TRINITY VICTORIOUS.

Worcester Defeated in First Game by Score of 48 to 0.

The Trinity football team opened the season at Trinity Field, last Saturday, by defeating Worcester Tech. by the one-sided score of 48 to 0. Despite the large score that Captain Hudson's men rolled up, the game was interesting and with the exception of numerous fumbles, was well played. The Worcester eleven, heavily outweighed, fought gamely, and tried every one of its trick plays though to no avail.

The only fault that can be found with the team is the frequent fumbling, which of course is to be expected in the first game, and which should be easily rectified. The work of the team as a whole was good. Hudson, as expected, was the star of the game, while Coffee, the freshman halfback, showed to good advantage. The most spectacular play of the whole afternoon was made by Coffee, who intercepted a forward pass and ran forty-seven yards for a touchdown.

The kicking department will be well taken care of by Kinney. Out of seven attempts, he booted the ball between the goal posts six times. He also did the kicking-off and several times kicked the ball over Tech's goal line.

Worcester was clearly outclassed and could make no headway against the stonewall defence of the Trinity line. A number of forward passes were attempted by Worcester, but only one succeeded, which gained them just three yards. Several of the passes were intercepted by Trinity, a few resulting in scores.

The game in detail:

First Period.

Worcester won the toss and chose to receive. Kinney kicked off to Camp on the 5-yard line. Camp ran back ten yards, and on the next play, Trinity gained possession of the ball, Smith recovering a fumble. Hudson then took the ball over the line for a touchdown. Kinney failed to kick the

DINNER FOR ROOSEVELT.

Dr. Luther and Mr. Briggs Attend Meeting in New York.

The Trinity faculty was represented by Dr. Luther and Mr. Briggs at the farewell dinner tendered Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in New York, Friday night. Leaving Hartford Friday afternoon and returning Saturday morning. Dr. Luther and Mr. Briggs spent 17 busy hours. They report that the affair, although termed a "dinner", was in reality more of an enthusiastic gathering of such size that those who found the opportunity to partake of the five courses of the meal were few and far between.

The dinner was held at the New York theater roof garden, known on other nights as the "Garden of the Dance", and the attendance was well over 2,000. It marked the departure of Colonel Roosevelt upon his scientific and lecturing tour of the South American cities and wilderness.

Dr. Luther says that it is doubtful whether if, during all his long and eventful career, Colonel Roosevelt ever received an ovation more enthusiastic or more sincere. The Colonel was cheered as the foremost living American, as the greatest of Bull Moosers, as a past and future president, as a mighty hunter and as a good fellow. The famous good nature of the Colonel was never more in evidence, as his likewise famous smile, which was ever present, plainly indicated.

Gifford Pinchot, formerly National Forester and a member of the tennis cabinet during the Roosevelt administration, was toastmaster. Beside the Colonel, the speakers were ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, Raymond Robins of Chicago, and Mrs. Charles Morton. The invocation was by Rev. Father J. J. Curran of Wilkes-barre, Pa., the well-known priest of the Pennsylvania anthracite field. The guests included a long list of nationally prominent men and women. During the evening John Purroy Mitchell, Fusion candidate for Mayor of New York, called to pay his respects to the Colonel.

Dr. Luther reports the speeches as being exceptionally good. That of Colonel Roosevelt was, of course, the most important, and was wildly cheered. Colonel Roosevelt defended his doctrine of the recall of judicial decisions, made a plea for the defeat of the Republican candidates for the Court of Appeals bench, and took many cutting flings at the political bosses. He assured his audience that his return to the United States next spring would find him ready at once to do his part in promoting the best interests of the Progressive party. Colonel Roosevelt sailed for South America Saturday morning.

FRESHMAN BIBLE APPEARS.

Book Essentially the Same as Heretofore.

Last Friday saw the issuing of the third volume of the Freshman Bible, which was distributed gratis to the members of the class of 1917, but which commands from all others desirous of possessing one, the price of twenty-five cents. The date of issue of the bibles this year is a little later than usual, as formerly the books were obtainable almost as soon as the college opened. The slight delay this year was an unavoidable one.

As usual, the Trinity College branch of the Y. M. C. A. was responsible for the issuing of the book. The committee of publication was as follows: Walter F. Borchert, '14, editor-in-chief; Benjamin L. Ramsay, '14, compiler; Howard R. Hill, '15, business manager; Morton S. Crehore, '14; George G. Nilsson, '15; J. Norton Ives, '16.

The contents of the book are essentially the same as in previous bibles, the only change being the brief editorial of greeting by the editor-in-chief.

College Meeting.

