Loose Fielding and Poor Hitting Marks First Game of Season.

In a loosely played game last Saturday the Trinity baseball team went down to defeat before the University of Maine 9 to 4. The game, which was the first of the season for Trinity, was marked by erratic fielding on both sides, but the strong hitting of the visiting team spoiled the prospects of the local nine. Ferris pitched good ball for part of the game but was erratic toward the middle, and errors in the infield aided in the score which the Maine aggregation was able to put over.

The game, which came on an ideal day for the opening of the season, was watched by a fair-sized crowd. In spite of the score it was not entirely unsatisfactory to Trinity men, as it was practically the first time the team had worked together on the diamond. A rally in the eighth inning for Trinity was stopped when McKay was put out at home after Vizner's grounder to Russ. Schmitt came across with a three-bagger in the seventh, and after Lambert grounded to third, reached home. The work of Driscoll in the box for Maine, and later that of Ross, aided materially in the outcome of the game. Driscoll was credited with six strikeouts while Ross fanned eight of the Trinity men.

Four men faced Ferris in the opening inning, but the Trinity men themselves went out in one, two, three order. After two men were down in the second, Ruffner laced out a two-bagger for the visitors. Reardon, however, grounded out, Mullen to Kenney, leaving Ruffner stranded on second. Vizner got a single over second after Kenney had struck out. Lambert, running for Vizner, who has not yet recovered from a bad ankle obtained in practice the first part of the week, immediately stole second. Mullen popped up a fly to Driscoll who dropped the ball, Lambert scoring the first run of the game. Driscoll then proceeded to walk Woolley, Mullen taking second, but Ferris grounded out.

Maine started in the third. Driscoll shot a liner towards second which Mullen let through his hands. Phillips struck out, but Larry singled for third, Driscoll scoring. Hackett also singled. Ferris heaved a wild one and Larry scored, but Hackett was out at the plate trying to score on the same play. Pendleton made the third out on a bunt, Woolley to Kenney.

Kennedy started the third for the home team by striking out. Captain McKay sent a Texas leaguer over third. He then stole second. Murray advanced McKay to third by a long sacrifice fly to the outfield, but Kenney struck out.

Maine made one more run in the fourth, when Gorham came in on Driscoll's single, after he himself had reached first on an error. In this inning, Trinity was retired in one, two,

AROUSING PLATTSBURGH INTEREST.

Trinity Alumni Urge Attendance at Summer Camps.

To arouse among college men, and particularly among Trinity students and graduates, interest in the military training camps which are to be held in different parts of the United States this year, a number of Trinity men have organized a committee which has started a movement to enroll as many college men as possible at the various encampments to be held this summer. The Hartford committee is called the Trinity section of the Plattsburgh enrollment committee. Personal letters are being sent to Trinity alumni, which read as follows:

"The undersigned Trinity alumni attended last year's 'Business Men's Camps' at Plattsburgh. We found the experience beneficial to us and to the other participants of all ages. We are convinced that the camps performed a valuable patriotic service and that their work should be continued.

"However cordial our hatred of war, we cannot blind our eyes to the possibility of its coming, with little or no warning. Untrained volunteers are valueless and trained soldiers cannot be made over night. We proved this at Plattsburgh to our entire satisfaction.

"Knowledge of how to care for one's self in the field and under fire is a very practical kind of life insurance for the individual, his family, and the nation. Furthermore, these camps, as the nearest approximation to the Swiss and Australian systems, suggest a possible solution of our great national problem, avoiding the dangers of an enormous permanent military establishment on the one hand and the perils of our present utter defencelessness on the other.

"This year similar training camps will be held in different parts of the United States. We hope that you will attend. If that be impossible, we hope that you will help some one else to attend. The junior camps, for boys in college, and the senior classes of high schools or private schools, are fully as important as those for their elders. Applications should be mailed as soon as possible. If, later on, you wish to change to a different camp, or if unforeseen circumstances make it necessary for you to withdraw, you may do so. But apply now and add momentum to the movement.

