TRINITY MAN AN EXPLORER.

Liffingwell, '95, Will Head Geographical Expedition to Northern Lands.

Ernest DeKoven Liffingwell, '95 of Galesburg, Ill., will head a geographical exploration journey to unexplored polar seas north of Alaska next summer.

Mr. Liffingwell, who as a research worker in the department of geology at the University of Chicago, will go up for his doctor's degree with a thesis on "The Glaciation of Lake Chelan, Washington," next spring, was in charge of the scientific work in the first Baldwin-Ziegler expedition, and spent the year 1901-1902 in Franz Josef Land.

On his expedition, Mr. Liffingwell will share a joint leadership with a Dane, Captain Ejnar Mikkelsen. The expense will amount to $10,000. Rev. C. W. Liffingwell of St. Mary's school, Knoxville, Ill., father of the scientific explorer, has provided half the sum, and Captain Mikkelsen has raised the other $5,000. The Royal Geographical Society of London has indorsed the Liffingwell-Mikkelsen plans, and offered the use of equipment from the outfit of the antarctic expedition made in the Discovery. The expedition will start in the early summer.

The Galesburg Evening Mail, for January 9th., quotes Mr. Liffingwell as follows:

"We will explore in the Beaufort Sea, north of Alaska, and will go looking for land, which it seems certain is there, but which has never been explored by geographers. Vague reports that there is land in the Beaufort Sea have been brought by whalers and Eskimos, and the tidal condition on the shore of Alaska give of such land. But it has never been seen by those making geographical study. We shall start to look for it by the middle of May. There will be four men in a party, all of whom have had arctic experience. We may go down the Mackenzie River, sending our freight by whalers. But it is more likely that we will have our own boat."

Mr. Liffingwell is 31 years old, strong in physique, having been prominent in athletics at Trinity and Chicago, and having served as a seaman on the battleship Oregon in the Spanish-American war. He has spent three summers making geological investigations in the mountains of Wyoming, Colorado and Washington. Part of his graduate study has been in physics. He already has the degree of master of arts from Trinity in 1900. The Liffingwell cup, presented by him, is still competed for in the annual interclass track meet.

The fifth number of the "Tablet" appears this week.

Examinations begin a week from to-morrow.

BASKET-BALL.

The basket-ball trip which was to include games with Holy Cross, Tufts and Brown was rather a disappointment to the college. Tufts and Brown cancelled and Holy Cross beat us badly by the score of 36 to 13.

The team consisting of Manager Chamberlain, Capt. Marlor, Powell, Donnelly, Collins and Stevens left Hartford last Thursday afternoon and met the fast Worcester five that night.

The game was very rough from the start and Mr. George Velte, Trinity's former gymnasium instructor was kept busy calling fouls; 28 being called in all. Of these only 7 were converted into points, 4 by Holy Cross and 3 by Trinity. Trinity started the game with a rush and during the first half, gave the Holy Cross supporters a bad scare, because of their team's weak defense. Trinity was very much encouraged by the score of 12 to 7 at the end of the first half as that seemed to indicate a close game.

In the second half however, the result of Trinity's forcing the game had a bad result, for they were unable to make much resistance. Holy Cross had an unusually good pair of forwards and captain Hogerty followed Powell so well that he didn't have many chances. The star player for Trinity was Donnelly. He shot three goals from the floor and all the fouls. Neither of the two men who went in against him made a point. A Worcester account says, "Marlor worked himself into the hero column by throwing the ball into the basket from an overhand shot nearly the length of the hall," but his defense was somewhat weaker than usual.

Only one accident marked the game. Near the close of the first half, while running after the ball, Heatherman ran into one of the posts and was knocked unconscious for a few minutes. He was revived but lasted for only a short time when Mahoney took his place.

The score does not indicate the closeness and interest of the game, and if the team had not worn itself out in the first half it would have made a better showing. The lineup:

Trinity 13	Holy Cross 36
Marlor (capt.) r. g.	l. f., Connor
Collins, l. g.	r. f., J. Stevens
Donnelly, c.	c., Heatherman, Mahoney

W. Stevens, r. f.	l. g., Kennedy
Powell, l. f.	r. g., Hogerty (capt.)

Baskets from floor, Connor 9, J. Stevens, 6, Donnelly 3. Kennedy, Marlor, Powell. Baskets on free tries, J. Stevens 4, Donnelly 5. Free tries missed, J. Stevens 8, W. Stevens 8, Donnelly 5. Referee, Mr. Velte; umpire Mr. Hehir.

