

The Trinity Tripod.

VOL. I. No. 59.

HARTFORD, CONN., FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1905.

PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

STATE BOTANICAL EXHIBIT.

Now Installed in Natural History Museum.

An excellent botanical collection is one of the latest acquisitions to the Natural History Museum. It consists of the exhibit which was sent by the Connecticut Horticultural Society to the World's Fair at St. Louis last summer, and it is now through their courtesy the property of the college.

Practically the entire flora of Connecticut is represented. There are over two thousand specimens, all mounted and classified, both the scientific and the common names being given. The collection is arranged in large movable wooden frames hung in such a way as to swing like the leaves of a book. Thus while occupying a comparatively small space the whole collection is very easily accessible. The exhibit is displayed in the Botanical section of the museum which is at the east end of the third floor.

The collection is open to public inspection and members of the State Botanical Society have volunteered to keep it up to date.

FAUNA OF LONG ISLAND SOUND.

An interesting feature of the Natural History Museum is the collection of the local fauna of Long Island Sound which was gathered by Prof. Edwards while on a cruise in the summer of 1902.

This exhibit includes specimens found at various points hanging from Cold Spring Harbour, N. Y. to Bristol, R. I. They have been recently classified and arranged by A. D. Haight, 1906 and occupy an entire case on the second floor of the museum.

GERMAN CLUB ELECTIONS.

At a meeting of the German club yesterday the following officers were President—Frederick Charles Hinkel, 1906 elected for next year:

Secretary and treasurer—George Whipple Hubbard.

S. D. C. ELECTIONS.

At a meeting of the Sophomore Dining Club on Thursday evening, the following 1908 men were elected to membership:

Budd, Hardcastle, Hubbard, Maden, Stevens, Trumbull.

At a meeting on Thursday evening of the undergraduate stockholders of the Trinity Marine Laboratory, H. G. Barbour, '06, was elected to represent the undergraduates on the board of trustees.

TABLET-TRIPOD SMOKER.

Last evening at 70 Vernon street, the "Tablet" and "Tripod" boards enjoyed an informal smoker, at the invitation of the "Tripod" board. Dr. Luther was present. After informal discussion of matters of particular interest to the publications, the gathering took on a social character, and it was near midnight before the members were willing to break up.

W. Blair Roberts, on the part of the "Tripod," asked those present to discuss informally the future mutual relations of the "Tablet" and "Tripod," and also the feasibility of a press club under the direction of the two boards.

C. E. Gostenhofer, for the "Tablet," W. Blair Roberts for the "Tripod," and Dr. Luther expressed themselves heartily of the opinion that there is a large field for both publications, and the present activity and influence of neither can be spared. No formal action or plans were adopted, but a spirit and sense of mutual support and interest was evidenced that augurs well for the successful co-operation of each in the service of the college.

A very thorough discussion followed relating to the formation of a press club on a more firm basis than heretofore. As a result the boards voted that the editors for next year of the two publications constitute a committee to be responsible for the formation of a system for press reporting on the following general lines: That the editors of the "Tablet" and "Tripod" shall each year assume the responsibility of furnishing Trinity news to the press; that a member of the "Tripod" board be deputed by them to act as their secretary, whose duty it shall be to collect all news items from "Tripod" reporters and prepare them at stated times and a chosen place for reference for the use of press reporters. For this purpose a room will probably be obtained for the use of the "Tablet" and "Tripod" boards.

This smoker was the first of its kind, but it is very much to be desired and very probable that next year several occasions of a like nature will occur, which shall be equally as enjoyable and equally as fruitful of results.

The following men were present:

Dr. Luther,
Roberts,
Gostenhofer,
Huet,
Harriman,
Barbour,
Curtiss,
Bowne,
Mackerlein,
Butterworth,
Cowper,
Kenyon,

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

Programme of Festivities, Beginning June 22.

The Class Day committee of the senior class, which has been at work for the past month preparing for the Commencement week exercises, has announced the programme, which is published below. Immediately after the last examinations are ended the Sophomore Dining club will begin the gaieties with a banquet and the series of events will continue without interruption until Wednesday afternoon or evening. Commencement program usually ends with the Alumni dinner, directly after the graduation exercises but this year the seniors are talking seriously of having a farewell class smoker on the evening of Commencement day.

If this plan materializes, it will without doubt prove one of the most enjoyable affairs of the week.

The program of events which will be of special interest to the general public, is as follows:

Thursday evening, June 22, S. D. C. banquet.

Friday evening, June 23, sixth cotillion of the German club. The first half of this will be a club dance, and the latter part a german, led by C. Hamlin Pelton, 1905.

Saturday evening, June 24, senior dramatics and dance.

Sunday evening, June 25, baccalaureate sermon in Christ church.

Monday afternoon, June 26, Class Day exercises on the campus.

Monday evening, Class Day dance in Alumni hall.

Tuesday morning, June 27, Alumni meeting in the Latin room.

