PRICE FIVE CENTS

1917 IVY OUT.

More Pictures, More Reading.

The best Ivy ever has again come out, this time being the 1917 Ivy. This year's book is notable for an increase in the amount of literary material and the number of pictures of all kinds. One new feature is the group pictures of all the classes. This makes the Ivy of greater personal interest to the two lower classes as heretofore no pictures of sophomores and freshmen have been included. Another new feature is the views of the college, done in sepia. The dedication reads as follows:

*In Memory of James Junius Goodwin, LL. D.,
a worthy Son of Hartford,
in Character and Life and Example of Integrity,
Patron of Historical and Genealogical Study,
Trustee of Trinity College 1896-1915,
Benefactor of this and other
Public Institutions,
This Volume is gratefully dedicated.*

There is a full page picture of Frank Eddy Haines, Jr., ex-'17, who died last year.

There are the pictures and records of every man on the faculty and in the two upper classes, to which each junior has a short descriptive verse attached. Each fraternity has its section, showing the picture of its house, its roll of members, and seal. The athletic section is very full, and is interestingly treated. The society events section is headed by an exceptionally good cut by C. C. McIvor, ex-'17. This section is followed by the sections given over to the Jesters, and the various organizations of a more or less literary character. The 1915 commencement week is told about, and an account of the Red Cross course is given.

Alfred Harding, Jr., '16, contributed "Wally Painter" and "A Cataclysm of Cats"; Robert B. O'Connor, '16, "The Plute"; Richard L. Maxon, '16, "Love and War," in the style of George Ade; C. B. W. Gray, '16, "Hennepin," an epic fragment. "The Charge of the 'Limb' Brigade" is included with apologies to some one. Besides these there are the "Cravin'," "The St. Patrick's Day Racket," "Musings in an English Class," and "L'Appreciation de la Musique" by members of the junior class.

Those who contributed besides the members of the class of 1917, are: R. S. Morris, '16, and L. J. Kallinich, '19, photographs; Vertrees Young, '15, N. J. George, '16, W. B. George, '16, C. C. McIvor, ex-'17, R. B. O'Connor, '16, W. McA. Pollock, '18, R. B. Wessels, '18, and J. C. Rorison, '19, drawings; and C. B. Gray, '16, Alfred Harding, Jr., '16, R. L. Maxon, '16, E. A. Niles, '16, and R. B. O'Connor, '16, writings.

The committee in charge consisted of Allen Northey Jones, editor-in-chief; Warren Milton Creamer, business manager; Guy M. Baldwin, William Wade Macrum, John E. Bierck, Robert Hatch, J. S. Kramer, J. M. L. Cooley, Kent S. Kirkby, J. E. Griffith, Jr., Donald J. Tree, and A. P. R. Wadlund.

PREPAREDNESS PARADE A SUCCESS.

Big Trinity Delegation.

The slight, intermittent rain last Saturday afternoon in no way dampened the ardor of the marchers, 17,000 strong, not counting the 2,000 A.O.H.'s mysteriously lost "somewhere in Hartford". The Trinity delegation, almost two hundred strong, was enthusiastically received all along the line of march, and the reception was just as warmly returned. The whole affair was a great success, and was not materially marred by the smallness of the down-river delegation, although more was expected of them.

The Trinity delegation was ordered to assemble on Lafayette Street, at 2.30 p. m. At that time a number were on hand, and the numbers were nearly filled up by 3.00 o'clock, the time they were supposed to begin. Orders for marching were received about quarter of four, and after numerous delays and halts, the delegation started, marching along Park Street to Washington Street, and then to Main Street through Jefferson Street.

By the time the delegation got to the reviewing stand in front of the old State House, the men were pretty well accustomed to keeping their lines straight, and they made a mighty fine appearance. As the Trinity delegation passed Christ Church the chimes pealed out with "Neath the Elms." "Neath the Elms," also greeted the Wesleyan marchers, but was not particularly enthusiastically received by them.

The Trinity delegation sang a number of songs as they marched along, and did some snake dancing along Ford Street. After being marched to Buckingham Street, the delegation was dismissed, most of the men then going over to Main Street, where they stood and cheered the last of the parade as it passed.

