COLLEGE PROFESSORS AND THE WAR.

Dr. McCook Quoted in Paris Weekly.

The article written by Dr. John J. McCook, during the summer on "Professors and the War", has recently appeared in French newspapers and is attracting considerable attention. The issue of the Bulletin des Francais Residant a L'Etranger, of October 15, contained Dr. McCook's article translated into French, with a synopsis and comment by the editor, under the heading, "Une Enquete." A translation of the synopsis and comment is as follows:

"An American professor, Mr. J. J. McCook, who teaches modern languages at Trinity College, has just published in the New York Evening Post the results of an inquiry to which he has devoted himself on his own initiative in order to learn which group of the warring nations has the sympathies of professors in the United States.

"Mr. McCook's investigations have been accomplished by direct and indirect correspondence, and they seem to show sincere evidences of accuracy and impartiality.

"The investigations were carried on in three kinds of institutions: (1) Institutions of general instruction, among the several universities; (2) Theological schools; (3) Law schools.

"The inquiries reached professors of forty-four institutions of learning scattered through nineteen states of the Union, which, alone, contain two-thirds of the population of America. The opinions expressed came from 6,251 professors, teaching 74,409 students."

"By means of the information thus gathered it has been possible for the inquiry to establish some statistics which, though they are not absolute, nevertheless have current interest.

"In the first group of institutions 91.31 percent. of the professors have indicated pro-ally sentiments, even though the proportion is considerably affected by a single faculty, where a ratio 22.5 percent. with pro-German tendencies results from the presence of a particularly important group of professors of German birth. In the second group the proportion of professors with pro-ally sentiments is 94.1 percent.; and in the third group, it is about 97.53 percent.

"In the explanations which accompany these figures, Prof. McCook makes the observation that German sympathies are more frequently revealed in the West and in the center of the country than in the East and in the North. But he adds that, although, before the war, there had existed a tendency toward sympathy for Germany among certain professors because of their birth or their education, directly opposite sentiments have been aroused among many of these same persons since the start of the war.

TRINITY WINS BIG GAME.

SCORE IS 9—0.

A decisive football victory over Wesleyan, than which nothing is dearer to the heart of every Trinity man, was achieved by the score of 9 to 0, when the Blue and Gold and the Cardinal and Black met at Trinity Field last Saturday, November 20, in the annual battle which is for each team the climax of the season, and to win which each would gladly sacrifice every other game on its schedule.

In almost every respect last Saturday's contest was one of the best that Trinity and Wesleyan have ever played. Trinity's victory was clean-cut and decisive, but it was not easily won or overwhelming. Zest was added to the battle, and the victory made the sweeter by the fact that the Blue and Gold had to fight every minute to vanquish its rival. The game was replete with sensational plays, and heart-breaking situations. Such brilliant open-field running as that provided by Brickley is not seen in many a year, while the miraculous defensive work of Trinity on the two occasions when Wesleyan was within inches of a touchdown on the first down was something that will never die in the history of Trinity football. Finally, the game was witnessed by the largest and most brilliant crowd ever assembled at Trinity Field. There were 7000 people present. Every inch of seating space was taken. Standing room was at a premium, and had there been adequate seating capacity it appeared as though as large a crowd as 15,000 would have been present. Each cheering section had its band, and the singing and cheering of each was splendid. The Trinity team received support from its cheering section that was fairly frenzied in its intensity, and it never for a minute abated.

