INTERCLASS MEET.

Freshmen Win the Interclass Cup—Madden Gets the McCracken Cup for the Largest Number of Points.

The annual indoor contest for the interclass cup was held in the gymnasium Friday evening before a large crowd of collegians, graduates and their friends. The meet was particularly interesting this year and every event was well contested. As usual, the program was somewhat long and drawn out and lasted till rather late, but the interval between events was enlivened by selections rendered by the college Mandolin Club.

The indoor championship was won by the class of 1908, with 63½ points, 1906 was second, with 27¼, 1905 third, with 26¼ while 1907 failed to make any points at all. The McCracken cup for the largest individual score was won by William Madden, with a score of 24½ points. Madden got first place in the shot-put, fence vault, horizontal bar, tied for first in the high kick and rope climb and took second place on the flying rings. Horace Olmstead, 1908, also did remarkably well. He was Madden's closest competitor for the McCracken cup, making 19 points, was awarded a cup for the best exhibit on the parallel bars, and established a record for the 30-yard high hurdles of 4 4-5 seconds, thereby winning the record cup.

The most interesting feature of the meet was a wrestling exhibition between Madden, 1908, and Bulkeley, 1905. The men wrestled for ten minutes and were apparently quite evenly matched. Bulkeley worked hard to throw his opponent, but Madden broke every hold with ease.

20 Yard Dash—Gateson 1906, Boyd 1905, Bulkeley 1905; time 3 seconds.

Pole Vault—Bowne 1906, Maplesden 1908, Ozon 1908; height 9 feet.

High Kick—Bowne 1906 and Madden 1908 tied for first place, Gateson, 1906 third; height 8 feet 6 inches.

Parallel Bars—Olmstead 1908, 10 2-5 points; Pond, 1908, 10 3-10 points; Boyd, 1905, 8 4-5 points.

Rope Climb—Tie between Madden, 1908 and Maplesden, 1908; time, 7 seconds.

Standing High Jump—Tie between Boyd 1905, Bulkeley 1905, Gateson 1906, third; height 4 feet 6 inches.

High Hurdles—Olmstead 1908, Pond 1908, Curtiss 1906; time 4 4-5 seconds.

Horizontal Bar—Madden 1908, 9 4-5 points; Ozon 1908, 9 7-10 points; Bulkeley 1905, 9 1-10 points.

Running High Jump—Bowne 1906, Olmstead 1908, Ozon 1908; height 5 feet 3 inches.

Fence Vault—Tie between Bulkeley 1905, and Madden 1908; Pond 1908 third; height 6 feet 2 inches.

Flying Rings—Boyd 1905, 11 1-10 points; Madden 1908, 4 4-5 points; Olmstead 1908, 4 2-5 points.

Putting 16-Pound Shot—Madden 1908, Bowne 1906, Ozon 1908; distance 34 feet.

Potato Race—Olmstead 1908, Boyd 1905, Cross 1908; time 30 seconds.

The officials for the meet were: Referee, Professor F. C. Babbitt; judges, Z. D. Flynn, '97, J. H. K. Davis, '97, J. McA. Johnson, '98; timers, L. A. Ellis, W. M. A. Johnson, '98, G. D. Rankin, scorers, Burrows, '05, and Morgan, '06; announcer, Harold G. Hart, '07; clerk of course, Gostenhofer, '05; starter, George B. Velte.

ALUMNI DEPARTMENT.

'90.—J. K. Hamilton has been in Hartford recently with Mrs. Hamilton, visiting the latter's father, Mr. John, 65 Washington Street.

'96.—E. W. Robinson has just returned from a trip to Cuba.

1902. Edmund J. Cleveland, who is studying at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., will become assistant minister at Christ church, Springfield, Mass., after his graduation from the school this spring.

'03.—Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. L. G. Meyer, March 24th, a daughter.

'95.—"In Memoriam: Robert Clarkson Tongue," is a small volume of verse made up from the papers of the lamented rector of All Saints' Church, Meriden, a graduate of Trinity and well known in Hartford. Dr. Samuel Hart writes the introductory memoir and there is further testimony to his elevated character and singleness of Christian purpose. The poems themselves are evidence of his humanity and his love of nature and his sensitiveness to poetical form and feeling, while the subjects range from the suggestions of a religious festival to those of domestic and humorous inspiration. The book is published by the widow of Mr. Tongue and will be welcomed by his friends.

