WESLEYAN DOWNS BLUE AND GOLD.

TRINITY'S STRING OF VICTORIES BROKEN SATURDAY IN MIDDLETOWN. BACON, THE ALL AROUND STAR.
TOUCHDOWNS COME TOWARD END OF GAME.

Trinity's hopes of a sixth consecutive football victory over Wesleyan were dashed to earth in a well-played and fiercely-contested game on Andrus Field last Saturday. The score: Wesleyan 14: Trinity 0. The game was far closer throughout, however, than those figures might seem to indicate. At the end of the first half, the score stood 0 to 0, and it was "anybody's game" until after Wesleyan's second touchdown in the last quarter. In the third quarter, the Gold and Blue missed a touchdown, literally by inches. Cole had carried the ball over the goal-line at the extreme corner of the field, on a forward pass from Sage, but had stepped out of bounds, just as he crossed the line. The referee then called the ball back, and put it into play, less than a foot from the Red and Black's goal line, but Trinity fumbled on the next scrimmage, and Wesleyan recovered the ball. In the second quarter, another fumble had already cost Trinity a touchdown, after the Gold and Blue had worked the pigskin to her opponent's 3-yard line.

Captain Bacon.

The real reason for Trinity's downfall, however, is not to be sought in recital of "almost-touchdowns," but in the wonderful all-around playing of Captain Bacon of Wesleyan. His superb work at quarter-back was the biggest feature of a contest full of big features. In the third quarter he caught a long punt from Sage, on Wesleyan's 40-yard line, and ran the ball back 60 yards for a touchdown. He also smashed through the line for Wesleyan's last touchdown in the fourth quarter. Moreover, this doughty captain of Wesleyan's consistently punted 45 yards or better, throughout the game, his largest punt of the day being one for 52 yards in the first quarter. Bacon's field generalship was also faultless, and his work on the defensive above criticism.

Trinity's Stars.

For Trinity the biggest ground-gainer was Lawlor, the "crippled" left half-back. Time and again he ripped his way through the heavy Red and Black line, or around the end for substantial gains, besides playing a strong defensive game. Hudson, owing to his injured leg, was not sent against the line as much as usual, but whenever he was called upon, Trinity's great full-back "came through" in his old-time all-American style. Hudson also put up the best defensive game of the day, tackling like a thunderbolt, and backing up the Trinity line in faultless style.

To proceed to enumerate the individual stars for Trinity would be to name a large proportion of the team. For seldom has a losing team put up so fine a contest as did the Gold and Blue in the face of defeat last Saturday. Every man fought hard and well. The most consistent work, it is true, was done by the two "crippled" Berserkers mentioned in the preceding paragraph, Hudson and Lawlor—but a number of other wearers of the Gold and Blue deserve honorable mention as well.

Cole at right end put up a truly remarkable game, both on the offensive and on the defensive. In the second quarter he made a spectacular 25-yard run on a forward pass from Sage, and in the third period he would have scored a touchdown,—also on a forward pass from Sage—had he not been crowded out of bounds, just as he crossed the goal line. All in all, Trinity's dashing little right end gave his opponent—Eustis, one of the mainstays of the Red and Black—rather more than his hands full, throughout the game. John Moore, at the other end, put up his usual fast and plucky game, his defensive work being particularly brilliant.

The Trinity line, outweighed as it was on an average of eleven pounds to the man, put up a gallant fight. Twice in the first quarter Wesleyan worked the ball to the Trinity's 5-yard line, but under the shadow of its own goal posts, the Gold and Blue defense—of course with the secondary defense as an all-important factor—assumed stone-wall properties, and staved off imminent Wesleyan touchdowns. Jim Moore, playing left guard, and defensive full-back, was one of the real stars of the game, though his work was not as obvious as that of the powerful ground-gainers. He succeeded in breaking through his heavier opponent on the attack, and opening holes for the backs. In the defense, he ably backed up Hudson and the line, and furnished one of the sensations of the day, when he made a great catch of Bacon's attempted forward pass to Eustis. Castator, at right guard, played a particularly strong defensive game, no Wesleyan gains being made through his section of the line. Kinney also did good defensive work.

Captain Collett was particularly good in twisting himself through holes in the line, and running down a broken field, being excelled in this last department only by Bacon himself. Sage's work at quarter-back was also worthy of note. He ran his team well and showed particularly good form in getting off his forward passes, his 25-yard pass to Cole in the second period, being one of the prettiest plays of the game.

For Wesleyan.

Captain Bacon was aided and abetted, in his task of downing Trinity, by an aggregation of exceedingly husky and clever footballists. The most active of his accomplices, however, were fullback Kenan and left halfback Laggren. Both of these men were consistent ground-gainers and strong defensive players. The heavy Red and Black line also did yeoman service in the tight places where Trinity was threatening the Wesleyan goal line.

The Game.

