FOOTBALL PROSPECTS BRIGHT. Schedule Best in Years.

Prospects for a good football team are brighter this fall than they have been in some years, which is saying a great deal.

The 1915 campaign began when the squad reported at the training camp at Black Point, Conn., the first week in September. After a week there the men returned to Trinity Field, and at present it is hard to predict what the lineup next Saturday against Worcester Tech. will be because of the wealth of material that is available.

Six "T" men remain from last year's team. They are Captain Castator, Morris, Jackson and Lambert, linemen, and Craig and Cole, backs. In addition, there is Vizner, a veteran of the 1912 team, and Wooley who played a sterling game at tackle in 1913. There are many men who were substitutes last year who may develop this year into 'varsity material. Of these, Maxon, a former end, is making a promising bid for quarterback. The other candidate for quarter is Kennedy, a new man. He has played three years at Ursinus and looks like the best quarter Trinity has had since Hobe Cook. The other new men, most of whom are freshmen, whom most is expected, are from Brickley, Prescott, Nordstrom, Cald-well, and Harper. The first two are backs and the latter three linemen. Of this number, Brickley, Nordstrom, Caldwell and Harper look to have the best chance to start the season as 'varsity men. Brickley is heavy and fast as well, while Caldwell and Harper tip the beam at 180 and 225 respectively. The team promises to be exceptionally well fortified in the line. The backfield will present slightly more of a problem, but with the material available for it, and with the assurance of a heavy and experienced line, the 1915 eleven should be one of the best that has represented Trinity in recent years.

The Schedule:

Sept. 25—Norwich at Hartford. Oct. 2—Brown at Providence. Oct. 9—Bates at Hartford. Oct. 16—Amherst at Hartford. Oct. 23—Williams at Williamstown. Nov. 2—N. Y. U. at New York. Nov. 9—Tufts at Hartford. Nov. 16—Columbia at New York. Nov. 23—Wesleyan at Hartford.

DOCTOR LUTHER AWAY. Change in Administration.

Trinity College opened yesterday afternoon with a new president, Professor Henry Augustus Perkins, M. A., E. E., at the helm. It is the first time in eleven years that Dr. Luther has not opened college by speaking in the chapel on Thursday afternoon. This year he is away on leave of absence, and his place is being filled by Professor Perkins. Dr. and Mrs. Luther expect to spend the month of October in Jewett, N. Y., a small town in the Catskills. After leaving Jewett, they will leave for Southern California, going by way of the Panama Canal. The winter will be spent in Pasadena, and in the spring the doctor will come East again, filled with fresh vigor for his duties next year.

Professor Perkins, who has been appointed Acting President, is well qualified for the office. He is a graduate of Yale in the class of 1898. Later he received the degrees of M. A. and E. E. at Columbia. He has been professor of physics at Trinity for some years, and will continue to conduct advanced courses in that subject. Professor Perkins is a member of the American Physical Society, the Société Française de Physique, and is an associate member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. He is the author of a textbook on Thermodynamics, and has had articles published in the various scientific journals.

FRESHMAN RULES.

The freshman rules have been published and issued to the class of 1919. They are printed in blue upon white cardboard and are embellished at the top with an artistic drawing by Pollock, '18, descriptive of what the sophomores will do to any heedless freshman who dares disobey the mandates of his superiors. The rules are similar to those imposed in former years. The committee which drew them up was composed as follows: J. Buffington, Jr., chairman, W. G. Smyth, N. P. Holden, W. Mc. Pollock. M. R. Jackson, W. Grime, R. C. Phillips, E. C. Carroll, S. D. Pinney, and F. P. Easland.

SONG BOOK OUT. Appears on Campus on Class Day. Edited by Harding, '16.

The edition of the Songs of Trinity College promised last winter appeared on the campus in time for Class Day. There are fifty-two songs in the book of which twenty-one are distinctively Trinity songs. Most of the standard old songs have been retained, and to them have been added the best of the newer songs, some of which have yet to The be heard by the college body. second section contains twenty-three favorite songs that are the common property of all college men, such as "My Last Cigar," "The Soldier's Farewell," and the "Son of a Gambolier." A third division comprises one representative song from Yale, Harvard, Brown, Dartmouth, Amherst, Wesleyan and And finally as Williams. an example of the music sung by the men about college, a collection of campus songs under the title of 'Jibes" has been included.