"Trinity has always been a leader in times of national stress and is expected to lead in 1916. Many colleges and universities are enrolling large delegations; indeed, this year's total is already double that of 1915.

"Inquiries, requests for application blanks, and the like, may be addressed to 'Officer in charge of military training camps, Governor's Island, N. Y.' or to Anson T. McCook, secretary, 50

SOUTHERN TRIP FOR BASEBALL TEAM.

After two seasons without one the baseball team is this year to have a Southern trip. On account of the lack of much outdoor practice, due to the weather, the team is not yet in smooth working order, as was plainly shown by the defeat last Saturday at the hands of Maine, and the Southern trip should be of great value in putting the men into their proper stride in preparation for the games of May and June. The Southern teams that will be met have had the benefit of several weeks of outdoor practice, and most of them have also played several games, so that Trinity will be at something of a disadvantage. Yet if the Blue and Gold players once get going at their customary gait before the trip is over, there is no reason why the invasion of the South should not prove to be a fair success.

The team will leave Hartford on April 24, and on the 25th will meet Catholic University at Washington, D. C. On the 26th the men will be at Annapolis, Md., to play the U. S. Naval Academy. Then they will penetrate into the real South, and on the 27th will clash with the University of Virginia at Charlottesville. The team will return North by the way of a swing through Pennsylvania, and will play Lehigh at South Bethlehem on the 28th, and Lafayette at Easton on the 29th. From there the return to Hartford will be made, and the first game after the spring vacation will be that with Rhode Island State College at Trinity Field on May 3. It is not yet completely decided as to all the men who will be taken South.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the Tripod:

Dear Sir:

I enclose a check from the Reverend Sidney D. Hooker of Montana, which he sends me for the work of Doctor Holbrooke, and another check for the same amount which I wish to subscribe in order to make a fair start on a new collection, as I feel sure there are several other alumni who would be glad to help this very deserving work.

Yours sincerely,

HENRY A. PERKINS.

BLACK LIST.

The following men have neither paid their Athletic Association dues for this semester nor made arrangements with the Association committee to pay them. Consequently they are on the black list of the Association: E. J. Caulfield, J. P. Hahn, Higgins, D. W. Little, and H. M. Smith.

State Street, Hartford; or to any of the undersigned:

Very respectfully,

Charles A. Lewis, '93.

DEBATERS WIN AND LOSE.

Defeat N. Y. U. in New York; Rutgers Wins Here.

The annual Triangular Debate between Trinity, Rutgers, and N. Y. U. was held last Thursday night, April 13. The subject was: "Resolved—That the national government adopt a policy of owning and operating the telephone and telegraph systems." The affirmative team lost at Alumni Hall to Rutgers while the negative team was beating N. Y. U. at New York.

The debate at Alumni Hall was well attended and proved interesting. The Mandolin and Glee Clubs gave some selections which helped to make the affair a success. The teams which debated at Alumni Hall were made up as follows: Trinity (affirmative), R. Z. Johnston, '16; J. G. Neafie Mitchell, '16; J. A. Racioppi, '17; and alternate, Charles T. Easterby, '16. Rutgers (negative), Harvey T. Mann, '16; Frederick B. Heitkamp, '17; James B. Scarr, '16; and alternate, Isidor B. Glucksman, '17.

Johnston, starting for Trinity, stated that the burden of proof lay with the negative, that the telephones and telegraphs were indispensable public functions, and would be much better under a unified service that is not produced by the present system. He claimed that these were the two most important means of communications, and as such could be connected with the postal service.

Mann, for Rutgers, said that government ownership removes individual initiative, is less efficient, and has proved a failure in Europe.

Mitchell, the second speaker for Trinity, said that rates were too high under the present system. To prove this he gave some comparative figures.

Heitkamp, the second speaker for Rutgers, claimed that government ownership would subject the service to political influence and red tape.

