FIRST INTERCLASS MEET SCHEDULED FOR APRIL 1.

Annual Series of Indoor Handicap
Contests Starts with Feature
Events. Interclass Relay for First Meet.

Beginning at 2.30 Saturday, April 1, and continuing through successive Saturdays, a new series of interclass handicap track meets will be held in the Park Casino on Elm Street. These meets, which it is hoped will become an annual fixture, will be three in number, the exact dates being April 1, 8, and 15.

In planning these meets, Coach Harmon and Captain Crehore are carrying out the avowed policy outlined at the beginning of the year of furthering track athletics at Trinity on the plane which they should rightfully hold. By making all the events handicap, an excellent opportunity is given to every Trinity man to show what he can do, and at the same time through the generosity of the alumni, he has a real chance to win a very valuable trophy.

Responding to an appeal of Manager Barnwell, the alumni have come to the aid of the track team and the college and have made possible the awarding of the best prizes for these meets that have ever been seen at Trinity. Four of the six desired sets of medals have been donated.

For the purpose of determining the winners, the various events on the track program have been divided into six groups, and prizes for first and second in any one group will be awarded to the men acquiring the largest and next to largest number of points during the three meets in that group. These six groups have been arranged as follows: Sprints, anything up to and including the 440-yard dash; middle and long distance, anything over the 440; jump; hurdles; weights; and novice. A novice is defined as one who has never competed in the event before and Coach Harmon will be the court of last appeal in deciding the status of all candidates for these events. All novice events will be scratch.

The addition to the list of regular track events of the interclass and interfraternity relays is expected to develop an intense rivalry, and already much interest and enthusiasm is being shown about college in these special contests. The interclass relay will feature the first meet and on the following Saturday the preliminary heats of the interfraternity races will be staged. Then the winners of each heat will meet in the final battle on April 15.

The entry list for Saturday's meet is posted in the locker room, and all entries must positively be in by Friday at 5.30. The list of events follows: Fifty-yard dash, handicap, fifty-yard dash, novice; three hundred-yard dash, novice; 300-yard dash, handicap; one mile run, handicap, 60-yard high hurdles,

NEW YORK MAN SPEAKS ON SOCIAL SERVICE.

Consults with Trinity Students.

Mr. Walter W. Pettit, assistant to Mr. Edward T. Devene in the teaching of social work at the New York School of Philanthropy, addressed the Economics Class yesterday morning on "Social Service." He spoke again at 10.45 a. m., in the Economics Room to an open meeting, and in the evening at a Smoker held at 70 Vernon Street, upon this subject. Mr. Pettit's object was to consult with those students desirous of entering social service or philanthropic work, so that he might interest them in the New York School of Philanthropy.

This school is the recognized school of philanthropy in this country, and is affiliated with Columbia University. Its purpose is to fit men and women for the public service; for professional positions in voluntary civic and social agencies, and for effective work as directors, members of committees, friendly visitors, contributors, or in the independent use of time and money. The courses offered are of a graduate character and may lead to a Ph.D. degree at Columbia. The required work covers a period of two years, and deals with the practical side of social service work in a very thorough manner.

At the smoker at 70 Vernon Street, Mr. Pettit, speaking on "Social Service", said in part, that the meaning of social work was the elimination of poverty, disease and crime. That it is not a narrow, limited activity, but a very broad and far-reaching work. Social work is in reality a practical application of the principles of economics and sociology. In the educational field social work has proved itself to be of great strength and importance. The fields of education and social service frequently overlap.

As a profession, social service is new and is shown by the fact that in the 1900 census there were no social service workers listed separately; but in the 1910 census they were listed in the same general class with fortune-tellers, spiritualists, keepers of amusement places and turfmen.

Sentiment alone will never produce effective results in social service work. It must be joined with a thorough scientific training. He then said that the New York School of Philanthropy offers a two-year course of graduate character. The school is affiliated with Columbia University. The work is divided into case work and educational work. Charity organization work and activities of factory Welfare Leagues come under case work. The work of the Child Labor Committee and Bureau of Municipal Research come under educational work.

MEMORANDUM FROM COMMITTEE OF THE FIRST TRAINING REGIMENT ORGANIZED AT PLATTSBURGH, N. Y., 1915.

The men of the First Training Regiment, composed of 1,800 men who attended the Plattsburgh Camps (Senior Division) in 1915, are deeply interested in the extension of the training camp movement. So strongly do they believe in the importance and value of these camps that they are undertaking to bring the purposes of the camps to the attention of as many as possible of the young men of the country and to urge them to attend the camps.

While the patriotic motive must and should be the most powerful consideration to impel men to attend the camps, we can testify to many advantages from the individual standpoint. The out-of-door life and hard exercise, the strict but sensible discipline of the Regular Army officers, the interesting study of a subject outside of our normal work, the opportunity of associating in a common cause with a vigorous body of men drawn from many different communities and occupations, make the experience both interesting and inspiring. Finally, we venture to state that from this experience comes a stronger patriotism and a more intelligent comprehension of our military situation and our personal obligations to serve our country in time of need.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Reverend Samuel Hart will be the preacher at the Sunday morning service.