Although Brickley outshone them all, other players of both teams featured the game by some wonderful football. Captain Castator of Trinity ended his football career in a blaze of glory. He was far and away the best man in either line, his defensive work being especially noticeable. He it was who crashed through the Wesleyan line in the first quarter, blocked Deetjen's punt, and rendered possible the safety that gave Trinity two points and first blood. Cole was another man who played his last game for the Blue and Gold, and he too fairly outdid himself. On the offense he ripped off many a yard, and on the secondary defense he was the same shining light that has marked his play all season. Next to Castator, Breslin was the strongest man in the line. Maxon was another big factor. Called from end to quarterback at the eleventh hour, because of Kennedy's eneligibility, Maxon more than made good, and in running the team he showed a brand of headwork that was all that could be asked for. As for Brickley, Wesleyan marked him well and played her defense especially to stop him. For a while early in the game the Middletown team succeeded in doing so to a certain extent, but when Brickley once got warmed up Wesleyan found that she was only attempting the physically impossible in trying to flag the Blue and Gold express.

Harman was far and away the star of the Wesleyan team. His open-field running and line plays were of a high order, and he was accountable for the big majority of his team's gains. The much-heralded Deetjen showed flashes of real form, but when it came to crucial situations, history repeated itself and he was forced to bow to the Trinity defense.

It was a sweet moment for Trinity, when, in the first quarter, the first score in two years was tallied against Wesleyan. After Castator blocked Deetjen's punt from behind, the Wesleyan goal line the ball rolled back behind the final chalk mark. Harman fell on it and was nailed, giving Trinity a safety and two points.

Neither team could gain much through the other's line, but the ends of both teams were weaker. Such a marvelous defense as that which Trinity twice showed in the third period seemed hardly a human possibility. On the first occasion, Wesleyan got the ball to the one-yard line. Later it was on the four-yard line. On both occasions Wesleyan had four downs in which to put it over, and each time four terrific plunges were made into Trinity's defence but it was useless. Wesleyan might as well have been charging a cement wall. Each time Trinity fought even better than its best, and took the ball away, the first time on downs and the second time by recovering a Wesleyan fumble, Brickley being the man on the job.

Such a scene of almost insane joy has seldom been seen at Trinity Field as that which came with Brickley's touchdown in the last quarter. Harman had punted from Wesleyan's 10-yard line to Trinity's 40-yard line. Brickley caught the ball, and, running like a deer, and dodging like a jack-rabbit, shot through the whole Wesleyan team for a touchdown. Nordstrom kicked the goal, and the score was 9 to 0.

The game in detail follows:

Captain Castator won the toss and chose to defend the south goal with the wind at his back. Wesleyan kicked off to Lambert, who made a short runback. Brickley took the ball on the first play and carried it around left end for nine yards. Cole on another end run made it first down for Trinity. Cole was then thrown for a loss and Castator recovered a fumble by Ives. Wesleyan held on COLLEGE MEETING. Lots of Spirit.

On the Friday evening preceding the Wesleyan game a rip-roaring old mass meeting was held in Alumni Hall. President Cole opened the meeting and after a few introductory remarks turned the meeting over to Anson McCook, '02. Mr. McCook in turn called upon several speakers from the alumni, who were present at the meeting, and upon members of the team. The speeches of all were full of vim and did much to inspire into the college body that "do or die spirit", which is so characteristic of Trinity always, but more especially on the eve of a Wesleyan game. Among the speakers, from the alumni were Messrs. Hamilton, Lord, Pond, Collett, Spofford. Megaphones were on sale and a collection was taken to help defray the expenses of a band, which had been hired for the game. About twentydollars were realized from the collection. Numerous cheers were given and several songs were practiced and the meeting finally adjourned about 8.45 p. m.

PHI GAMMA DELTA ENTERTAINS.

Tau Alpha Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta held a tea-dance after the Trinity-Wesleyan game on Saturday, at their house, 46 Vernon Street. Twenty couples danced to the music of Redfield's Orchestra from four until seven, when a light supper was served. The chaperones were Mrs. J. E. Griffith, Mrs. F. Donald Carpenter, and Mrs. Redfield.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

Once more Wesleyan has accepted defeat. Trinity's victory was marked by the wonderful stand with the ball one foot from her goal line. We are glad to see that the old Blue and Gold spirit is still as evident as in the past.

