TRINITY DROPS ANOTHER. Eleven Errors and Poor Batting Responsible.

In the most ridiculous exhibition of baseball seen on Trinity Field in the memory of the present college generation, Trinity's nine went down to defeat last Tuesday, before the Massachusetts Aggies. A glance at the Trinity error column tells the story. Eleven misplays were made by the wearers of the Gold and Blue.

To relate how the Aggies gained their runs would be mere tedious recountal of muff following fumble. Let it suffice to say that the team from Amherst got its first three runs without making a hit. In the latter part of the game, the Aggies began to "get to" Swift who had started off in splendid style. The support accorded the southpaw was not conducive to soothing a twirler's nerves, however, and Swift grew rather wild as the game progressed.

Murray, at third, made three errors, but redeemed himself somewhat by several sensational stops and throws. Withington, in center field, made three misplays, but came through with a three-base swat at the bat.

The score:

Football Rules Committee.

Prof. Raymond G. Gettell attended a meeting of the Football Rules Committee in Philadelphia Saturday, at which the principal business transacted was the selection of officials for the coming season, the rejection of incompetent officials, and the addition to the list of various new men, whom the committee thought capable.

NATURAL HISTORY BULLETIN. Russell Collection Subject of College Publication.

A bulletin on the Russell Collection of books on Natural History, now in the possession of the college library, was issued by the college last Saturday. In the bulletin are listed all of the two hundred and seventy-nine volumes on this subject, presented to the college by Dr. Gurdon W. Russell, of the class of 1834, who from 1897 to 1909 was the oldest alumnus of the college.

The books are taken up in the bulletin in the alphabetical order of the authors' names, and with each book goes a short concise description or classification with an account of the matter of especial interest about each volume. The Audobon collection, of which the copy of Audobon's "Birds of America," once the property of Havell, the engraver of the plates, is considered one of the finest known, is given first place in the pamphlet and comes in for extended notice in the introduction. Mr. Walter B. Briggs, librarian of the college, is the compiler of the list.

Professor Adams is preparing for publication as a bulletin a list of the several hundred contemporary pamphlets in the possession of the library relating to the Bangorian controversy, which disturbed the Church of England in the early eighteenth century under George I. This controversy is so named because of the connection with it of Bishop Hoadley of the diocese of Bangor.

Delta Kappa Epsilon Wins.

Wednesday morning the Delta Kappa Epsilon baseball team took the long end of a 10 to 3 score from the Sigma Psi nine. The Delta Kappa Epsilon batters hit Brand hard and were aided by errors on the part of the Sigma Psi infield. Geyer, in the box for the "Dekes" held the Sigma Psi's to two hits.

The score by innings:

D. K. E.,	5	0	3
Sigma Psi,	0	1	0
Batteries, Brand and Thompson,	1	0	0
Geyer and Craig. Umpire, Brainerd, '13.	1	0	0

Vermont Tomorrow.

The baseball team left yesterday for Vermont, where two games are to be played. Today Trinity meets the Middlebury College nine at Middlebury, and tomorrow journeys over to Burlington to cross bats with the University of Vermont team. A slight change in the lineup may improve things a bit. Gillooly will come in from left field to take Capt. L'Heureux's place at second. L'Heureux will go back to first, and Lambert, who is now playing first will go out to fill Gillooly's place at left field.

The list of men making the trip is as follows: Manager A. W. Walker, Captain L'Heureux, Brainerd, Shelley, Murray, Lambert, Gillooly, Withington, Carpenter, Swift, Warner, Cole, and Vizner.

THE ENGLISH UNIVERSITY. Interesting Talk by Mr. McNeil at Junior Smoker.

The fifth smoker of the junior class was held at the I. K. A. house on Monday evening. After a half-hour of informal conversation, Ramsay, '14, introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Fergus McNeil, who has been doing missionary work for the last ten years in Cairo, Egypt, but who has been spending the winter at the Hartford Seminary pursuing a special course of study. Mr. McNeil is an Oxford man and chose as his subject for the evening a comparison of English and American college life. He said that he believed in dividing colleges into units of small numbers, thereby securing more close association while in college and better spirit after college days. Mr. McNeil has visited many of the eastern colleges and was especially impressed by the highly developed unit system as it exists over here in the fraternity, club and class. This unit system was entirely lacking in Oxford and Cambridge, except that each of the twenty small colleges that comprise the whole of Oxford University is in itself somewhat of a unit, but even there the associations are not so close nor the ties as binding as in the unit systems which exist here.