DR. JOHN B. PRICE RESIGNS.

At a meeting of the advisory committee Friday afternoon, the resignation of Dr. John B. Price as football and baseball coach was accepted with regrets. Dr. Price will not be situated in the vicinity of Hartford next winter as it is his intention to enter medical work in Pennsylvania and for this reason he tendered his resignation to the advisory committee.

Other possible selections for the coaching of the football and baseball teams were discussed, but no definite

JESTERS' DINNER.

Barthelmess Re-Elected President.

The Jesters held a dinner at the Hotel Heublein Friday evening, which was attended by fourteen members. After the dinner several constitutional amendments were made. The principal one being the substitution of a one dollar initiation fee for the annual dues.

Professor McDonald gave a talk, in which he made three suggestions to the organization; first, That they choose a good play, if not a thoroughly good play, and that they act it in a thoroughly good way; second, that they give a series of little plays of special interest, such as Fielding's "Tom Thumb," in holidays throughout the year, and third, that they do something to help the college library in increasing its number of contemporary plays. He strongly advised them to choose one of Pinero's plays for their main production next year.

It was announced that the next new set of scenery for Alumni Hall would probably be in place next week. A number of plans were discussed, and then the five graduating members who were present, Harding, O'Connor, Niles, Coyle, and W. B. George, were called upon for short talks.

After these talks were concluded, the election of officers for the coming year was taken up. Richard S. Barthelmess '17, was unanimously re-elected president. Einer Sather, '17, was elected vice-president. Allen N. Jones, '17, was elected secretary-treasurer. Joseph Buffington, Jr., '18, was elected business manager. Hurlburt A. Armstrong, '19, was elected stage manager. Theron B. Clement, '17, was elected Jesters representative on the board of directors, and Dr. Urban was re-elected faculty representative on the same board.

Those present were; Professor McDonald, R. S. Barthelmess, F. B. Coyle, W. B. George, Joseph Buffington, Jr., E. Sather, T. B. Clement, J. F. Maher, Jr., N. B. Holmes, R. B. O'Connor, E. A. Niles, A. N. Jones, E. Astlett, and A. Harding, Jr.

decision was reached. Such names as Cole, Lambert, and Castator were discussed, as being undergraduates of possible choice, and the name of Hinman of Dartmouth, who was associated in the coaching two years ago, was mentioned. Burns, who coached the Trinity baseball team to a successful season two years back, was also discussed.

It was decided to postpone the meeting for a few days, a definite decision to be made at that time.

The remainder of the meeting Friday concerned itself with the ratifying of several minor points in the constitution and by-laws of the athletic association.

MIDDLEBURY 4, TRINITY 3.

The baseball team lost a close game to Middlebury College on Trinity Field Friday afternoon by the score of 4 to 3. A walk, a single, and two errors gave Trinity three runs in the first inning. Middlebury succeeded in pushing a tally across the plate in the fourth inning, when Bresnahan singled, stole second and scored on Robinson's double to left. Neither side was able to score again until the eighth.

Garrison, the visiting pitcher, used an effective spit ball, only two put-outs going to outfielders. Five hits were gathered off his delivery. Kenney and McKay each secured two safeties for Trinity.

Mott, the first man up in the eighth, was safe at first when Murray juggled his grounder. Bresnahan then singled, Mott taking second. Robinson grounded to Ferris, who threw high to Berkeley, who could not hold on to the ball. Ferris then walked Dewhirst, forcing Mott across the plate. Bartlett singled to right, scoring Bresnahan and Robinson. Butterfield grounded to McKay, who threw home, catching Dewhirst at the plate. Garrison struck out, and Bower ended the inning by flying out to second.

Bartlett robbed Leeke of a hit and Trinity of a game when he made a spectacular catch of Leeke's liner in the ninth with two men on bases. He had an easy double play at second after making the catch and Trinity lost its last chance to win.

