SENIOR DRAMATICS.

Cast Chosen for Play "Zaragueta."

The first tryouts for parts in the play, "Zaragueta," which is to be produced at the Hartford Club by the Senior Dramatic Committee on June 19th, were held Tuesday afternoon and night. The preliminary choice was made by a committee consisting of J. A. Mitchell, '15, Hill, '16, and Barthelmess, '17. On Thursday afternoon the final tryouts were held at 83 Gillet St., and the cast, with the exception of Zaragueta, was chosen by Mrs. Perkins, who is coaching the play. Since Zaragueta is only in the second act, the tryouts for this part will not be held until after Easter. It is hoped that the first act will be learned during the Easter vacation.

Quite a number on the cast have not appeared in any of the Jesters' productions, but they seem to be excellent actors. It looks as though some new lights have been discovered in the lower classes which bid well for dramatics at Trinity in the future.

This is the first time in a number of years that an attempt has been made to have men take the female parts. This is at present the only feature of anxiety to the committee, and some of the men seem to have splendid possibilities.

The leading part, Carlos, will be taken by O. W. Craik, president of the Trinity Dramatic Association, who has shown his worth in the two productions of that Association in the last two years.

The cast of characters as selected is as follows:

Don Indalecio—Wealthy landowner,
J. G. N. Mitchell, '16.
Carlos—His nephew, student in Madrid,
O. W. Craik, '16.
Don Saturio—Village doctor,
H. R. Hill, '15.
Zaragueta—Madrid money-lender.
Pio—Son of Blase, eager to be a priest,
E. A. Niles, '16.
Percio—A servant,
E. T. Morgan, '16.
Ambrosio—Village hack driver,
L. D. Simonson, '15.
Dona Dolores—Wife of Indalecio,
G. G. Nilsson, '15.
Maruja—Her niece,
J. Racioppi, '17.
Dona Blase—Sister of the village priest,
L. B. Ripley, '15.
Gregoria—A servant,
E. Sather, '17.

The play was translated from the Spanish by T. A. Peck, '15, was revised by Prof. Galpin, and is now being made more suitable for the American stage by Mrs. Perkins. The first act has been completed and typewritten, and the second act is now in the process of revision by Mrs. Perkins. The Spanish atmosphere and character have been maintained as far as possible. So far as is known this will be the first production of the play in this country.

TRINITY AMBULANCE.

Gift of College Y. M. C. A. to Red Cross.

A movement has been started to raise funds to buy and equip an ambulance for service on the European battlefields.

Doctor Mott's talk in the chapel on Monday evening brought home to Trinity men a realization of the incredible suffering going on in Europe; and it also brought a realization that Trinity as a college was doing nothing to relieve this suffering. Doctor Mott told how other colleges and universities throughout the United States have been raising money to provide one or more ambulances for service, or have given money to the Red Cross to be used in some other beneficial way.

The officers of the Y. M. C. A. and other men are canvassing the college body for subscriptions for the purchase of a Ford ambulance. Such a machine, completely equipped, costs about $700. In order to raise this amount, it will be necessary for every Trinity student to give three dollars. While this sum may seem large to many men, until one stops to consider how great is the suffering on European battlefields, and how fortunate we are to be spared from the horrors of this present war. It will be seen that no sum is too great for the good purpose, and any sacrifice any man may be called upon to make is indeed justified by the cause.

It is planned to solicit subscriptions among the alumni, as it is rather doubtful whether the required amount can be raised among the college body.

Any subscriptions from the alumni may be sent to the officers of the Y. M. C. A., and will be thankfully received by them as aid in such a worthy cause as the "Trinity" ambulance.

MUSICAL CLUBS.

Two More Concerts. Pictures Now on Sale.

The Musical Clubs have already given a number of concerts, but there remain two more at least, with the possibility of a still longer trip in view. It has already been announced that on April 16th, the Clubs will give a concert at the Middletown High School. Another has just been arranged for April 30th at Glastonbury. Both of these promise to be very successful financially. There can be little doubt about their success musically after the manner in which the programme was rendered at Norwich.

The pictures of the Musical Clubs are now for sale. Trinity men ought to welcome this opportunity of securing pictures of the best Clubs the college has ever had. They may be had from Alfred Harding, Jr., 14 Seabury Hall, for one dollar and twenty-five cents. At least a dozen of these pictures must be ordered and paid for in advance, before any will be made up. So far only five or six have turned in their money, though many more have expressed a desire to own a picture.

DR. LUTHER'S BIRTHDAY.

Our President's Secret Discovered by Tripod.