Owing to the Thanksgiving holiday there will be no issue of the Tripod on Friday of this week.

Now that the football season is over the eyes of the public are looking to see what Trinity is going to do regarding a change in her eligibility rules. For change there must be without a doubt. Trinity has acted honorably according to her present regulations. Well and good. But just as the present inter-collegiate rules are faulty and must be corrected, so the Trinity standards are not perfect and should be subject to change. Possibly a compromise can be made between the two systems. At any rate the Tripod wishes to make a suggestion to the Committee on Eligibility Rules.

We have already spoken on the advisability of a one-year rule for students entering from other colleges. There is no need for further comment on that point. Professionalism is the object of this editorial. We wish to eliminate its worst features as far as possible without taking away from the hard-working student an opportunity for earning honest money. How can this be done?

In the first place, summer baseball should be allowed. A man takes it up as he would a regular position. Without it some earnest students would find their college life a great deal more difficult. It has its evils, but they are outweighed by its virtues. We repeat—let summer baseball remain.

The one phase of professionalism which is inherently wrong is the irregular professionalism found in track, basketball and football. In these sports a man does not earn a salary. He picks up considerable sums here and there, but his remunerations are irregular. Summer baseball has the dignity of steady labor. Professional football brings with it merely occasional money and the degradation resulting from intimate association with men who are not gentlemen, a lower class than are found on baseball teams.

The highly scientific character of baseball places it in a position where it can be professionalized and still contain an element of cleanness. It is true that rough-necks are bound to predominate upon professional ball teams, but a man can play with them, and not be lowered. That is an inherent characteristic of baseball.

Football and basketball are different. They depend for their approval upon the element of fight and sacrifice for a college. Therefore they can not be professionalized. A professional football game is on a par with a bull fight. The personal contact in both these sports is so great that no man can play with or against muckers for any length of time without having his standards of clean sport lowered. He is brought down to the level of a prize-fighter. Track is somewhat different, but the track rules are already provided for, and need not be considered here.

Our suggestion, therefore, is that Trinity College should legislate against all professionalism except summer baseball, the benefits of which outweigh the evils which are predominant in other forms of professional sport. "But," it is asked, "How can we avoid the hypocrisy of other colleges who do not live up to their rules"? Simply by putting it up to the men themselves. Let them sign a slip stating themselves amateurs. Nothing further need be done.

In closing we want to say that we believe it only fair to the men now in college that any new rules made should apply only to students entering next year. We hope that the present undergraduates will only be affected by actions done after new rules are made.

In order to avoid any accusations of hypocrisy in regard to this editorial, the writer wishes to state that his knowledge of the conditions are derived first-hand from a contest which he took part in after the close of the football season. Being a senior, he would not be affected by any legislation for another year, but he feels that the above bar should be laid down on professionalism.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS ON THE WAR.

The responsibility for the conflict, the violation of the neutrality of Belgium and Prussian militarism are the three main causes of this disaffection from Germany.

"It should be noted, also, that the author's inquiry preceded the torpedoing of the Lusitania, which has estranged from the German cause a number of its former partisans.

"Finally, even among those American people who are the most lukewarm in their regard for the Allies, a large number hope for their victory in the present war and the destruction of Germany's power."

INITIATIONS.

Last Saturday night was the scene of many celebrations. Among them were the annual initiation banquets of two of the fraternities.

Beta Beta Chapter of Psi Upsilon followed the growing custom of having these functions at the chapter house. The following men made up the new delegation: Edward Gabriel Armstrong and Hurlburt Allingham Armstrong of New Haven; Samuel Gardiner Jarvis, of Claremont, N. H.; Paul Stevens Kramer, of Faribault, Minn.; Herbert Ernest Palmer Pressey, of Portland, Me.; and Sumner Whitney Shepherd, of Wellesley Hills, Mass.

