THE JUNIOR WEEK PROGRAM.

A Few Events Still Doubtful.

Although the mid-year examinations hold the center of the stage in the student mind, still the gayest week of the whole college year, known as the Junior Week, is being looked forward to with a great deal of interest for it follows immediately upon the examinations and affords some relaxation before the second term is begun.

This year there are to be some slight changes from the programme of the last few years. Last year the German Club held a cotillion on Friday night of Junior Week. This year as the club is passive, the Delta Psi fraternity will hold a cotillion on that night so that each night as usual is taken by some social event.

On Saturday night, February the 6th, it is probable that the Jesters will present their play, "College Chums," along with the regular concert by the musical clubs. As the play consists of three acts, a very delightful entertainment would be provided as the musical clubs would occupy the time between the acts, besides both before and after the play. Whether or not the Jesters will have their play to a sufficient degree of perfection to present by Junior Week is still a matter open to debate.

The programme for Junior Week will be as follows:

Thursday, February fourth, The I. K. A. fraternity will hold a cotillion at their chapter house, 70 Vernon street.

Friday, February fifth, in the afternoon, the Phi Kappa chapter of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity will hold a tea and reception at their house, 122 Vernon street.

In the evening, the Epsilon chapter of the Delta Psi fraternity will hold a german at their lodge, 15 Summit street.

Saturday, February sixth, in the afternoon, the college will hold a reception in Alumni Hall.

In the evening the combined entertainment by the Jesters and the musical clubs will take place.

Sunday, February seventh, at five o'clock, a vesper service will be held in the college chapel, at which the Glee Club will assist.

Monday, February eighth, in the afternoon, the Beta Beta chapter of the Psi Upsilon fraternity will hold a tea and reception at its chapter house, 81 Vernon street.

In the evening, the Junior Promenade will be held in Alumni Hall. This is the great event of the week and each junior class tries to outdo the former classes in making it a delightful and long-remembered dance. This year there will be forty numbers on the card and supper will be served between the 20th and 21st dances. Hatch's band has been engaged for the evening and very good music is to be expected.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OF BERKELEY DIVINITY SCHOOL MEETS.

Several Trinity Graduates Present.

The association of alumni of the Berkeley Divinity School, living in New York and its vicinity, held its seventh annual meeting January 13th at the St. Denis Hotel, where luncheon was served.

A brief business meeting was held at which Rev. Dr. William H. Vibberts, '58, of Trinity chapel was elected president; Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Blanchard of Madison, N. J., vice-president, and Rev. Melville K. Bailey, '79, of Grace chapel, secretary-treasurer.

Rev. Dr. Samuel Hart, '66, being called upon as dean of the school, spoke briefly of the work of the institution in the past ten years, and then more in detail of its present condition and prospects and of the work which lies before it. Its 343 living graduates are about one-sixteenth of the clergy of the Episcopal church in this country, and they include twenty-one bishops, or one out of five in the whole episcopate. One-fifth of all the alumni are in the State of Connecticut, one-fifth in the State of New York and one hundred are serving outside of New England and the Middle States. About twenty-five have become members of the new Berkeley Society of Sacred Study, and are engaged in special courses of the theological study on which they are to report to the faculty. Provision has been made for advanced and elective work in different departments and also for supplementing the regular work of several departments, besides a course on preaching and the lectures on the Mary Fitch Page foundation, which latter are to begin this year for the first time. Plans are making for the organization of the alumni in different parts of the country into associations on the pattern of that in New York for their own benefit and for the advantage of the institution. An appeal was made for continued interest in the work of the school, and for an increase of its facilities for study and instruction as well as of the number of those who avail themselves of them.

Bishop Brewster, who as bishop of Connecticut is president of the Berkeley School, complying with a request of the association at its last meeting, made an address. He spoke of the definite position of the school as holding the historic faith of the church but said the power of adaption relies on the varying needs of times and men. And arguing that the will is now claiming its due place as against intellectualism, he showed that the present test of truth is largely its influence on character; men must find out the truth and also live it out. He also spoke of the demand for social service, and of the debt of sociology to theology. And in closing he asked that it be remembered

SUNDAY CHAPEL SERVICE.

Rev. Dr. Lorin Webster III Preaches.

The sermon in chapel on Sunday, the 17th of January, was preached by Dr. Webster, '80, the headmaster of the Holderness school in Plymouth, N. H. His text was "The Weavers," and the talk was enjoyed by all those present.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES.

The cadets won in a fast game with Wesleyan Saturday afternoon, 23 to 9. Wesleyan was outplayed at all stages of the game, the cadets' fine team and headworking being too much for the visitors. The first half ended 7 to 2, Wesleyan not getting a goal from the floor. The second half was faster and harder, both teams putting in substitutes. Beardslee and Chamberlin shot some fine goals. The line-up:

Wesleyan.	West Point.
Soule, l.f.	r.g. Catron
Farrell, r.f.	l.g. Beardslee
Wilcox, c.	c. Surles
Chamberlin, l.g.	r.f. Conard

Goals, Devers 3, Conard 2, Surles,

TRINITY VS. WESLEYAN TONIGHT.