From the unit system in colleges, Mr. McNeil passed to a description of his own college in Oxford, Christ Church, and gave a very graphic and clear portrayal of the life, customs and curriculum as it exists today. He showed the advantages of dividing the men into small bodies, stating that none of the colleges at Oxford numbered much over two hundred men. This was a decided advantage as there was a tendency in English colleges to make division according to social standing but since the numbers of the various colleges was kept small the men from the public schools would of necessity be drawn into the life of their respective colleges. While this feeling of close companionship, existed in college, after graduation the men seem to drift apart and lose sight of each other and the college, there being no reunions to bring men together again.

Mr. McNeil then spoke on the athletics in Oxford and Cambridge and described the so-called bumping races on the Thames which last for a week and are the greatest athletic events of the season. In connection with this he told many amusing incidents relative to the races.

Turning from athletics to study, Mr. McNeil spoke of the dons or graduate students and told many stories of their relations to the undergraduates, and of the doings of certain markedly eccentric dons. In closing he quoted some of the jingles or rhymes that the dons made about prominent people in public life or in the college, which caused great amusement among his hearers.

SENIORS PLANT TREE. 1913 Places Elm at South End of Campus.

Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock was the time appointed for the annual tree-planting by the seniors of Trinity. Shortly before the hour chosen, the seniors, attired in gowns, and President F. S. Luther, wearing the insignia of his office, assembled in front of Northam Towers and marched double file across the campus to where "Bill" Duffy had the tree in readiness for the planting. Forming a circle about the hole wherein the tree was to be planted, the class listened to a few words from Dr. Luther, who spoke about the magnificent elm trees which grew on the campus when the college was located on its old site where the Capitol now stands, how they were the pride of every one of the older alumni. He ended his address with the hope that the tree which the class was now planting would be a source of pride and joy to its members when they should return to the college in after years.

After a long "Trin" for Dr. Luther, President Deppen of the senior class threw the first shovelful of dirt about the roots of the elm tree. President Luther followed and after him each one of the seniors added a shovelful of dirt to the hole. When each senior had taken his turn, the class and the assembled crowd of students who were spectators sang with bared heads, "'Neath the Elms," and the ceremony was at an end.

Wesleyan Match Saturday.

The most important tennis contest of the season will take place Saturday afternoon when the Wesleyan team will come up to Hartford to play the Trinity men. Wesleyan has played three matches to date, having been beaten by Princeton 6-0, gained a victory over Columbia by the same score, and Wednesday afternoon succeeded in getting an even break at Yale.

As Trinity has only played one match, very little can be predicted as to the outcome of the contest. The men have been practicing daily on the college courts, and are rounding into good form. The team will be composed of Burgwin, '14, Ward, '13, Edsall, '15, and a fourth man to be picked from Squire, '15, Barnett, '15, Moses, '14, and Howell, '13.

Sunday Service.

Rev. William H. Van Allen, D. D., rector of the Church of the Advent, Boston, Massachusetts, will preach the sermon in the chapel Sunday morning.

After a "Trin" for Mr. McNeil, refreshments were served and the smoker resolved itself into a purely social capacity. The next smoker will be held at the Sigma Psi house on Monday, May 14th.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

Tomorrow afternoon the Trinity track team will compete with the University of Maine. Elsewhere in this issue there is a communication about supporting the baseball team. The same communication is equally applicable to the track team, and we hope that all the men in college will be down on the field to help the members of the squad to do their best. The team certainly looks better this year than it has for some time, and with the aid of a little interest and encouragement should go through the season successfully.

NOTICE.

We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the following extract from the current Trinity catalogue:

June 9—Trinity examinations begin.
June 20—Trinity examinations end.

MORE SUPPORT NEEDED.