The musical end of the Song Book was attended to by Mr. W. B. Davis of Middletown, who has coached the Glee Club several years, and who has written the music for some of Trinity's best songs

The appearance of the book is very attractive. It is eight by eleven inches in size, and bound in blue cardboard with gold lettering.

The sale of the book was very successful, but there are still remaining some copies, which can be obtained from Alfred Harding, Jr., 14 Seabury Hall. Copies ordered by mail will be sent at the expense of the purchaser. The price of the book is one dollar per copy.

475 STUDENTS AT WESLEYAN.

Wesleyan University opened yesterday with an enrollment of about 475 men, 150 of whom are freshmen. This number comes close to President. Shanklin's ideal of having Wesleyan consist of 500 picked men.

Many improvements are noticeable around college. During the summer new concrete walks were laid on the campus and about the college buildings at an expense of about $4,000, which has been subscribed by the local townspeople who take an interest in the college and have gone ahead in the matter of their own initiative. A new dormitory is nearly completed and will be dedicated at the next commencement. The Van Vleck observatory, for which ground was broken at the last commencement, will be dedicated some time in November. Distinguished astronomers from all parts of the country will be present. The new lens for the telescope will be the largest in New England. This lens was being made in Germany when the European War started and the time of its delivery is uncertain. For the present the lens in the old Observatory Hall telescope will be used.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

Yesterday afternoon Trinity started off on its ninety-second year. Let's make it the most prosperous year in all our history. Of course it will be-for Trinity always goes forward, but each man must put forth his best efforts to make even a greater gain than ever before! Freshmen! A great deal depends upon you! The higher classes have all been put to the test and have taken their place as loyal Trinity men.

It is up to you to live up to the standard which they have set. Keep moving. Do not let the college drag you along.

There's an old saying which goes: "The more you put into Trinity, the more you'll get out of it." Never was a truer word spoken. The work which you do for your college is work done for yourteams. You are not helping the college as much when you play on the scrubs

as if you score the winning touchdown against Wesleyan, but still you are doing a lot to make that touchdown possible.

Those of you who have any literary or business aspirations should come out for the Tripod. By doing so you help

Trinity. The musical clubs need candidates. In fact, there is more than enough work around the college to keep the class of 1919 busy every minute.

Remember, that a "hundred-and-ten-pounder", who does his work, is more valuable to Trinity than an All-American guard on probation. Don't leave at mid-years. It hurts the college and it hurts you. Good, consistent work will make strong Trinity men of you all.

Don't shirk!

not ability in some line.

surer,

The football team plays its first game tomorrow. Every man in the college should be on the bleachers to cheer Captain Castator and his huskies on to their first victory. Trinity has the hardest schedule in its history this year, and the team must be backed every second in order to make the season a successful one.

The Tripod extends its best wishes to Professor Perkins in his new capacity as President of Trinity, and expresses confidence that under his guidance the college will continue its progress.

FOOTBALL CAMP AT BLACK POINT.

The Trinity football squad got together here at the Alpha Delta Phi house on September 9, and early in the morning of September 10, the entire bunch left for training camp, which was to be held et Black Point, Conn. After a half day's trip they arrived at the Point View House, at Black Point. The squad of men who were the first ones at Black Point consisted of King Cole. Morris. Vizner, Wooley, the Clark brothers, Nordstrom, Prescott, Shepherd, Jones and Manager Spofford. Captain Castator arrived along with Kennedy, George, Brickley and Maxon on Saturday. No work was started the first afternoon after arrival but the fellows did as they wished, some playing tennis, and taking a long walk, while about everybody went in for a swim. Saturday the squad was out on the field, and running suits instead of football clothes were put on for the first work. Most of the practice was confined to falling on the ball, starting practice for the linemen, and a long run. There was a preliminary drill for ends, running down under punts and forward passes, which proved to be very satisfactory, both in training for a good wind, and facilitating in handling the ball. At this work, Bob Morris proved himself able to keep up his former reputation as an end. The linemen had considerable drill in quick and correct starts, and then a drill on breaking through. Nordstrom, a freshman of mere 215 pounds and Wooley were tried out for centers, though it is quite probable that Wooley will hold his old job at right tackle. It being the first day and very hot, the work was not very strenuous, and after practice the whole squad went in for a swim off a dock near the field which one of the gentlemen at Black Point very kindly let us have the use of. The afternoon was again devoted to pleasure, and tennis, swimming, and a long walk were part of the sports participated in.

