TRINITY 0, N. Y. U. 0.

Trinity played a scoreless game against New York University today. The game was marked by forward passes, mostly incomplete. The Blue and Gold succeeded in three short passes while N. Y. U. got off one long one.

Good playing was shown by Lynch, Hyland, Kingeter, Murtha and Shepard. Puffer showed improvement at center.

For New York Egan starred. The game in detail:

First Period.

N. Y. U. kicked off to Ramsay. Hyland gained 6 yards around end. Hyland kicked to Egan on N. Y. U.'s 40-yard line.

N. Y. U. failed to pierce Trinity's line and Egan kicked to Hyland. A pass — Hyland to Shepard — netted 9 yards. Ramsay failed to gain. Hyland kicked out of bounds on the enemy's 25-yard line. N. Y. U. made their distance through good interference, in spite of lack of speed. Soon the Trinity broke through this interference and no more gains resulted. N. Y. U. was penalized 15 yards for holding. Egan kicked to Hyland. On a play meant for a pass Hyland made about 12 yards. Trinity failed to gain further and Hyland kicked out of bounds on the enemy's 20-yard line. N. Y. U. kicked to Lynch, who ran back 10 yards. Ramsay made 6 yards through the line. Trinity was penalized 15 yards for holding. The quarter ended with the ball on N. Y. U.'s 40-yard line.

Second Period.

Hyland passed to Shepard for a gain of 9 yards. Hyland punted over the goal line for a touchback. The ball being put in play on N. Y. U.'s 20-yard line, they twice made first down. Finally after a fumble they were forced to kick, Egan booting the ball 50 yards. This was the beginning of a kicking duel, the ball being exchanged six times with few plays intervening. Hyland had a slight superiority in punts but the half ended without a score.

Between the halves the N. Y. U. supporters enlivened matters with a snake dance and a song.

Third Period.

Ramsay played full-back for Hyland, Bruce taking Ramsay's place at right half. Nordstrom kicked off. Egan returned it soon to Lynch, who ran it back 15 yards. On the next play our Harold received a forward from Shepard and made 25 yards more. After failure to advance further, Nordstrom tried a field goal but failed. Murtha tackled the N. Y. U. player on the 5-yard line. Egan punted from behind his goal line to Lynch, who made a fine 30-yard run to within 5 yards of the goal line again. But the hopes for a touch-

CABINET GOVERNMENT IN ENGLAND.

Miss Mary T. Blauvelt to Address the Political Science Club.

She is the author of "The Development of Cabinet Government in England," "In Cambridge Backs," and "Ultimate Ideals." She has had much experience as a public speaker, both in this country and in England. For the last fourteen years she has been a teacher at Miss Porter's School, Farmington, Conn.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF UNDERGRADUATES.

The second general assembly of the undergraduate body will be held in the Public Speaking Room next Monday morning at 8.45 o'clock.

down were upset by a fumble. N. Y. U. received the ball and kicked out of danger. N. Y. U. soon got the ball again and commenced a steady advance which found them on the Trinity 15 yard line at the close of the period.

Last Period.

Hyland returned to the game. The line braced up and held. Trinity received the ball. Hyland's kick was blocked by Locholower. N. Y. U. passed a forward over goal line for a touchback. The ball was returned to the 20-yard line. Hyland kicked 40 yards and Kingeter intercepted a forward pass. From now on the game was nearly all passes and kicks. Finally Egan passed Gardiner and made 40 yards, being stopped by Murtha on Trinity's 17-yard line. Kingeter stopped the next two plays, intercepting his second pass. Hyland kicked out of danger and soon the game ended without a score.

NEW ENGLAND COLLEGES AND THE WAR.

Connecticut State Council of Defense Statistics Show That One-Half of Students Enrolled Have Enlisted.

Yale and Trinity Lead in Actual Direct Enlistments for Military Service.

In the short time since the entry of this country into the war, almost one-half of the students enrolled in all the colleges and universities, technical and agricultural schools of New England, have enlisted in the active military or naval service of the United States, or have dropped their studies for other forms of war service, according to statistics gathered by the Connecticut State Council of Defense. The figures upon which this estimate is based were received by the committee in response to a questionnaire sent to each of the colleges and school.

There were approximately 20,000 students in the twenty colleges of New England when this nation became involved in the war. Of these, 5,249, joined the colors almost immediately. Nearly 3,000 more took up one form or another of indirect war service, such as agriculture or technical work, bringing the total of war workers to 8,200. These figures do not include graduate enlistments nor enlistments by undergraduates since the selective service act became effective.