Threescore and five years ago today there was born in Brooklyn, Conn., a child who has since become best known as the originator of "Now then, Trinity!" President Luther celebrates his birthday on this Friday with full cuts to all astronomy classes. The college body is to join in the spirit of the occasion and take all cuts where not freely given. There have been elaborate preparations at the commons as well as at Harry Bond's, Poli's and all the places of festivities where the houses are open to loyal Trinity men on this big day. March 26, 1850 shall not outdo the same day 1915 in bringing overflowing joy to the hearts of good Connecticut residents. The professors will be indulgent on Saturday. To be sure there is a test scheduled for Friday and another on Saturday, but we must be lenient and credit this breach of Trinity tradition on the part of these instructors to their unfamiliarity with the customs of this college.

Dr. Luther is celebrating this day by sending to the Sunday Courant an article on his old friend and former fellow diamond star, Billy Sunday. The day will give the college body more than one reason to wish our president "many happy returns of the day."

In 65 years Dr. Luther has mastered an amazing amount of this world's store of knowledge, as the freshman religious studies class will assure you. "Who's Who in America" claims for him a dizzying string of degrees ranging all the way from an LL. D. from Wesleyan up to an A.B. from Trinity. Since his marriage in 1871 he has been a teacher or professor in some institution, beginning in Racine College. From there he went to Kenyon College, whence he came to Trinity in 1883 as professor of mathematics. It was for Dr. Luther's classes that the present observatory was built. Since 1904 he has been at our head. The additional distinction of being a State Senator was his from 1907 to 1911. Dr. Luther always has an open house to Trinity men, but he will be particularly glad to meet them tonight.

NO BLACKLIST.

Everyone in College is a Member of the Athletic Association.

It is extremely gratifying to be able to report that every member of the college body has joined the Athletic Association, either by paying their full dues or by appearing before the Association committee and reporting their inability to do so. The work of the committee was completed yesterday with the presentation of the excuses of the last few men remaining outside the Association.

PROSPECTS IMPROVE.

Smooth and Powerful Machine Seems Assured.

Since the baseball squad has been out of doors all previous predictions for an exceptionally good team this year have been justified. Nor has all the promising form been confined to the veterans. There is so much good material in the squad that an unusually good second team is being developed, one that will be of particular value in developing the 'varsity. Several second team men are putting up a brand of ball that marks them as being strong candidates for 'varsity honors, and it seems assured that the team will be better supplied with substitutes than has been the case for some years.

Thus far the practice has been mainly confined to fielding drill and to easy workouts for the boxmen. There have also been a couple of short practice games between the 'varsity and the second team. These contests have afforded a splendid line on what may be expected of the team from the viewpoint of fielding, although the prospects as to batting and pitching strength have not been so clearly indicated for the reason that all the pitchers are taking the usual early season care of their arms. They have not been cutting loose much, and consequently, with little stuff on the ball, there has been some free and heavy hitting. Only the advance of the season, when the hitters face the real article of pitching and when the pitchers in turn face practiced batting eyes, can a true line be had on the real strength of the team in the box and with the stick. However, all early season indications are that in both these departments there will be even more strength than there was a year ago. In the practice games and in serving up offerings for batting practice the veterans, Baker, Swift and Ferris, are showing that they are in splendid condition and that their arms are "right," while of the new men Denning is showing stuff in his workouts that promises to make him invaluable. While the men have not yet seen a great deal of curve ball pitching, they are using the willow with good effect on all that is offered them, and appearances are that the team will start the season in good batting trim.

The particularly bright spot of the practice has been the fielding. The 'varsity infield is made up of Shelley on first, McKay on second, Murray at short, and Captain Gillooly at third. Excepting Murray this is a veteran combination, and Murray has fitted into it in a way that gives every promise of making good the loss of his brother. The whole infield is doing fast, smooth work, both individually and as a machine, and if the present pace is kept up, it will become more of a problem than ever for Trinity's opponents to get a ball through the inner works. Brand, Smith and Lambert, all veterans, have been given the outfield positions for practice, and ex-'00—Henry B. has Dillard returned from Seattle, Wash., to his home in Huntsville, Ala.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

Professor Barrows is at present collecting tobacco and cigarettes for the Red Cross Society in Europe and for our English Hospital for convalescents. Nothing is more appreciated by the men in the trenches or on the hospital cot than tobacco. There is always a horrible stench in the trenches because of the many unburied bodies, and the only way the men fighting in the trenches can bear this smell is by constantly smoking. It is extremely hard, however, for the thousands of soldiers to be supplied with tobacco, and we may be sure that any aid in this direction on our part will be appreciated. Professor Barrows suggests that we cut out smoking for a week, and turn over the amount of tobacco thus saved to him. Contributions may be left any time before the vacation, either at 73 Vernon Street, or at the Red Cross headquarters on Pearl Street.

