he is so weak in will-power as to cut chapel. I do not mean to say that I have accomplished anything at all. That is not for me to judge. I thoroughly appreciate the trifling concession made by "Trinity True," that possibly I might have done much for Trinity. The sweetest praise that I could ask would be to see this mere possibility assume a positive form.

One more question. Why does "Trinity True" so strenuously avoid discussing the incongruous punishment of suspension from college for overcutting chapel.

And now, let us eliminate this personal element from this question and try to view it as it really is.

There are, as I take it, only two arguments in favor of compulsory chapel. Primarily, it is supposed to bring men to a proper beginning of their day's work. This being done daily is supposed to make men feel the need of religion throughout life. From this foundation argument many numerous co-existent advantages are also claimed.

I have no inherent objection to allowing any man to pray. "It is meet and right so to do." Nor can anything be said against a man or body of men if they wish to offer prayer and thanksgiving to their Creator before they commence their daily tasks. On the other hand, it would seem to me that there is a very strong objection to compelling a man to perform the above mentioned duties. In a word, the compulsory chapel system does not accomplish its aim. It aims to create in the student a love for divine service and it results in creating a dislike. When the average student goes home for vacation he is thankful for a rest from work, but doubly thankful for a rest from chapel. I might go on indefinitely along this line of argument. It seems to me, however, that it is wasting time to do so because irrefutable facts go to prove what I say. Hence, I pass on to the second apparently valid reason for compulsory chapel.

The argument to be considered is that the real reason for the present system is to teach young men that they must be at a certain place at a certain time. This is an excellent reason and were it not for the attendant evils it would be nearly unanswerable. It may be said, however, that compulsory attendance at recitations accomplishes this very thing. Why is it necessary to use the service of the church for such a purpose when we have the secular means at hand?

Compulsory religion in any and every form has been repugnant to the divine freedom of man's soul ever since it has existed. I only hope it will so continue. Any worship which does not come from the depths of man's soul and of his own free will is, in my humble opinion, a sacrilege.

In conclusion, I wish to say that I regret having upset the equilibrium of the mind of my fellow-student, whoever he may be. I admire his wild, reckless, slap-dashery with which he so savagely assailed me. It is truly a misfortune that he is not for instead of against me. "Trinity True" is probably earnest, but he is wrong.

This is the end, Mr. Editor, as far as I am concerned. You may have other letters from Hodiernus, but not on this subject. I have had my say. I leave the rest for those of greater brains and more will-power.

I also wish to acknowledge gracefully the compliment, such as it is, in the fact that my previous letter was worthy enough to call forth such scathing criticism from such a dignified source as "Trinity True."

I thank you again for your attention and trust that I have not imposed upon your good nature.

Very truly yours,

HODIERNUS.

To the Editor of the Tripod:

My Dear Sir:—May I take a little of your space to correct what seems to me a misleading statement in Hodiernus' letter about compulsory chapel. If I remember correctly, he says if he takes four more chapel cuts before February 11, he will be admonished. What he should have said was: Four in addition to the one a week already allowed, thus making a total of nine cuts during the period between Christmas and the beginning of the new term, or about 30% of the total number of possible absences; and even then he would only be admonished, which would limit him to three more unallowed absences before suspension. I do not propose to take up the discussion of the ethical value of compulsory chapel, but should like to remind "Hodiernus" that in espousing a cause, overstatement of grievances always weakens the force of an appeal.

Yours very truly,
HENRY A. PERKINS.

January 22, 1905.

To the Editor of The Tripod:

Dear Sir:—A few lines to express my approval of the letter from "Trinity True," and his stand for the present compulsory chapel system. There is much to be said in favor of it, also, perhaps, much against it. I have heard many condemning "Hodiernus'" letter and many favoring, and I believe that it would be a good plan if they would express their ideas in joint, or, perhaps, the debating club might give a public debate on the question. I wish some way or means could be adopted whereby the sentiment of the full undergraduate body could be determined. I fully believe it would be for the present system.

HOCKEY GAME.

The Freshman hockey team defeated the Westminster school team at Simsbury on Saturday, by a score of 6 to 2. It was the "freshies'" first game and practically their first line-up but despite this they put up a good game and won through the good offensive work and shooting of Morris and Hubbard, and the excellent defensive work of Morgan. The summary:

Trinity	Lineup	Westminster
Budd,	goal	Warner
Stevens	point	Rhodes
Morgan,	cover point	Philbin
Ferguson,	right wing	Curtiss

Halves, 20 minutes; referee, Marlор Trinity '06, and Pettie of Westminster; goals by Hubbard 2, by Morris 4; by Curtiss 1; by Holt 1.

In the last number of the "Spirit of Missions" appeared an article on Hangkow and its missions by J. Harrington Littell, '95.

ALUMNI NOTES.