Racioppi, the closing speaker for Trinity, said that our postal system was the most extensive in the world, as well as the cheapest, and if the telephone and telegraph systems were combined with it, there would be a great reduction in expenses, which would in turn cheapen rates.

Scarr, closing for Rutgers, gave examples of poor service in the European countries and said that the systems proved a loss to the governments.

In the rebuttals Heitkamp spoke of the high cost of all things which the government controls. Racioppi quoted Professor Holcomb of Harvard as being in favor of government ownership. Scarr gave some statistics. Mitchell said that the United States government was well fitted for the work. Mann and Johnston both summed up for their respective sides.

The judges were Professor George M. Dutcher of Wesleyan, William L. Cushing of Westminster School, and

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

In charge of this issue,
JOHN E. BIERCK.

We call the attention of the students to an article in the Harvard Theological Review by George Harris, ex-President of Amherst College, entitled "The Ethics of College Students."

Although the article does not deal exclusively with athletics or athletic relations, as does the article by William T. Foster on "Intercollegiate Athletics" in the Atlantic Monthly for November, 1915, it summarizes the situation quite the reverse of the latter article.

In view of the present situation in the college, it is very appropriate that this article appear at this time. We hope that the students will find an opportunity to study the problem out for themselves along the line suggested by Mr. Harris.

CALL COMING FOR TRIPOD CANDIDATES.

Soon after the reopening of college in May, a call will be issued for candidates for the Tripod board. This concerns both the editorial and business departments. Men who wish to be elected to the board next spring have a splendid opportunity to further their chances by beginning work next month, for they will thus have two more months in which to accumulate credits than will the candidates who start work in September. Next spring there will be five vacancies left by the expired terms of 1917 men, and this fact offers an added inducement to all who wish to make the board. The date for the calling out of candidates will be announced later.

TENNIS TEAM GOING SOUTH.

On April 25 the tennis team will leave for a Southern trip, during which five matches will be played. Prospects for the season were somewhat damaged by the mid-year examinations, which put some promising men on probation, yet in Captain J. G. N. Mitchell, '16; E. A. Niles, '16; and P. C. Harding, '18, three veterans are available. These men should form a nucleus strong enough to provide a fairly successful season.

The above are three of the four men who are sure to make the Southern trip. The fourth man will be either P. S. Kramer, '19, or K. E. Johnson, '18. These two men will play each other this week to decide which of them is to make the trip.

Manager J. S. Kramer, '17, announces the following schedule. It is one of the hardest that Trinity has had in tennis in some years.

Southern Trip:

April 25—St. John's College, Annapolis, Md.
April 26—U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.
April 27—Mt. Washington A. C., Baltimore, Md.
April 28—Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, Md.
April 29—Baltimore Country Club, Baltimore, Md.

Regular Season:

May 5—Bowdoin at Hartford (tentative).
May 6—Brown at Providence, R. I.
May 13—Union at Schenectady, N. Y.
May 20—Columbia at Hartford.
May 24—Y. M. C. A. College, Hartford.
May 27—Tufts at Medford, Mass.
June 3—Amherst at Hartford.

COMMUNICATION.

(The Tripod has received the following letter from the editor-in-chief of The Tech, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.)

To the Editor of the Tripod,

Dear Sir:

In one of your recent issues you ran an article entitled "Adam Average." Here on The Tech we have re-established, after a lapse of some eight years, The Lounger, being a sort of satirical comment on Institute life. In Monday's issue we are using some of the material suggested by Adam, the idea, in almost the same manner as used by yourselves, having been worked up by The Lounger.

I am writing this to you so that you may not think we are downright pirates. Allow me to congratulate you on the editorial success of the Tripod in the recent competition.

I am, sir,

Very truly yours,
ADOLPH H. WENZEL,
Editor-in-Chief.

DR. HALL URGES PREPAREDNESS AND SAYS WE MUST FIGHT.

