BISHOP THURSTON SPEAKS.

Gives Interesting and Amusing Address in Alumni Hall.

Bishop Thurston, '91, bishop of eastern Oklahoma, addressed the college body in Alumni Hall last Wednesday evening. Dr. Luther, in introducing the speaker of the evening, spoke of the college days of Bishop Thurston, and of what reputation he had gained as captain of the football team, as well as a baseball player. Dr. Luther's address was, as usual, to the point, and a loud burst of applause burst forth when he finished.

Bishop Thurston opened his address by stating some historical facts connected with the territory over which he is the presiding bishop. Then he went on to say, "Oklahoma is not, first of all, the country of which Yokohama is the capitol, but it is the last of the old frontiers, made famous in days gone by, by Indian massacres and hold-ups. Oklahoma has a population of two million people, and of the eight hundred thousand people that live in the eastern section of the state, one hundred and fifty thousand of them are Indians. Owing to the intense heat during the greater part of the year, this state produces a large amount of cotton, and naturally enough, a correspondingly large number of negroes."

"The negro question," Bishop Thurston continued, "is the great problem that confronts the American people today. It is a stupendous and exasperating problem, which has for many years troubled the nation from coast to coast, and it is up to you college men of today to prepare yourselves for a great crisis which is not far distant. There are seventy-five thousand negroes in eastern Oklahoma, and they, together with the Indians, make that section of the state an exceedingly difficult one to govern. When the white people began to settle the eastern coast, they were intent on discovering and exploring their new possessions, and the red men were gradually swept westward. That is the reason why no red men can be found in the eastern states today. The government assigned the Indians to a territory which they thought was of little or no value, and there the red men settled and tilled the soil, until at length they have made this territory far more productive than anyone had imagined it could be."

Bishop Thurston then went on to tell how these Indians, although not highly educated, were a hard-working people, and for that very reason deserved a place in the world, for he believes that any people, who are not producers, ought not to have a place in this world. He compared this statement with our college life, and said that "any man, no matter who he is, or how rich or poor he is, does not deserve a place in the college if he is an idler and loafer, and cares more for his social standing than for his college."

"There are five civilized tribes in Oklahoma. They are the Choctaw,

SECONDS PLAY ST. PAUL'S

Hard Game Tomorrow at Concord. Morris, '16, Captain.

The second team will play St. Paul's School at Concord, N. H., Saturday. This was the date originally set for the game, but unavailing effort was made to have it played last Wednesday, November 12, for the reason that on that date it would have been possible for the 'varsity substitutes to be in the Trinity line-up. As the 'varsity plays Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J., Saturday, and the substitutes will be taken on that trip, the team which goes to St. Paul's will be composed entirely of purely second team material.

The seconds will have a hard game on their hands, as St. Paul's always turns out an excellent team. The school plays only one outside game each year, after the first team has been picked from the best material resulting from an inter-class series of games. In other years the Harvard second team has been St. Paul's outside opponent, but this year the Crimson was dropped and the Trinity seconds taken on instead.

Despite its defeat by Hotchkiss several weeks ago, the second team has been showing greatly improved form. The individual play of each man in the Hotchkiss game was creditable. Since that game Coach Gettell has endeavored to develop more team work, and there is reason to believe that the seconds will be returned victors from the St. Paul's trip. Could the game have been put forward to last Wednesday, the presence in the line-up of Craig, Bradley, Jepson, Ives and Wessels, the 'varsity substitutes, would, of course, have made the chances for victory much brighter. But the combination of second string men which will face St. Paul's Saturday has proved itself in practice to be a strong one and it is sure to give a good account of itself.

Seminole, Cherokee, Creke and Chickasaw, and they are all five American citizens. The Osage tribe, although not so well civilized, are the richest tribe, by reason of the annual payments made to this tribe by the United States government. Each member of the tribe has a yearly income of one thousand dollars, and owing to the illiteracy of these Indians, the government is confronted with the great problem of protecting their wealth."

Bishop Thurston then spoke of the fine opportunities which await the young man of today in Oklahoma, and said that no matter how poorly prepared a man was for the task set before him, if he was ambitious and eager to do something for his fellowmen, there was always an opportunity for him to take his turn at the bottom of the ladder.

"JESTERS" CONSTITUTION.

Professor Brenton to Hold Tryouts for "The Prince and the Pauper."

The dramatic club meeting was called to order by president Spofford, '14, in Alumni Hall, on Monday, Nov. 11. The purpose of the meeting was to read the newly-drawn constitution and to discuss the immediate action of the club. The constitution, written by a committee appointed by the president, was signed by all the active members present. The Board of Directors will be comprised of all the officers of the club, an extra member and a faculty member. Mr. Wroth, '14, was elected the club member and Professor Brenton the faculty member.

Professor Brenton is greatly interested in the "Jesters" and will undoubtedly be of great value to them. At present he is holding the manuscript of "The Prince and the Pauper", and as soon as the parts arrive will hold the "try-outs" to decide definitely on the cast. The play is an elaborate one, having seven scenes and a large cast. However, with a competent director and the aid of Miss Alice Smith, president of the Young Women's Branch of the Y. W. C. A., of Washington Street, Hartford, there should be no trouble in making a good production. Several Hartford society girls may take part.