Phi Psi Chapter of Alpha Chi Rho held a combined initiation banquet and reunion at the Hotel Garde. The following are their initiates: Everett Nelson Sturman and Irving Emerson Partridge, of Hartford; Richard Wainwright Wyse and Lansing Wymple Tostevan, of New York; Sumner C. Forbes and Jasper Edward Jessen of East Hartford.

the next play, but Brickley smashed through for four yards. Brickley then punted and the ball went to Wesleyan in the corner of the field in her own territory. Deetjen then returned the kick to Brickley on the next play, who ran it back twenty yards. Trinity was penalized for offside play and failed to make the distance for downs. Deetjen punted on the first play to Maxon, who advanced the ball five yards. Brickley and Lambert hit the Wesleyan line for an aggregate of nine yards, and Brickley made a first down on an end run. Ives was thrown for a loss of four yards, but Brickley carried the ball around Wesleyan's left end for a gain of nine yards. Cole followed with a gain of a yard. Wesleyan's line then strengthened, and Trinity lost the ball on downs on their own twenty-eight-yard line.

Trinity Scores Safety.

Harman took the ball on the first play and made five yards around the end of the Trinity line, but was thrown for the loss of a yard on the next play. Deetjen then got off a long punt to Trinity's forty-yard line. Brickley failed to gain on an end run, but Maxon circled the right end of the Wesleyan line and with good interference made a gain of ten yards. Brickley punted and Deetjen recovered the ball after his own fumble, but was thrown for a loss. Deetjen then attempted to punt out of the danger zone, but Castator broke through and blocked the kick. The ball rolled over the Wesleyan line and was captured by Harman, the play giving Trinity two points on a safety. Deetjen then punted to Maxon, and Ives on the next play gained a yard. Cole was thrown for a loss of six yards, and after Ives failed to gain, Brickley punted to Deetjen. Harman crashed through for two yards, and then followed by a gain of six on the next play. The quarter ended with Wesleyan in possession of the ball on her own forty-yard line.

Second Quarter.

Trinity was given the ball on downs, and Brickley broke through the line for three more yards, but Castator and Brickley could not gain and the ball went to Wesleyan on downs. Deetjen lost a yard on an attempt at an end run, and on the next play was thrown for a loss of five yards when Ives broke through and tackled him before he could get under way. Deetjen then punted to Maxon, who advanced the ball on a three-yard run to the Trinity forty-yard line. Cole could not gain, and after a four-yard gain by Brickley, Trinity sent a thirty-yard punt out of bounds on Wesleyan's thirty-yard line. Wooley then recovered a fumble and the ball was advanced three yards by Brickley. Brickley's forward pass was intercepted by Harman, who failed to gain on the next play. Deetjen punted to the middle of the field, and Cole and Lambert failed to gain.

Deetjen sent a short, high punt to the Wesleyan thirty-six-yard line. Harman and Deetjen netted thirty yards for Wesleyan, but Deetjen was thrown for a loss on the next play. Castator intercepted a forward pass and the ball went to Trinity. Cole made five yards, but Trinity received a five-yard penalty for being off-side. Brickley kicked to Harman, who received the ball on his own thirty-five-yard line and advanced it to the center of the field.

Eustis attempted a drop-kick after the ball had been placed on Trinity's thirty-seven-yard line by Harman. The kick was low and failed to reach the goal line before touching the ground, and Maxon picking up the ball gained five yards. The half ended at this point.

Second Half.

