WESLEYAN WINS MEET.

Track Team Forced to Yield to Rivals at Middletown.

At Andrus Field, Middletown, last Saturday, May 8, the track team was forced to bow to Wesleyan by an 83 to 43 score.

The meet was featured by the feat of Captain Cashman of Wesleyan, who broke his own record of 10:04 in the two-mile run by doing the distance in 9:53 4-5 mins. Treadwell, who finished second, also broke the old record, his time being 9:54 3-5 mins. George, of Trinity, by means of a superior burst of speed on the last lap, beat out Johnson of Wesleyan for third place. Craig of Wesleyan was the big man in the weight events and he won the hammer, discus and shot. Captain Furnival threw glooms into the Wesleyan camp, and completely upset the Middletown dope, when he beat Whitney in the 440, the Wesleyan man having been counted upon as a sure winner. Furnival held the lead throughout the race. Young ran a splendid race in the 220 and made the excellent time of 23:3. In a Garrison finish Potter of Wesleyan took the half-mile away from Captain Furnival. Coddling of Wesleyan led the field almost the whole way, but was beaten out by Potter in a driving finish. Bjorn starred for Trinity in the broad jump, making a mark only a quarter of an inch less than the college record, and gave every indication of becoming one of the best men in this event that the Blue and Gold has ever had. He also did well in the high jump, but was forced to take second place to Grinton of Wesleyan, who did five feet six inches.

The summary:

120-Yard Hurdles—Won by L. Williams, Wesleyan; second, A. Williams, Wesleyan; third, Shultheiss, Trinity. Time, 17 2-5 seconds.

100-Yard Dash—Won by Whitney, Wesleyan; second, Young, Trinity; third, Kraffts, Wesleyan. Time, 10 1-5 seconds.

Mile Run—Won by Coddling, Wesleyan; second, Potter, Wesleyan; third, Little, Trinity. Time, 4:39 3-5 mins.

440-Yard Dash—Won by Furnival, Trinity; second, Rock, Trinity; third, Van Voris, Wesleyan. Time, 52 2-5 seconds.

Two-Mile Run—Won by Cashman, Wesleyan; second, Treadwell, Wesleyan; third, George, Wesleyan. Time, 9:53 4-5 mins. (New Wesleyan record, breaking Cashman's old record of 10:04 mins.)

880-Yard Run—Won by Potter, Wesleyan; second, Furnival, Trinity; third, Coddling, Wesleyan. Time, 2:01 mins.

220-Yard Dash—Won by Young, Trinity; second, Kraffts, Wesleyan; third, Whitney, Wesleyan. Time, 23 3-5 seconds.

220-Yard Hurdles—Won by L. Williams, Wesleyan; second, Sutton, Wesleyan; third, Perkins, Trinity. Time, 26 4-5 seconds.

WILLIAMS EASILY BEATEN.

Yale's Conquerors are No Match for Trinity's Scrappy Team.

Trinity slugged out a well merited victory over Williams at Trinity Field last Saturday, May 8th, the score being 6 to 1. The triumph was particularly sweet because it afforded some revenge for last fall's football defeat at the hands of Williams, and because earlier in the week the Purple had beaten Yale. The game was a case of history repeating itself, for as last year at Williamstown, Swift proved himself to be a Williams' jinx. He pitched an almost faultless game, his southpaw delivery doing deadly execution to the batting averages of the large number of Williams' players who bat left-handed. Young, the best of the Purple pitchers, and the man who beat Yale, was no puzzle at all, and the support behind him was as loose as American support of the Germans. On the contrary, the fielding of the Gold and Blue was absolutely airtight, and all in all the Trinity team had no trouble in bringing home the bacon. Fielding features were provided by Captain Gillooly and Swain, the rival third basemen, each of whom stabbed hot liners that they didn't appear to have a Chinaman's chance to get, and by Parsons who made a diving one-handed stop of a smoking grounder and got his man at first. McKay, with three safeties, one a double with the bases full that cleared the sacks, was the star of the day with the willow.

