Plea for the Revival of Socialist Study Club.

To the Editor of the Tripod:

Was very glad to learn through the Tripod about the formation of a debating society at Trinity. Dr. Luther must feel elated over it, for he was always anxious to have such an intellectual organization formed at Trinity.

Let us hope that the student body will take a great interest in the newly-formed organization and afford it all the support it can give.

While at college I was always under the impression that, while we were well organized athletically and socially, very little attention was paid to extra curriculums, intellectual advancement. Many alumni who have entertained the same idea will undoubtedly be delighted to learn about the formation of the debating society which, in my opinion, marks the beginning of an intellectual renaissance at Trinity.

Another organization which the student body at Trinity needs, is a club for the study of social problems.

I was very much grieved, as were, I am sure, a few more members of the 1911 class, when the Society for the Study of Socialism went out of existence after the departure from college of those who were instrumental in organizing it. With the organization of the society, an attempt was then made to interest the student body in the study of a new event which is playing a very important role in our political, economic and social life.

The study of social problems have now become of paramount importance in our colleges and universities. Over fifty higher institutions of learning in this country have such organizations, and the students are quite busy in studying the social and economic problems which confront society today.

Socialism has become an issue that has to be reckoned with, and no person who claims intelligence can well afford to ignore the study of the aims of this powerful movement. Lectures for and against socialism in its different phases, conducted throughout the year by a group of students in college will offer the necessary enlightenment on the subject. There are surely a number of students at Trinity who are interested in the study of socialism. Why not revive the Society for the Study of Socialism? Though a majority of the members of the old society have graduated, there are a few members among the 1913 class, who are still in college. Trinity stands alone among all the colleges and universities of New England in having neglected to maintain a Society for the Study of Socialism. Let us join in chorus and try to organize such a society. I shall be only too glad to assist those who would undertake to rejuvenate the Trinity Society for the Study of Socialism.

FRESHMEN VICTORIOUS.

Defeat Sophomores in Football Game 14 to 0.

The freshmen "came back" strong, if tardily, after their defeat by 1915 in the interclass scraps and defeated the sophomores Monday by a score of 14 to 0 in the annual underclass football game. Due possibly to the coldness of the afternoon, the crowd that witnessed the game was chiefly composed of underclass men, who kept themselves warm and their respective teams in the proper state of agitation by frenzied class yells and personal prayers to the warriors.

From the very first of the game, the freshmen displayed the results of the training that most of their men received on the second team this fall. The line was strong, preventing 1915 from making constant gains through it, while in the backfield, Aldrich and Lyon were notable by their gains, both around end and through the line. Craig showed up well in the kicking department and Perkins in running back punts.

Hall was the star player for 1915. His fine work on the defense was especially noticeable, while a long run near the end of the game made a good climax for good gains earlier in the fight. At right end Hill played a star game. In the line, Edsall distinguished himself by recovering a blocked kick close to the sophomores' goal line.

1916 received the kick-off, but failed to score, the ball changing hands before the end of the quarter. In the next period, the freshmen again got the ball near the center of the field and worked it down to the goal line, Perkins carrying the ball across. Craig kicked goal. During the remainder of this period and the next one, the ball seesawed back and forth, Craig once trying for a field goal, without success. In the last quarter Lyon carried the ball over for 1916 but fumbled, the sophomores recovering for a touchback.

The ball was given to the freshmen on the 25-yard line, whence, after short line gains, Aldrich tallied, Craig kicking goal.

With but a few minutes left to play, 1915 bonds took a sudden rise when Hall, receiving a punt on his 20-yard line, ran almost the entire length of the field through the gathering dusk, until a freshmen tackled somebody, who happened to be the man with the ball. The weary pigskin skipped from the phantom runner's grasp and 1915's golden chance was gone.

The line-up was as follows:

| 1915 | | 1916 |
|-----------------|----|----------------|
| Shelley, Vizner | LE | Ives (captain) |
| McCue, Sage | | |
| Edsall | LT | Holmes |
| Evans | LG | Spofford |
| Pollock | C | Harding |
| Dart | RG | Gray |
| Sage, Usher | RT | Morris |
| Hill | RE | Aldrich |
| Hall (captain) | LH | Lyon |
| McCue, Brainard | RH | Aldrich |

TUFTS TOMORROW.