Kinney kicked off to Bacon at 2.32, and Wesleyan's captain was downed on his own 27-yard line. Kenan made 4 yards through tackle and Pettigree made 3 more through the line. Kenan then plunged through guard for a first down. Wesleyan was penalized 15 yards for holding, and Bacon punted 52 yards, the ball rolling over Trinity's goal line. Sage recovered it and was downed on his own 5-yard line. Sage then punted to Bacon, who ran it back to Trinity's 20-yard line. Cole intercepted a forward pass on his own 15-yard line, but Trinity fumbled on the next play. Bacon made 7 yards on an end run, and Laggren, 5 more, putting the pigskin on Trinity's 3-yard line. Hudson then threw Laggren for a loss. Trinity recovered the ball on downs and Lawlor made 20 yards around the end. Wesleyan then held firm against three line plays, and Sage punted to Laggren, who was downed on Trinity's 45-yard line. A forward pass, Bacon to Wilcox, netted 22 yards. On the next play, J. B. Moore and Lawlor simultaneously nailed Bacon for an 8-yard loss, and Hudson turned the same trick on the next formation. A forward pass, Bacon to Eustis, then put the ball on Trinity's 5-yard line. A forward pass over the Trinity goal line hit the ground, and it was the Gold and Blue's ball on her own 20-yard line. After three line plays, Sage punted, the ball going out of bounds at Trinity's 40-yard line. Bacon fell in attempting a forward pass and lost 7 yards. After another pass failed, Bacon punted to Sage and was downed on his own 7-yard line. Here the quarter ended.

Collett started the next period by ripping through the line for 10 yards. Lawlor hit the line three times in succession for an aggregate of 12 yards. Collett was thrown for a 5-yard loss, and a forward pass failed, so Sage punted, the ball going out of bounds at Wesleyan's 35-yard line. Pettigree made 14 yards through center. Trinity's line then tightened and stopped two rushes. Trinity nabbed the ball on an attempted forward pass, and Lawlor, Hudson and Lambert gained 25 yards on six successive line rushes.

A forward pass, Sage to Cole, put the ball on Wesleyan's 7-yard line, where Trinity lost the ball on a fumble. Trinity's line piled up three rushes, and Bacon punted to Sage at midfield. Lawlor and Hudson totaled 10 yards on three line plunges, but Trinity lost the ball on an intercepted forward pass. Wesleyan failed to gain through the line, and Bacon punted to Sage just as time was called for the first half. Score: Trinity 0; Wesleyan 0.

Bacon kicked off to Hudson who was thrown on his own 35-yard line. The Wesleyan line withstood three Trinity plunges, and Sage punted to Bacon who ran the ball back to Trinity's 45-yard line. The Red and Black made 5 yards on two line plays, but J. A. Moore intercepted a forward pass and ran it back 15 yards. Lawlor lost 3 yards, and an attempted forward pass failed. Sage punted over Wesleyan's goal line, and it was the Red and Black's ball on their own 20-yard line. Wesleyan failed to gain more than 5 yards on three plays and Bacon punted. The ball hit a Wesleyan player and it was Trinity's ball on her opponents' 10-yard line. Cole crossed the goal line on a forward pass from Sage but his foot went out of bounds as he crossed the line, and the ball was called back and placed less than a foot from the line. Here Trinity fumbled, and Bacon punted out of danger. Lawlor, Lambert, and Hudson carried the ball back to Wesleyan's 10-yard line, on mass plays, but here the Red and Black held for downs. Bacon punted to Sage who fumbled, and Wesleyan had the ball on Trinity's 30-yard line. Kenan made 6 yards through center, and Francis, 3 more through the line. Bacon punted to Collett on Trinity's 15-yard line, and Sage straightway punted the ball back to Bacon, who caught the ball on his own 40-yard line and ran it back 60 yards for a touchdown. Eustis kicked the goal. Score: Wesleyan 7, Trinity 0. This ended the third quarter.

Kinney kicked off to Laggren, who was downed on his own 40-yard line. Rushes by Laggren, Kenan and Pettigree brought the ball down to Trinity's 18-yard line. Bacon made 8 yards on an end run, but fumbled the ball on the next play. Sage punted to Bacon, who ran the ball back to Trinity's 15-yard line. Kenan made 6 yards through the line, and Bacon 6 more. On the next play Bacon carried the ball over for a touchdown. Eustis kicked the goal. Score: Wesleyan 14, Trinity 0.

Kinney kicked off to Francis, who was tackled on his own 40-yard line. Wesleyan was penalized for holding, and Bacon punted to Sage who was downed on his own 40-yard line. A forward pass, Sage to Smith, netted 20 yards. Collett made 10 yards around left end, but Kenan intercepted a forward pass at midfield. Kenan made 12 yards through the line, just before the final whistle blew. Final score: Wesleyan 14, Trinity 0.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

Saturday's Defeat.

That the loss of Saturday's game to Wesleyan was a great disappointment to every follower of Trinity's football team, is not to be denied, a disappointment made all the greater by the string of victories over the same team in the five preceding years. Yet Trinity men are, it seems, to be congratulated on the way in which they treated the result of the game. Few have anything but high praise for the way in which our own team played, for they fought with all that was in them to the last. The exhibition of football put up by them in the first three quarters was magnificent and showed the effect of the careful coaching which the team received from Professor Gettell. All credit to the team and to its coach even though Trinity did draw a blank, while the Red and Black team scored their fourteen points.