In the first inning it rather looked as though Toolan was going to be Trinity's Nemesis in baseball as well as in football. That sterling athlete, by his matchless speed, beat out a bunt up the first base foul line, stole third after Statler sacrificed, and when Clark singled, crossed the plate and sent Williams away to a one-run lead.

Trinity didn't get going until the third, but then the job was done right, three runs coming in. Swift surprised the multitude by doubling to left. He took third on Murray's single, then scored as Murray took second on a bum play to third base to catch the runner. McKay beat out a bunt and stole. Gillooly fanned. Powell dropped Parsons' throw home on Denning and Murray was safe in the haven. Carpenter put the ball into right field and scored McKay. Smith flied to Statler, and Clark nailed Brand by a splendid throw after fumbling the ball for a second.

The fourth inning was featureless, but the fifth witnessed Parson's circus stop on Smith. In the sixth Trinity sewed up the game with three more runs. After Brand fanned, Shelley walked, Swift was safe on a fielder's choice, and a pass to Murray loaded the sacks, McKay lined a two-bagger to left that cleared the paths, but a good relay from Statler to Clark to Swain caught him when he tried to make three bases on the drive. Gillooly singled, but Denning fanned.

N. Y. U. WINS DEBATE.

Decision Two to One Against Trinity Affirmative.

The N. Y. U. debating team, upholding the negative side of the subject: "Resolved—That the United States should adopt a program of increased armament," won the decision in Alumni Hall last night by a vote of 2-1. The judges were Judge Epaphroditus Peck, Hon Homer B. Hulbert, and Prof. H. M. Wriston, of Wesleyan. The N. Y. U. team consisted of Waldo J. Marra, '15, George G. Brown, '17, William M. Draper, '16, captain, and Albert P. Lewin, '15, alternate. The Trinity team consisted of Theron Ball Clement, '17, Lauritz Daniel Simonson, '15, Frank Lambert, '16, captain, and Jacob G. N. Mitchell, '16, alternate. Dr. Luther presided. Previous to the debate songs were rendered by the College Quartet.

The first speaker was Simonson, of Trinity. Simonson said that the United States should have sufficient armament for defense, or none. He went on to show that our armament and war supplies were perilously inadequate.

Brown, for N. Y. U., began by asking what program for increasing armament the affirmative side would recommend, whether it would involve conscription, and how this program was to be carried out. He said that no nations would attack us, many on account of size, many on account of existing peace treaties. There are about 600,000 men in the United States with four years' military training. The United States is the wealthiest nation in the world, and practically the only self-supporting nation. The European nations are at present destroying their armament rapidly.

Lambert, for Trinity, said that it was foolish to think that no nation would attack us, that the navy was short of men and poorly provided with supply-ships, dry-docks, and coaling stations.

Marra, for N. Y. U., held that increased armament subverts morality, breeds international distrust, and drains economic resources. He said that conscription was contrary to the principles of the United States, and that it would tend to produce a military aristocracy.

Clement, for Trinity, said that nations are ruled by their own interests, and that when their interests demand it, nations would disregard any restraining treaties. He said that arbitration was ineffectual, that nations always have settled their quarrels by war, and that they would continue to do so. We can organize our great latent military resources without turning to militarism.

Draper, for N. Y. U., spoke of the international difficulties engendered by increased armament. He said that arbitration had worked in the ancient Greek cities, that it worked between the different states of the United States, and that it had worked at the Hague. He cited our Canadian frontier as an

TENNIS TEAM DEFEATED.

Blue and Gold Smothered by Wesleyan.

On Friday Wesleyan defeated Trinity's tennis team 5 to 1, in the matches played on the Wesleyan courts at Middletown. The Blue and Gold racquet wielders were outclassed in every instance except the singles match, in which Edsall defeated Captain Richards of Wesleyan.

The summary of the matches follows:
Singles.

Edsall, Trinity, defeated Richards, Wesleyan, 6-3, 6-4.

Hopman, Wesleyan, beat Harding, Trinity, 6-4, 6-1.

Totten, Wesleyan, beat Niles, Trinity, 6-3, 7-5.

Jones, Wesleyan, beat Mitchell, Trinity, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Doubles.

