BASKETBALL PLANS.

Schedule for Interclass Games to Be Arranged.

Arrangements are being made which, it is hoped, will bring about a revival of basketball as a college sport. A game will be played between the sophomore and freshmen teams on the evening of the sophomore smoker, March 16. Beside this first game, Mr. Roberts acting for the Senate, has arranged for a meeting of the captains of the class teams to draw up a schedule of interclass games. Up to the present time captains have been elected to three of the teams, as follows: juniors, H. L. Brainerd; sophomores, Herbert Spencer; and freshmen, H. T. Bradley. The senior team has yet to elect a captain but this will be done shortly. Some talk has been circulating about a game between the freshmen team and the freshmen team of some other college such as Amherst or Wesleyan, but as yet this has little foundation. The freshmen team in preparation for the sophomore game has already made arrangements with Dr. Swan and practice will be held on Monday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons at five o'clock in the gymnasium.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

Mr. Briggs Elected Trinity Delegate to Northfield Conference.

A meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the Tripod room on Thursday evening, February 26, at seven o'clock.

In regard to the coming Northfield Conference, to be held in June, under the leadership of Dr. Norman E. Richardson, professor of religious psychology and pedagogy in Boston University, president Mitchell, '15, read a letter from Harrison S. Elliott, secretary for Bible study under the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. This letter urged upon the local association the great benefits which might be derived by sending the leader of Bible and mission study classes to the conference at Northfield. It recommended that a professor and every upper classman expecting to lead a voluntary study group next year, be sent as Trinity delegates to the conference. These men would for ten days conduct just such a class as they intend to lead here at Trinity, at the same time receiving instruction from the leaders of the conference. For Trinity delegate to this convention, Mr. W. B. Briggs was nominated and elected.

President Mitchell regretted the small attendance at the Y. M. C. A. meeting, and said that if the association was to be a success, a larger attendance was needed. There were present only twelve men. The president had intended to enroll names for the mission study class which Mr. Briggs is to conduct this term. The class is to study the conditions in South America. The president deferred enrolling names for this class and the calling for volunteers for the Spruce Street mission until more members could be assembled at another meeting.

It was also announced that the association was arranging for an entertainment to be held Thursday evening in the Park Church Parlors, to raise money for the aid of the Boys' Interest Club of the Spruce Street settlement.

Track Men May Have to Give up Easter Vacation.

This year an effort is going to be made to continue track work during the Easter vacation. All the men who are able will remain here during the recess and preparation for the spring work will go on uninterrupted. This action is made necessary by the fact that the class track meet comes immediately after the holidays, and it is feared the strenuous work which the men are now going through, will be of little advantage if it is entirely dropped during the vacation.

Thus far the class in calisthenics has proved a decided success. Forty or fifty men, from both the tennis and track squads, are showing up daily, and Doctor Swan has taken charge of the drill, introducing some new and original exercises.

LIBRARY CONVENTION.

Borglum, the Noted Sculptor, Speaks on Insurgency in Art.

Returning from New London, Mr. Briggs reports the convention of the Connecticut Library Association, of which he was president for the last year, to be a great success. The convention was largely attended and many fine speakers were heard. Dr. John G. Stanton, vice-president of the board of trustees, welcomed the association, and Mr. Briggs introduced Dr. Frederick Henry Sykes, president of the Connecticut College for Women, who spoke on "Education for Library Service", in reference to a library course in the college. The address was an excellent one and was followed by a general discussion of the question. The outcome of this, and the practical result of Dr. Sykes' address was the vote to appoint a committee of five to advise with Doctor Sykes in regard to the establishment of a course in library training in the Connecticut College for Women. Library work is largely a work for women and at the present time, notwithstanding the excellent courses offered at Columbia, Simmons College, Pratt Institute, and the New York Library School, the courses are too few in number to meet the demands of the increasing prominence of the work.

The morning session adjourned for luncheon at the Mohican House. In the afternoon Gutzon Borglum was the first speaker, on "Insurgency in Art, and America's Relation to it", defining an insurgent as one who says what he himself thinks without reference to libraries of ancients, and carries criticism into action, action into construction, and construction into creation, expressing what he thinks and feels as naturally as a flower opens in the sun. Mr. Borglum cited many of the world's masters as illustrations of his idea, ending by a criticism on the absurdity of copying the style of artists, referring with great feeling to the character of Lincoln and Washington and the important phases of American history as opportunities and subjects for sculpture and decoration in this country.

Debating Tryouts.

Try-outs for the inter-collegiate debating team will be held Friday at four o'clock in Alumni Hall. The judges will be Professors Urban, Kleene, Gettell, and Mr. Corbett. Among those expecting to try out are Spitz, Dunn, Fitzpatrick, Schatz, Duffy, Lazarus, and Johnston. The basis of selection will be a five to eight-minute speech, on the question in hand.

GLEE CLUB WORK OVER.

