PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

TRINITY vs. HAVERFORD.

To-morrow's Game the Last of the Season at Home.

On Saturday, at Trinity field, the followers of the Gold and Blue in Hartford will have their last opportunity to see the team in action. Haverford College will be the opponents, and an interesting contest is looked for. Haverford has been on the Trinity schedule for the last five years and in that time has only won one of the games played. The most notable thing that Haverford has done this year, was the defeat of Lehigh University 5-0. Lehigh is a team which stands high in the athletic world. Otherwise the Haverford record does not seem to be anything to be marveled at. Nevertheless, the team from Pennsylvania always plays a hard and fast game, and Trinity will have no easy foe on Saturday.

The team returned from New York without any serious injuries to any of the men, but the fact that two games are to be played within such a short space of time will rather handicap the team, as it is a severe strain.

No practice was held on Wednesday, as Coach Gettell wished to allow the men to rest as much as possible and practice was necessarily lighter Thursday and to-day, owing to the near proximity of the Haverford contest.

Haverford's Big Game.

Haverford looks upon the game with Trinity as the most important of her schedule, and bends every effort towards winning, so it will be seen that the play will be keen on Saturday. The Haverford squad, numbering twenty-two men, will arrive in Hartford Friday evening. According to the custom instituted in past years they will be quartered in the students' rooms and entertainment provided for them during the two days' stay.

As this is the last time Trinity will appear upon the home gridiron this year, it is expected that there will be a large crowd present, both of undergraduates and Hartford people. Much interest has been shown in the team by Hartford this year, and it is realized that as a successful exponent of the new game Trinity has few equals in the football world today. The line-up of the team will be the same as at New York, and if there is a dry field for the game there will doubtless be many runs of length pulled off, as the men have almost reached the height of their development. The undergraduates are in hopes that none of the players will be injured Saturday as the Army game is only a week distant and a fresh team is hoped for to start that, the big game of the year. Trinity will line up as follows: R. E., Gildersleeve; r. t., Howell; r. e., Clark; c., Bleeker; l. g., Lawlor; l. t., Hudson; l. e., Ahern; q. b., Cook; l. h. b., Ramsdell (Captain); r. h. b., Collett; f. b., Carroll.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SOCIALIST SOCIETY.

An Outline of the Growth of the Movement.

"Let it not be forgotten, that true Socialism has for its end the elevation of the masses to the civic dignity, and that therefore its principal care is for moral and intellectual cultivation."—Victor Hugo.

About five years ago a call for the organization of an Intercollegiate Socialist Society was issued, signed by many prominent graduates of different colleges of this country, and which read as follows:

"In the opinion of the undersigned the recent remarkable increase in the Socialist vote in America should serve as an indication to the educated men and women in the country that Socialism is a thing concerning which it is no longer wise to be indifferent.

"The undersigned, regarding its aims and fundamental principles with sympathy, and believing that in them will ultimately be found the remedy for many far-reaching economic evils, propose organizing an association, to be known as the Intercollegiate Socialist Society, for the purpose of promoting an intelligent interest in Socialism among college men and women, graduate and undergraduate, through the formation of study clubs in the colleges and universities, and the encouraging of all legitimate endeavors to awaken an interest in Socialism among the educated men and women of the country."

In response to the foregoing call the Intercollegiate Socialist Society was organized at a gathering in New York City on September 12, 1905. During the first few years of its existence the efforts of the Society were directed almost exclusively to the distribution of literature and to the widening of the circle of the Society's friends. Since 1908, the Society turned its attention to the formation of undergraduate study groups in the colleges of the country, with the result that, at the close of the season 1909-1910, active chapters of the Society were in existence at Harvard, Yale, Cornell, Columbia, Barnard, the College of the City of New York, Chicago University, Stanford University, the Universities of Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Kansas, and Oklahoma, the Kansas State Agricultural College, Marietta College, the Normal College of New York and the N. Y. Dental College.

Coincident with the organization of study chapters and the arranging for lectures in the various colleges, went the distribution of literature. The Society's bulletins, reporting I. S. S. activity in the graduate and undergraduate chapters, chronicling current magazines articles and books of interest on social problems, and containing other items of interest to the members of the I. S. S., were issued.

Perhaps the most notable feature of the last season's activity was the first annual convention of the Society held in New York City on January 14 & 15, which was attended by delegates from the study chapters at Harvard, Columbia, the U. of Pennsylvania, Marietta College, the College of the City of N. Y., and by informal representatives from the college bodies of Yale, Princeton, Ohio State, Vassar, Smith and other colleges. The New York Chapter of the I. S. S., composed for the most part of former students of colleges and Universities, nearly doubled its membership during the season, passing the 100 mark. Two meetings were held each month by the Chapter, one a propaganda meeting, the other a study meeting devoted to the intensive study of Socialism. Extensive preparations are being made for the success of the Second Annual Convention to be held in New York City during the week of the Christmas vacations, probably on Wednesday and Thursday, December 28 and 29.

Intercollegiate Notes.

Hobart defeated Alfred University on a muddy field yesterday at Geneva, N. Y., 23 to 5.