In the evening after supper the fellows gathered around the piano and sang for an hour or so, much to the great pleasure of the few remaining summer people at the hotel. This was the program for every night after supper, while we were there. Sunday morning the squad was out again, and most of the fellows were stiff from the previous day's workout. Sunday's work, for the most part, was a repetition of Saturday's, only a little more vigorous. Cole showed that he was able to hold his reputation in the backfield for his unusual speed. A great deal of running was one of the daily features of the practice, and all the work was increased in strenuousness from day to day. Sunday's work closed as usual with the swim, and that was followed by a big dinner. The work seemed to create a huge appetite, and when the squad left the table, there wasn't much in sight except a few dishes.

Monday they were at it again, and they were given a few simple formation plays to run off in addition to the other work. There was a drill in running down under punts for the linemen, the backfield catching them and running them back. The first signals were given out on Monday, and they were worked out on a few simple plays, of the ball carried around end and through the line. Practice closed with the usual swim. The heat while they were at camp was very severe, and it was a fine thing that there was such remarkable swimming to close the practice with. Everybody participated in the swim, and those who couldn't swim went in anyway. Afternoon practice for a couple of hours was started on Monday. The squad donned bathing suits, and had a lot of signal work on the front lawn of the hotel. This was followed as usual by a swim. The customary songs closed the day's events while waiting for the mail carrier to come at 8.30. There was a lot of anxiety at the mail, and many disappointments after it came.

Tuesday we were at it as hard as ever, and there were additional plays given to be run off under signals, along with the regular work of the line drill, forward passes, falling on the ball, and running down under punts. The heat was so severe that all the fellows got badly burned in the running suits. Brickley burned so easily that he had to wear full jersey and regular trousers to completely cover him. Afternoon practice was again in order, and this consisted of the thorough signal drill with more additional plays.

Wednesday the program was the same with a little harder work. The heat was so intense on Wednesday that they had a small baseball game in the afternoon rather than the afternoon practice. Thursday morning Coach Price and his family left for Hartford, and the squad had the practice under the direction of Captain Castator. Thursday afternoon the men all packed up their baggage and started back to Hartford, reaching there about 6.30 p.m. The squad left camp a little earlier than was expected, but it was thought best to get back on the home gridiron, and get used to it before the Norwich game. Since then there has been regular practice on the field.

FACULTY NOTES.

Henry Augustus Perkins, M.A., E.E., Acting President of Trinity College, spent the summer until the last of August at North East Harbor, Mount Desert Island, Me. Boating and fishing served as the chief pastimes. After a good rest President Perkins returned to Hartford August 25 and relieved the Rev. Flavel S. Luther, Ph.D., D. D., President, the as latter being on a year's leave of absence.

The Rev. John James McCook, M.A., D.D., LL.D., Professor of Modern Languages, spent most of the summer at his summer place at Niantic, Conn. Dr. McCook was appointed by the Governor a delegate to a convention at Salt Lake City, to investigate penal conditions, but could not go. While at Niantic, Dr. McCook wrote an article on "College Professors and their Attitude toward the European War."

Wilbur Marshall Urban, Ph.D., Brownell Professor of Philosophy, remained in Hartford until the last of July, at which time he went to Providence Park, R. I., where he spent six weeks. Dr. Urban did considerable technical and literary work during the summer, among which was an article which appeared in the September number of the Philosophical Review, called "Unentollerabls: A Study in Logic of Valuation."

Gustavus Adolphus Kleene, Ph.D., Professor of Economics, spent the most of the summer on his Maine farm, where he did some writing and enjoyed the rural benefits of his farm.

