ARMY PROVES TOO STRONG.

Several Injuries in Only Defeat of Season.

At West Point last Saturday, for the first time, the Trinity football team went down to defeat at the hands of the Army, 17-0. The result was a disappointment to the students and alumni, but the strength of the Army on both defensive and offensive play was too great for the gold and blue, and in spite of a plucky fight they were defeated.

Injuries Handicap Trinity.

Within the first five minutes of play Carroll, the veteran full back of Trinity, was injured and had to be removed from the game permanently. This was an unfortunate occurrence for Trinity, as Carroll was always to be depended upon as a ground gainer and sure tackler. One of the mainstays of team was gone and it discouraged the men. Lawlor was suffering from an injury to his ankle and was unable to do credit to himself. Ramsdell was also injured later in the game but managed to finish.

Scoring Limited to First Half.

The entire seventeen points made by the cadets were tallied in the first half. Several substitutes were placed in their line-up after the game was made certain by the Army. Trinity's play improved to its old-time form as the game progressed, and had it been so from the start there might have been a smaller score to record. The ball was entirely in the Army's territory the last period and Trinity several times carried it to the four-yard line, there to lose it on downs.

Stars of the Gold and Blue.

Howell, Hudson and Collett played the best game for Trinity, Howell receiving three forward passes for substantial gains and recovering an on-side kick for a forty-yard gain. In addition, he followed the ball very closely at all times. Through the splendid line-bucking of Hudson in the last period Trinity was enabled to reach close proximity to the West Point goal. Collett made many substantial gains around the ends and had it not been for his misjudgment of a few punts, would have played a faultless game. Blecker at center played his usual aggressive football and fell on the ball several times.

Trinity's Poor Handling of Punts.

One of the greatest factors in the defeat was the bad, and at times fatal, handling of punts by the Trinity backs, one of the Army's touchdowns resulting from a fumbled kick behind the goal line. A strong wind blew down the field which hampered the men a great deal in correct judgment of the ball.

West Point Kicks Off.

At 2:45 the Army kicked off. Trinity returned the ball a few yards, but the active Army forwards soon downed the runner. On the first play from scrimmage Collett made twelve yards around left end and the Trinity rooters were set on edge. A forward pass to Ramsdell was unsuccessful and a cadet fell on the ball at mid-field. By a series of end runs the ball was carried to Trinity's ten-yard line but the Army fumbled and Ramsdell fell on the ball. Cook punted to his fifty-yard line and once more the Army rushed the pigskin towards the Trinity goal. From the ten-yard line a forward pass, Dean to Hicks, gave the cadets their first touchdown. The punt-out failed. Score, Army 5, Trinity 0.

Shortly after this touchdown Carroll was forced to retire, and Trinity seemed discouraged. The Army made one more score in this quarter. After Trinity had gained twenty-five yards on a forward pass, Cook to Gildersleeve, from a quick line-up another pass was tried to Ramsdell. Dean, the Army's star full back, rushed up at top speed, caught the ball just as it was settling in Ramsdell's reach and ran it sixty-five yards for the second touchdown. He was pursued for the entire distance by several runners but his speed was such that the chase was fruitless. Dean kicked the goal and the score was Army 11, Trinity 0. The quarter soon ended with the ball in West Point's possession in mid-field.

Second Quarter.

Moore replaced Dissell at full back for Trinity. The Army started in aggressive fashion and soon had possession of the ball in Trinity's territory. On a fair catch at the thirty-five-yard line, the Army attempted a goal from placement. It went wide by yards of the mark and Trinity ran the ball out to the twenty-yard line. The ends netted no gains and Cook was forced to punt. West Point resorted to the kicking game to a large extent, and one punt going over Cook's head was recovered by Brown across the Trinity goal line. Arnold kicked the goal. Score, West Point 17, Trinity 0. Trinity began to brace after this touchdown and Howell made twelve yards on a forward pass, which brought applause from the gold and blue rooters. The period ended, however, without further scoring, as Trinity's plays were smothered by the active defense of the Army.

Third Quarter.

Several substitutes were sent in by the Army but the fresh men did not stop the wave of Trinity's attack and this quarter was decidedly in the gold and blue's favor.

Captain Ramsdell Injured.

During this period Captain Ramsdell, who was being closely watched by the cadets on every play, received a blow on the face that almost necessitated his retiring from the game. He pluckily stuck it out however, though in a semi-dazed condition. Lawlor was forced to retire and Nelson took his place. Cook got off some beautiful punts in this period, as he did all through the game. Not once did he fail to kick out of danger when necessity demanded.

Last Period.

In the last period Trinity became dangerous for the first time in the game. Ramsdell and Collett carried the ball to the Army's twenty-five-yard line from which point Hudson began a series of spectacular line plunges. Yard after yard was torn off until the three-yard line was

FOOTBALL DINNER PROPOSED.