Ireland has resumed his place at center on the Tufts eleven. Winship going to left guard. Stevens is now being used at quarterback. Tufts will play Bates to-morrow.

The hardest kind of work has been done by the Indians this week and they are now optimistic about their chances against Annapolis. Coach Warner has some fine tricks to spring on the "middies."

McCormick will probably be called upon to do most of Princeton's punting to-morrow. He has had a hard time trying to make good on the varsity, but his fine kicking has probably won him a position in the line.

There are 28 Pennsylvania players at Media, Pa., resting up for the Michigan game. Several coaches are in the party and light drills are being conducted. Ramsdell has a slightly injured leg, but he will be in trim to-morrow. Scott will probably be relieved of the punting, as his leg is believed to be weak. Both Ramsdell and Mercer are good in kicking and if Scott is not in true form one of them will boot the ball.

Colgate and Syracuse will meet at Syracuse, N. Y., to-morrow on the stadium gridiron in their annual football game. The field has been covered with straw, and despite continued rain is in good condition. The Syracuse players outweigh Colgate about three pounds to the man. Both teams are confident and betting is even. This is the last home game on the Syracuse schedule and the season's record crowd is expected.

Williams's match with Amherst to-morrow at Amherst is all that remains of the football season at the Berkshire college. The first practice came yesterday afternoon, and the termination of the season's work was duly noted by the usual ceremony, consisting of a bonfire, a general recognition on the part of the undergraduates of the faithful work of every one concerned, and lastly the consignment to the flames by the senior members of the squad of some article of their football apparel, signifying the end of their football career. All this and the afternoon practice took place in a short space of time, as Coach Newton was extremely easy with his warriors, taking no chances of injury and requiring but little work.

COMMENTS ON N. Y. U. GAME.

New York Papers Give Full Credit to Trinity.

One feature of the New York University game especially pleasing to the undergraduates and alumni of Trinity, was the extensive and favorable notice given the team in the New York papers. The football writers for these papers are authorities on the game and the fact that our team impressed them so greatly will insure Trinity a national reputation as a football college. The feature that seemed to impress the New York critics especially was the way in which Trinity took every advantage of the new game.

The New York newspaper men have claimed the "lightweight" championship of the country for N. Y. U., but our decisive victory last Tuesday gives Trinity a clear claim to that title.

The various papers devoted much space to this game and extracts form some of the accounts are here given.

Tribune Praises Ramsdell.

The Tribune, besides giving a full account of the game, published two large plates showing scrimmages. It says in part: "Trinity came to New York with an unbeaten team yesterday and went back to Hartford just as well equipped, with a 12 to 6 victory over New York University to add to the string. There has not been a more bitterly fought game in this part of the country in a long time. * * * Trinity got and held the upper hand because of better football sense, quicker seizure of opportunities and general activity. * * * Captain Ramsdell of Trinity proved to be the particular star of the game. He alone of the Trinity backs would gain and his sweeping runs around the ends commanded the warm admiration of all who saw them. As a defender his play was remarkable."

The World, in the course of a detailed account, says: "It was Trinity that took advantage of the opportunities offered under the new rules, and with their speedy backs, clever use of the forward pass and inside kick, coupled with the ability of their wing men to break through and intercept forward passes tried by New York, the New Englander's showed up the better."

Compares Cook to Ballou.

The Herald comments: "The Hartford collegians were nearly always the aggressor and had a mighty lively combination for a college that boasts an attendance of only 220 students and whose team is coached by the professor of history as a side issue to his academic duties. * * * Cook, the quarter back of the Connecticut team, was one of the most useful little football artists seen in the East this season. He would fit very creditably on many a major team. His kicking was a big factor in the winning of the game. His style is almost a duplicate of that of Ballou, Princeton's star quarter. He has the same methods of running diagonally before kicking the ball and places it with the same accuracy and deception that is characteristic of Ballou."

"NOW THEN—TRINITY!"

It might not be out of place at this time to point out to the students and alumni of the college who do not already realize it, that the winning of the game with N. Y. U. was a most notable achievement for Trinity. It was a crucial point in the schedule, and now that it has been successfully passed, it marks the Trinity team as one of the best in the East.

N. Y. U. has had a splendid record, of the New Yorkers that Trinity would fall before their fast team. To those who had the good fortune to witness the contest it will long stand as the best played game they have ever seen.

In spite of the slippery condition of the field the teams were fast on their feet and the way that the Trinity forwards got down under punts was nothing short of remarkable. The New York "Tribune" refers to Cook as a second Ballou, who is Princeton's famous punter this year. No matter how many men were bearing down upon him, Cook was always able to get off his kicks, and they averaged good distances each time.

In the Army, Trinity will play one of the best of the college teams of the year, but even if defeat results, there is no doubt that every fair-minded authority will consider Trinity as a factor in football this year, and Captain Ramsdell as a strong candidate for "All-American" honors. If he is deprived of them, it will be because Trinity is too small to be considered by the so-called experts, and that Captain Ramsdell is not given the amount of notice that a Yale or Princeton player of less ability receives, merely on account of his connection with the larger institution.