Professor Wilbur Marshall Urban will lecture at the Berkeley Divinity School, April 3. His lecture will be on Bergson and Traditional Philosophy.

SOPHOMORE SMOKER.

The Sophomore Smoker will be held this year on Saturday evening, the thirteenth of May. There is a track meet in the afternoon which will make the date very satisfactory. The entertainment is to be in the form of a musical comedy, all the songs and words being written by men in college. Rosenbaum, '14, and Spofford, '15, will be on hand, and it is hoped that a new song will be presented by them. The committee is working hard and the Smoker promises to be one of the best ever held.

MUSICAL CLUBS WELL RECEIVED.

Concert at Memorial Baptist Church.

Among the best concerts of the season was the one given at the Memorial Baptist Church, Washington Street, last Tuesday evening. The program opened as usual with "Neath the Elms", which was received enthusiastically. The Mandolin Club,—that is, all of them that there were present,—followed with the "Live Wire March", and proved that no matter how few of them go on a concert they can still play. "Old Virginia" was sung for the first time in public and was very effective. Spofford again was the hit of the evening in his solo numbers. Another hit came close behind, in the shape of the Mandolin Quintette, composed of Mitchell, Holden, Craig, Plummer, and Kenney. The group of college songs, "The Pope", "Nut Brown Maiden", and "The Mermaid", went as well as usual. The College Quartette did not perform as creditably as they are accustomed to. Morris, Kenney, Grime, and Spofford sang. Then came the Glee Club's most effective number, "White Wings", followed by an excellent performance on the xylophone, by Perkins. The program closed with "There's a College on the Hill". The men who made up the clubs are as follows: Glee Club—Morris, Schmitt, Harding, Perkins, Beers, Kramer, Redfield, Wadlund, Sturman, Johnson, Nordstrom, Forbes, Grime, Linton, Brill, Kenney, Tree, J. G. N. Mitchell, Easland, Spofford, Plummer, Parsons, and Fenton; Mandolin Club—Craig, Randall, Holden, J. G. N. Mitchell, Plummer, Wooster, Fenton, Parsons, Perkins, and Brandt.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the Tripod:

Dear Sir:

I have received a communication from C. W. Whittier and Brother, an old real estate firm of Boston, Mass., offering positions to several members of the graduating class, in case there are any who wish to enter this business.

I shall be glad to give what information I have concerning this firm to any student who may be interested.

Very truly yours,
EDGAR F. WATERMAN,
Treasurer.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

THE CONFINED SPHERE OF THE COLLEGE MAN.

One hears a great deal about the college student's ignorance of current affairs. The accusation is peculiarly applicable to Trinity. The undergraduate here leads a particularly narrow life. He goes through his daily routine of duties and pleasures, and acts on the assumption that everything worth while is embodied in them. What does the European War matter so long as he is assured of three abundant meals a day and a soft bed at night? If he thinks of the soldiers' suffering at all, he is likely to place it on a level with his own agonized struggles over an assignment in Psychology.

The average student is not broad. He dutifully glances over the headlines on the front page of the newspaper, and reads the sporting news thoroughly. He knows that there is trouble in Mexico and that there is a presidential election approaching. But his knowledge is very superficial. He cannot talk at length upon any subject involving important issues. Any meal at a fraternity house will display his failing. He will indulge in perfunctory remarks on topics in which perhaps he thinks he ought to be interested. Inevitably, however, the bulk of his conversation will consist of girls, dances, clothes, and other matters which fill his daily life.

The undergraduate does not project his thoughts forward to any extent. He knows that he is going to do something someday. He has a vague idea what it will be. The future does not worry him very much, however. He picks his courses for comfort, not from a desire for benefits to be derived later. He makes no effort to form habits helpful in moulding a successful career. He neglects opportunities which he will never have again,—all for the sake of transitory pleasures, very often harmful.

The college man thus inhabits a confined sphere within which he concentrates his interest and energies. To him it represents life with all its values. Beyond it nothing is real. The sun rises and sets for his benefit, and mathematics were invented for his own personal discomfort. He lacks the ambition and initiative to break the shell which holds him in his present agreeable environment. He will stay there until his complacency is disturbed.

Trinity men may be no more circumscribed in their interests than the students of other institutions. Nevertheless, we have gained the impression that they are. Perhaps it is because the faults of one's daily companions are more obvious than those of chance acquaintances. However that may be, we notice in ourselves and the rest of the college body a lack of appreciation of the vital problems of life in general. Trinity and Hartford are the world.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES.

Military drill at Dartmouth has at last become a reality. The course consists of drill and instruction by lectures in military engineering, camp sanitation, the chemistry of explosives, surveying and mapping, signalling, and wireless telegraphy. The new course seems to be popular among the students and faculty.

