PRICE FIVE CENTS

AMHERST VANQUISHED 7 TO 6.

Trinity Hands the Purple Its First Defeat of the Season.

The Trinity football team won a closely contested and gruelling game from Amherst at Trinity Field last Saturday, October 16. The score was 7 to 6. Although a victory, the contest was a disappointing one for the reason that the most impartial judgment of the two elevens would concede Trinity to be much the stronger and better team. A Trinity victory by a margin of at least two touchdowns would properly indicate the relative strength of the two combinations. Amherst had an all-around good team, fairly heavy, fast, and well coached. The Purple defense was especially good, particularly at critical moments, and the punting of Captain Rider and the ability of all the Amherst backs at carrying the ball was noticeable. But Trinity outweighed Amherst, and showed much more speed. Where Amherst's line was strong Trinity's was almost impregnable, despite the absence of Captain Castator. In rushing the ball the Trinity backs gained much more ground than Amherst did. The trouble was that, with the exception of one instance, the punch was lacking at the critical moment. It looked like a return of last year's great fault, inability to shove the ball over after an irresistible march down the field, and herein lies a weakness that Coach Price much quickly remedy. There was also the old tendency toward holding and offside play which must be eradicated.

Excepting the first quarter the game was so closely fought as to lack real thrills. But the initial period was a hair-raising one. Trinity started off savagely and swept Amherst aside by a terrific march down the field, the Blue and Gold not losing the ball once after the kick-off until it was over the line for a touchdown. End runs, delayed passes and forward passes accounted for the onrush which ended with Brickley smashing over the goal line for the touchdown which eventually lost Amherst her first game of the season. Nordstrom kicked goal. Then came a sensational surprise and a game comeback by Amherst. Goodrich caught the kick-off on his own seven-yard line and sprinted through the whole Trinity team almost the entire length of the field for a touchdown. In holding the ball for Rider to kick goal Tow let it touch the ground, Amherst thereby forfeiting her chance to try for the extra point. Goodrich's run disclosed another one of Trinity's glaring weaknesses, inability to tackle cleanly, for several men got their hands on the Amherst runner, but each time he broke loose. This fault will be disastrous if not soon corrected.

Amherst threatened Trinity's goal only once thereafter. In the second period the Purple fought its way to Trinity's 20-yard line, but there the Blue and Gold forwards held firm and took the ball away on downs. On the other hand, Trinity repeatedly struggled to within striking distance of Amherst's goal, but the final punch was never there. Brickley was always in evidence in Trinity's offensive play, although he did nothing brilliant, being a marked man. Amherst watched him closely and played its defense especially to stop him. Vizner played a splendid game on the offense, being always to be relied upon for a smashing gain. Cole did yeoman service on the defense, and some of his tackles were sensational. Breslin was the undisputed star of the line. He was a tower of strength on both offense and defense. His exhibition of gameness was splendid, for although several times injured he would not quit. Lambert was another lineman who did stellar work. In the Amherst line the playing of Goodridge and Marks at the ends was especially noticeable, particularly in their covering of Rider's long punts. In the backfield Taber was perhaps the visitors' most consistent ground gainer.

The contest was witnessed by a big crowd, and Amherst sent down a good sized cheering section. The game in detail follows:

The game started by Amherst's kickoff to Trinity, Kennedy taking the ball and making a short run. Brickley broke through for 25 yards on an end run but was tackled from behind. A forward pass from Brickley to Vizner netted 12 more yards. Amherst held for one play, but Brickley again broke through, carrying the ball over Amherst's line for the first touchdown. Nordstrom kicked the goal, leaving the score 7-0 in Trinity's favor.

Lambert kicked off to Amherst's seven-yard line, and Goodrich receiving the ball ran the length of the field for Amherst's touchdown. Tow, holding the ball for the goal, allowed it to touch the ground and no goal was

COLLEGE MEETING.

Mr. Schutz Speaks.

The most successful meeting so far this term was held in the Public Speaking Room last Friday evening. Mr. Robert H. Schutz, President of the Alumni Association, put a plan before the students which will be placed before the trustees of the college at their next meeting, October 30. If this plan meets with their approval, all the festivities of Commencement Week will take place during the time between a Friday and a Tuesday. Mr. Schutz, who has been advocating this idea for three years, said that this would keep the Alumni in touch with the college and that an alumnus could attend the Commencement exercises without losing any business days. He urged the students also to show all the members of the alumni they meet that they are always welcome at Trinity College. Mr. Schutz closed his address by proposing that the students should set a night and invite all the alumni to attend a college meeting.