Last Game for Blue and Gold in Medford, Mass.

The football season ends tomorrow, when Trinity meets Tufts on their field at Medford, near Boston. The team will journey to Boston Friday afternoon, spend the night there, and go to Medford in the morning. A number of men from college expect to see the game, and the Trinity cheering section will be swelled by the large number of alumni living in and around Boston.

The team is in fine condition, as the men have recovered from most of the injuries sustained in the last two games. Hudson's knee is rapidly healing up, and J. A. Moore has gotten over his attack of water on the knee. The second team was out for scrimmage against the first Tuesday afternoon, and the work of the 'varsity has been very satisfactory.

From comparative scores the two teams show up nearly equal, with a slight advantage for Tufts. The Boston team defeated Amherst early in the season 13 to 0, and were defeated by Wesleyan 14 to 0. The Trinity-Wesleyan score was also 14 to 0, but Amherst defeated Trinity. However, there is no doubt that the team has been putting out a much higher class of football recently than they did in the Amherst game. It is also worthy of note that Tufts held the Army to 14 to 6 last Saturday. So there are no particularly indications for either side. The only thing to be said is that it is sure to be a close, hard-fought game.

Tennis Schedule.

Elliot L. Ward, manager of the tennis team, has thus far arranged seven matches for the season of 1913. The schedule as here given has not yet been passed on by the faculty.

SENATE MEETING.

Freshman-Junior Banquet Rules Formulated.

Tuesday, Nov. 19, 1912.

Tripod Room.

The meeting of the Senate was called to order at 7 p. m. Roll-call showed Messrs. Stites, Collett, Marsden and Deppen absent.

Mr. Fitzpatrick reported that he and Mr. Stites had drawn up and handed to the faculty, the petition that men on probation be allowed to play with their campus classes in interclass contests, and that the petition had been granted.

After short discussion, it was voted on motion of Mr. Fitzpatrick that the following rules to govern the Freshman-Junior Banquet be accepted by the Senate.

1—The banquet must be held within forty miles, by steam railroad, of Hartford and may not be held in Hartford.

2—It must not be held earlier than December 8, nor later than December 20.

3—It may not take place on the night of the football smoker, nor on the night following this event.

4—Captures may be made by either class, but no detention from chapel or classes is permitted. Paroles are not to be given or accepted.

5—Destruction of private property is contrary to the sentiment of the student body, as is likewise any interference with the rights or customs of any persons not strictly interested in the banquet.

Mr. Fitzpatrick reported a communication from Mr. E. M. Sait, secretary of the Intercollegiate Civic League, urging the foundation of a Trinity civic or good government club. Mr. Fitzpatrick urged that the Senate members talk over the matter with the men in the bodies they represented. After a short discussion, the matter was tabled on motion of Mr. Barber.

President Moore reported that Dr. Swan had spoken to him of the advisability of interclass or interfraternity basket ball games during the winter. He urged that the Senate members discuss the matter with the rest of the college.

On motion of Mr. Crighton the meeting adjourned.

S. H. EVISON,
Secretary.

Professor Perkins' Lecture.

On Wednesday afternoon, at the request of Professor Tower, Professor Perkins addressed the members of the Science Club and other students who are interested in philosophy. The lecture, which was from the standpoint of physics, dealt with the convenience of assuming an ether and of attributing to it certain qualities. He took up briefly the make-up of molecules, atoms, and electrons, and their relation to matter.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

An Apology—Also Some Advice.

We wish to offer an apology to the college body for the editorial in the Tripod a week ago, with reference to its singing. The Trinity cheering section last Saturday surpassed itself in its efforts to sing well, and the results did not compare unfavorably with those produced on the other side of the field. The cheering was for the most part good, though not as good as the singing.

Our experience in these two directions last Saturday prompts a few remarks. One of these refers to the seating arrangement. The many who bought tickets for the game in Hartford were quite rightly given to understand that they entitled the holders to seats in the Trinity section which would be held for them against other comers. Just what were the actual conditions? Trinity supporters, utter outsiders, and Wesleyan men were all bunched together in a single stand, with the result that it is a marvel how any organized cheering or singing was produced.