Arthur Adams, Ph.D., Librarian, spent the greater part of the summer on the Jersey coast. Upon returning to Haitford, Dr. Adams succeeded Walter B. Briggs, M.A., as Librarian.

Le Roy Carr Barret, Ph.D., Professor of the Latin Language and Literature, left Hartford June 25 for St. Louis, Mo., where he spent the summer. Dr. Barret returned to Hartford September 18.

Archer Eben Knowlton, M.S., Assistant Professor of Physics, spent half the summer at Colebrook, Conn. Professor Knowlton was in the employ of the Public Utilities Commission of Connecticut for six or seven weeks, during which time he inspected gas, electric and water companies of Connecticut.

Walter Loring Barrows, M.A., Professor of Geology, spent part of the sum-mer in Hartford, and several weeks on the Jersey coast.

Frederick Walton Carpenter, Ph.D., J.Pierpont Morgan Professor of Biology, spent part of the summer in New York and part in the Berkshires. In the latter place Dr. Carpenter did some botanical work. Professor Carpenter has moved from Washington Street to 1033 Farmington Ave., West Hartford.

Arthur Bevins Stonex, Ph.D., Professor of English Literature, spent the summer in Hartford, during which time

NEWS OF THE ALUMNI.

'54-The Rev. Horace Baldwin Hitchings, D.D., is living with his nephew, James A. Scott, Trinity, '43, at 109 North Cedar Street, Mishawaka, Ind. Dr. Hitchings passed his eighty-fifth birthday on the 31st of last January. His "health is very good, except for the natural infirmities of age," as he himself states.

There are three other members of the class of 1854 living today: James R. Bird, M.D., Rev. James G. Strong, and James D. Hewett, M.D. The other member listed in the College Bulletin, William J. Boardman, died on August 2, 1915.

'72-The Rev. Frederick W. Harriman, D.D., was recently elected a trustee of the Berkeley Divinity School, Middletown, Conn., and Elder General (National Chaplain) of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants.

'89-E. Norman Scott has during the past summer been at the front with the French Army near Amiens, France, where he has driven his automobile for the American Motor Ambulance Corps. Twenty-six American cars, he states, are working there night and day.

'93-James Cullen of 2811 Burnett Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio, was recently elected secretary and treasurer of the City Ice Delivery Co., a consolidation of all the municipal ice companies of Cincinnati and vicinity. This company, whose office address is Northwest corner Race and Canal Streets, is the fourth largest ice company in the United States.

'99-Aubrey D. Vibbert of 123 William Street, New York, started in the insurance business for himself in September, 1914. His office is with Rodgers & Carr, Inc.

'09-Rev. Paul Roberts, a graduate of the class of 1909, is the father of twin daughters, born June 22, 1915. The names of these daughters are Elise Armitage Roberts, 2nd, and Anne Legate Roberts. Mr. Roberts has one other daughter who was born in 1913.

'10-Jerome P. Webster, M.D., has been appointed one of the assistant resident physicians at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, and entered upon his duties September 1st. These appointments are made only to the sixteen medical students of the graduating class with the highest scholastic averages at the Johns Hopkins Medical School.

COMMUNICATION. --

To the Editor of the Tripod:

The August 1915 number of the Cleveland Athletic Club Journal contained the following:

We have become somewhat accustomed in recent years to the weeping and moaning caused by hard-hearted college faculties which insist that even the college team athletes study some. We frequently hear that one or another hero is deprived of the right to participate in athletics because he is behind in his classes. Trinity College, one of the smaller, more conservative, old-fashioned New England schools, is located at Hartford, Conn. It has recently obtained some publicity due to the fact that it has withheld a degree from the man who has had the second highest scholastic marks in his class and all because he has declined to be athletic. For many years Trinity has taken care of the health of its students by requiring two or three hours a week work in the gymnasium by its lower classmen. Now comes a boy who insists a college is for the mind only. He is a "grind" and studies hard but never shows up at gymnasium. Despite his head-work he is not allowed to graduate, and so is athletics vindicated at last.
