VOL II. No. 1.

HARTFORD, CONN., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1905.

PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

Large Entering Class.

Promptly at 5:45 yesterday afternoon Trinity opened for the new academic year, 1905-6, with the customary chapel service. The initial service, like all that have gone before, was impressive and inspiring. Before the time-honored opening hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy," was begun every available seat in the chapel was occupied and a few late comers were standing at the door. The front seats could not accommodate the large freshman class and a number occupied those higher up which belong by tradition to the upper classes. After the Nunc De mitis, Dr. Luther gave a short address of welcome to the visitors, alumni and undergraduates, especially the newest undergraduates whose success he hoped for and prophesied.

When the service was over the usual but always exciting "Freshman Lane" was formed and then class and college cheers followed each other with great enthusiasm. Another year was properly begun, another class was rightly started.

ENTERING CLASS.

Shortly before the opening service yesterday afternoon, and immediately following the first faculty meeting, a list of new men who have been admitted was posted on the board. The list includes sixty-five names.

It is certain moreover that several additional names are still before the faculty for consideration, the delay being occasioned by delinquent certificates or other minor difficulties, and it is also practically certain that there will be a few late comers. Hence it is quite reasonable to expect a total entrance class of seventy-five or eighty men which will considerably outstrip the record breaking class of last fall. But for the disappointingly large number of men who failed to reach the high entrance requirements demanded, a considerably larger class would have entered. About twenty-five men have failed to meet the requirements, among them Vinal, the football star, from Willeston and Tanner, a valuable player from Exeter.

This is a serious loss to the team for these men were among the most promising candidates. Nevertheless there is a general feeling that such action on the part of the faculty reflect honor on the college and not to be lamented since it was a necessity.

The official list last night was as follows:

Course in Arts—Barbour, P. H.; Buck, G. S.; Carpenter, I. S.; Carpenter, L. G.; Chandler, Hall, L. G.; Hamersley, McGinley, Newton, Peck, Roberts, E. K., Roberts, P., Stafford.

Course in Science—Aleshire, Buchanan, Butterworth, C. H., Codman, Candee, Clendinen, Coleman, Connor, Creedon, Earnham, Gaynor, Geer, E. S., Jr., Harriman, L. G. Henshaw, Hinkel, H. O., Livingston, McMeen, Mason, Sears, Seymour, Sherwood, Snow, B. F., Starr, Swettenham, Vaughan, Waterhouse.

Courses in Letters and Science and in Letters—Claussen, Deppen, Dibble, Elwell, Foote, Goodrich, Hall, H., Kilbourn, McConnell, Mason, Mulcahy, Shearer, Willoughby.

Special—Bedell.

Special Non-Matriculated — Davis, Forbes, Hallden.

Sophomore—Ladd.

Graduate Students—Butler, Maercklein.

NEW MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY.

Professor Elmer Truesdell Merrill, who heads the department of Latin, was born in Massachusetts. He graduated from Wesleyan University in 1881 at the head of his class, and after a year of post graduate work at Wesleyan, taught for one year in the Massachusetts State Normal School, and for three years was a tutor at Wesleyan. After a year of study abroad, and a year as teacher of Latin at the University of Southern California, Prof. Merrill in 1888 was called to take the chair of Latin at Wesleyan, where he taught until this year. Professor Merrill is prominent in many societies of learning and is well known as a commentator of Latin authors. He was ordained a priest in the Episcopal Church in 1894.

Professor Charles E. Rogers, C. E., who has been called to the head of the department of civil engineering, was graduated with high honors at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1896. He then devoted five years to the practice of various branches of civil engineering, engaging in both the scientific and business departments of the profession. From 1901 to 1904, he was instructor in civil engineering at Lehigh University. He comes from the Clarkson Memorial School of Technology in Potsdam, N. Y., where he was last year professor of civil engineering and mathematics.

Professor Rogers will bring to his new work a comprehensive experience and a reputation for scholarly efficiency. He is a member of the Rensselaer Society of Engineers.

Foot Ball.

Although it is still too early in the season to make a positive statement regarding the success of the team, yet the outlook for a winning eleven is very encouraging. Captain Landefeld is showing himself to be an ideal coach. He keeps the squad well in hand yet the routine is carried on without the slightest friction. The men are all imbued with his enthusiasm, and work hard under his energetic supervision. The entire squad is remarkably fit for this time of year.