A prospectus has been received of a book on Eighteenth Century Furniture, being a description of the Pendleton Collection, a collection presented to the Rhode Island School of Design by Mr. Charles L. Pendleton of Providence. The author is Mr. Luke Vincent Lockwood, class of '93. The prospectus says, in part: "No writer is better versed in the history of furniture than is Mr. Lockwood, whose writings on the subject—notably Colonial Furniture in America—are recognized as standard authority. He has given the Pendleton Collection thorough study, and his descriptions of the pieces in the collection, together with an introductory analysis of the styles of the eighteenth century and their historical development, form a valuable treatise on furniture. The total edition will be 160 copies, which will be sold at $1.50 per copy.

The law firm of Lester & Graves makes the following announcement: "Messrs George B. Lester and Harmon S. Graves, comprising the firm of Lester & Graves, announce that Mr. Robert M. Miles, Jr., has this day become a member of their firm, and that they will continue the practice of the law at their offices, No. 27 Pine St., New York, under the firm name of Lester, Graves & Miles." The former junior member of the firm, Mr. Harmon S. Graves, is a Trinity graduate of the class of '92.

Yale defeated Princeton at basketball in New Haven on Saturday night by the score of 87 to 15. Instructor Velte was one of the officials.

English Prizes Awarded.

The Alumni English Prizes have been awarded to Burrows, Goodale and Sherwood, 1905; and Curtiss, Hinkle and Maercklein, 1906. These men will compete for the Whitlock Oratorical Prizes on February 23.

Wesleyan 1908 Won.

The Freshman basket ball team was defeated by the Wesleyan Freshmen quintet at Middletown on Thursday by the close score of 20 to 19. The game was exciting from beginning to end, the Freshmen losing through "dopey" work at certain stages of the game. The best work was done by Madden and Olmsted.

Athletics.

Yale will this year change her old system of a "shifting" coach for the crew which has prevailed for several years and under which the captain of one crew has been the regular coach of the next. This year Captain Cross of last year's crew cannot return and consequently Captain Whittier will serve as coach through the season with Kennedy as rowing instructor at New London and Julian W. Curtiss as advisory graduate coach.

Upon the refusal of George Brooke, the famous fullback, to take the head coachship of the U. of P. football team "By" Dickson, one of the greatest ends that ever wore the Red and Blue, has been elected. He will be assisted by a number of advisory coaches, several of whom will be on hand throughout the entire season.

YALE INCREASES.

Her Catalogue Shows an Increase in Number of Students—
Harvard's Decrease.

The Harvard University catalogue for 1904-5 shows Harvard's registration this year, exclusive of the summer school and Radcliffe College, to be 4,136, as compared with 4,324 last year, or a loss of 192 in the university. The figures, including Radcliffe and the summer school, make the loss for Harvard even greater. This year the total, including these two departments, is 5,550, while last year it was 6,040, making the loss 490.

The Yale University catalogue to be published to-morrow will show, as compared with last year, an increase of officers and instructors from 384 to 391. Not including the summer forest school and courses for teachers, the total student registration is 2,996, an increase of 33. The graduate school increases 20, the academic department 25, the scientific department 24, the art school 4, the music school 7, the forest school loses 1, the divinity school 1, the medical school 2 and the law school 22.

In state representation Connecticut has 1,010, New York 582, Pennsylvania 194, Massachusetts 168 and New Jersey 108. In city representation New Haven has 405, New York 213, Chicago 91, Hartford 77 and Brooklyn 72. Forty states of the union, territories and colonial possessions, are represented, and 18 foreign countries, Canada leading with 30 students, followed by Japan with 19. Eighty-two cities and towns are represented by five or more students each. The degree students in the university represent 166 outside universities and colleges, Harvard leading with 15, followed by Amherst with 12 and Bethany College, Kansas, with 11. The catalogue for the first time contains the list of the Yale Alumni associations.

EVERY man who has seen it says it is the most valuable publication on Smokes and Smoking ever produced.

It is magazine size, handsomely printed in colors, and costs us 50 cents to produce and mail each copy—but comes to you FREE for the asking.

This book in fact, might justly be called the Smoker's Encyclopedia and will often save you the annoyance of buying cigars you do not like, as a cigar affords a satisfactory smoke only when it suits your individual taste.

Our new Cigar Book is full of information about all kinds of cigars—Imported, Clear Havana, Domestic; about tobacco growing, treating and manufacturing; about cigarettes, pipes and smoking tobacco.

It tells you how and why we can assure you cigars better in quality by 30 to 50 per cent. than the same money can possibly buy in any other way, and enables you to prove this at our expense, without the risk of a single penny.

Our Cigar Book will bring to you all the advantages of our great chain of over 300 retail stores—you have the same stock to select from, and the cigars are delivered, prepaid, at your door at exactly the same prices as sold over our counters.

AN INTERESTING FACT.

On the 1st of March, 1904, THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL reached a stage in its history very interesting to its management and its members and one which is unique in the history of American Life Insurance.

On that date, but little more than fifty-eight years from its organization, it had received from its members in premiums the sum of $228,376,268, and had returned to them or their beneficiaries $228,724,073, or $347,805 more than it had received from them.

The Connecticut Mutual is the first American Life Insurance Company to return to its members one hundred per cent. of its receipt from them. And it holds besides $65,000,000 of assets, with a surplus of over $4,600,000 to protect over 70,000 policy-holders insured for over $166,000,000.