At present the club is in communication in several directions with producers. Mr. Robert Milton, who became interested last spring through the Hunter-Bradford Stock Co., has consented to give the last few rehearsals. In the meantime, a director must be had, and the club may be able to secure one in less than a week's time. Rehearsals must necessarily begin early because of the intervening Christmas vacation. The time set for the production must be before Lent, probably February 23 and 24, at Parsons' Theatre, Hartford.

Constitution of the Trinity College Dramatic Association.

ARTICLE I.

The name of this association shall be "The Jesters", of Trinity College.

ARTICLE II.

The officers shall be a President, a Vice-President, and a Secretary-Treasurer.

ARTICLE III.

The President, and in his absence the Vice-President, shall preside at all meetings of the club. The President, or in his absence the Vice-President, shall, in conjunction with the Treasurer, sign all checks and contracts of the said club. He shall, at all times, watch over the interests of the club.

THE FALL TOURNAMENT.

Finals Have Yet to Be Played by Burgwin and Edsall.

The fall tennis tournament of singles at Trinity has come to a close, with the exception of the finals. The finals could not be played as scheduled on account of the condition of the courts caused by the lateness of the season and the inclement weather.

In the first round of the tournament, I. B. Shelley defeated R. A. Bond, 6-0, 6-0; S. H. Edsall defeated R. L. Maxon, by default. Niles defeated O'Connor, 6-1, 6-1; D. S. Squire defeated F. S. Barnwell, 6-1, 6-0; Platt defeated Macrum, 6-2, 6-2; R. F. Walker defeated H. B. Thorne, 6-1, 6-4; Mitchell defeated Warner, 6-1, 6-0; Peck defeated S. E. Squire, 6-3, 7-5; Burgwin defeated Stites, 6-4, 6-2; Furnivall defeated Hale, 6-1, 6-4. In the second round, Shelley defeated Little, 6-1, 1-6, 6-1; Edsall defeated Niles, 6-3, 1-6, 6-1; Platt defeated D. S. Squire, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4; Walker defeated E. G. Schmitt, 3-6, 10-8, 6-3; Mitchell defeated Peck, 6-8, 6-3, 8-6; Sage lost to Burgwin by default; Lazarus defeated deRonge, 2-6, 9-7, 6-1; Barnett defeated Furnivall, 6-4, 6-3. In the third round, Edsall defeated Shelley, 6-2, 7-5; Walker defeated Platt, 6-1, 6-4; Burgwin defeated Mitchell, 8-6, 7-5; Barnett defeated Lazarus, 6-4, 7-5. In the semi-finals, Edsall defeated Walker, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4; Burgwin defeated Barnett, 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Edsall and Burgwin have yet to play for the college championship. This may be postponed until next spring.

Hon. Lawson Purdy and Good Government.

(Editor's note—This communication should have been published in the issue following Mr. Purdy's address on Founders' Day, but arrived too late.)

To the Editor of the Tripod:

In an editorial in the New York Globe of October 27th a contrast is drawn between the attitude towards politics of John Jacob Astor and that of his grandson, Vincent Astor—the former through well-grounded fear that the Tweed regime would practically confiscate his real estate by unjust assessments, was compelled to support it; on the other hand young Vincent Astor, with all his real estate holdings, has been free to do as he saw fit in New York politics without fear of retaliation in the way of assessment reprisals. Contrasting the two situations, the Globe's editorial says: "It is a significant thing that the city's largest taxpayer has confidence enough in the integrity of the tax board under the leadership of Lawson Purdy to take the chance by favoring good government."

The fact that Lawson Purdy is a Trinity man, that he is one of Trinity's contributions toward the good government of the metropolis and is today the ablest authority in the country on the

 Speaking very briefly of the religion in Oklahoma, Bishop Thurston said—"There is every conceivable denomination amongst the eight hundred thousand people in eastern Oklahoma, and some of these can only be found in that state, for they spring up and wither away, without ever spreading. Almost all of the chief religious denominations act with each other in a small way, in order that the word of God may be brought and strengthened in the minds of these Indians and negroes in Oklahoma.

The Bishop then told an anecdote of the Rev. Sherman Coolidge, who, although a full-blooded Shoshone Indian, is an Episcopal minister. Coolidge came to a convention in Boston several years ago, and while there he happened to meet some people of the same name. On being introduced, the Boston Coolidges remarked that they had originally come from England, and that their ancestors had come over in the Mayflower, whereupon the red man replied, "Indeed, and my ancestors were on the reception committee."

In ending his address, Bishop Thurston asked that when the college men of today and the future made their decision as to what would be their life-work, they would consider the proposition of becoming ministers, in order that the gospel might reach every heart and home in this broad land of ours, "for," Bishop Thurston says, "Religion is the basis of manhood, and the justification of life is service; service to God as well as to our fellowmen."

 You fellows know what that means! We've been very successful in this regard with Fatima Cigarettes. By the way, these cigarettes were first sold in the college towns—and you agreed with us that they were good.
 Then we put out for the big race, to make Fatimas of nation-wide reputation, and today more are sold than any other cigarette in this country.
 No purer, or more carefully chosen tobacco grows than that in Fatimas. We purposely put them in a plain inexpensive wrapper—in this way we can afford quality tobacco, and twenty of the smokes for 15 cents.
 Now your college crew is of utmost importance to you—so is a good cigarette, and it's your aim in life to keep Fatimas in the lead—right up to their good quality—right up to where you first found them, and will always find them.
 Success fellows! You started this cigarette on its successful career—and you pull a strong oar all over this country.