Pres. Stimson of the Connecticut Agricultural College announces the need of more dormitory room. This would seem to augur well for the future success of another Connecticut college.

Trinity's Crew Thirty-One Years Ago.

The following interesting article appeared in a Hartford paper in the spring of 1874, just thirty-one years ago. It describes the Trinity College crew shortly before a race at Syracuse.

Although Trinity did not win this race, she nevertheless made an excellent showing, and it is said that the larger colleges competing were uncertain but that Trinity would win after all. The race was lost, we understand, because one member of the crew made a mistake which proved fatal.

It is not generally known among undergraduates that Trinity had the honor of being one of the four colleges, in 1858, to establish the College Union Regatta at Worcester, Mass., the other colleges being Yale, Harvard and Brown. Rowing died out at Trinity about 1880, but at the time this article was written she was considered a formidable antagonist by her more bulky opponents.

The article is as follows:

REGATA NOTES.

The Trinity Crew—Full Description of the Men—How They are Trained—Their Height, Weight and Measurement—Miscellaneous Matters.

Anyone who takes sufficient interest in aquatic sports to get up at an early hour in the morning, will have a fine opportunity to witness the athletic proficiency of the Trinity crew. They arise at an hour which astonishes the roosters, early birds as they are, and peregrinate about the streets at appalling rates of speed. The amount of muscle developed by this sort of practice bids fair to send Trinity in among the first of the college boats next month. Captain McKennan is not a believer in the old, rigid rules of training, but allows his men to eat and drink pretty much what they have a mind to—liquors and pies, however, being strictly forbidden.

Rising at 6 o'clock or thereabouts, the crew walk for an hour. At 12:30 another walk of half an hour is taken. At 5 o'clock p. m. they go out on the river and pull for about two hours in their shell, and during the day each member of the crew is expected to take half an hour's exercise in the gymnasium. The college boat house is moored near Dutch Point and the walk to and from that locality furnishes exhilarating and cheerful amusement, not only to the crew, but to a large and select assortment of street Arabs who assemble at various points on the course and pass observation on the boys' physique.

That physique, by the way, is a fine one, few of the college crews making so good a show in the way of muscle, or of weight.

John D. McKennan, the captain, is a native of Pennsylvania, a member of the class of '76, and twenty-one years of age. Notwithstanding his comparative youth, he has managed to grow bigger than most men do before they are fifty. He stands six feet and two inches in a pair of old slippers, weighs 178 pounds, measures forty-one and a half inches around the chest, fifteen inches around the arm, and the same around the fore-arm, and is generally built on an infantile plan. It is to this gentleman that boating at Trinity owes most of its success, he having devoted himself to the amusement with thorough energy, and pulled the club through at times when it seemed near its last gasp.

The largest man in the crew, however, is Mr. William J. Roberts, who forgot to stop going skyward at the age when it is customary to do so. He is just six feet one inch in height and has a superb physical development, measuring 41½ inches about the chest, fourteen inches around his biceps and 15½ inches around his fore-arm. He never trained for a pugilist, but has opportunities to astonish John Morrissey. He is a member of the class of '75, a Michigander, and weighs 185 pounds.

H. O. DuBois, the stroke oar, is not built on quite so extensive a plan as the other two gentlemen. He is six feet high and weighs only 160 pounds. His measurements are: Chest, 39 inches; fore-arm, 13½ inches; arm 14 inches. Mr. DuBois belongs to the class of '76, is a native of Minnesota, and is twenty years old.

His brother, G. M. DuBois, is the lightest man in the crew, weighing only 153 pounds in spite of his six feet of height and twenty-three years. His chest measurement is thirty-eight inches, his arm twelve and three-quarter inches, fore-arm twelve inches. Mr. DuBois pulls the bow oar.

Henry M. Hooper of New Jersey, class of '75, is a cheerful looking six-footer, with 167 pounds of muscle and bone under his clothes and a chest which it takes thirty-nine and a half inches of tape to go around. His arm measures fourteen and a half inches and his fore-arm fourteen inches. He is twenty-three years of age.