Captain Castator then arose and said that every student in the college must fight with the football team whether it is winning or losing. After songs and enthusiastic cheering the meeting broke up.

TEA AT ST. ANTHONY HALL.

A Thé Dansant was held at St. Anthony Hall last Saturday afternoon following the Amherst game. The dancing lasted from five until seven, the music for which was furnished by Hatch's Orchestra. Tea was served in the dining room.

FRESHMAN CLASS MEETING.

Friday at 12.45 in the Economics room a meeting of the Freshman Class was held. Class colors and other matters were discussed.

An informal dance was given last Saturday evening, October 16, by the Alpha Chi Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon at the chapter house, 94 Vernon Street. The affair was held on the occasion of the Amherst football game and was a marked success. Supper was served at six-thirty o'clock, Habenstein catering, and dancing began at eight and lasted until midnight, Hatch's orchestra furnishing the music. The patronesses were Mrs. Henry A. Perkins and Mrs. Stanley L. Galpin, and among those present were: Acting President and Mrs. Henry A. Perkins, Professor and Mrs. Stanley L. Galpin, the Misses Elizabeth Taft, Helen Roberts, Kate Roberts, Lois Hale, Fay Robbins, Marjorie Monroe, and Eleanor Coates, all of Hartford, Conn.; Mary Harrison of Torrington, Conn., and Elizabeth Lane and Julia Grell of Waterbury, Conn.

JUNIOR ASSEMBLY TO BE HELD.

The Junior Prom. Committee has decided to hold an assembly in the near future in Alumni Hall. The dance will probably be the latter part of next week. It is hoped that the entire college body will attend, and that as many as are able will bring ladies. The party will be strictly informal, with no taxis, dress suits or flowers. Admission will be one dollar per couple, and for a stag. It is the intention of the committee, providing the first dance is a success, to hold an assembly about once a month, when there are no other college functions. Watch the bulletin board for the date of the first Junior Assembly.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

In the editorial column last week the Tripod endeavored to point out the value of advertising Trinity through the work of the press committee in regard to sending suitable accounts of athletic contests around to the leading newspapers of the country. This, however, is not the only way of bringing the college before the public eye. Every undergraduate as an individual can do much to help advertise Trinity if he will only set about it properly. One way is to send a subscription to the Tripod to his preparatory school. When a boy is choosing a college he is going to pick out an institution about which he knows something, and he is liable to select Trinity if he has ready access to a Tripod or an Ivy.

When a Trinity man is home for a vacation or visiting friends elsewhere, he should brag about Trinity and her activities, social, athletic and otherwise. Every Trinity alumnus should spare just a few minutes of each day to the booming of his college. We all know that Trinity is the place for men to go. Why not let them know it also? It is very characteristic of our friends down the river to overrate their institution a little, but it's a mighty good thing for Wesleyan. Trinity can't be overrated. Talk about it a little more than you do.

NEWS OF THE ALUMNI.

'86—The Rev. James Goodman, chaplain of the First Company Governor's Foot Guard, conducted the 144th memorial service of the founding of that historic organization. The sermon dealt somewhat of the subject of national "preparedness" and of the making of "mighty men" through the development of character. Major Frank L. Wilcox, Trinity '80, who is now retired from the service, was there, as were certain other Trinity men among the privates, including the recently recruited Frank J. Brainerd, '13.

'07—Benjamin Henry Fairbrother is principal of the school at Pony, Mont., where he is also doing some church work under the direction of the Bishop.

ex-'15—Herbert Edway Ryerson is employed as chemist in the experimental laboratory of the United States Tire Co., 57th Street and 11th Avenue, New York City.

'15—Fred Carpenter and Frederick B. Dart are taking the medical course at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City.

'15—Nicholas Zipkin is attending the Cornell Medical School, New York.

ex-'16—David Stoddard Dooman, of 130 Wadsworth Ave., New York City, is also studying at the College of Physicians.

CHANGE IN PROM. COMMITTEE.

John Edwin Griffith of Hartford has been appointed on the Junior Prom. Committee, by T. B. Clement, chairman, in the place of Edward G. McKay, who resigned on account of work.

WESLEYAN PLANS LARGER BUILDINGS.

President William Arnold Shanklin's prospective "Greater Wesleyan" is advancing. With the finishing of the new Van Vleck Observatory this fall, and the building of another new dormitory, which already has shown much progress since June, and the announcement of the plan for the remodeling of Memorial Chapel, the "Greater Wesleyan" is rapidly advancing.

