MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETING.

A large number of students and members of the Faculty attended the meeting of the Missionary Society Monday evening and heard Prof. Rhinelander, of Berkeley, speak on the subject of "The Qualifications for the Ministry." Prof. Rhinelander made an appeal to the men, not on the ground of the church's great need of priests, but on the ground of men considering seriously the ministry as their most profitable field of service. He emphasized the requirements that students for the ministry should have a rational idea of religion, and enthusiasm, and should be possessed by the idea of doing good, rather than possessing the idea for their own development. After the meeting some of the students met Prof. Rhinelander informally in the rooms of Prof. and Mrs. Merrill.

On next Monday evening Prof. Ladd, of Berkeley, will speak before the Missionary Society on the subject, "John Wesley." All are cordially invited to attend the meeting, which will begin at seven o'clock.

TRACK MEET.

The meet with Holy Cross, at Worcester, which was scheduled for May 2d, has been postponed until Thursday, May 10th, so that it may not interfere with the usual mid-week baseball game. The postponement of the meet is advantageous to the track team as it will give men an opportunity to practice for it, who have hitherto had few chances to do so.

SENIOR CLASS TREE PLANTED.

In accordance with the regular custom of succeeding graduating classes, the senior class tree was planted on the campus yesterday afternoon at 3.45 p. m. The service was very impressive, each member of the class being dressed in cap and gown. Professor Ferguson was the presenter. The committee was composed of F. A. G. Cowper and Austin D. Haight.

RESOLUTIONS.

The undergraduate body has drawn up the following resolutions upon Professor Johnson's resignation from the chair of English Literature:—

Whereas, The undergraduate body of Trinity College has learned of the resignation of our honored professor, Dr. Charles Frederick Johnson, from the chair of English, and

Whereas, After half a century devoted to educational work, twenty-three years of which have been given to our beloved college, doing much to strengthen her scholarship by his ability as a professor and bringing honor to her by his reputation as an author, be it

Resolved, That the student body desires to express its deep regret that he has felt it necessary to withdraw from the active work of the college, and that we sincerely hope that he will not sever the relations which have existed so long and have been of such a pleasant and helpful character, and,

Resolved, That we wish him many years of health and usefulness in his chosen field of literature, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Dr. Johnson, and the college publications.

PSI UPSILON CONVENTION.

The seventy-third annual convention of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity began Wednesday evening with a smoker at the chapter house on Vernon street. About 100 men were present.

The formal opening of the convention was at Jewell Hall Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. A session was also held in the afternoon, both of which were secret. In the evening a theater party was held at Poli's Theater, about 250 of the fraternity being present.

This morning another business meeting was held at 10 o'clock. In the afternoon a sail down the river will be enjoyed, the trip ending at Middletown, where the party will be the guests of the Wesleyan chapter.

The banquet, the most important feature, will be held this evening at the Allyn House. E. Kent Hubbard '92 will act as toastmaster and several of the most distinguished members of the fraternity, among whom will be Governor Roberts of Connecticut, will be speakers.

Shiras Morris '96 is chairman of the committee of arrangements for the banquet.

TO ALUMNI.

THE TRIPOD is published for the Alumni even more than for the Undergraduates. With this in mind we are striving to produce a paper which shall be interesting and necessary to Graduates, and also to reach as large a number as possible. We are very largely dependent on the Alumni both for our moral and financial support. If you are not already a subscriber will you kindly give this matter your attention?

"NOW THEN—TRINITY!"

EDITORIAL.

Elsewhere in this issue is printed a communication in regard to the Musical Clubs. "The Tripod" acknowledges its fault and will exercise greater care in the future.

There can be no doubt that musical clubs are Trinity's most successful organizations this year, and as such, are worthy of the interest and support of all.

COMMUNICATION.

Editor of the "Tripod",

DEAR SIR:—It is often of benefit to mankind in general to be allowed the privilege of reading your estimable paper, but a trifle more accuracy in statements would at times soothe the nerves rather than shock those delicate fibers. In fact I should rejoice if you would report the proceedings of the musical clubs with an exhibition of a little more zeal for the true state of affairs in regard to the musical clubs. I recall all too vividly the criticism of the Mandolin Club made in one of your issues. It was "The Mandolin Club played their two pieces." Now, most genial Mr. Editor, if that was meant for a joke well and good, but if not there is something pathetic about it. It would not be quite so bad if it were true, but this year at least, the Mandolin Club can play more than two pieces.

