WILLIAMS WINS AT HOCKEY.

Trinity Seven Downed in One-sided Game by Score of 12 to 3.

The Williams hockey team won an easy victory over the Trinity seven at Williamstown last Saturday. The superior team-work of the Williams men and the brilliant individual playing of Cutler were the factors chiefly responsible for the decisive nature of Trinity's defeat. The Massachusetts collegians displayed great accuracy in their shooting, Cutler being the star in this department. Captain Rogers of Williams put up a very strong defensive game, Trinity being unable to score until just before the close of the first half.

For Trinity, Captain Burgwin played a very fast game and was easily the star of the Blue and Gold seven. Little showed good form at center, and Evans who had his hands rather more than full, attempting to ward off the rapid-fire attack of the Williams forwards, tightened up in the second half and played a strong game throughout that period.

Gillette scored Williams' first goal in the first half-minute of play, and two minutes later repeated his feat. Five goals in succession by Cutler and Curtis gave Williams a 7 to 0 lead, but Burgwin finally broke the hoodoo, with a goal for Trinity, just before time was called for the first half. In the second half, Captain Burgwin and Little each rallied once for Trinity, while Cutler shot four goals and Conklin one for Williams.

The summary:

Williams		Trinity
Rogers	G	Evans
MacNamee	P	Howell
Conklin	CP	Cole
Cutler	R	Burgwin
Gillette	C	Little
Curtis, Payson	LW	Walker
Moody	RW	Hatch

Score, Williams 12, Trinity 3; goals scored by Cutler 7, Curtis 2, Gillette 2, Conklin, Burgwin 2, Little; referee, Peacock of Pittsfield; goal umpire, Brewer and King of Williams; timer, Stone of Williams; time, 15 and 20-min. periods.

Communication.

To the Editor of the Tripod:

Let's take a short survey of the whole S. D. C. problem, considering its purpose, actions and effects.

Its purpose is undoubtedly good, as Paul Maxon says. The promotion of good fellowship, the reward for athletic and other successes, and the stimulation of Freshman effort are all to be desired.

Its actions are scandalous. The members drink altogether too much for their own good, with the inevitable results of depleted vitality, pocketbooks, and moral sense.

The greatest trouble with the Sophomore Dining Club, however, is the effect it has on all Trinity undergraduates, and the impressions of Trinity it gives to "the town." When the "best men" of the sophomore class express their personalities by drunken revels, it is natural for the sophomores who are still sheep, to follow what seems to be

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB.

Meeting Last Tuesday. Paper by Fitzpatrick on Currency Bill.

A meeting of the Political Science Club was held at Professor Gettell's house last Tuesday evening. After the usual business was completed, President Fitzpatrick read a very clear and comprehensive paper on the Currency Bill, which was followed by a lengthy discussion. After the meeting the executive committee drew up a programme for the next three meetings of the club. That the 17th of February will be given over to the discussion of Current Topics. An informal debate will be held at the meeting of March 3rd, and on March 17th a mock court will try a case taken from the field of International Law, with the members of that class acting as the higher officers of the court.

Announcement was made of the annual convention of the Intercollegiate Civic League which will be held on the 27th and 28th of March. As usual the first day of the convention will be in New York, the second in Washington where the delegates meet the President and a great many of the high officials in the government, as well as attending sessions of the House, Senate and Supreme Court.

the obvious path to perfection. Freshman-Junior banquet drunkenness is a reflection of Sophomore Dining Club drunkenness, and, of course, the converse is true. Eliminate one, and you will lessen the evils of the other.

It is a very strange thing that you cannot get most of the high-school and working boys in Hartford to believe that all of the students at Trinity do not drink. This comes from the fact that when Trinity appears in public socially, it appears through the Sophomore Dining Club. The songs of its members cannot be drowned, and the stories of the liquor consumed is spread by waiters, reporters, and persons who look into the banquet hall or see the members on the street.

Trinity is singularly obtuse about this matter of drinking, anyway. Modern intelligent, successful young, business men do not drink. Many large business houses require a temperance pledge from their salesmen. At a recent banquet of business men in New York, eleven of the leading business men of the country sat at the speaker's table. They included manufacturers, sales managers, advertising men, a representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and an officer of the National Civic Federation. The check for a round of drinks at that table showed one lone highball. The chairman commented on this showing, and boasted of it as an indication of the efficiency of the speakers. If I were to tell you the chairman's name, nine-tenths of you would reach for your watches, and find it reproduced on the faces. (Continued on page 4.)

SUNDAY CHAPEL.

President Luther Preaches on Subject of Peace.

"Think not that I come to bring peace unto the world, but a sword," this, said Dr. Luther, was the assertion of Him of Whom the prophets prophesied and the angels sang as the Prince of Peace. Since the time when that statement was made, as before it, not a day has gone by but has witnessed men in mortal combat, soldiers suffering from hideous wounds on the battlefield, and women weeping for those who will not return. History tells of times of deadly conflict, struggles sometimes to a good purpose, but often brought on by unworthy causes.