Richards and Hopman, Wesleyan, beat Edsall and Niles, Trinity, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

Totten and Jones, Wesleyan, beat Peck and Harding, Trinity, 6-3, 6-3.

GIFT TO BASEBALL.

Mrs. I. K. Hamilton Gives Scoreboard for Trinity Field.

Visitors at Trinity Field last Saturday could not fail to notice the handsome scoreboard for the baseball team, the gift of Mrs. I. K. Hamilton, Jr., wife of I. K. Hamilton, Jr., '91, graduate treasurer of the athletic association. The tally board was used for the first time in the Williams game and registers a victory at its first appearance.

It is located on the left hand side of home plate, on the third base line, and records the score by innings, as well as the hits and errors of each side to the point the game has advanced, and also the opposing batteries. It is well constructed and is nine feet long and three feet high, being raised seven feet from the ground so that every one can see the score.

The method of working the board is unique. The score keeper in the Trinity camp wig-wags the results of each inning across the field to an assistant manager who immediately displays them on the board to the spectators.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the Tripod:

As a Trinity alumnus I desire to enter a protest against the ungentlemanly conduct of some of the undergraduates at the Williams-Trinity game. Undergraduate cheering to encourage the team is one thing, but the singling out of individual Williams players seems to me to be against everything that Trinity stands for.

The constant kicking by one or two members of the team over decisions where they were clearly in the wrong savors too much of the professional ball-player whose salary depends on his victory.

I certainly hope that next Saturday these actions will be eliminated.

Yours very truly,

J. McA. JOHNSON, '03.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

In this issue there appears a protest from an alumnus in regard to the behavior of the undergraduates and of the members of the team at the game last Saturday. It was very evident that the desire to win that game was strong in both teams, and in the spectators. We think that is putting it mildly enough. But at any rate, let there be no muckerism or suspicion of muckerism on Trinity Field again this season, either on the part of spectators or players, at least Trinity spectators and Trinity players.

WILLIAMS EASILY BEATEN.

Williams was so helpless before Swift that the Purple went out after the first inning with monotonous regularity. Now and then a Williams' man would get on, but the Purple runners never threatened the plate. Two double plays, one in the seventh from McKay to Murray to Shelley, and one in the seventh from Smith to Shelley, furnished about the only excitement while Williams was at the bat.

A feature of the contest not down on the program was a good deal of racy kidding by the opposing players. The combinations of Carpenter and Gillooly and Toolan and Michler broke just about even on the exchange of chatter, but Toolan was accorded individual honors. In the fourth inning Swift was hit in the knee by a pitched ball, and Captain Toolan was appealed to for permission to let someone run for the Trinity pitcher. In from center field floated the insistence that said runner must be Carpenter. This made something of a hit with the crowd, and went to show that the play itself is not the only charm of which baseball is capable. The score:

SUNDAY SERMON.

Bishop Edsall Preaches in Chapel.

The Rt. Rev. Samuel C. Edsall, Bishop of Minnesota, preached in chapel on Sunday morning.

Bishop Edsall said, in part, that as one lived here, so he would live in the life beyond the grave. Hell, he said, was not a place of fire and brimstone, but one who was a sinner and had a degenerated character in this world, would suffer such agonies in the ideal eternal life, where there was no sin and nothing to gratify his depraved character and he would thereby have his Hell.

Consequently, one who lived a good life here would be just that much happier after death, in the perfect life to come. This he felt was the real way to look at eternal life, and the man who lived with that view in mind, would have the real guide of life.

example of peace secured by disarmament, and he cited the present European War as an example of war brought on by increased armament. The one-year peace treaties signed with thirty-seven nations would give us ample time to prepare for war, and would also give the contending parties time to reconsider.

During the intermission before the rebuttals, the Hawaiian trio solaced those present.

Brown, for N. Y. U., explained that what the affirmative was arguing for was increased efficiency, not increased armament, and that the negative was fully in accord with this, as a sound business policy.

Simonson, for Trinity, spoke of the case of Belgium as an instance of how treaties were esteemed when they obstructed the interests of a belligerent nation. He said that the trained men in the United States were unavailable because disorganized.