Basketball Game at Middletown.

Trinity plays Wesleyan tonight at Middletown and a close game is expected. On paper, Wesleyan should win, by hard work, about 28 to 12. They have a fast, experienced set of players, the majority of whom are accurate shots. Added to this is the fact that they have played a large number of games and that they are playing on their home floor before their own supporters. Wesleyan's feeling of uncertainty is due to the fact that their team is spasmodic in their playing. They also feel that Captain Soule and Chamberlain have seen their best days in basketball. They base their hopes on Hayward, the all-New England guard, Wilcox, the big center, and Farrell, the former crack Syracuse player.

Abbey and Hayward are evenly matched, Hayward having the more experience. It's up to Abbey to make his reputation. The contest between Wilcox and Ramsdell, alone, will be worth the price of admission. Both are very aggressive and much inclined to foul. Wilcox has the height and a better eye, but Ramsdell is in superb condition and should make it interesting for "Heine." "Joe" Carroll, if he repeats last year's performance, will require nearly all of Capt. Soule's attention. Capt. Gildersleeve and Farrell ought to be a toss up, Gildersleeve seeming to be a little better. Both are strong, aggressive and experienced players. Chamberlain, who is a big man, will have difficulty in following Capen all over the floor. It's all up with Wesleyan if Trinity have their eye with them. Preserve the team from the luck that they had at West Point! In substitutes, Wesleyan and Trinity are even, as they are merely second-rate players.

The Wesleyan management expect an immense crowd as the recent newspaper discussions have aroused the interest of all the undergraduates and Wesleyan supporters. Another point is that they wish to take down Trinity a bit, as they haven't recovered fully from the recent football drubbing.

The Trinity team has been putting in some snappy practice under the efficient coaching of Mr. Oakes, the former Delphi star. The team played a game with a team from the city Friday night and snowed them under, 54-2. If the team plays like that, Wesleyan will have a hard proposition.

Wesleyan feels that Trinity is a "dark horse." They cannot make up any dope.

A "Tripod" reporter interviewed Capt. Gildersleeve, who said: "Trinity is not confident of winning, but every man is going into that game to fight his very best; whoever wins will be the better team."

The line-up has not been fully decided upon, but it will probably be as follows:

"NOW THEN—TRINITY!"

EDITORIAL.

Spring is coming. Correlative with spring comes track athletics, and it is not too early to be looking ahead, and laying plans. The schedule this season is probably the best Trinity has ever had, and what the college needs is material. To say that Trinity cannot win without material is merely axiomatic, and after losing such a large number of good men last June, unless there is a great deal of interest and enthusiasm shown the season of 1909 will not be a prosperous one.

Under the leadership of Captain Maxson, we look for a good showing. When meetings of candidates are called, every man who has the faintest idea of trying for the team should be present, and any man who has had any experience, or who thinks he can make good, is duty bound to try.

If there are any chances to participate in indoor games before the outdoor season opens, it would undoubtedly be a good thing for the college to get in all the practice and training possible, for any work done will not be lost.

When the real training begins and practice takes place in the gym, let every man report, so that we can have a good showing, and a good chance at winning our meets.

NOTICE.

The "Tripod" will suspend publication after the issue of January 22, until February 9, in order that the board may be given additional chance to pass the coming examinations.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES.

Bowdoin College is benefited by the will of the late Joseph E. Merrill, who died at Newton about a week ago, to the extent of $200,000.

By the conditions of the instrument the entire estate, valued at $200,000, is left in trust to Bowdoin, but an annuity of $1,000 each must be paid to Mr. Merrill's two sisters, both of whom live at Portland, Me. Upon the death of the sisters the principal reverts to the college.

Walter Mitchell of Vernon street has completed his three years' contract at the Imperial College at Shanghai, China, and has been re-engaged with three days a week leave of absence in which he has accepted a professorship in the college of Fu Yan, eleven miles from Shanghai. When the faculty of the University of Soochow heard of his contract having expired they sent word to their president, Rev. D. L. Anderson, who was in Japan, to come home by the way of Shanghai and engage Mr. Mitchell's services for the university for five years, offering him special inducements and a fourteen months' leave of absence. As Mr. Mitchell was unable to cancel his other engagements he has made arrangements to act simultaneously as professor in the three colleges until spring. He will sail for this country in July to be here for about a year.