To Vote the Republican Ticket in the Fall is the Way to National Preservation.

Saturday evening, April 15, in the public speaking room Dr. Walter Phelps Hall, professor of modern history at Princeton, made a stirring appeal for a stiffer, sterner Americanism to a body of students and professors assembled to hear him. His subject as announced was "Why the Republican Nominated for the Presidency in June Should Be Elected," and he showed this by telling how a firm administration which the Republicans would give would straighten out the difficulties which this country is in at present.

He said in substance that we must maintain patriotism, that our first duty is not to humanity in general, but to our own national ideals and interests. Unquestionably various munitions manufacturers are active in urging greater national preparedness, and unquestionably a strong patriotism tends to breed suspicion in other countries, but we must not let these facts blind us to a realization of the needs of our country. Three things have been urged as a means to overcome nationalism in all countries, an understanding of the culture and viewpoint of other countries, which would be helped by the system of exchange professorships, the vast complexity of international finances, and international socialism. All these, promising as they seemed, have failed, it is amply demonstrated in Europe at the present time. One thing to cling to, no matter what a man believes, is that group loyalty, an eagerness for the good of our fellow-men, must be put before self and individualism. We must apply this group loyalty to our country.

The Republican party is leading the way and showing us how best to apply this loyalty. By his very nature, man must be loyal to something tangible. Some day something bigger and better than the United States may arise, but until that time, let us keep our patriotism. At present there are only two really world-wide institutions which could possibly be substituted for the United States, the Roman Catholic Church and international socialism. Neither of these, however, can be substituted. The institution to which we may cling, leaving out the United States, has not yet arisen.

A policy of vacillation, by trying to avoid dangers and difficulties has only got us into more trouble. Professor Hall urged universal compulsory military service as the only democratic and thoroughly fair method of defending the United States.

COLLEGE NOTE.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Storrs of Farmington Avenue have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Miss Ruth R. Storrs, to Frederick B. Castator, ex-'16, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The wedding will take place at seven o'clock on Saturday evening, April 29, at Immanuel Congregational Church. Mr. Castator played four years of football at Trinity, was captain of the 1915 team, and was one of the best guards the college ever has had. He was also a track man for three years. He is a member of the Sophomore Dining Club, of the Medusa, and of Phi Kappa chapter of Alpha Delta Phi.

three order. Larry led off in the third with a single, stole second, but was out at the plate when trying to reach home on Hackett's grounder, Hackett reaching first on the play. He also reached third, but was caught napping at this station by Woolley, who made a pretty throw to the bag. Pendleton ended the inning by flying out to center field. The Trinity men were again retired in quick order in this inning. The visitors scored one more run in the sixth after Gorham singled and stole second. Ross relieved Driscoll at this point and started out by fanning Captain McKay. Murray then shot a fast one toward third which was too hard for Rowe to handle, but Murray was caught trying to steal second. Kenney struck out.

By the results of a single, a couple of stolen bases, an error, and a wild pitch, the Maine team was able to pile up three more runs in the seventh. Trinity came right back and collected two runs itself in this inning. After Vizner had struck out, Schmitt delivered the best hit of the game, a three-bagger between left and center fields. At this point Trinity began to send in pinch hitters. Lambert, batting for Mullen, sent a grounder to third which the Maine third-sacker let through his legs, Schmitt scoring and Lambert reaching first. Lambert then stole second and scored on a passed ball. Berkeley, batting for Woolley, grounded out, short to first. Ferris then struck out.

Considerable shifts were made in the Trinity line up at this point. Kenney went in to catch, Berkeley went to first, Vizner to second and Lambert was placed in left field. The visitors were retired in short order in this inning. In this inning Trinity lost its best chances of overtaking the Maine team. Kennedy walked and stole second at once. The center fielder dropped McKay's long fly, Kennedy going to third and McKay going to second. Kennedy scored on Murray's infield hit and McKay took third. Kenney then struck out. Vizner grounded to Ross, who caught McKay at the plate. Vizner reached first on the play and started toward second. While the visitors were trying to corner Vizner, Murray started for home, but he was nipped at the place and Trinity's best chances were lost.