The necessity for more room in chapel is evident, for with the present student body and faculty the auditorium becomes crowded and leaves very little room for visitors. The plans for remodeling will be to tear out the entire interior and make it one story instead of the present two, with a large gallery in which the freshmen will sit. Doctor Shanklin is desirous of having this change made during the next summer vacation. This chapel will necessitate the building of a college union for the student body. The scientific department of the university is also crowded to its capacity, and this necessitates the building of a new chemistry building. The present building will then be devoted to the museum and geology department. Plans for the "Greater Wesleyan" also include the moving of the athletic field, and the building of a new and larger library building. Wesleyan is advancing at the rate of one new building each year, and at this rate, five years should see Wesleyan in the front rank of best equipped colleges of New England.

allowed. Knowlton of Amherst kicked off to Brickley, who advanced the ball to Trinity's 30-yard line. Brickley made first down on a delayed pass, and Cole gained three yards on an end run. Amherst held and Brickley punted to Amherst's ten-yard line. Amherst gained eight yards on two line plunges, and Trinity was penalized for offside play. Taber and Goodrich ploughed through the Trinity line for a first down, but Rider was thrown for a loss and forced to punt to the middle of the field. Cole recovered a fumble and carried the ball to Amherst's 25-yard line. Brickley's pass was intercepted by Rider. The first quarter ended with the ball in Amherst's possession on their own 15-yard line.

Short gains gave Amherst its first down but they were forced to punt when Trinity's line strengthened. Kennedy received Rider's punt and carried the ball ten yards to the middle of the field. Gains by Brickley, Vizner, and Cole netted 24 yards, but Trinity was penalized and forced to kick, Goodrich receiving the ball on Amherst's 25-yard line and making a small gain. Goodrich and Tow netted a total of nine yards and Rider punted to Brickley, Cole and Brickley following this by gains of 18 yards. The half ended with Amherst in possession of the ball, following Brickley's punt to Tow.

Amherst kicked off to Vizner, and Trinity was penalized for offside work. Brickley fumbled but recovered the ball, and Trinity crashed through for gains by Brickley and Cole. Amherst held and was given the ball on downs. Rider plunged through for a gain of eight yards and a forward pass was blocked by Cole. Trinity was given the ball on downs, the ball going to Trinity on her own 30-yard line. Tow of Amherst was granted three minutes of time for a slight injury by Cole, acting captain for Trinity. Brickley punted over the heads of the Amherst backs, who were forced to run back to their own 20-yard line to recover the ball. The period ended after short gains by both teams and exchanges of punts, Trinity having possession of the ball on Amherst's 15-yard line. Brickley made a short gain, but on Nordstrom's failure to get a place kick over the crossbar, the ball went to Amherst. Attempted line plunges resulted in no gain and Rider punted out of danger, the ball going out of bounds on the 40-yard line. Kennedy and Cole made long gains on end runs, but Brickley was forced to punt when Amherst held. Short gains by Amherst failed to make a first down, and the game ended with the ball in Trinity's possession in Amherst's territory. The summary:

IN COLLEGE DAYS.

(With apologies to J. G. W.)

Still stands the college on the hill,
A nervous Freshman sleeping;
Outside his window noises grow;
Inside, his heart is leaping.

Without, a Sophomore's face is seen,
So stern with ways official,
He shouts, "Hey, Freshman, give your name!
Your whole name! No initial!"

And from above a face is seen,
A face so pale, betraying—
Some fear of future parties, rare,
When "Sophs" are "Cuckoo" playing.

Long seconds pass and everyone
Shouts lusty tones of fretting,
While far above, another head,—
Well,—someone gets a wetting.

Then every Sophomore lifts his gaze
To see who did the spouting,
And silence reigns o'er that great mob,
As some poor Fresh is shouting—

"I'm sorry that I spilled the can!
I hate to go above you,
For honestly,"—his brown eyes fell,—
"Yes, really now, I love you (?)"

Still memory to some gray-haired man,
When fifty years is showing;
That "Cuckoo Party" long ago,
When he, wild seeds, was sowing.

Moral.

Each lives to learn in Life's hard school;
To strive to be on top;
For like the "Cuckoo" tales of old,
He needs no spongy mop.
It's always he who stands below,
With cries of dire fretting,—
Yes, he who stands and never climbs,
Is sure to get the wetting.—C. W. W.