Senate Suggests Plan for Honoring Team.

The Senate has appointed a committee to report at the next meeting upon the advisability of having a banquet or smoker in honor of the football team and their coach, Prof. Gettell, at some down-town rathskellar in the near future. It is understood that the committee will report favorably upon the matter.

Short, '12, is chairman of the committee, and a success is assured if we are to judge by the sophomore smoker held last year, of which he was in charge. The evening of Saturday, December 3rd, has been suggested as the date upon which the banquet will be held. The plan is to have as many of the alumni and of the undergraduate body present as is possible. A small fee, probably about a dollar a plate, will be charged, so that everybody will be able to attend. This banquet will be a fitting wind up of the football season just closed, and will show the appreciation of Trinity men for the work done by Coach Gettell and the team he has turned out.

PROF. BRENTON PREACHES.

As Dr. Luther was still away, Prof. Brenton preached the sermon in chapel last Sunday morning. His subject was the duty of giving thanks, and he took as his text the thanksgiving proclamation issued by Gov. Weeks of Connecticut. The choir sang especially well at the service, their program including a "Te Deum" with tenor and bass solos by Wroth, '14, and Bateman, '12, and "Abide With Me," excellently rendered as a bass solo by Charles E. Craik, '14.

COMMUNICATION.

New York, Nov. 15, 1910.

Alumni Editor Trinity Tripod,

Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

Dear Sir:—The fifth and last dinner of the 1910 series of dinners of the New York Trinity Alumni was held at Reisenweber's, 58th street and Eighth Avenue, Nov. 14, at 7:30 p. m. Those present were Dr. E. O. Flagg, '48; Messrs. R. W. Linen, '62, F. R. Hoisington, '91, G. N. Hamlin, '91, J. J. Penrose, '93, J. A. Wales, jr., '01; J. H. Lecour jr., '98; J. C. Underwood, '96, A. S. Washburn, '97, A. D. Vibbert, '99, DeF. Hicks, '96, A. S. Murray 3d, '04, P. H. Braden, '03. The dinner was served in a private room and proved a very enjoyable affair. The main topic of conversation was naturally about the football team and its wonderful record. Favorable comment was made on the activity of the college Press Association in keeping the New York papers so well supplied with football news.

A large delegation is expected for the West Point game. While not confident of victory over the cadets, all present agreed that it will be a hard fight for the Army to score and that Trinity with its fast, modern football has a chance to down the Army on their own field with a swift forward pass or onside kick.

On account of the small attendance at these dinners it is probable that they will be discontinued next year.

(Signed), A. D. VIBBERT.

HOWELL ELECTED CAPTAIN.

Unanimously Chosen to Lead Football Team of 1911.

Charles H. Howell of Hartford was unanimously elected captain of the Trinity football team for 1911 at the banquet given the team by the alumni in New York Saturday night. Howell has played on the team for the past two years, and this year was one of the star players for the old gold and blue. He has been noted for his clean, hard playing and good football brains, and should make an ideal captain, as he is full of enthusiasm in everything that he goes into, and is a hard worker.

Howell is one of the most popular and prominent men at Trinity. He is president of the newly organized branch of the Intercollegiate Y. M. C. A. at Trinity, is manager of the hockey team, besides being a player on the team, and is leader of the mandolin club. He was president of his class during the first term of his freshman year. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. His father, Mr. George D. Howell, '82, is a prominent alumnus; he is a trustee of the college, working actively for its welfare, and was a large contributor to the endowment fund.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of The Tripod:

Permit me to take exception, both personally and as representing a large class of undergraduates, to your editorial in last Friday's issue. You complain that the Library is overcrowded with desultory readers, and that the serious work of others is thereby hampered.

Dr. Luther, in a talk to the freshmen two years ago, hailed with approval the return of the genus "browser." I wish I could quote his enthusiastic words on discovering that a long-lost species had reappeared. But there are even stronger arguments than the mention of authorities.

First of all, only a small percentage of the books in the Library are used for reference in the various courses. The same is true of the magazines. The college spends hundreds of dollars annually in the purchase of volumes to which no professor refers his classes. A set of Mark Twain's complete writings, added shortly after his death, was certainly intended for the man whom The Tripod decries. This is only an example, to which I might add a whole catalogue.

Secondly, there are certain peculiar advantages in the "browsing" habit, among which I may cite the broad view of the literary field thus obtainable. To roam along the west gallery, selecting a book here and there to read a random chapter, or perhaps only the table of contents, is a practice easily comparable in value to that of boning out dry references in Logic. The use of the alcoves by "browsers" is also to be commended for a similar general knowledge in a restricted field.

"NOW THEN—TRINITY!"

The only disappointing feature of the Army game was the score, which, as all the newspaper accounts conceded, was far more favorable to the winners than the relative strength of the teams justified. The Trinity team played its usual aggressive game and even when handicapped by the loss of several of the most valuable regulars, succeeded in threatening the Army's goal several times.