An encouraging feature is the fact that practically all of the eleven of last year are again in college and are eligible for the team. The only man who is missing is Clement, who played an end last fall. His position will be well filled by Mason '09 who was an end at the Hartford High School three years.

Donnelly, who made such a fine record in the early part of last year, before an injury to his knee put him in the hospital for an indefinite period, has come back in good condition, with his injured knee as well as ever. With Captain Landefeld and Donnelly playing the tackles, Trinity is assured that these important positions will be filled by men as capable as any pair of tackles in New England.

There is still a noticeable lack of heavy men who are candidates for the middle of the line. However, there are heavy men in the incoming freshmen class who have not yet appeared for practice. It is to be hoped that all those who have ever played football and even those who never have but think that they could if given a chance, will come out, for just at present there is a lamentable dearth of really heavy material to stiffen the center of the line.

In the back field the team, as it is now lined up, is strong. McMeen, a freshman, who played half back at Mercersburg Academy, is showing up well. He is heavy, weighing over 170 pounds, is fast and aggressive, very essential qualities in a back. Mason, who has been played at half back recently, is also doing well. He is even more aggressive than McMeen, and is a good runner. If Tanner, the Exeter fullback, who is now laboring under scholastic difficulties, is permitted to play, the college will have an ideal backfield. Tanner is a beautiful line plunger, a heady player and a heavy man, good both at defence and offense he makes a perfect fullback.

Hubbard, substitute quarter last season, is doing good work in the position this fall. He is a capital general, runs his team hard, gets into all the plays and runs well in a broken field. Pond, who played end and quarter in 1904, will probably be employed at end. He is a splendid man for the place. A crack hurdler on the track team, he uses his skill to advantage in getting over the line. He is very fast, runs well with the ball and is a first rate little punter.

Of the other men, Dougherty is again fitting his place at guard as well as ever. Butts, center last year, has not yet appeared, and Marlor and Carpenter, the latter a new man, are being tried in his old position. Madden is back again and will doubtless prove the same tower of strength. Buck is doing well at right guard. On the whole, though the team appears to be a little light, the prospects for a successful season are brilliant.

Capt. J. C. Landefeld.

FOOT BALL SCHEDULE

The schedule of games has been somewhat revised since last published. The game scheduled with Yale was cancelled at Trinity's request, and the game with Wesleyan cancelled at Wesleyan's request. The schedule is:

October 7, Rutgers, at Hartford.
October 14, N. Y. U., at Hartford.
October 21, Union, at Hartford.
October 28, Hamilton, at Clinton, N. Y.

November 4, W. P. I., at Hartford.
November 11, R. I. State College, at Hartford.
November 15, West Point, at West Point.
November 25, Haverford, at Haverford.

George H. Wartman, '07, has entered Lafayette College to take a course in chemistry.

Raymond Cunningham, '07, has left college for the present. He hopes to finish his work here within a year or two.

"NOW THEN—TRINITY!"

EDITORIAL

It gives us pleasure to welcome on the part of the undergraduates, Professor Merrill, Professor Rogers, and Dr. Swan. All three come to Trinity bearing honors from other colleges and cannot fail to prove valuable additions to our faculty.

To the incoming class also, the Tripod extends a hearty welcome. The welfare of a college must ever depend on the men who leave her and the men who enter. The graduating class of 1905 was a credit to Trinity, the entering class of 1909, both in numbers and in character, gives earnest of becoming a banner class. Bright indeed, is Trinity's future.

The Tripod has come to stay. In fact the editors in their enthusiasm of the first year said as much last September. But now, alumni and undergraduates, you have told us by your interest in last year's paper, that the Tripod is supplying a need. Nor are we relying upon the general enthusiasm for this statement. The men whom we all know as the most loyal Trinity men have told us personally that the Tripod must be continued. What was begun last year with fear and trembling, is taken up this year with confidence and enthusiasm. We have found that the Tripod is most successful as a semi-weekly, without trying any other plan. We have found a willingness among the undergraduates to give their time to the work of the Tripod merely that they may be identified with some active college work. We have found that the Tripod can be a financial success. It is no longer an experiment.