Intercollegiate Notes.

Coach Hobbs sent his men through a short, light scrimmage at Amherst yesterday. Abele directed the play from quarterback, while Connolly played left halfback. Pickett, who was injured Wednesday, went through signals but did not take a chance on scrimmage work. The senior class, with Coach Hobbs's permission, inaugurated a new custom yesterday by forming at College hall and marching down to secret practice. The class stood behind the team loyally, cheering the men and the plays in the scrimmage. The work went smoothly and Rennoch and Burt the new halfbacks, showed up in good shape. Both carried the ball well, but are weak on interference.

Coach Vorhis yesterday put the Wesleyan team through a hard day's work in preparation for the game with New York university Saturday as a hard battle is expected. Reports from New York say the Manhattan team looks for an easy victory, but past performances do not indicate it. The Wesleyan team is in first rate condition with the exception of Laggren, the speedy halfback, who has not yet recovered from an injury received in the Williams game. In all probability he will be unable to start the game. In the scrimmage to-day McCaffrey played the whole time and it is now certain that he will be at his old position for the rest of the season. The coaching staff was strengthened to-day by the addition of three alumni coaches, "Billy" Calder, Lew Gordon and Evans Davis, all former stars at Wesleyan.

Officials for the Yale-Harvard game have been selected. Harvard has adopted Yale's proposition to endorse the set who will officiate in the Princeton game. They are: Referee, Mr. Langford of Trinity; umpire, David Fultz of Brown; field judge, Mr. Pendleton of Bowdoin; head linesman, Mr. Morice, University of Pennsylvania.

Football in Hanover, N. H., has been shelved for the year, Dartmouth having finished its hard practice for the Harvard game. Time was when a visit of the New Hampshire men to Cambridge was considered as something of the football routine. These days are over. Dartmouth has grown and is now qualified as a first-class opponent for the game of the year at Cambridge. To down the crimson is the hope and ambition of the green, and the season's preparation has been shaped for this contest. Harvard views Dartmouth as a powerful eleven, one that will give 't the hardest struggle it has encountered this year. Harvard is confident, but respectful, while Dartmouth's attitude is one of determination to make as good a fight as possible.

Yale's line-up for the Princeton game was announced last night by Capt Fréd Daly. Erle Oatmen Kistler of Denver has been picked for fullback. He has been substitute halfback all the fall, and since the Brown game has been tried regularly at fullback. He was a member of the freshman eleven two years ago and was a substitute back last season. The line-up given out follows: Left end, Kilpatrick; left tackle, Scully; left guard, Fuller; center, Morris; right guard, McDevitt; right tackle, Paul; right end, Brooks; quarterback, Howe; left halfback, Field; right halfback, Capt Daly; fullback Kistler.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company,

Hartford, Conn.

Why should I insure my life?

Because it is a debt you owe to those who rely dependent upon your earnings for their support.

You admit that it is your duty to supply their needs from day to day, but forget that it is equally your duty to provide an ever ready and sufficient equivalent for your earning power, which your family stands in constant jeopardy to lose by your premature death.

Guard your family against disaster and yourself against dependency in old age.

When should I insure my life?

Now! The cost will never be less, and to-morrow you may not be able to obtain insurance at any price.

Even if others are not now dependent upon you, take time by the forelock and you will be the better able to meet future responsibilities, and at a smaller premium.

Where shall I insure my life?

In a purely Mutual Company. In a company that earns, declares, and pays annual dividends.

In a company that is doing a conservative business.

Such a Company is The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn. It furnishes perfect protection at lowest cost.

For further information, address the Company, or any of its agents.

Ramsdell and Carroll were also pretty alert citizens."

The Sun says in the course of its account: "Trinity showed excellent form throughout. The ends were especially fast and covered the punts and onside kicks consistently. In kicking, New York had the advantage in distance gaining, but Trinity excelled in placing kicks."

The Bishop Entertains.

The "Bishop's tea-party" was held this afternoon, the sophomores, as hosts, being seated about the base of Bishop Brownell's statue, and the freshman guests in full number standing before. The affair was a great success and was enjoyed by all, especially by the upperclassmen gathered about as spectators.

Prof. Gustavus A. Kleene lectured before the Political Study Club recently, his topic being "The Increased Cost of Living." The lecture contained many new points on this much-debated subject and was enthusiastically received.

The program is as follows:

"Come Sing a Song," Glee Club.

"College Glee," Quartet.

Pianologue, Mr. Rosenbaum.

"Miss Mandy," Glee Club.

"Amici," Glee Club.

Baritone Solo (selected), Mr. Whitehead.

Mandolin Solo, Mr. Baridon.

"Nearh the Elms," Glee Club.

The prospects for a successful year are especially bright at present, for Mr. Densmore, the new director, is very capable and will make the best possible use of the material on hand.

Chicago has put in hard preparation for Cornell and is now in fine shape. The same line-up has been maintained for three weeks and as a result the teamwork has improved. Crawley, Kuh and Menaul, all good kickers, have done encouraging things in practice. All the backfield men are in fine condition.