Another thing,—and Oh! How oft' must it be repeated! Seventy times seven and then some more, we think. We need more practice in cheering and more attention to the leaders while we are doing it. Instances of confusion Saturday were numberless. Many and many a time, when the long "Trin" had been called, half of the noisemakers gave the whole seven "Trins", while the other half, deaf or asleep, gave only four. In this, however, the leaders were not faultless. Leaders need as much practice as do we who keep the bleachers warm; more, probably.

The yell known as the "locomotive" is a difficult one to get off correctly, and Saturday, surely, it was not so given. When half finished, the speed was really the same as at the end, with a resultant loss of much of its effectiveness.

The task of a cheer leader is not an easy one. It is hard to know just when to cheer, what to cheer, and how to get it off in a hurry. Quickness of decision is needed, however, and once anything is started it is absolutely necessary that the leaders make every motion together.

For some reason or other we were without a song leader last Saturday. How the singing was any good at all is hardly explainable. We hope that when next we have to break forth into melody, we shall have something to go by, and, also, that we may know with some degree of certainty that we are singing the same thing as is the man five feet along the bench from us.

No further opportunity is offered this fall for organized effort by the whole college body in this direction. It is hoped that many will be able to go to Medford tomorrow to see the Tufts game, and to help cheer our men on to victory. But not until next spring and fall can we all be together to watch an athletic contest. We hope that "these few precepts" will be sown some place where they will bring forth good fruit. Some college sings, such as have been suggested a thousand times or so before this, held regularly once a week, or fortnightly, would produce gratifying results and at the same time furnish an occupation for a short time during the winter months otherwise so monotonous.

Tripod Board Meeting.

At a meeting of the Tripod board held yesterday noon, Allan B. Cook, '13, who has been advertising manager since the elections last spring, was elected associate editor and treasurer. Benjamin L. Ramsay, '14, who has been serving as assistant advertising manager, was made advertising manager. This change will not make necessary any addition to the personnel of the board.

To Professional Men:

No class of men need life insurance more than do professional men. As a rule, the income of a professional man is largely, if not wholly, dependent on his brain, and when the activity of the mind ceases, his income ceases, or is at once greatly reduced.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company offers to the professional man who desires to assure his wife and children for life, or for a specified term of years, the continuance of a substantial part, at least, of the income to which they were accustomed during his lifetime, a contract perfectly suited to these needs.

Let Us Hear From You.

It is evident that when the new library and administration building is ready for occupancy there will be considerable floor space in Seabury Hall which can be devoted to various uses. Some of the rooms to be vacated can and undoubtedly will be occupied by students. Some of the space lends itself readily to the arrangement of new lecture rooms. It looks to the undergraduate eye as if the pleasant room now used as a reading room, might readily be transformed into two large and attractive rooms, one above the other.

Would it not add to the pleasures of life at Trinity and, by adding suitably to these pleasures add also to its good influence, if one of these larger rooms were devoted to what we may call the purposes of a club? Suppose, for example, this large room were substantially but not extravagantly furnished with comfortable chairs and lounges, with the daily papers, and that at one end were a billiard table and pool table. Suppose that there were small tables for various games and that one of the basement rooms were so furnished as to make the serving of light refreshments practicable. It is an interesting question whether the undergraduates would desire and use such an addition to the college plant.

We have no official communication with anyone in authority, and do not know in what direction the thoughts of our elders may be moving, but if there is a desire for the carrying out of such a plan as that indicated above, and if there is a real belief that such a gathering place would be of advantage, it might be worth while to call the attention of the corporation to the proposition. We invite suggestions from our subscribers.

Concert in Putnam.

The glee club will give a concert in Putnam, Conn., on the twelfth of December, under the auspices of St. Philip's Episcopal Church, of which the Rev. C. J. Harriman, '05, is rector. Only about twenty of the men on the club will be taken, as the journey necessitates a stay in Putnam over night and return late the next morning. Last year the 1914 quartet, composed of Rosenbaum, Spofford, Craik and A. Walker went to Putnam and, themselves, gave a concert to the people of the same parish. Evidently they created a good impression for now Putnam people have expressed a desire to have all the glee club of the college go there.