So we begin with this issue, volume Two of the Tripod. "Now then, Trinity," was never more fitting. With the entering class enrolled the total number of students will hover about the two-hundred mark. The class of 1908 was record-breaking point of numbers. The class of 1909 goes higher. The Tripod was not begun in a time of dormancy, to arouse a need, but in a tide of progress to supply a need. The motto was on Trinity men's lips before the Tripod was known. Our policy is summed up in those words, and we are the instrument of a party, which is Trinity.

Particularly do we address ourselves to the alumni, as the instrument of that body. Since there is no publication conducted by and for the alumni, and since for our financial support we depend largely upon the patronage of the alumni, we ask you, Alumni, to make use of us.

Owing to a strike of printers the arrangement for the printing of this issue were made with some difficulty, and we beg to excuse on this ground the somewhat unfinished style of its appearance.

Already four members of the freshman class have expressed their desire to assist in the work of publishing the Tripod. Any number of "runners" can be employed at present, and plans will soon be formulated by which to try out the men to determine the regular staff of reporters and business assistants. Besides the filling of several vacancies in the departments, men will be needed to fill departments which will be made in the enlarging of the board.

Some of the '09 men entering from the Hartford High School have given it as their opinion that the entrance examinations this year are of more strenuous character than those of former years. Our friends are not mistaken for many other freshmen have made the same observation. In fact the requirements in all the departments are being made harder. Thus Trinity is strengthening the reputation for thoroughness in scholastic work which she has for so long successfully maintained.

The school of civil engineering is an option occupying the last three years of the course in science. In addition to the engineering branches already scheduled in this department Professor Rogers will in cooperation with the department of biology, offer a course in sanitary science and engineering. He has also undertaken to arrange for summer work in engineering for the more advanced students.

Professor Rogers will relieve President Luther of the details of instruction in the department of civil engineering, which Dr. Luther has heretofore attended to.

Prof. Chas. E. Rogers.

Dr. Horace Cheney Swan begins his work this fall as Medical Inspector and Gymnasium Director. He is a graduate of the Roxbury High School, Boston. He graduated cum laude from Tufts College Medical School and also completed a course at the Harvard Summer School of Physical Education. Dr. Swan held the position of physical director in the Y. M. C. A., both at St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Newton, Mass., and at the Harvard Summer School of Physical Education. More recently he has occupied a similar position at Wesleyan University.

NEW LATIN COURSES.

Besides some changes in the Latin of last year Prof. Merrill will offer the following courses:

Latin 4a (VII.) Elective for students who have taken Latin I., and who have taken or are taking Latin 2a or Latin 2b.

Christmas term: Roman Private Life; a course of illustrated lectures, with the requirements of some collateral reading of original and secondary authorities, and the careful preparation of note books.

Trinity Term: Roman Topography; a course of illustrated lectures on the historical developments of the Roman power in its local seat, with the requirement of some collateral reading of original and of secondary authorities, and the careful preparation of note books.

Hours—Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays at 9:45.

Latin 4 b: Elective for students who have taken Latin I., and who have taken or are taking Latin 2 b.

Christmas term: Latin Epiography, a course of introductory lectures, accompanied and followed by the individual interpretation of selected Latin inscriptions, chiefly of historical content and interest.

Trinity Term: Latin Palaeography; a course of lectures on the book-hands of the middle ages, accompanied by practical exercises followed by a brief survey of the causes and character of manuscript errors, and the methods of criticism—the course serving as an introduction to textual study.

Prof. Merrill has arranged so that those who wish to, may take two years of Latin 2 and also Latin 3.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co.

AN INTERESTING FACT.

On the 1st of March, 1904, THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL reached a stage in its history very interesting to its management and its members and one which is unique in the history of American Life Insurance.

On that date, but little more than fifty-eight years from its organization, it had received from its members in premiums the sum of $228,376,268, and had returned to them or their beneficiaries $228,724,073, or $347,805 more than it had received from them.

The Connecticut Mutual is the first American Life Insurance Company to return to its members one hundred per cent. of its receipt from them. And it holds besides $65,000,000 of assets, with a surplus of over $4,600,000 to protect over 70,000 policy-holders insured for over $166,000,000.