Wesleyan won the game by playing football which was, in the opinion of player and spectator alike, clean and sportsmanly. Fouling on both sides was at a discount and protests against the decisions of the very able officials were rare. We wish to offer our congratulations to Captain Bacon, to the Wesleyan team, and to Coach High on the efficient machine which has represented the college down the river this fall. They have made for themselves an enviable record. The team is an unusually fine one, not only for Wesleyan, but for any college of that size. It had to be to defeat Trinity. We grant them a present advantage at the great college game and transfer to their brows a laurel which we had begun to think was going to become our permanent possession.

DEBATE.

Affirmative Has Best of Argument on Honor System.

At the meeting of the debating association held Thursday evening, there was a debate on the question,—Resolved: That the honor system should prevail in college examinations. The members for the affirmative were A. Levin, '14, and Scofield, '15; for the negative, Mills, '15, and R. Z. Johnston, '16. Owing to the non-appearance of Levin and Scofield, Fitzpatrick, '14, and E. T. Smith, '13, upheld the affirmative. The judges were the members of the association present, and, after the conclusion of the arguments, rendered a decision for the affirmative by a rising vote.

The first speaker of the evening was Smith, '13. He dwelt upon the discipline that the honor system gives a student's character. If a student is not constantly watched, he must train himself to watch and discipline himself. In the world, men are not constantly under the eye of the police. In addition, Smith said that this system lessened the chances of cheating at examinations. The student feels that he is not a boy playing a game, the object of which is to beat the professor, but a man who has the power of choosing the right from the wrong. The system is working successfully at Colgate and Hamilton.

Johnstone, '16, next made an argument for the negative. The present supervision system has been in operation for three hundred years and in Europe, where it is most strictly enforced, there is little or no cheating. Moreover, the majority of students in our colleges do not want the honor system. By forcing the weak man to sign the pledge that he will not cheat, this system lays before him a tremendous temptation to do so, when he finds himself in the examination room; and students many times repudiate their honor by breaking their written pledges to inform the faculty, if they see one of their fellows cheating.

Fitzpatrick, '14, made the next argument for the affirmative. The honor system trains students for their duties as citizens in this self-governing country, by teaching them to rely on their own honor, and it has trained honorable men that must bring about the reforms that are needed in our government. Fitzpatrick refuted the argument of the negative: that since the present supervision system is now working in this country and Europe, and has been working both here and

To Professional Men:

No class of men need life insurance more than do professional men. As a rule, the income of a professional man is largely, if not wholly, dependent on his brain, and when the activity of the mind ceases, his income ceases, or is at once greatly reduced.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company offers to the professional man who desires to assure his wife and children for life, or for a specified term of years, the continuance of a substantial part, at least, of the income to which they were accustomed during his lifetime, a contract perfectly suited to these needs.

there for three hundred years, it should therefore be continued, by saying that the government and other institutions of Europe are based upon over-conservatism. Since we in America do not believe in monarchies, either limited or absolute, why must we be bound to continue to use a system of examination that is far behind our democratic form of government?

Mills, '15, of the negative, dwelt upon the class of men in the colleges of the South at the time of the adoption of the honor system. Since it was bad manners to cheat at an examination, these men would not do it, but they would overlook grave moral offences in a man. One's honor is a pretty poor and weak thing if it must be supported by a written pledge.

The remaining arguments of the affirmative were the superficiality of precedence and old tradition as an argument that college men should watch the honor of their fellows as men in the outside world do, and that the written pledge to preserve one's honor at an examination is a very unimportant factor. Public opinion should carry the most weight.

The negative declared that the professors do not perform police duty but they simply watch over the students as men do their fellows in the world outside; business men are held to honor, not by written pledges, but by the great unwritten law of public opinion; if we discard our inheritance of precedents that we have received from the past, we shall lose a very valuable part of our civilization.

The next meeting of the association will be held December 5th, and the resolution for debate is as follows: Resolved: That the President of the United States be elected for six years and be ineligible for re-election.

NEIGHBORLY LOVE.

Practice of It Given as Solution of Modern Problems.

"And if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself'." Taking the foregoing as the text for his sermon last Sunday morning in chapel, Dr. Luther continued: "This is the final word for the development of human character.

"The most pressing problem before man today is the same as it was when Paul wrote the words of the text for this sermon, namely, the problem of sustenance—the procuring of food, shelter and clothing. Since Paul's time marvelous strides have been made in nearly every material direction, and the great apostle, could he have foreseen the present era, would have said that the period of suffering and manual drudgery was at an end. But want and suffering still continue. Our material progress has not solved the problem.

"The famous words of Paul's message contain the key to the solution of the problem. The apostle's text has seldom been given a fair trial, but when it has been put into practice, the results have been what were desired, and now men are beginning to value it and turn toward it for the solution of the social enigma. The object of all leadership, law-making, organization and society must henceforth be the inspiring in men of neighborly love."

It is noted that the Tuft's team, which is to be Trinity's final opponent, managed to hold the Army to a 15 to 6 score. This result indicates that Trinity will have to work hard for a victory next Saturday.