Trinity scored three runs in the first. Garrison walked Leeke, the first man up. McKay singled to left, Leeke taking third, and McKay going to second on the throw in. Murray flied out to second. Kennedy then sent a pop fly to short, who dropped the ball, filling the bases. Schmitt hit a grounder to short, who let the ball go between his legs, Leeke and McKay scoring, Kennedy going to third. Kennedy scored on a passed ball. Vizner struck out, and Berkeley flied out to right.

Middlebury scored its first run in the fourth. Bresnahan singled, stole second, and scored on Robinson's double to left. Both pitchers tightened up at this point and there was no more scoring till the eighth when Middlebury scored three times. It looked as if Trinity was going to win out in the ninth. After Berkeley had flied out to center, Kenney knocked a clean double between center and left. Garrison then walked Ferris. Leeke knocked a liner that looked like a sure double, but Bartlett in center field, made a spectacular shoestring catch, doubling up Kenney at second and ending the game.

ALUMNI NOTES.

'77—News has been received of the death at his home in Wakefield, Mass., May 13, of William Everett Rogers, a graduate of Trinity College in the class of 1877. He was born in Webster, Mass., July 18, 1854, and had therefore nearly completed his 62nd year. He was prepared for college in Norwich, Vermont, and in this city, his mother having removed to Hartford to secure good educational facilities for her son; while living here she was a faithful church worker in Trinity Church and in Grace Chapel. Entering college in 1874, the young man became captain of the college nine, editor of the "Ivy," and class orator, as also one of the speakers at Commencement. He studied law in Franklin, N. H., and later at Boston University, and received the LL.B. degree from that institution in 1887. He made a special study of probate practices, and was appointed assistant registrar of probate and insolvency for Middlesex County in 1892; and on the occurrence of a vacancy in 1904 he was elected registrar. He also served the town as a school committeeman and library trustee, and was for many years warden of Emmanuel Church. His wife, who was Miss Ellen S. Cate, survives him, with a daughter; his only son died about fourteen years ago while a student at Dartmouth College. Among Mr. Rogers' classmates were John H. K. Burgwin, Robert H. Coleman, William G. Mather, Professor Charles C. Edmunds, Rev. J. Francis George, Edward M. Scudder, Rev. Sydney D. Hooker, and others who are well remembered here. Of the twenty who were graduated thirty-nine years ago, fourteen survive.

'12—A daughter, Margaret Meegs Whipple, has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Whipple of Hoosick Falls, N. Y. This is Mr. Whipple's second daughter.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the Tripod:

In your current issue of the Tripod you say in a headline that Trinity is again to be represented at Northfield. Unless the president of the Y. M. C. A. is to attend the conference, there is nothing in the body of the article to indicate that the heading gives a correct forecast.

Last June Trinity was represented by two men, Moses, '14, and myself, also '14, both of whom attended the conference, not from Trinity, but from the General Seminary. In the matter of official undergraduate delegates, Trinity was almost painfully—to us—conspicuous by total absence. Practically every other New England College of any importance was well represented, and it seemed strange when the Wesleyan delegation gave its resounding "Wes" that there was no answering "Trin." I suppose the reason Trinity doesn't send delegates is that it really isn't awake to the wonderful experience that is offered all participants. I am sure that, if a half dozen undergraduates were to attend this year and then come back and relate their experiences, there would be at least a dozen scheduled for next year.

All Trinity students who can possibly arrange it so, should attend this conference. They will not regret it.

C. E. CRAIK, JR., '14.

CLASS REUNIONS.

1901.

Coincident with the new order of Commencement festivities will be the fifteenth reunion of the first class to graduate in the new century, whose motto was: "A new order of the ages." 1901 is making strenuous efforts to bring back in June more than half its members, although they are widely scattered, some being in such places as China, Mexico, and Montana.

The 1901 reunion will be held in a reserved hall in Heublein's Rathskeller at 7.30 on the evening of Saturday, June 17. Members who for any reason fail to receive regular notice, are asked to communicate with the class secretary, J. A. Wales, 110 West 40th Street, New York City.

The class of 1911 will hold its quinquennial reunion next June and efforts are being made to bring back to Hartford a large portion of the class. At the triennial in 1914, 30 men returned and it is hoped that at least 50 will be on hand this year.