Last Concert of Season Presented at Automobile Show.

On Tuesday and Friday nights the Glee Club repeated its triumph of the preceding Saturday in even greater conquests. True to its word the management had provided a piano for Tuesday evening. Grouped about this the Club on Tuesday presented for its first offering "Tom, Tom, the Piper's Son." As in the Junior Week Concert the tender sentiment and quaint humor of the piece delighted the audience. For an encore "Honey, My Little Girlie" was given. Later in the evening a group of college songs, including "My Castle on the River Nile," "Honey, Bless Your Heart," "Lord Geoffrey Amherst," and "There's a College on the Hill" was sung.

Friday night the members of the club were somewhat reluctantly persuaded to ascend the platform and display their timid and shrinking forms to the public gaze. From this coign of advantage "The Rosary" was sung much more effectively than might have been expected. Encouraged by the reception of this, the "Honey, My Little Girlie" was again led forth by the hand, but through nervousness she again failed to do herself justice. And then as the last number the Club sang the "Carmena" waltz. This too, was well rendered, and even better received. For an encore the medley of "Old Mother Hubbard" was sung, and as "Positively the last appearance on any stage" the "College on the Hill" was again presented.

The Club during the whole week created a very favorable impression and was uniformly well received. So well did they perform that the manager of the show was led to express his regrets that he had not engaged it for the whole week. This augurs well for next year.

But the Club did not show the proper spirit in getting to concerts. Only once, and that the last time, did anything like the approximate number show up. If the Club expects to keep up a favorable impression, once created, every man must feel personally responsible for each concert.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

The Track Team and the Athletic Association.

The excellent showing made by Trinity's representatives in the recent Armory Meet brings out a striking defect in the rules of our Athletic Association governing the award of the track "T" and indirectly, the award of the "ATA". Points won in a dual meet are counted toward the latter, and also, a point or fraction of a point in the New England Intercollegiates, a first place in the Wesleyan meet, and a position on a winning relay team in intercollegiate competition, all entitle the winner to a "T". There is no provision made for places won in an indoor intercollegiate meet such as that just held in the Armory. Next to the B. A. A. meet, this is undoubtedly the most important track contest in New England, and for Trinity to place in events in this meet is far more to her credit and to the credit of the individual runner than places won in the smaller dual contests. Hence it seems only fair to include intercollegiate indoor meets among the other occasions where it is possible to gain points toward the making of the letter, and on equal footing at least with the dual meets. That is, a second place in the Armory meet should entitle the winner to 3 points, the same as in a dual meet.

Another change which seems desirable to many interested in track work is the awarding of the "ATA" to all men who compose a relay team in an intercollegiate race. In most colleges, the right to compete is accompanied by the award of the "ATA", letter.

DOCTOR LUTHER PREACHES. Lent an Opportunity for Character Improvement.

Doctor Luther chose the text for his sermon at Sunday chapel service from I Corinthians 3: 13—"The fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is." He remarked that we are accustomed to estimate a man by his work, that a man is what his work shows him to be, and not much else. He interpreted the flame to mean the eternal, "Thou shalt!" that we hear from the cradle to the grave, but especially from the commencement to the grave. The fire tries you to see the results of your training.

He said that in his many visits to colleges and schools throughout the country, he was impressed with the fact that the flame of scholastic requirement is trying the college man and schoolboy, what he is. While admitting that the standard of the school had a great influence in shaping the characters of the students, he declared that in the end it is the man himself who determines what he is to be.

The preacher then took as an object lesson a bar of iron and a bar of steel of exactly the same dimensions and appearance. It would be difficult, he said, for anyone but an expert to distinguish between them. If a coil of insulated wire is wound about each one and an electric current passed through, the piece of iron and the piece of steel will be magnetized. However, he continued, after the current has been turned off, the steel piece will remain a magnet, but the iron one will not. There is a difference in the two substances themselves.

Doctor Luther stated that the same rule held with boys. All come to college and are surrounded with the same influences, but at commencement, the moment when the current is switched off, one retains the results of this influence, and is educated, while the other loses it.

It is for each man, he said, to determine whether he is of iron or steel. He pointed out that the Lenten season gives an excellent opportunity for self-improvement. He suggested that each man try his character for himself by giving up something to which he has every right and not only those things which he ought always to do without. He ascribed the tendency in many men to whine when they could not have what they could not get to the fact that they hadn't trained themselves to go without things when they could get them.

While this would not be practicable at Trinity, it is clearly evident that the man who makes a relay team deserves as much credit as or more credit than the man who wins his "ATA" by coming in third when there are only three in a race. Provision should therefore be made for awarding the former his "ATA".

These improvements here suggested can only be made by an addition to the rules of the athletic association. This would require a special meeting to propose such additions, which could be passed upon, if deemed desirable after due consideration, at the regular meeting in June.

Track and field work are certainly making rapid forward strides at Trinity. Let the rules of the Athletic Association keep pace with them.