Ralph E. Cameron will appear to-night in a German play given before the "Deutsche Verein."

A PRACTICAL SUBSTITUTE FOR THE PRESENT SYSTEM OF COUNTING ABSENCES AT TRINITY.

The present system of counting absences at Trinity is a rather complex one. There are six chapel services a week, besides a regular Sunday service, which is distinguished from the week day services by the name church. The schedule of recitations extends over all the working days of the week. Of course there must be some practical system for regulating the absences of students from these regular college exercises. The students are allowed one absence a week and four extra absences a month from chapel, one absence a month from Church and eight absences a term from classes. If a student exceeds this number he is first warned, that is, he is placed on a limit of four absences from chapel, four from recitations and one from church. If he exceeds this number during the term he is admonished; that is, he is placed on a limit of three absences and a letter concerning his misconduct is sent to his parents or guardian. If the student then takes more than this last allowance of absences he is suspended from college for six weeks.

Though the present system at Trinity is less severe than the system now in use at one or two other colleges, still it is argued—and the point is well taken—that six weeks suspension from college for overcutting chapel is decidedly a much greater penalty than the offense merits. If a student keeps up with his college work, that—say the would be reformers—is the main thing. Now the substitution which the writer would propose is not a substitution for the present system of counting absences, but rather a substitution for the penalty to be administered to the student who persists in violation of the rules of the system. Instead of suspending evildoers from college for six weeks, why would it not be a good plan to give him an extra amount of college work to do, according to the number of extra absences he takes. Then if the work were not done it would not be a question of suspending a student for "overcutting" chapel, but a question of requesting him to withdraw from college for not keeping with college work. A system of this kind is in practical use at Williams College.

This then, is the system which should be made a part of the curriculum of Trinity College. The real object of penalties in any college system is not to work injury to the thoughtless student but to correct him and help him. If, as penalty for violating the law, he were given outside work to do, studies that he must pass by regular examination, the student would profit even by his very negligence in attending chapel. With such a system he would be sufficiently punished for his misdemeanor; the vengeance of the law would be appeased; the student would learn by experience to be more cautious in the future; and, best of all, there would be no serious results on either side,—either to the students, such as a six weeks' suspension might mean to him—or to the system, in the way of weakening the efficiency.—A. S.

COLLECTION OF MOSSES.

Gift of Miss Lorenz to the Museum of the Department of Natural History.

Miss Annie Lorenz of Hartford has presented to the Department of Natural History a collection of 119 mosses all beautifully mounted and correctly identified. Only the botanist can appreciate the large amount of labor involved in gathering and preserving such a collection.

In 1902 we became indebted to Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Lorenz for an especially good collection of ferns and last March Miss Lorenz added 55 species of the Hepaticae.

Thus we now have through this generosity fern, liverwort and moss herbaria of which the College may well be proud and the best part of it is that Miss Lorenz desires to add constantly to the collections.

Miss Lorenz is a patient and thorough student and is becoming recognized as the authority in Hartford for the mosses and liverworts.

In behalf of the College I wish to express to Miss Lorenz the gratitude we all feel for these valuable gifts and even more for the generous interest which prompted them.

PROF. McCOOK READS PAPER BEFORE "LITERATURE CLUB OF WINDSOR."

Last night Prof. J. J. McCook read a paper before the "Literature Club of Windsor" on the subject "Schiller the Poet of Liberty." This is one of a series of papers that are being read this year before this Club upon German literature.

It is interesting to note that the Literature Club of Windsor was founded by Rev. F. D. Harriman '45 in 1893. Since his death the work has been successfully carried out by his son Rev. F. W. Harriman '72, who is now president.

The program for this year included three Trinity men. Dr. Harriman '72 on the subject "Lessing as Dramatist," Prof. McCook '63 on Schiller and Ruel C. Tuttle '89 on Wagner.