Marra, for N. Y. U., showed that no nation was likely to go to war with the United States.

Lambert, for Trinity, said that the European nations, expanding, would spread to South America and come into conflict with the Monroe Doctrine. War does not subvert morality, he said, and he added that disease in war would attack soonest those without military training.

Draper, for N. Y. U., showed how war did subvert morality, and went on to explain how military training fosters militarism.

Clement, for Trinity, said that, although arbitration may have worked in Greece two thousand years ago, it would not work now, and that war or peace does not depend on armament, but on the reason for the armament. He showed how nations disregard treaties, and how it was possible for several different nations to come to war with the United States.

At New Brunswick, N. J., on Thursday evening, a debating team from Trinity, composed of Johnston, '16, captain, Duffey, '15, Merrill, '15, and Easland, '18, alternate, met a team from Rutgers and lost by unanimous decision of the judges. The Trinity team upheld the negative of the question, debated above.

COLLEGE MEETING.

To rouse up enthusiasm and interest for the baseball game with Williams and the track meet with Wesleyan on Saturday, a good old Trinity sing and meeting was held in the public speaking room Friday evening at 7 o'clock. President G. Dawson Howell of the college Senate presided. After the proposed amendments to the Senate by-laws concerning the regulation of inter-class sports and the press, which appeared in the Tripod of April 28, had been explained by Mr. Cowles of the Senate, to await passage or rejection by the college body, President Howell told of the real purpose of the meeting and called upon Bishop Samuel Edsall for a few words. Bishop Edsall's appearance was greeted by long "Trins" and continued applause. He spoke of the fine spirit of standing together in the common cause and commended this spirit which he saw present and which he was sure would help the men representing the college on the athletic field on the morrow. In speaking of the contest he said that the highest kind of spirit was that of the good loser. He said in closing, "may success come to Trinity, but if it doesn't, may glory come anyway." President Luther had considerable difficulty in finally silencing the bursts of enthusiasm that were manifested at his appearance, but when he had done so he told the men on the field tomorrow to play hard, harder, hardest, and if they didn't win, to take their defeat like men and not make any excuses. He hoped that Williams would get a good licking and that there would be no zeros in the Trinity box score, except in the error column. Captain Gillooly of the baseball team was confident that his team would win and he wanted to see every one out on the field cheering the team along to victory. The Wesleyan track team perhaps looked better on paper, according to Captain Maurice Furnivall, but the Trinity men were going to pull some surprises on the following day. He wished every man to pull for the team although not present on Andrus Field.

After every man on the baseball and track teams had been cheered and several of the Trinity songs had been sung under the leadership of Shelley, the meeting broke up with hopes of a double victory on Saturday high in the hearts of every Trinity man.

ALPHA DELTA 9: ST. ANTHONY 7.

Alpha Delta Phi put a crimp in St. Anthony's pennant aspirations Friday afternoon by trimming them 9-7. J. N. Ives pitched excellent ball for the losers and set down eighteen A. D.'s on strikes. His support was wobbly, however, and the winners were able to score on errors coupled with several free tickets to first base. Elder starred for the winners with several stops of the big league variety.

ALUMNI NOTES.

ex-'17—James Palache has been appointed freshman baseball manager at Harvard. The basis upon which Harvard men are rewarded with managerhips in the various athletics is entirely competitive. Palache was a candidate last year for the managership of Trinity's baseball team.

William Faversham

Famous Actor, says

"A pipe of Tuxedo keeps me feeling physically fit and in good spirits, and, because it is mild and doesn't bite, it is pleasant to the throat and keeps my voice in good tone."

William Faversham

Tuxedo Keeps You Physically Fit

Every playgoer has remarked the virility and clean-cut vigor of William Faversham, both as an actor and as a man. No matter what part he is playing, he always presents a figure of alert strength and keen wits. His voice is especially engaging, clear, carrying and sonorous.

For Tuxedo tobacco to gain a testimonial from such a man, stating that it helps to keep him "physically fit and in good spirits" and keeps his voice "in good tone" goes far toward convincing you of Tuxedo's wholesome, all-round value to you.

Tuxedo
