A Kicking Game on a Sloppy Field.

At Ohio field in New York Tuesday, before a large crowd, including nearly 300 Trinity men, Trinity defeated New York University by the close score of 12-6. This game was the first one this year in which the goal line of the gold and blue has been crossed, but the victory was welcome at any cost. The game was the hardest Trinity has had this year.

Field in Slippery Condition.

Owing to a rain which fell during the night and part of the morning the ground was in a moist and slippery state. The players on both teams were hampered to a large extent by this, and runners with the ball found difficulty in keeping their feet. Tacklers had little or no trouble in spilling interference and thus the absence of many long runs is explained. From the spectator's viewpoint the game was most interesting, for the kicking was frequent and the forward passes many.

Trinity's Superior Playing.

Those who had feared a slump of the team after the Wesleyan game were agreeably disappointed. The team played as a unit throughout the entire contest and there was not the slightest sign of a falling off in the play. Captain Ramsdell played his usual consistent game. Several times when Trinity's goal was threatened he intercepted forward passes from New York and saved the day for Trinity. His running with the ball was Trinity's best source of gain. Carroll's brilliant run for a touchdown from the center of the field, after catching an adverse forward pass was the best individual play of the day. Howell and Bleecker played especially well for Trinity, Howell making the second touchdown by pickig up an onside kick. Bleecker played a strong game at center, falling on the ball on several occasions after fumbles by New York.

N. Y. U. Kicks Off.

New York chose the south goal and kicked off to Trinity. Gildersleeve received the ball and returned it to the twenty-yard line. Trinity was forced to kick and for the next five minutes there was a succession of fumbles and kicks by both teams. New York finally had possession of the ball in the center of the field and seemed to be advancing it steadily.

Carroll Makes Touchdown.

A forward pass by New York fell into the arms of Carroll, and eluding three tacklers he ran fifty yards for a touchdown, planting the ball squarely behind the posts, an easy goal for Gildersleeve's sure boot. Score, Trinity 6, New York 0. From this point until the end of the quarter there was a large amount of kicking done by both sides, New York gaining in the exchanges. The quarter ended with the ball in New York's possession on Trinity's 25-yard line.

Second Quarter.

During the second period there was no scoring done by either side. The ball see-sawed back and forth with the advantage largely in New York's favor. Ramsdell made a beautiful run around right end for 25 yards about the middle of the period. A forward pass, Cook to Howell, netted twenty yars more, and placed the ball on New York's 30-yard line. Trinity fumbled, however, and a chance to score was gone. Toward the end of the period Ramsdell intercepted a forward pass on Trinity's ten-yard line and saved the goal line.

Second Half.

New York kicked off to Ahern, who returned the ball ten yards to Trinity's 30-yard line. Trinity could not gain and kicked. New York was forced to do likewise. On a second exchange Cook fumbled and New York recovered. They made first down with ease, and a touchdown seemed imminent when Ramsdell intercepted a forward pass and the ball was Trinity's.

Howell Scores for Trinity.

On an onside kick, Howell scored the second touchdown, recovering the ball on New York's 20 yard line and sprinting the remaining distance without being caught. Gildersleeve again kicked the goal. Score, Trinity 12, N. Y. U. 0.

With the exception of the interception of a forward pass by Collett, and a run of twenty yards by him, there was little else than kicking for the remainder of the period.

Last Quarter.

This period was marked by the number of kicks which were made. It was a constant kicking game, N. Y. U. punting invariably on the first down. Gradually Trinity was forced back by this process, and finally the ball was in N. Y. U.'s possession on Trinity's 10-yard line. They fumbled, however, and Cook kicked from behind the goal line. The ball went out of bounds at Trinity's 12-yard line and New York put it in play at that point.

N. Y. U. Scores.

By a series of line plunges the ball was carried to Trinity's two foot line. Here the gold and blue braced, but only for one down, and by a play outside of tackle the goal line was crossed. The goal was kicked and shortly afterwards time was called.

Trinity to date has scored eighty-three points to her opponents nine, and has yet to lose a game.

SENATE'S RULING ON UNDER-CLASS STANDING.

Definite Status Assigned to New Men.

For the current year, 1910-1911, any matriculated student in his first year at Trinity College, and not previously a regular student at a co-ordinate institution, shall be held to be a freshman, and subject to the regulations imposed upon that class by tradition and authority, unless he shall be regularly voted into the sophomore class.

Beginning with the year 1911-1912, no matriculated student in his first year at Trinity College shall be eligible for election to the sophomore class, unless he shall have spent the equivalent of one full term (by our scale) at a co-ordinate institution as a regular student. All first year matriculated students ineligible for election to a higher class shall be held to be members of the freshman class.

Non-matriculated students who assume any of the privileges of the freshman class, such as attending meetings of the class, holding offices in it, playing on its teams, etcetera, shall be held to be members of the class and as such subject to the regulations imposed upon it.

Intercollegiate Notes.

The Association of New England Colleges held its fifty-second convention at Amherst last Thursday, almost every college in this part of the country being represented by their presidents, or other officers. Pres. Luther and Prof. Perkins were Trinity's representatives.