Edward H. Harriman, the financier, has written for The Yale Daily News his views on college training as preparation for railroading. He says in part:

"The question which you have asked me, 'Is college education an essential or even a valuable preparation for a man who expects to enter railroading?' is a hard one to answer, and my answer is both 'Yes' and 'No.' A college education will be a great help if the man in going through college has kept the foundations of high school learning firmly fixed. On the other hand, if he has neglected his handwriting and forgotten his arithmetic in higher mathematics, nothing could be worse for him. If, however, he still retains these essentials he has a great advantage in that he has a broader view of the world and a greater knowledge of how to learn.

"Thus college education is, in the beginning, a real disadvantage, and I have found that in every case the high school boy does better work than the college man for the first few years. However, as soon as the college man has overcome these habits and has gotten back to first principles, he will go ahead much faster than his less educated rival. His mind is, naturally, better developed and more capable of grasping the fine points of the business. On the other hand, the high school boy as being younger is more adaptable and has not in most cases the irregular habits of the college man.

"No matter how well educated a man may be he must start in railroading at the very bottom. A railroad man has no fixed home; he is like a naval officer, always at sea, and, moreover, he is always working to the limit of his endurance. It is the hardest life I know, and yet one of the most pleasant. It cultivates an insight. It teaches a knowledge of men and in this way is the best training for any profession.

"Pull" can never carry a man far in railroading. It is hard work and application that count. Many a man starts out well but, lacking the stick-to-it spirit which is so pre-eminently essential, falls into obscurity.

"My advice to the college man expecting to enter railroading and hoping to have an easy life is—don't; but to the man who does not mind the hardest kind of work, who will not quit under early disappointments, and who wishes to have the most interesting sort of a career, is, by all means—do."

Williams played brilliant basketball Saturday afternoon at Williamstown and defeated Fordham, 77 to 12, which is the largest score ever made on the Williams' court. The previous record was held by the team of two years ago, which beat Yale, 74 to 6. Williams' speed was remarkable throughout, and in every department of the game the purple showed a marked improvement.

 As the contest progressed the home team became faster, and toward the close the baskets came in quick succession, swelling the score of the second period to 41 points, against 36 of the first half. Williams' defense was in keeping with its offense, and the visitors were covered beyond a fault when within shooting distance of the basket.
 The Williams players, on the other hand, were much too fast for their opponents, and broke away time and again for unguarded shots.

Williams showed a brilliant mastery of the new privilege of shooting from dribbles, and Capt. Templeton took advantage of every opportunity to carry the ball up the floor in this manner.
 The passing was carefully guided into right hands, while the forwards seldom tried for goals until reasonably near the opponent's basket. Then their shots were to the mark, and repeatedly the ball was tossed through the netting from difficult angles.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company,

HARTFORD, CONN.,

Why should I insure my life?

Because it is a debt you owe to those who are dependent upon your earnings for their support.

You admit that it is your duty to supply their needs from day to day, but forget that it is equally your duty to provide an ever ready and sufficient equivalent for your earning power, which your family stands in constant jeopardy to lose by your premature death.

Guard your family against disaster and yourself against dependency in old age.

When should I insure my life?

Now! The cost will never be less, and tomorrow you may not be able to obtain insurance at any price.

Even if others are not now dependent upon you, take time by the forelock and you will be the better able to meet future responsibilities, and at a smaller premium.

Where shall I insure my life?

In a purely Mutual Company.

In a company that earns, declares, and pays annual dividends.

In a company that is doing a conservative business.

Such a Company is The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn. It furnishes perfect protection at lowest cost.

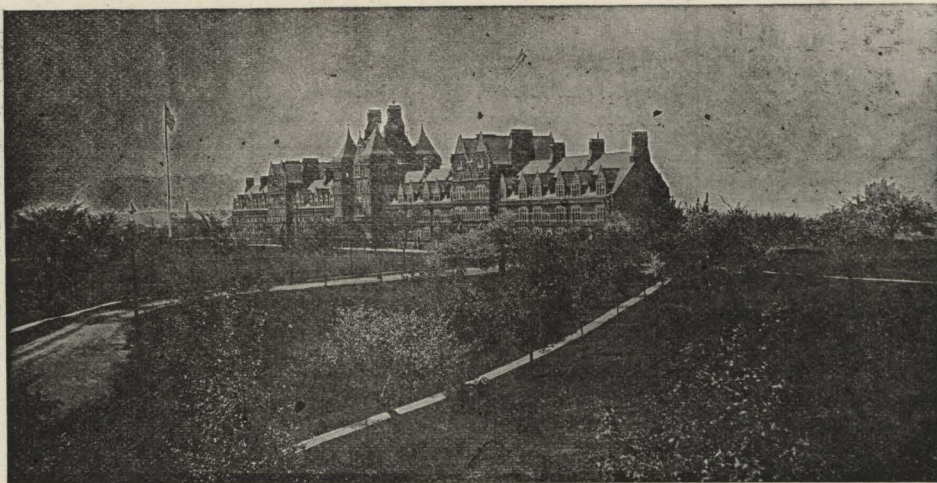

For further information, address the Company, or any of its agents.