In closing may I say that in my very humble opinion a trifle more care and a little more time applied to your criticism of the musical clubs would not result in the deterioration of your paper and much less would it mean its ultimate ruin. In fact the nerves of your musicians, which are at best always supersensitive, would be saved from that awful tearing sensation immediately subsequent to the reading of such statements as I have mentioned.

Thanking you in advance for future courtesies I remain,

Very truly yours,

P. S. If you don't believe that the Mandolin Club can play more than two pieces come around to the next concert and be converted.

COLLEGE MEN AS EMPLOYEES.

The value of college, university and technical school graduates as employees is strongly emphasized by Mr. H. J. Haggood, president of Haggood's, in an article in the May issue of "System," entitled "The Reserve Force of a Business." Education does not make the man, he says, it only develops him; but it almost invariably enables the man of native ability to strike his gait more quickly.

Employers have lately come to realize this. Experience has taught them that the best value is found in the young man who enters business a little later in life but with better educational training and more mature judgment, even though they pay him four or five times the salary at which they used to start office boys.

The first point to be remembered in selecting young college men is that college training cannot make or unmake a man. If it is the right sort of training, it teaches him how to use to the best advantage what ability he has. As the late William R. Harper, president of the University of Chicago often said, "It is intended primarily to develop in a man systematic habits, to give him control of his intellectual powers and to fit him in such a manner that he may be able to direct them successfully in any special direction."

A man with native ability and the capacity for work who has attended a good college, will make a first class employee, provided he is fitted for your particular line of business. In a college or university there are as many types of men as in the business world. Some of them are natural salesmen, while others are fitted for detail, executive or technical work, and a careful choice is necessary to secure men who will make good.

The value of college training often comes out in peculiar ways. A young man began work a few years ago for a large insurance and real estate company. He was not of prepossessing appearance and on this account and because his references (all of them from college professors) laid such emphasis on the fact that he had specialized in foreign languages and attained high rank in these courses, the general manager came near refusing his application. But as he needed a man badly he put him to work, and to-day he is glad he did so.

The young man started as filing clerk,
getting out documents and papers used by the different officers of the company.
It was soon discovered that when asked for certain information about a piece of real estate he could furnish it with surprising promptness and often without referring to the files. Finally, the reliability and remarkable scope of his memory attracted the attention of the president and he was promoted. His French, Spanish and German were of no use in the insurance business, but the training gained in mastering these languages is worth several thousand dollars a year to his employers.

WHY COLLEGE MEN SUC- CEED.

It is the trained mind of the college
man that gives the employer confidence in him. When he finishes his course at the university, college or technical school, says Mr. H. J. Hapgood, president of Hapgood's, in a recent article in the "Saturday Evening Post," he may have a little practical knowledge of business,
but he has the ability to get to the bottom of things, to grasp a vast amount of detail, to profit by his own mistakes and learn how to achieve results. eH does not work blindly. Before he has been at work very long he knows exactly what part his duties play in the routine of the business, and such knowledge enables him not only to fill his position well but to grow into something better. He is a man who will be ready for promotion
whenever it comes.

Take the case of the young college man who had a clerical position in the advertising department of one of the largest department stores in Pennsylvania. When the advertising manager suddenly died one day there was no man
available for his place, but the department must have a head, and as a temporary makeshift the college man was allowed to step into the position. To the firm's surprise the work of the department—preparation of copy, purchase of space, and the like—went on without a hitch. The college man had been quietly fitting himself for this very opportunity, and after a month's trial he was appointed manager.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company,

HARTFORD, CONN.,

Why should I insure my life?

Because it is a debt you owe to those who are dependent upon your earnings for their support.

You admit that it is your duty to supply their needs from day to day, but forget that it is equally your duty to provide an ever ready and sufficient equivalent for your earning power, which your family stands in constant jeopardy to lose by your premature death.

Guard your family against disaster and yourself against dependency in old age.

When should I insure my life?

Now! The cost will never be less, and tomorrow you may not be able to obtain insurance at any price.

Even if others are not now dependent upon you, take time by the forelock and you will be the better able to meet future responsibilities, and at a smaller premium.

Where shall I insure my life?

In a purely Mutual Company. In a company that earns, declares, and pays annual dividends. In a company that is doing a conservative business.

Such a Company is The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn. It furnishes perfect protection at lowest cost.

For further information, address the Company, or any of its agents.
