HOCKEY IN FULL SWING.

Four More Games Scheduled, and Prospects Good.

The warm weather, which unfortunately prevented all hockey practice before Christmas, has now given way to real winter, and Captain Burgwin has men out at Elizabeth Park every afternoon practising for the game with Amherst next Saturday. Two games had to be cancelled on account of no ice before Christmas, and the remainder of the schedule is as follows:

Jan. 13—Amherst at Amherst.

Jan. 19—Springfield Training School at Hartford.

Jan. 27—Amherst "Aggies" at Hartford
Feb. 17—Rensselaer Poly. at Troy.

Last Saturday afternoon a scrub team lined up for a brief game against the fast Hartford High team. The lack of practice of the Trinity men told and the score was 0-0.

The line-up of the team will probably be about as follows:

Goal,	Bassford
Point,	Little, or A. Johnson
Coverpoint,	C. Howell or Little
Right Wing,	C. Howell, or Johnson
Center,	R. F. Walker
Rover,	Burgwin, (Captain)

Of these men, Little, Burgwin, C. Howell, and Bleecker, all played on last year's team, while Bassford and Walker were among the promising substitutes. On the whole, the outlook is promising. More men than usual are coming out for the team, the most promising of the freshmen, being D. Howell and Budd.

PROF. FLYNN BADLY BURNED.

Christmas Eve., Prof. Joseph D. Flynn suffered a serious accident at his home, 73 Imlay Street, by the burning of a Christmas tree. Professor and Mrs. Flynn with Prof. Flynn's brother were trimming the Christmas tree in their parlor. Before they were aware of it the tree was a mass of flames, having caught fire from the candles with which it was decorated. The heat of the flames so blistered the door, which had been closed, that it could not be opened. By this time the heat was unendurable and Prof. Flynn covered his wife and brother with his coat while he grabbed the burning tree and threw it out of a window. Prof. Flynn was burned seriously about his hands and face and especially his eyes. At first it was feared he would lose his sight but at present he is slowly recovering and that danger is past but he may not be able to resume duties for several weeks. Mrs. Flynn and Mr. Flynn's brother sustained bad burns about the face, the scars of which may remain for life.

DR. BURTON IN HARTFORD.

Trinity Graduate Speaks on Irish Drama.

Dr. Richard Burton, Trinity, '83, head of the English department at the University of Minnesota, began a series of lectures last Friday evening by speaking on "The Irish Dramatist" at the rooms in the Hartford Art Society. His lecture was confined to three men, Bernard Shaw, J. M. Synge, and W. B. Yeats, praising the works of all these men very highly. He called Percy Mackaye the American Yeats, and vigorously combated the popular notion of Shaw's unmorality. His next lectures, on Jan. 12th and 19th, will be respectfully on "The Social Group," including Galsworthy, Zangwill, and Bennett, and "The Poetic Dramatist", under which head come Philips, Peabody and others.

NOTE.

The conditional examinations in Latin will be held Thursday, January 11th, at three o'clock, in the Latin room. The names of those who expect to take these examinations must be handed to Professor Barrett in advance.

SUNDAY CHAPEL

Sunday morning at half-past ten there was the regular monthly celebration of the Holy Communion in the Chapel.

Dr. Luther's text was the ninth verse of the sixth chapter of St. John's Gospel: There is a lad here, which hath five barley loaves and two small fishes; but what are they among so many? He said in opening, that he wished only to discuss the physical side of the miracle, in as much as to say that it is repeated every year on our western plains, that Jesus did that in a few hours which He does every year in a few months. Again he said, "It should be that every one, when he looks back over his life, should be able to think of lives here and there that he had benefited, sometimes by only a word or small action that had perhaps been the salvation of a soul.

FACULTY IN VACATION.

During the Christmas vacation, Prof. Morse attended the meetings of two societies. The first was on Dec. 26th and 27th at Princeton, where Prof. Morse read a paper on the Chemical Experiments on Eggs before the American Geological Society.

On Dec. 28th and 29th he attended a meeting of the Society of Bro-Chemics, held in Baltimore.

ALUMNUS HONORED.

Judge Buffington Mentioned for Supreme Court.

Washington dispatches say that Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania has recommended to President Taft that he put on the Supreme Bench Judge Joseph Buffington, Trinity, '77, already of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Buffington is one of our own leading alumni and a trustee of the college.

LECTURE JANUARY 19.

Prof. Lee of P. and S. Will Speak.

At the third of a series of scientific lectures being held this winter in Boardman Hall, Frederic S. Lee, professor of Physiology in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, will speak on the study of muscle and the fatigue of this tissue, Friday evening, January 19th.

A feature of the lecture will be a series of moving pictures of the heart in action. Professor Lee has recently published a book on the subject of medicine in its relation to other sciences and is also the author of series other treatises and translations.

DEATH OF UNDERGRADUATE.

J. C. Horsfall Dies of Appendicitis.

The whole college learned with regret that John Crompton Horsfall died at the Hartford Hospital on Dec. 23rd, after complications which followed after complications which followed an operation for appendicitis. The funeral, at which Dr. Luther made an address, was held on Tuesday in New Britain.