The second half opened with Lambert's kick-off. Harman crashed through for eight yards, but on a fumble by Crafts, Cole recovered the ball for Trinity. Maxon failed to gain. Cole made four yards on a delayed pass around Wesleyan's left end. Brickley punted to Harman, who broke through the entire field and was only stopped when Lambert reached for him with a desperate attempt. Harman fell and Trinity's goal was saved from a touchdown. Wesleyan could not gain, but Trinity was penalized five yards. The ball was in Wesleyan's possession on Trinity's eight-yard line. Wesleyan fumbled and Breslin recovered the ball. Brickley made seven yards on a run around right end. Maxon netted four more yards in two plays and a first down for Trinity. Lambert crashed through on a tackle play for four yards, and Cole circled the Wesleyan right end for five more. Brickley fumbled, and Wesleyan recovered the ball on Trinity's twenty-yard line. Two yards were netted by Wesleyan, and on a fumble by Harman, Deetjen recovered the ball and made a gain of eight yards. Peck carried the ball on a quarter-back run for three yards. Deetjen circled left end for six yards.

Wesleyan Threatens.

With the ball inside of Trinity's one-yard line, Wesleyan fumbled and recovered with the loss of a yard. Crafts could not gain on end runs, and after three attempts by the Wesleyan backs, the ball went to Trinity on downs. Brickley's punt from behind his own goal line went short and was captured by Wesleyan on the Trinity eight-yard line. Harman gained eight yards on an end run, but was thrown for an equal loss on the next attempt. Trinity was penalized half the distance to her goal line, and the ball was Wesleyan's on Trinity's two-yard line. Harman broke through for a yard, but Trinity held and the ball went to the Blue and Gold on downs, saving the Trinity goal line at a critical point. Brickley punted out of bounds on Trinity's forty-yard line, and the third period ended with the ball in possession of Wesleyan in Trinity's territory.

Third Quarter.

Wesleyan punted to Maxon on Trinity's ten-yard line, Maxon advancing the ball for seven yards. Brickley then skirted Wesleyan's left end for a thirty-five-yard run, and repeated the performance on the next play for a gain of thirty yards. Wooley and Cole netted five yards for Trinity, but the ball went to Wesleyan when the Red and Black line strengthened. Harman punted to Trinity's forty-five-yard line. Brickley gained three yards, but Lambert failed to gain on a tackle play. Brickley punted to Harman on Wesleyan's twelve-yard line. Trinity was penalized fifteen yards for holding.

Lambert kicked off to Peck, who fumbled but recovered the ball on Wesleyan's thirty-yard line. Harman then broke through the Trinity line with a clear field ahead of him, but fumbled, and Maxon recovered the ball. Brickley gained five yards. Brickley then sped for eighteen yards around end, but on the next play Cole was thrown for a loss. Brickley punted to Wesleyan's thirteen-yard line and the runner was downed in his tracks. Harman punted to the center of the field, and on the next three plays Maxon and Brickley netted fifteen yards. A forward pass from Brickley to Lambert netted fifteen yards for Trinity. A long

"FOOTBALL WHEN SHAKESPEARE WAS A BOY."

The first of a series of Junior Smokers was held by the members of the class of 1917 at St. Anthony Hall, last night at 7 o'clock. Professor McDonald made a very interesting talk on, "Football When Shakespeare Was a Boy." Professor Stonex was also present as well as an enthusiastic gathering of 1917 men. Refreshments were served after the talks.

TEA AT D. K. E. HOUSE.

Alpha Chi Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon were the hosts at an impromptu thé dansant after the game on Saturday.

No, Philburt, I am not a-arguing with you. I'm just a-telling you —when you want a real smoke, get behind a pipeful of Tuxedo and watch all the big and little Worries that have been a-besieging you, evacuate their trenches and make a rushin' advance to the rear. Those fragrant whiffs of "Tux" make them feel too joyful—no self-respecting Worry can stand for that.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

The combination of the best smoking-tobacco leaf in the world and the best method ever discovered for refining and mellowing tobacco puts Tuxedo in a class by itself.

Kentucky's ripest, mildest Burley leaf, when treated by the original "Tuxedo Process" loses every trace of bite—develops a wonderfully pleasing fragrance and flavor that are not found in any other tobacco.

No other manufacturer knows the "Tuxedo Process"; that's why no imitator ever equals Tuxedo!