The Maine team added two more runs to its list in the final inning, due to another mixture of a hit, a batter being a hit, a couple of errors and all-around loose playing by the home team. The game ended by Schmitt and Lambert striking out and Berkeley grounding to third.

All in all, the game showed that Trinity must improve its batting eye, and not only learn to play together but improve on individual fielding. The Southern trip should accomplish much in these respects. The game produced no stars for Trinity, but it did show that of the new faces on the team, Vizner, Kennedy, and Kenney are sure of regular jobs.

Last Friday evening, April 14, a Junior Smoker was held at the Alpha Chi Rho House. FINAL INTERCLASS MEET HELD.

St. Anthony Hall Wins Inter-Fraternity Relay.

The third and final of the series of the handicap interclass meets was won by the Seniors with 49 points Saturday afternoon. The Sophomores who were runners up in both previous meets, were nosed out by two points, getting 47. The Freshmen were a poor third with 27, and Schlier made the only two points scored by the 1917 men.

Goldstein, '19, tied the college record of 10 1-5 seconds in the 100-yard dash and also won the 220 and 440-yard dashes. St. Anthony Hall won the inter-fraternity relay which has been the center of so much interest. Psi Upsilon was second and I. K. A. third. The members of the winning team were: O'Connor, Thorne, Beers, and Mitchell.

Prizes are to be awarded to the first and second man in each class of events for the three meets. The first prize consists of a plaque, bearing the shield of the college in bronze and a gold plate engraved with the name of the winner and donor. The second prize is similar, except that a silver plate is substituted for the gold one.

The following are the winners of the prizes. The points given are their totals for the three meets:

Sprint Class—First, Goldstein, '19, 25 points; second, N. George, '16, 15 points.

Distance Class—First, C. P. Johnson, '16, 17 points; second, W. George, '16, and Williams, '19, tied, 15 points.

Hurdle Class—Perkins, '16, and Shulthiess, '18, tied, 22 points.

Jumps Class—First, Jarvis, '19, 15 points; second, Bjorn, '18, 14 points.

Weights Class—First, Easland, '18, 16 points; second, Spofford, '16, 14 points.

Novice Class—First, Hatch, '16, 12 points; second, Cahill, '16, 8 points.

The Summary:

All events were handicap events.

100-yard dash—First, Goldstein; '19; second, N. George, '16; third, Shulthiess, '18.

One-mile run—First, Crehore, '16; second, Williams, '19; third, Niles, '16.

JUNIOR SMOKER HELD.

the same time that the present Juniors entered college in the fall of 1913, and therefore he considered himself a good deal of a Junior. This sentiment drew much applause.

Professor Carpenter went on to say that at this time of the year we are more or less engrossed with the champion long distance performances of some of our track athletes, and he wished to mention a few of the long distance feats of some of our migratory birds. He then described how some varieties of birds summer in northern Canada and winter in northern South America. Still other varieties actually migrate all the way from the Arctic to the Antarctic regions each year. This is a round trip of over 22,000 miles, and the birds accomplish it by flights that take them over both continents and oceans with unerring accuracy. Just what this capacity for direction is which the birds possess no one definitely knows, but some think that birds possess a sort of sixth sense which never fails to guide them aright on their tremendous flights.

with the man who prides himself on smoking Tuxedo. He knows whereof he speaks when he talks of mildness, fragrance, flavor, sweet comfort and happy days.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

"Tux" has all the sweet, mellow flavor and rich relish you are looking for in a pipe tobacco—and that sound, solid, serene satisfaction that you get only from Burley leaf.

And you can smoke Tuxedo every time you happen to think of it—all day long, if you wish. The "Tuxedo Process" removes all the harshness, all the parch, all the bite—and this original process is used only in Tuxedo.