Horsfall graduated from New Britain High School in 1908, and last June from the Yale Sheffield Scientific School. He came to Trinity last fall for the degree of Master of Arts. He was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

"NOW THEN, TRINITY."

The holidays are over and with the New Year the Tripod desires to urge every Trinity student and Alumnus to make this year the most successful that Trinity has ever had. We have been progressing but we must continue to do so and not rest on whatever laurels we may already have earned. Students at college can help just as much as alumni by maintaining the scholastic standards. At present there is a splendid opportunity for the maintenance of the former as mid-years are approaching and the next few weeks we must put our noses to the grindstone more than ever. Alumni, to do their part, should boost, not knock, and with the hearty co-operation of all there is the brightest outlook for an advance in everything that is connected with Trinity. More than ever is the slogan, Now Then Trinity to be heeded. It is the psychological time.

IN MEMORIAM.

On December 15, 1911, there passed into eternity the spirit of one of Trinity's noblest sons, Harry Vane Rutherford. Entering the freshman class in 1872, he soon gave evidence of the possession of rare qualities of mind and heart which gained for him the esteem of his instructors and the affection of his classmates.

High minded, tender hearted, generous, he pursued his calling, at law, during the nearly two score years of his life after graduation, gaining the high esteem of those he served. There is not, I believe, a surviving member of his class, or a man among the many who know him, who will not feel profoundly sorry to learn that he has passed away. This simple tribute is paid to his memory by a classmate who loved him. '76.

The following letter from the New York Law Journal also speaks in the highest terms of Mr. Rutherford:

Editor New York Law Journal:

Sir—A member of the New York Bar has just died whose character as a man and a lawyer is worth something more than a passing tribute.

Harry Vane Rutherford was born in Boston, Mass., in September, 1854. He was a graduate of Trinity College and began his practice of the law in St. Paul, Minn., in 1880, where for many years he was a most honored member of the Bar. About thirteen years ago Mr. Rutherford came to New York City, where, up to the time of his death, he has been in active practice. Every client he ever had, every lawyer with whom he came in contact, every judge and court before whom he practiced or appeared will bear witness that Mr. Rutherford was a well read, conscientious, painstaking lawyer, and always and pre-eminently an honest and modest gentleman. Those who were fortunate enough to be within the number of his friends loved him for his gentle kindness and earnestness of purpose, and there was no man or woman who knew him well who was not the better for having known him.

So there has gone to his well earned rest a man and a member of our profession who lived the life a good man and an honest lawyer should live and of whom it can be said that the world is better for his having been born.

S. E. H.

New York, December 18, 1911.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Ins. Co.

Hartford, Conn.

Why should I insure my life?

Because it is a debt you owe to those who are dependent upon your earnings for their support.

You admit that it is your duty to supply their needs from day to day, but forget that it is equally your duty to provide an ever-ready and sufficient equivalent for your earning power, which your family stands in constant jeopardy to lose by your premature death.

Guard your family against disaster and yourself against dependency in old age.

When should I insure my life?

Now! The cost will never be less, and tomorrow you may not be able to obtain insurance at any price.

Even if others are not now dependent upon you, take time by the forelock and you will be the better able to meet future responsibilities and at a smaller premium
Where shall I insure my life?

In a purely Mutual Company.

In a company that earns, declares, and pays annual dividends.
In a company that is doing a conservative business.

Such a company is THE CONN.
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE
CO. of Hartford, Conn. It furnishes perfect protection at lowest cost.

Alumni Notes.

'58—Dr. J. Ewing Mears has just published a monograph entitled "The Triumph of American Medicine in the Construction of the Panama Canal".
It is the lecture which he was to give here last November but which was prevented on account of his ill health.

The Rev. Luther Eborn died at his home in Washington Co., N. C., the 15th of last July. He entered Trinity in January 1860, as a member of the class of '63, but was compelled to return home in the spring of '61. He did not go into the army as did most of the students from the South, but was ordained in July, 1861, and served eight years as deacon in Beaufort Co.
He was buried at St. David's Church, which he had served many years.

Rt. Rev. Chauncey B. Brewster conducted the dedication services at the new Saint Elizabeth's Chapel at Armsmead, the former home of Mrs.
Elizabeth J. Colt of this city, Jan 6th.
Among those present were: Rev. Dr.
Samuel Hart, '66, and Edward B.
Hatch, '08, trustees, and President
Flavel S. Luther, Clifton Culverhouse
Brainerd, '06, organist and choirmaster of the Church of the Good Shepherd, was in charge of the musical program.

'83—S. B. Trowbridge is one of the architects of the Bankers' Trust Company building in New York, the highest banking building in the world, which is 540 feet high, only a little lower than the Singer building. It stands on the northeast corner of Wall and Nassau Streets probably the most valuable real estate in the world. Its equipment is complete in every way, including a vault weighing 1550 tons, the heaviest in the world. Architecturally the outline is that of a mediaeval tower.