The sixth man, Sidney D. Hooker, whom we have placed last, is also the least but one. Mr. Hooker's original intention was to stand seven feet high, but he never got any further than six. His other proportions are good, however, as he measures thirty-nine inches about the chest and thirteen about the arm and fore-arm. His weight is 158 pounds. Mr. Hooker is a New York man, a member of the class of '77, and is twenty years old.

The crew, it will be seen, is a very heavy and powerful one, the total weight of the men being 1,001 pounds and the average being about 166 pounds. Not one of the men is under six feet in height and two of them measure more. Their average chest measurement is 39 2-3 inches, and the development of the muscles of the arm, as noted above, is something ex-

"NOW THEN-TRINITY!"

A NEW MEMBER OF THE "TRI-POD" BOARD.

We are pleased to announce that Garrett D. Bowne, Jr., 1906, having done the required amount of work to entitle him to membership on the "Tripod" board, has been elected to the same. For the present he will have charge of the alumni and athletic departments.

LIVES OF PROMINENT ALUMNI

We have said several times in previous issues of this paper that we desire to make it a publication which alumni may enjoy, as well as undergraduates. In connection with this department we are about to start a series of articles telling briefly of the lives of some of the most noted Trinity men. In our various sports and duties about college we undergraduates are apt to forget the illustrious line of men who have gone from these walls before us, and whose places we are now taking; and, on the other hand, young alumni, making their way out in the world, perhaps seldom think of what an exceptionally fine class of men they are numbered with when they are called "Trinity Alumni."

It is for the purpose of recalling to the minds of all, graduates and undergraduates, the lives of these men, and to give inspiration to all, especially those who are just beginning or are about to begin, their work in life, that we shall publish this series. The first article will appear in the next issue and thereafter they will appear in our Friday issues during the remainder of the college year.

THE FLOATING NATURAL HIS- TORY LABORATORY.

It seems now as if Trinity is at last to have the floating laboratory for work in the department of Natural History, for which Professor Edwards has been striving for so long, and which was described in a recent issue of the "Tripod." The alumni correspondents of this paper have been requested by letter to assist in the work, and letters received from several of them show that they are doing so with enthusiasm.

Several undergraduates about colleges have said that they would like to contribute to this fund. For this purpose the "Tripod" will print, every week, a list of men who will subscribe any amount of money. The amounts subscribed will not be placed after the names, but from time to time the total sum received will be published.
We hope that every undergraduate who can possibly do so will subscribe
a little to this fund, and thus assist in placing upon the seas the first floating natural history laboratory which has ever been launched by an American college or university. This is a fine chance to assist in placing "new Trinity" before the world. Let every man, though he can help but a little, help as well as he can.

The matter of awarding the "W" to the Varsity basket ball team has been laid before the athletic council of Williams College. A majority of the undergraduate body seems to favor the idea.

The Williams five won twenty of the twenty-two games played with a total score of 571 to their opponents 238. The two defeats were by teams from which they later won by a greater score.

Samuel Curtis Campaigne of Troy,
N. Y., has been elected captain of Wesleyan's basket ball team. Campaigne is a member of the junior class.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES.

Andrew Carnegie has given $150,000 for a library building for Syracuse University.

An intercollegiate gymnastic contest is to be held at Princeton on March 31. Ten colleges will be represented, among them Yale, Harvard and Princeton.

Ralph Rose threw the 16-pound shot 50 feet 4 inches in a recent exhibition before a fashionable crowd at the Chicago Athletic Association. The mark is nearly two feet better than the world's record, but being an exhibition will not go on record. Rose accomplished this wonderful feat after three tests, in the second of which he negotiated 49 feet 7 inches.

AN INTERESTING FACT.

On the 1st of March, 1904, THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL reached a stage in its history very interesting to its management and its members and one which is unique in the history of American Life Insurance.

On that date, but little more than fifty-eight years from its organization, it had received from its members in premiums the sum of $228,376,268, and had returned to them or their beneficiaries $228,724,073, or $347,805 more than it had received from them.

The Connecticut Mutual is the first American Life Insurance Company to return to its members one hundred per cent. of its receipt from them. And it holds besides $65,000,000 of assets, with a surplus of over $4,600,000 to protect over 70,000 policy-holders insured for over $166,000,000.