As is customary before the first football game of the season, a mass meeting was held in Alumni Hall at seven o'clock on Friday evening, October 3 to practice cheers and songs. Dr. Luther, to the great regret of all, was unable to be there, as he was out of town.

The meeting was called to order by F. S. Fitzpatrick, '14, who in a brief speech explained the purpose of the meeting and introduced as the first speaker, Captain Hudson, '14. Hudson was greeted with an ovation and it was several minutes before he could make himself understood. He thanked the men for supporting the team so well to date, and urged still stronger support as the schedule progressed.

The next speaker was E. G. Myers, '14, president of the Athletic Association. He announced that there would follow elections for the manager of the baseball team vice A. E. Hodge, '15, resigned, in two weeks' time. He further urged all to join the association, and explained how the coöperation of all was absolutely necessary.

In between the speeches were interspersed songs and cheers under the direction of W. S. Spofford, '14, cheer leader, and Bent, '15.

The meeting was then adjourned after singing "Neath the Elms."

Addition to Physics Equipment.

An addition has recently been made to the apparatus in the Physics laboratory. This augmentation to the equipment makes it possible for thirty additional experiments to be performed in advance of the forty previously performed. The course now satisfies the requirements for the more rigid medical schools such as Johns Hopkins.

SUNDAY SERMON.

"Render unto Caesar The Things That Are Caesar's."

"Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's," was taken by President Luther as the text of his sermon at the Sunday Chapel service. The words are found in Matthew 22: 21. Doctor Luther proved the importance of the verse by stating that of all those in the Bible it is the most often preached about.

He said in part: "The name of Caesar has stamped its individuality upon all time. He possessed power, dominance, great wisdom, and valor. He was worshipped when living and dead. He is still living in the minds of the people, and his name rouses many to endeavor.

"Complaint against the payment of taxes led Jesus to utter the words of my text. The payment of taxes is the act of contributing our share toward the common expenses. It is one of the shames of human character that otherwise good citizens object to paying their share.

"Jesus left the objectors to decide between God and Caesar. We have the same question to decide today. We have no Caesar over us, but we have the statutes of government, and what is more powerful, public opinion. Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things which are God's. Christ would approve.

"It is not always easy to decide what things are Caesar's, what are God's. Thought, prayer, and careful consideration are necessary. It is the greatest of all dangers to mistake a thing of God's for a thing of Caesar's. It takes courage to decide the right way.

"It is one of the blessings of the Twentieth Century that the things of Caesar are moving nearer to the things of God. All Godly ideals are now recognized by Caesar. But when Caesar, who rules you in your temporal affairs, orders one thing, and Almighty God, your creator, redeemer, and sacrifice, orders another, then there can be but one choice. Decide what is right; your conscience will tell you to do it; and I pray God that you will have strength to do it, so that you may daily live a more true and Godly life."

Tea at St. Anthony Hall.

After the game with Worcester Tech. Saturday afternoon, a tea, followed by dancing, was given by the men of St. Anthony Hall. The patronesses were: Mrs. I. K. Hamilton, jr., Mrs. McIvor and Mrs. Simpson. Among those present were the Misses St. John, Robbins, Beatrice Cook, Catherine Cook, Billings, Bertha Lyman, Esther Lyman, Corson, Priker, Cheney, McIvor, Allen, Brewster, and McCormick. Messrs. J. R. Cook, '10, Brainerd, '13, Boynton, Ingersoll, D. S. Squire, J. A. Mitchell, Stites, Dorwart, J. G. N. Mitchell, Thorn, Ives, Cole, Maxon, O'Connor, Baldwin, F. Barnwell, J. Barnwell, Clemment, Creamer, Meyers, Rock, Schuyler, E. Squire, Lyon, Nilsson, Peck, and McIvor.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

Singing at Trinity.

It is with a strong sense of shame, and perhaps with a resolve to use his influence to improve it, that every honest Trinity man has to admit, when college singing is brought up that Trinity is far inferior to almost any other New England college in her class. So it is with pleasure that we hear President Fitzpatrick of the Senate announcing that college sings are to be held this year under the auspices of the student governing body. This is a long step in the right direction. The more the college body practices singing the more they will display their vocal prowess on the football field or other field. Speaking of football fields, reminds us that there is one football song that is unexcelled in the East for that sort of thing that has not yet been used at Trinity to any noticeable extent. That is Rosenbaum's "Up in fair Hartford, where merry breezes blow," written for the 1914 sophomore smoker. This song has a swing to it greater than any song we have now. Instead of using the ending "1-9-1-4," etc., why not use "T-r-i-n, T-r-i-n, Yea, Trinity!" How about it, Trinity men?