The Tripod again feels the futility of words in commenting upon the work of the team this year. Although seriously handicapped by the loss of such men as Ramsdell, Carroll, Cook and Gildersleeve, the prospects for 1911 are very promising, and under the leadership of Captain Howell and Coach Gettell we feel confident that next year's eleven will not fall short of this year's record.

The Senate's suggestion of an informal dinner or smoker in honor of the football team merits the enthusiastic approbation of all loyal Trinity men, alumni and undergraduates. We hope it will be undertaken and will show faithfully in what measure the college is willing to show its appreciation, which is, we believe, strongly felt but not always plainly evidenced.

reached. The Army braced here and took possession of the ball. They were forced to kick out from behind the line and Collett ran the ball to the twenty-yard line before he was downed. Hudson was again called out of tackle and responded beautifully with several more gains through the line that brought the ball to the cadets' five-yard line. Again the defense stiffened and Cook on a final trial at a skin-tackle run was downed in his tracks. Once more the army held and the ball was punted to the forty-five-yard line. As only a few seconds remained to play a kick was tried by Trinity in hopes that it might be recovered, but the Army was not caught napping and safely captured the pigskin. After a few more plays the game was at an end. The line-up:

ALUMNI HONOR PLAYERS.

Team Entertained in N. Y. After Army Game.

Over a hundred of the Trinity Alumni, with the members of the football team as their guests, assembled at Reisenweber's cafe for a banquet in New York, Saturday evening. Lawson Purdy, '84, President of the Alumni Association, presided over the gathering. W. S. Langford, '96, a former captain, spoke about the Trinity team and spirit. Coach Gettell, who was called upon for a speech, urged the alumni to get men for Trinity. Charles H. Howell, '12, who was unanimously elected captain of the football team for 1911, spoke about the prospects for the team next year. Edward J. Donnelly, '08, who was captain of the football team in 1907, also spoke of the team.

There was a great demonstration of enthusiasm by the assembled alumni, and on the whole the affair was perhaps one of the most successful of its kind ever held.

ALUMNI NOTES.

'49.—Mrs. Maria Moulton, wife of the Rev. Dr. Gemont Graves, '49, died in Burlington, Vt., on Oct. 21, in her 79th year. She was mother of two Trinity men, Harmon S. and Dudley C. Graves, and aunt, by marriage, of three others, Arthur C. and Richard S. Graves and William E. Collins and sister-in-law of Dr. Charles E. Graves, deceased, late treasurer of the college. An ardent friend of the college, a devout churchwoman abounding in good works, her ability and piety mark her removal as a distinct public loss.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company,

Hartford, Conn.

Why should I insure my life?

Because it is a debt you owe to those who rely dependent upon your earnings for their support.

You admit that it is your duty to supply their needs from day to day, but forget that it is equally your duty to provide an ever ready and sufficient equivalent for your earning power, which your family stands in constant jeopardy to lose by your premature death.

Guard your family against disaster and yourself against dependency in old age.

When should I insure my life?

Now! The cost will never be less, and to-morrow you may not be able to obtain insurance at any price.

Even if others are not now dependent upon you, take time by the forelock and you will be the better able to meet future responsibilities,
and at a smaller premium.

Where shall I insure my life?

In a purely Mutual Company.
In a company that earns, declares,

In a company that is doing a conservative business.

Such a Company is The Connecticut

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES.

Wesleyan defeated N. Y. U. last Saturday at Middletown by the score of 9 to 6. Wesleyan used the open play to advantage, while N. Y. U. excelled in line rushes. With this exception, Wesleyan was superior in all departments of the game.

Haverford has established a student council, to take the place of the former advisory board. The council will be made up of four seniors, three juniors, two sophomores and one freshman.

The freshmen of Missouri University are required to carry the suit cases of upper classmen and sophomores as they step from incoming trains.

At the University of Maine, the senior society has taken measures to purchase a cup which will be awarded to the fraternity having the highest average in scholarship for the year.

Ninety-five new men were initiated by the fraternities of Amherst this fall.

Amherst defeated Williams 9-0, in their annual game last week at Amherst. The result was not unexpected, as Williams was not up to its usual standard in the past season.

Brown University's new $300,000 library donated by Andrew Carnegie and prominent alumni as a memorial to the late John Hay, was formally dedicated recently with addresses and imposing ceremonies, participated in by state and city officials, the corporation and faculty of the college, and a large gathering of alumni, including many prominent educators. More than 1,000 alumni and undergraduates participated in the procession from the college campus to the Sayles Memorial Hall, where the addresses of the day were delivered. Among the speakers were President Emeritus James B. Angell of the University of Michigan, Senator Elihu Root of New York, Governor Pothier of Rhode Island, Mayor Henry Fletcher of Providence and President Faunce.