To the Editor of the Tripod:

Everyone recognizes the fact that without support a team representing any of the various branches of college sport cannot do its best work, and yet the support that the Trinity undergraduate body has been according its baseball team is nothing short of wretched. At the Georgetown game, for instance, there were present not more than thirty students out of a total of two hundred and fifty in college. This lack of numbers would not in itself have been so bad, if only the few present had manifested the least signs of spirit, had displayed the least signs of life. There was not even a cheer to start the game, only a few desultory handclaps. Intervals between innings that should have been filled with cheers and noise, were marked rather by a silence which bespoke sick-rooms, as if a bunch of invalids were occupying the stands. How do you suppose the players on the team feel when they see this sort of thing? How does it look to the visiting teams that display all kinds of "pep", and are accustomed to it on their home grounds?

The enthusiasm which marks our football games—even the losing games—hasn't even once showed itself. Why not give baseball the support that football receives? It is every bit as deserving a sport. Let us bestir ourselves and show the men on the team that we are all behind them, that we appreciate their hard work, and that we believe they can win their games. Let us get out there on the diamond and cheer before the games, between innings, after the games. Trinity has always had a reputation for spirit; let us live up to it.

Miss MacAlpine's Funeral.

The funeral services of Miss Anita MacAlpine, who died quite suddenly last Sunday, were held at 11 a. m., on Tuesday at the home of her brother-in-law, Dr. Charles F. Johnson. President Flavel S. Luther read the service, assisted by Professor John J. McCook and Dr. Henry Ferguson. The service was largely attended by Miss MacAlpine's many friends, including the entire Beta Beta chapter of Psi Upsilon and many other students of Trinity. A double Trinity quartet, composed of, Collett, Craik, Fort, Shelley, Wm. Spofford, B. Spofford, Schmitt and Walker, rendered appropriate hymns and chants. After the service the body was removed to Albany, N. Y., where the interment took place.

ST. ANTHONY HALL WINS.

The Alpha Delta Phi nine was defeated yesterday afternoon by the St. Anthony Hall contingent by the score of 11 to 4. The steady pitching of Thomas, '13, was largely responsible for the victory. Both he and Deppen, who was in the box for Alpha Delta Phi, struck out thirteen men, but Deppen did not have good control and gave ten men bases on balls, whereas Thomas only passed three.

The score by innings:

To Professional Men:

No class of men need life insurance more than do professional men. As a rule, the income of a professional man is largely, if not wholly, dependent on his brain, and when the activity of the mind ceases, his income ceases, or is at once greatly reduced.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company offers to the professional man who desires to assure his wife and children for life, or for a specified term of years, the continuance of a substantial part, at least, of the income to which they were accustomed during his lifetime, a contract perfectly suited to these needs.

STUDENTS' TOUR OF FRANCE.

Under Supervision of Columbia and The Sorbonne.

A very unusual opportunity to see France and to learn the language is offered to the college men of this country owing to the efforts of Columbia University and the national office of the French universities schools at the Sorbonne. The tour was initiated last summer and met with such pronounced success, that Mr. Alexandre Bruno, the director of the tour, will conduct a party again this year. The trip will not be so much in the nature of a regular tour, under the supervision of some officer, as "an informal jaunt of congenial men bent upon seeing France more from a French point of view, with the idea of learning as much as possible of the country and of the language."

The total cost of the trip is very slight, $485. This includes practically everything. The party will sail on June 26th on the steamer "France" and will return from Havre on August 30th, taking in all about eighty days. The itinerary includes, besides many other places of historic interest and scenic beauty, Chamonix, Mont Blanc, Geneva, Dijon, Rouen, Tours, Bordeaux, Lourdes, Toulouse, and of course, Paris, which will be the last place visited. The number of men is limited, so applications should be sent in at once in order to receive consideration.

Further information concerning the trip may be secured from Mr. Alexandre Bruno, Maison Francaise, Columbia University, New York.

Scholarship Bequest.

Few of the men now in college have ever heard of Miss Augusta and Miss Mary Williams, but they were very well known by many of the Trinity graduates. For a number of years, in fact, until the death of each, they took a great interest in the college. Miss Mary Williams has been dead for several years. Her sister died last winter, and in her will provided that two thousand dollars be left to establish a scholarship at Trinity. Inasmuch as the will was still in probate at the time of the last meeting of the trustees, no action was taken on the matter, which will be allowed to rest until the June meeting.