The past year has been an epoch in the realm of college militarism. The board of regents at Ohio has recently authorized non-compulsory methods as at Michigan, while the directors of the state university have unanimously indorsed the proposal to increase the training in universities. In fact, so popular has the plan of collegiate preparedness become, that in one of the large eastern institutions the faculty has organized a company.

COMMUNICATION.

Dear Sir:

You will find herewith a bulletin containing full information in regard to military training camps to be held at Plattsburg, N. Y., this summer, with the hope that you will be interested in this subject.

You will note, first, that applicants are desired principally from those who have had college, university, high school (or corresponding school) education. Non-graduates are not excluded, but each case will be decided on its merits with a view to maintaining a level in the progressive scheme of development. The training given at these camps is very intensive, covering in a period of four weeks as much as possible of the fundamental education of an officer. This calls for a well-trained mind. In the second place, past experience has shown that this class of young men is the first to join the colors in time of war and many of them, regardless of their skill in military matters receive commissions. This has been the procedure in times past. It is right and necessary that these young men should be fully informed as to the tremendous responsibility which will come to them with the command of men and the irreparable loss which may be caused by unskilled leadership.

Furthermore, as citizens of military age and as members of the unorganized militia under the constitution, it is necessary for the intelligent discharge of their military obligations that they should be as well informed as possible on these matters. The President has said in a recent message * * * "It will be right enough, right American policy, based upon our accustomed principles and practices, to provide a system by which every citizen who will volunteer for the training may be made familiar with the use of modern arms, the rudiments of drill and maneuver, and the maintenance and sanitation of camps. We should encourage such training and make it a means of discipline which our young men will learn to value." * * *

At these camps great stress is laid upon personal hygiene and camp sanitation and a serious effort is made to teach men how to take care of themselves in camp and at maneuvers, as well as to familiarize them with the use of arms. The conduct of the camps tends to establish habits of promptness and exactness, and to the careful observance and prompt execution of instructions. A serious effort is made through lectures to convey a sound and correct idea of the military policy of the United States as exemplified by our past wars, and particular attention is given to the general subject of military history.

Secondary to these more serious purposes of the camp, there is to be considered the physical benefit of a healthy, out-of-doors life, vigorous exercise, discipline, good food and association with a fine lot of men from every section of the country with whom, as past experience shows, a very intimate bond is formed based on hard work in camp and maneuvers and the consciousness of serving a good cause.

For these reasons national statesmen and legislators, famous lawyers, great bankers and merchants, and many high state and city officials have stood elbow to elbow in the ranks, at such camps, with men who labor for a daily wage and, both are proud of it.

The whole effect of the camps has been excellent both from the standpoint of increasing the sense of each man's responsibility to the nation for service and his obligation to fit himself to render it effectively and efficiently. I believe all men who have attended these camps have left them better physically and morally, and with a higher and better conception of their duty as citizens.

Attendance at the camp will not increase either the legal or moral obligation of those who attend. The intention is merely to equip those taking the course of training to fulfill with more efficiency and usefulness, obligations which are already laid upon them as citizens of the United States.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) LEONARD WOOD,
Major-General U. S. Army.

The State military officials would not permit the use of the State Armory for these meets, due to a well defined policy of reserving the floor for the activities of the militia outfits. Consequently, the management has arranged to hire the Park Casino on Elm Street for April 1 and 8. It is hoped that the cinder track will be in condition by April 15 for the event of the series. There being no funds at the disposal of the manager for the rental of the Casino, it will be necessary to ask the college body to help out. An admission fee of 15c will be requested by those not entering the events. The assistant managers of track are selling the tickets on the campus.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE BASKETBALL.

The freshmen are practicing twice a week in preparation for the annual Sophomore-Freshman game. As yet the teams have been unable to arrange a satisfactory date for the game. As soon as a date has been arranged it will appear in these columns. The following men are practicing on the freshmen team and from this number will be chosen the final team: McGuffey, Andrews, E. Armstrong, Thalheimer, Segur, King, Jarvis, Beers, and Leeke (captain).

The Smoke of Men Who Win

A fresh-rolled "Bull" Durham cigarette almost says "Speed up!" right out loud. Keen-eyed, clear-headed young fellows smoke "Bull" Durham because it has the sparkle and the "punch"—the youthful vim and vigor. Every time you "roll your own" with "Bull" Durham you open the door to Hustle.

GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM SMOKING TOBACCO

"Bull" Durham is unique among the world's tobaccos. It is distinguished from all others by its wonderful mildness, its delicious mellow-sweet flavor and its distinctive aroma.

That's because it's made of the very choicest of rich, ripe Virginia-North Carolina "bright" leaf—the smoothest and mellowest tobacco in the world.

You get a lively smoke and a satisfying smoke when you "roll your own" with "Bull" Durham.