The Underclass hockey team was defeated Saturday by Taft's School, at Watertown, 6-1. The Taft's School team previously defeated a team of Yale substitutes by the same score.

TO ALUMNI.

THE TRIPOD is published for the Alumni even more than for the Undergraduates. With this in mind we are striving to produce a paper which shall be interesting and necessary to Graduates, and also to reach as large a number as possible. We are very largely dependent on the Alumni both for our moral and financial support. If you are not already a subscriber will you kindly give this matter your attention?

"NOW THEN—TRINITY"

EDITORIAL.

THE "CUT" SYSTEM.

The publishing in this issue of the contribution entitled "A Practical Substitute for the Present Method of Counting Absences at Trinity" is warranted, we believe, by the evident dissatisfaction on the part of the students with the present system. Among the many criticisms that we have heard of the present method three points of view seem to be taken, first that the system is not logical, secondly, that it's not practical, and thirdly that its measures are too severe. The last point of view is the strongest and deserves attention from the faculty. The second can easily be settled by a report of the present term's record of absences. The first, we think, will not stand very much argument. We know that the faculty are willing to consider changes in the present system, believing that it often works very severely in its discipline.

So far we have assumed that we must have a system. But the opinion is firmly held by some students, and we have heard members of the faculty express themselves as believing, that a "system" is not necessary. At Harvard there is no "system." The Dean has entire authority in the matter of absences, and uses his discretion in disciplining the students according to the peculiar circumstances of the individual case. The work takes all his time, but the results of the personal direction in the discipline are better than those of the "system," which, like a machine, treats all cases alike.

Perhaps the present system is the best we can use, the best system. If that is proven, and we still find dissatisfaction, other than the mere rebellion of offenders against authority, then we may justly consider the idea of no system. There is a slight quibble over old system in our contribution, but we think we have presented some real conditions clearly enough to be understood and thought about.

TRIBUTE TO ROBERT G. ERWIN FROM THE SOUTH.

Charleston, S. C., News and Courier.
The death of no man could have caused so wide regret in the South Atlantic states as that of Mr. Robert G. Erwin, late president of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, which occurred at his home in Connecticut last Saturday. Death came to him with shocking suddenness, but he had lived so uprightly, and done his duty so faithfully through many years of honorable public service, that he was ready. Mr. Erwin was a native of Savannah, Georgia, and began the practice of law in that city about thirty years ago. He afterwards became interested in the transportation affairs of the South, and was largely instrumental in building up the great Plant System. After the purchase of that property by the Atlantic Coast Line he was made president of the Coast Line Company and continued in that service until November last, when he retired to private life. Mr. Erwin was well known in Charleston, and was greatly respected and beloved by those who enjoyed his acquaintance and friendship. We deplore his death deeply. His whole life was devoted to the interests of the public, and his taking off is most sincerely regretted by all who knew him.

NO GAME WITH UNION.

Football is abolished at Union College for one year, as a sacrifice to the memory of Moore, killed last fall. Manager Bryant received a letter from Union Thursday with this announcement, expressing their regret at not being able to play Trinity next year. Union will have a team in 1907 when they hope to renew our former friendly relations. The Athletic Board voted to abolish both inter-collegiate and interclass football for one year.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company,

HARTFORD, CONN.,

Why should I insure my life?

Because it is a debt you owe to those who are dependent upon your earnings for their support.

You admit that it is your duty to supply their needs from day to day, but forget that it is equally your duty to provide an ever ready and sufficient equivalent for your earning power, which your family stands in constant jeopardy to lose by your premature death.

Guard your family against disaster and yourself against dependency in old age.

When should I insure my life?

Now! The cost will never be less, and tomorrow you may not be able to obtain insurance at any price.

Even if others are not now dependent upon you, take time by the forelock and you will be the better able to meet future responsibilities, and at a smaller premium.

Where shall I insure my life?

In a purely Mutual Company.
In a company that earns, declares, and pays annual dividends.
In a company that is doing a conservative business.

Such a Company is The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn. It furnishes perfect protection at lowest cost.

For further information, address the Company, or any of its agents.