goal. Worcester again received, and Camp, running the ball back, fumbled, and Castator recovered it. Coffee made twelve yards around right end. Hudson fumbled and Stone recovered it. Coyne made one yard around left end. Camp tried a forward pass to Sherwood but with no gain. Coyne tried another run around right end, but with a loss of seven yards. Coyne kicked, and Kinney ran it back 45 yards. Several rushes and a penalty to Worcester for being off-side gave Trinity about 45 more yards. Trinity fumbled again and Sherwood captured it 10 yards from his own goal line. Worcester then gained 5 yards by a forward pass, and the quarter ended with the score, Trinity 6, Worcester 0.

Second Quarter.

Worcester tried to rush the ball from her 15-yard line, but lost on downs. Moore then made 4 yards, Ives 4 yards, and through a fumble, which Moore recovered, Trinity added six more points to her credit. Kinney kicked the goal. Worcester kicked off to Ives, who ran back twenty yards. Another fumble by Trinity gave Worcester the ball. A forward pass was then tried with no gain. Tulluck fumbled and Moore recovered it with a gain of 5 yards. Two more rushes gave Trinity 15 yards, but on account of being penalized 15 yards for holding, the ball resumed its former position. Howell then punted, but it went over the goal line. Worcester brought it out to the 25-yard line, but in the next play, Hudson intercepted a forward pass and ran it back 15 yards. Jones replaced Sherwood, and Coffee ran around right end for a touchdown. Another goal was kicked by Kinney. The whistle blew and the second period ended with the score, Trinity 20, Worcester 0.

Third Period.

Wessels replaced Wooley and Elder replaced Smith. Worcester kicked off to Wessels who ran it back 10 yards. In the next 5 rushes, the blue and gold gained 30 yards. A fumble gave Worcester the ball. Coyne punted and Ives made 10 yards. The next two plays brought the ball to Worcester's 7-yard line. Hudson then went through center for a touchdown. Kinney then added another point to his credit. Craig was sent in to replace Coffee. Worcester kicked off to Wessels who made 5 yards. Hudson went through the line for 20 yards. Myers was sent in to take Moore's place. Ives made 10 yards, and then a fumble gave Worcester the ball. Another fumble, recovered by Meyer, gave the ball again to Trinity. Hudson gained 10 yards, and Ives went through for a touchdown. The third period ended after Kinney had kicked another goal. The score stood, Trinity 34, Worcester 0.

Fourth Period.

The last period started with the regular men back in their original positions. Trinity kicked off, but the ball went behind the goal line, so that it was brought out to the 25 yard-line. On the first rush a fumble gave Trinity the ball. Moore rushed it through for 5 yards and then a fumble gave it to the Worcester men again. Hudson intercepted a forward pass, and ran 25 yards for a touchdown. Kinney kicked the goal. Kinney again kicked off, and Camp ran it back 4 yards. A forward pass proved unsuccessful, and then another was tried. Coffee inter-

Y. M. C. A. Vespers.

The Y. M. C. A. vespers services were started Sunday at five o'clock, with Moses, '14, president of the Association, officiating, and with President Luther as the speaker. The service was mostly musical, several hymns being sung, and there was a lesson, while Dr. Luther offered prayer.

The subject of the address was the lesson to be learned from the parable of the ten virgins, which was the portion of the Scripture read at the service. In this parable, Dr. Luther said, two types of character were depicted, those who were wise enough to provide for the future, and those who were satisfied with things as they were. While the bridegroom tarried, they "slumbered and slept," while possibly all ten of the lamps were left burning. When the cry came announcing the approach of the bridegroom, perhaps all of the lamps had burned out, or very nearly so. Five of the virgins had had the foresight to provide an extra supply of oil, the others were out of it. Applying the story to our own experiences, Dr. Luther said that there were many of us who got along well enough while things went smoothly, and there were some who were capable of rising to emergencies. How many of us, he asked, would have been of those who, in the great disasters of recent times, struggled to save their own lives without regard to others? Wouldn't it be a good thing for us in the ordering of our lives to lay in a supply of oil? It had been found expedient to do so in financial affairs, it was a good thing in scholastic pursuits. We should do more than merely what is required, and not only in studies, but in character,—by resisting the lesser daily temptations, by driving ourselves along paths which are not the easiest,—so should we lay in a supply of oil which would not only keep our lamps burning clearly while we slumber and sleep in the grave, but should enable us to have a surplus for the time when the bridegroom should come, and our characters would be required to burn the most clearly.