In the preliminary cross-country run at Amherst last Wednesday the freshmen made 86 points, while the sophomores could only secure 51, the seniors 27, and the juniors 1.

Professor Fairchild of the University of Missouri says that in England one man out of five takes part in athletics; in America, only one out of fifty.

One-twentieth of the students at Pennsylvania are from foreign countries.

The musical clubs at Cornell are planning a long western trip for the Christmas vacation. The trip will last ten days and concerts will be given in Chicago, Omaha, St. Louis and New York, among other cities.

Alumni Notes.

The fifth of the 1910 series of dinners of the New York Alumni is to be held at Reisenweber's, 58th street and Eighth avenue, near the 59th Street Subway Station, on Monday, November 14th, at seven-thirty p. m. As this is the last one of this year's series, it is hoped that the alumni will be present in full force. According to the usual custom, a course dinner will be served, the price of which will be $1.25 to non-subscribers. Every one attending has the privilege of bringing a guest if he wishes. A private room with a piano has been provided, and the committee hopes to make this dinner the most enjoyable of the series. All those who expect to be present are requested to notify A. D. Vibbert, Treasurer, 51 Wall St., New York City.

"NOW THEN—TRINITY!"

Yesterday's victory was one which exceeded the most sanguine expectations, and enough cannot be said in commendation of the team, together with its wizard coach.

Six straight victories and no defeats, eighty-five points to the opponents' nine, and excellent prospects for the remaining two games—what more could be desired?

Trinity is destined to be one of the leaders at the end of the season, surely, if the captain and the team play the game, maintaining the same pace that they are setting now. A better combination of eleven players and a coach has yet to be seen, and at no time will the hopes of the followers be more fully realized than during the eventful football season of nineteen-ten.

It is with a feeling of relief that The Tripod chronicles the fact that at last some definite status has been set for the important matter of class rating upon the campus. According to the action taken by the College Senate at its late meeting, there will be little to quibble about in the future, as to whether a man belongs to this or that class. It has been found in the past a difficult thing to discriminate along this line, and it has also been generally advocated that some settled basis should be adopted, in order that questions might be settled with regard to the matter with some show of authority. It is undoubtedly a good thing for a man to go through a first year with the rating of a freshman on the campus, if he has not already done so elsewhere, at an institution of a standing which is recognized as being equal with that of Trinity. Not only does the freshman class receive the benefit of this support throughout its activities, but the question of class distinction is felt thereby more strongly, and a first year man is not quite so liable to feel as if college life were run for his personal benefit. While radical action on the matter was evidently not considered best this year by the Senate, it is evident that the feeling was present throughout the college body that a defined position should be prepared for the coming year, in order that all difficulties of this kind might be avoided in the future.

THE STROLLER.

Yale has for the first time been forced to write "no award" after the Greek entrance prize, basing this action on the general inferior quality of the papers presented. The New York Times, which is authority for this statement, adds that since Greek was made an optional subject for entrance two years ago, the quality of entrance papers in the subject has steadily declined.

It will not be surprising if the publication of this statement shall revive the perennial discussion as to the place of the classics in our educational system. We shall have grey-headed and high-browed culturists, unwashed and un-groomed, with frayed cuffs; and we shall hear from the advocates of the "bright, energetic young man" who knows all about carburetors and how to sell insurance, but can't spell, never heard of the Pantheon, and is altogether as hard as nails.

Now it may be that the dust from the books of the sages is bad for ball bearings; and it is very certain that the fumes and noises of the laboratory and the workshop would be obnoxious in the library. But the man isn't chained to the motor, nor need the brain be entirely walled up in books. Suppose we could realize an engineer quoting Horace, or a poet criticizing highway construction! Don't laugh. I can imagine wilder things than that. (It is unscientific and illogical to laugh anyway, and some day I'll prove it to you.)

The solution of this whole classical question is never going to be reached by present methods of attacking it, which for the most part consist in expressing one's own opinions and prejudices and letting it go at that. It is as if two chemists were to mix the unknown contents of several phials, place the mixture in a safe, and then argue over what the result ought to be. What we need to do first, is find out what is causing this anti-classical trend, and its probable future tendency; second, what the end must be if the process goes on unchecked; third, if this end is desirable, and if not, how it can be dodged.

The Tripod is glad to offer a valuable prize for the best answer. Solutions limited to 50,000 words. Write on both sides of the paper. After revising your manuscript, put it in the nearest waste-basket.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company,

Hartford, Conn.

Why should I insure my life?
Because it is a debt you owe to those who are dependent upon your earnings for their support.

You admit that it is your duty to supply their needs from day to day, but forget that it is equally your duty to provide an ever ready and sufficient equivalent for your earning power, which your family stands in constant jeopardy to lose by your premature death.

Guard your family against disaster
and yourself against dependency
in old age.

When should I insure my life?

Now! The cost will never be less, and to-morrow you may not be able to obtain insurance at any price.

Even if others are not now dependent upon you, take time by the forelock and you will be the better able to meet future responsibilities,
and at a smaller premium.

Where shall I insure my life?

In a purely Mutual Company.
In a company that earns, declares,
and pays annual dividends.
In a company that is doing a conservative business.

Such a Company is The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn. It furnishes perfect protection at lowest cost.