The following poem entitled " 'Twas Yesterday," written by Harry H. Irving in memory of Rev. John Huske, late rector of St. George's Church, and a member of the Class of '72 of Trinity College, appears in the February number of the Academy Graduate.

'Twas yesterday that I saw him,
In the Church just across the way.
With its coat of clinging ivy,
And its stony walls of gray.

'Twas yesterday that he greeted me,
With his well remembered smile;
And the hand often extended to me;
The voice that was silver the while.

'Twas yesterday, little children
Waited, just to walk by his side.
For his was the loving tenderness
Of those who in God abide.

'Twas yesterday he was with us,
Rejoicing in God's fair earth.
But gone today from our seeing,
To a land of greater worth.

Yet we know why our Heavenly Father
Took him, all hearts did love;
'Twas because he needed that spirit
To make a perfect heaven above.

PROSPECTS IMPROVE.

all are working well. Brand in particular has been in the limelight with some long and deadly throws to the plate from deep field. Behind the bat Carpenter is just what he has been for the past two seasons, which leaves nothing more to be said about catching strength.

The second team is taking the field with Wooley behind the bat, Schmitt at first, Ives at second, Poto at short, Chapin at third, and a varying trio in the outfield. Ives is a "T" man, and will with difficulty be kept from a position in the 'varsity outfield. Wooley and Poto in particular are playing gilt-edged ball, and before the season is over they look good enough to become serious contenders for the 'varsity job.

SENIOR DRAMATICS.

The other play which is to be presented at the Senior Week performance is "The Maker of Dreams," a half hour performance which met with great success at its initial performances in London several years ago. It has never been produced professionally in this country. Mrs. Perkins has selected for the cast R. S. Barthelmess, '17 J. A. Mitchell, '15, and Miss Frances Williams, all three of whom have taken leading part in previous Jesters' productions.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES.

The Amherst College baseball team leaves for its southern trip on Thursday. Eight games are scheduled with southern colleges. Twelve men will make the trip.—Mass. Collegian.

Coach Fitzmaurice, at the Massachusetts Agricultural College, has a hard job on his hands this year as only five men of last year's 'varsity are back. However, there are 50 candidates out some of whom are showing up in fine shape, and the prospects for a strong team for the Aggies look very bright. The Massachusetts Collegian says: "Our first game is against Trinity at Hartford, and this should prove a test of the team's ability, as Trinity is known to put out a good baseball team."

A press club has recently been organized at Amherst, to take charge of publicity work and newspaper correspondence. Nearly all the student reporters have enlisted as members, and the college paper is represented on the staff of officers.—Mass. Collegian.

The Wesleyan football squad has been out during the past week for their annual spring training. Coach Eustis has been laying special emphasis on drop-kicking and punting. It may waken us up a bit to know that they have had enough candidates out for over four full teams.

In one of the western universities a society has been formed among the seniors, the purpose of which is to cultivate beards. It is not stated whether it is the barber's or the hair mattress concerns at which this action is aimed.—Columbia Spectator.

Recent tests showed that acoustic properties in the Yale Bowl were very good. It is now planned to stage operas in this immense outdoor theatre during the spring months, when it is not used for football.

TENNIS TEAM.

Arrangements Made for Southern Trip.

Manager Mitchell of the tennis team has been unusually busy during the past week. He has not only changed his former schedule to some extent but has also completed arrangements for the southern trip.

Four men, Edsall, '15, Mitchell, '16, Harding, '18, and Niles, '16, will go to Baltimore, where they will go into training during the Easter vacation. Two practice matches have been arranged which will be played in Baltimore during the trip, one with the Mt. Washington County Club, and the other with the Baltimore County Club.

This trip is an indication of the intention on the part of the team to do their best work for Trinity, as they are not going under the Athletic Association, but are paying their own expenses.

The revised schedule is as follows:

April 24—Columbia at New York.
May 1—Tufts at Hartford.
May 7—Wesleyan at Middletown.
May 14—Brown at Hartford.
May 15—Syracuse at Hartford.
May 22—Connecticut Aggies at Hartford.
June 1—Williams at Williamstown.
June 5—Amherst at Amherst.

The tennis season tickets are now on sale at the various units, and it is hoped that the college body will stand back of this sport this year so that it may be placed on a more solid footing.