There still exists the hope in the hearts of many that the prophecies will soon be fulfilled and that universal peace will be established. "But conflict," continued Dr. Luther, "has marked all previous development and is likely to continue to do so. The present-day facts of chemistry and physics were established only after years of conflict and argument and the overthrow of false existing theories.

"There will be a struggle so long as the world is divided between the forces of good and evil, and such a struggle, where it results in a victory for the right is desirable. Those conflicts over the trivialities and littlenesses, are the ones in which men waste their virility, and blood to no avail, which are a curse to our civilization. Where good is allied against evil, justice against injustice, chastity against impurity, where the extensive list of virtues composing the Christian character are lined up against the corresponding evils, subjection to which marks the scrap heap of humanity, there the conflict is a worthy one. In the heart of the battle we may be in doubt as to what is right, we may strike friend for foe, and mistake the bugle call to charge for the cry of victory of the other side, but the fight cannot end, there cannot be universal peace, until the victory rests with the right.

New Course in Mechanics.

An additional course in Mechanics is to be offered by the Department of Physics during the coming term. The course will be known as Physics 2b, the hours to be the same as for Physics 2a, i. e., Group I, Monday at 9.45, Wednesday at 8.45, Friday at 8.45. The subjects to be taken up include: graphical and analytical methods for finding moments and centroids, friction and lubrication, velocity and acceleration diagrams, brakes and dynamometers, mechanism trains, toothed gearing, belt, rope, and chain gearing, balancing. Members of previous Physics 2a or 7a classes are eligible and Mr. Knowlton desires that any who contemplate electing the new course, virtually an extension of course 2a, signify to him such intention during the present week.

Debating Association.

The Debating Association held a meeting in the history room at 12.45 Saturday. The resignation of Scofield, '15, as secretary was read and accepted. E. U. Cowles, '15, was elected to take his place. A letter was read from Wesleyan in which the offer of an intercollegiate debate with Trinity was declined. A suggestion that a freshman debate be held between the two institutions was not taken up.

A letter was read from Rutgers in which the plans for the intercollegiate debate with Trinity were accepted. The debate will probably be held some time in April at Hartford, on the question: Resolved, That the banking and currency reform legislation of the United States should contain a provision for a central reserve bank under federal control.

President Lazarus was instructed to appoint a committee for reorganizing the Association in accordance with its needs, and similar to like organizations in other colleges.

E. U. COWLES, Secretary.

No More Supplement.

After due deliberation we have decided to give up the Alumni Supplement.
It was never, as far as we can judge,
received with much enthusiasm, and we ourselves do not believe that it was deserving of much. We were seldom able to obtain particularly readable news. We have heard from some of the alumni that the things of most interest to them are the Alumni Notes,
and these we can print in each issue
of the Tripod, or whenever we receive them, without using a great deal of space. We are discarding the Supple- ment, not because it is impossible to continue with it, but almost altogether
because of the attitude of the alumni.
The Supplement was for them only,
and as they do not seem to want it,
there is no use in giving it to them.

Alumni Note.

Vesper Service.

Mr. Briggs was the speaker at the vesper service on Sunday afternoon. He took as his subject "South American Problems." He spoke of the ignorance of the modern college man in regard to conditions, social and religious, existing in the South American states. He emphasized the importance of becoming acquainted with the truth concerning these states as they are developing rapidly. During the course of his talk, Mr. Briggs quoted some facts from Robert E. Speer's new book on South America and urged the men to read it.

In closing, Mr. Briggs announced that an opportunity would be offered for a closer study of the question as the Mission Study class of the Y. M. C. A. was about to take it up.

President Mitchell, '15, conducted the service.

"Keeping in Front"

You fellows know what that means! We've been very successful in this regard with Fatima Cigarettes. By the way, these cigarettes were first sold in the college towns—and you agreed with us that they were good.

Then we put out for the big race, to make Fatimas of nation-wide reputation, and today more are sold than any other cigarette in this country.

No purer, or more carefully chosen tobacco grows than that in Fatimas. We purposely put them in a plain inexpensive wrapper—in this way we can afford quality tobacco, and twenty of the smokes for 15 cents.

Now your college crew is of utmost importance to you—so is a good cigarette, and it's your aim in life to keep Fatimas in the lead—right up to their good quality—right up to where you first found them, and will always find them.

Success fellows! You started this cigarette on its successful career—and you pull a strong oar all over this country.

If education means anything, it means that we should see and understand tendencies like this, that we should be the most radical in seeking personal efficiency, and that we should demand of our honorary organizations the highest integrity.

In fairness to the Sophomore Dining Club, it should be said that the morale of the society has improved greatly during the past two years, due principally to the efforts of men like Horace Fort and Peter P. Lawlor. Its name is unfortunate, and its accomplishments just about nil.

It is very easy to find a really good substitute.