Owing to the changes in the Commencement Week program, the class dinner will take place on Saturday evening, June 17. More details will be announced later. The class secretary invites cooperation in the form of suggestions and constructive criticism.

CLARENCE E. SHERMAN,
Secretary, Amherst, Mass.

1913.

Hartford, Conn., May 6, 1916.

The Class of 1913 will hold its third-year reunion this June. The big day is Saturday, June 17. Events will start with an alumni ball game in the morning, as scheduled at present, between 1913 and their ancient foes, 1911. There will be a chance for everyone to play. Immediately after the game, the alumni luncheon will take place in the gymnasium. The reunion dinner at Heublein's in the evening will make a live ending for the day.

Don't miss this reunion. See the old crowd once more.

The Class of 1915 will hold their first reunion at Heublein's Hotel on Saturday evening, June 17. All members are urged to plan for a large gathering. It will be the first time that many have seen each other for a year, and it may be the last time that we will see each other again for several years. Make arrangements now for the big dinner. Please notify the Secretary, H. R. Hill, at the College Library, as soon as you have ascertained whether or not you can be present.

SPEECH TO FUTURE BUSINESS MEN.

George V. G. Holman, from the Alexander Hamilton Institute, spoke in the Economics room last Friday afternoon on "What Business Expects of the College Graduate." Mr. Holman is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, of the class of '88, and his talk proved of considerable interest to those that heard him.

THE FUTURES OF THE SENIORS.

50 Reveal Their Plans.

The seniors have been canvassed, and have obligingly told their plans for future occupation, now that they are to be graduated so soon. Business, of some vague and indefinite sort, claims eight of the men. Seven have even less clear ideas of their futures, not having yet been able to decide on any general, not to say particular, line of work. Six are going into the ministry, and another six into law. Five are going to take up the problems of the insurance world, and five are going to undergo the trials and tribulations of a teacher's life. Three men are going to take up further studies in graduate schools before entering upon their life work. Chemistry will busy two men, while two more are going into art. Civil engineering claims one man. Another is going to be musical and athletic director at a preparatory school. One man is going into electrical engineering. Only one man is going into medicine. One man is going into the munitions business, and one man is going into finance.

Castator is already in business, and Ferris, Gillooly, Hatch, Jennings, Morris, Schmitt, and Tiger will take it up soon. Cahill, Crehore, Gray, Kennedy, Linton, O'Connor, and Phillips do not yet know what they are going to do. English, Lambert, Mitchell, Morgan, Pierce, and Townsend are going in to the ministry. Churchill, Johnston, Maxon, Niles, Spencer, and Thorne are going into law. Bond, Cole, Ives, Moran, and Vizner, having seen the success of insurance among the seniors, are going to take up insurance themselves. Harding, Johnson, Nilsson, Peck, and Plummer are going to turn about and do some teaching themselves. Dowling, McCarthy, and Muller are going to take up work in graduate schools. The two Georges, after much Ivy experience, are going into art.

Coyle and Spofford are going into chemistry, Craig is going into the munitions business. Easterby is to take up finance. Caulfield will be the only M. D. of the class. Perkins will be the musical and athletic director at Lake Forest Academy. Randall will be an electrical engineer.

BJORN TRACK CAPTAIN.

Following the track picture Friday afternoon, Walter Bjorn, '18, of Hartford, was elected captain for the season of 1917. Bjorn has been a star member of the team for two years and has won the broad jump in every dual meet since entering college. He has scored points in the high jump and the discus. The new captain has been the only Trinity man to score in the New England Intercollegiate for two seasons and is also the holder of the college record in the broad jump.

Bjorn has also run on his class track team and is a member of the Sophomore Dining Club and Alpha Chi Rho.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT.

On Saturday evening, June 17, the Glee Club will give a special concert to boom the club and to awaken the interest of the alumni. The club, under the excellent training of Mr. William B. Davis, has made rapid progress this last year. Mr. Davis was the leader of the Gerald Cunningham Club, an old Trinity organization. It will be here to give a special number and is promised to create a lively interest among the alumni and present student body.