Tuesday afternoon, baseball game, Alumni versus Trinity varsity on Trinity field.

Tuesday evening, fraternity reunions.

Wednesday morning, June 28, 9 o'clock, prayers in college chapel.

11:15 o'clock, 79th commencement in Parsons' theater.

2 o'clock, commencement dinner in the gymnasium.

THE SENIOR DRAMATICS.

One of the features of the commencement exercises this year will be the one-act farce entitled, "Freezing a Mother-in-Law," which the seniors will present in Alumni hall on Saturday, evening June 24. The story is extremely amusing and the men who will take part are well suited for their positions. The play will begin at 8:30 o'clock and from the close of it until midnight there will be an informal dance.

The cast will be as follows:
Mr. Watmuff.....J. H. George
Ferdinand Swift.....C. H. Pelton
Walter Litherland..C. E. Gostenhofer
Mrs. Watmuff.....C. J. Harriman
Emily Watmuff.....A. R. Goodale

PROFESSOR ANDREWS, '84 SPEAKS AT THE JOHN KNOX CELEBRATION.

Interesting exercises in commemoration of the 40th anniversary of the birth of John Knox, the great reformer, were held in the chapel of the Hartford Theological Seminary on the evenings of Monday and Tuesday of this week. On Monday evening a valuable paper was read by Professor Charles McLean Andrews, Ph. D., head of the History department at Bryn Mawr. His subject was "The Times of John Knox."

Dr. Andrews is a graduate of the class of 1884 and is widely known through his historical researches. He responded for "The Alumni" at the Alumni luncheon here on Inauguration Day.

The following item is taken from the "Electro-Chemical and Metallurgical Industry" for June:

"Woolsey McA. Johnson, '08, has accepted a position as superintendent of the Lungwitz Reduction Co. This company has a large zinc blast furnace installed at Warren, N. H., to operate under the Lungwitz patents. The process in which the shaft is placed under pressure of 45 pounds per square inch, was noticed in Dr. Franz Meyer's article on zinc metallurgy in our January issue. The furnace is designed for the treatment of ore from the Warren mine."

DR. McCOOK LECTURES.

Dr. Henry C. McCook of Philadelphia lectured on Friday night in Alumni hall before an interested and appreciative audience. The lecturer's subject was "The Homes and Habits of American Ants," which he described in a most fascinating manner, almost personifying the tiny creatures.

Dr. McCook was introduced by President Luther. The speaker divided the ants into three general classes: the mason ants, the carpenter ants and the arboreal ants, according to the character of their nests. The mason ants are those species which build their homes in the ground, throwing up the mounds of earth which one sees so commonly.

The carpenter ants burrow out their labyrinthic homes in the trunks of trees and in the beams of houses, or in almost any wooden structure. There are certain genera, not commonly represented in this country, but more common in the tropics, which live in nests constructed in the trees, similar to the homes of the paper wasp, so familiar to every boy of the country. These Dr. McCook called the arboreal ants.

The lecture was illustrated by many charts, showing the homes of the ants and illustrating their habits. He described the great care with which the workers, which are undeveloped females, care for the eggs, larvae and pupae, carrying them to the center of the mound in cold, or wet weather, and placing them in well ventilated passages. The queen is also watched and protected most zealously by the workers. She is guarded continuously, lest she leave the nest, and if she does escape, is at once carried back by the little creatures.

One of the most peculiar habits described by the lecturer is that of guarding certain tiny creatures which live on the leaves of plants. These creatures, called appidae, secrete a sweet liquid which the ants cause them to emit. An ant, which wishes to obtain some of this milk, as it might be called, strokes the back of the apis. This action is extremely pleasing to the animal and it discharges a drop of this sweet liquid, named honey dew. The ant drinks in the honey dew, and when she has obtained her fill from other apidae in the herd, she travels home, her body greatly distended by the quantity of food taken in, and then feeds the young ants, the queen, and the worker which have been too busy in the nest to go abroad for food. The ant carrying the supply of honey dew places his mouth in the mouth of the hungry worker, baby ant or queen and gives him his fill by the process of regurgitation.

When the lecture was over, the audience was still thirsting for more information in regard to these interesting creatures and by request Dr. McCook made a few more remarks about the carpenter ant.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES.

The Class Day exercises will be held on the campus at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, June 26. Preceding the exercises there will be a concert by Colt's band.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co.

AN INTERESTING FACT.

On the 1st of March, 1904, THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL reached a stage in its history very interesting to its management and its members and one which is unique in the history of American Life Insurance.

On that date, but little more than fifty-eight years from its organization, it had received from its members in premiums the sum of $228,376,268, and had returned to them or their beneficiaries $228,724,073, or $347,805 more than it had received from them.

The Connecticut Mutual is the first American Life Insurance Company to return to its members one hundred per cent. of its receipt from them. And it holds besides $65,000,000 of assets, with a surplus of over $4,600,000 to protect over 70,000 policy-holders insured for over $166,000,000.