At Yale the total loss caused by war was estimated at 1,800 in the undergraduate body and 40 in the faculty. Over one-fourth of Trinity's total enrollment enlisted within a short time of the declaration of war, a considerable proportion of them in Hartford's two cavalry troops, now part of the 101st Machine Gun Battalion. Similar records were made by the other New England Colleges, composite statistics of the eight largest, exclusive of Harvard and Yale, indicating that 22 per cent. left college before commencement day to enlist in some branch of military service, and 30 per cent. to engage in indirect war activities.

The agricultural schools of New England were no less ready to respond to the appeal for men. The Connecticut Agricultural College, at Storrs, but typical in this respect, closed on May 12 with only twenty students left out of an enrollment of 192.

In addition to the agricultural work for which these men volunteered their services, 15 per cent. of the students at the Connecticut College, 8.07 per cent. of the Massachusetts and 16 per cent. of the New Hampshire students enlisted directly for military or naval service.

BRANCH OF AMERICAN UNIVERSITY UNION OPENED IN LONDON FOR COLLEGE MEN.

The anticipated presence in London of an unusual number of university men, either passing through or on leave from the front, has suggested the need of some common rendezvous where notification of their presence in London can be registered and meetings can be arranged with friends who may be there at the same time.

Arrangements have therefore been made by members, residents in London, of the alumni of various colleges to establish a meeting place for American college men when in England.

These headquarters will be known as the "American University Union in Europe—London Branch," and will be for the use of alumni of all universities and colleges in the United States.

Through the courtesy of the London office of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co. of New York, rooms in their buildings at 16 Pall Mall East, S. W. 1, near Cockspur Street and Haymarket, S. W. (telephone, Gerard 9200), have been given over for this purpose and are being adequately furnished.

American papers and periodicals will be found there, and proper facilities afforded for registration, forwarding mail, letter writing, etc.

FOUNDERS' AND BENEFACTORS' DAY.

Founders' and Benefactors' Day was observed at Trinity College on All Saints' Day, Thursday, November 1, when fifty-one students signed a pledge whereby they agreed to observe the statutes of Trinity College; to obey all its rules and regulations; to discharge faithfully all scholastic duties imposed; and to maintain and defend all the rights and privileges and immunities of the college according to their station and degree in the same. President Luther read the pledge in the presence of Dr. Arthur Adams, Dr. LeRoy Carr Barret, Dr. Wilbur Marshall Urban, Dr. Frank Cole Babbitt, Professor Henry A. Perkins, Dr. John J. McCook, and Dr. Edward F. Humphrey. A brief address was given by Dr. Luther. The usual exercises held on this day to commemorate the founders and benefactors of the college were omitted.

Of the fifty-one students who signed the matriculation pledge, eight were admitted as members of the sophomore class, and forty-three as members of the freshman class.

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

FOUNDERS' AND BENEFACTORS' DAY. FRATERNITY INITIATIONS.

Exercises in commemoration of the founders and benefactors of Trinity College were not held this year. This traditional service was dispensed with, we believe, on account of the persistent indifference of the undergraduate body toward attending the exercises. This service, so peculiar to Trinity College, will probably be abolished for all time, unless some plan which will assure a gathering sufficient in numbers to do honor to the occasion is brought forth.

These exercises have particular interest to the alumni, but unfortunately few of them can find the time to come back to college for the sake of attending a short commemorative service. Yet if there were some other inducement for their return, a great many would be glad to attend. A plan has been suggested to "The Tripod" which would bring that about. All the fraternities at Trinity have some sort of initiation ceremonies or celebration in the fall. If all these should be held on All Saints' Eve, a large attendance both of alumni and undergraduates on the Founders' and Benefactors' Day ceremonies would be obtained. A football game or track meet could often be arranged for either October 31 or November 1—indeed, why not an annual All Saints' Day game? Thus the fraternity celebrations would be as well-timed as ever, and the permanence of our Founders' and Benefactors' Day assured.

DISSIMILAR POLITICAL IDEALS.

The difficulty—nearly absolute impossibility—of comprehending the differences between German and American political institutions is illustrated in the following chart, used by Dr. E. F. Humphrey, Northam Professor of History and Political Science at Trinity College, in his addresses, which contrasts political ideals, phrases and utterances of the German Kaiser and American Presidents:

- 1—Deutschland uber alles, uber alles in der Welt.
- 2—Kaiser.
- 3—Empire.
- 4—Hoch der Kaiser.
- 5—Lese Majeste.
Majestätbeleidigung.
Beamtenbeleidigung.
- 6—Verboten.
- 7—Gottesgnadentum (Grace of Godism.)
- 8—Your Majesty.
- 9—Kriegsherr.
- 10—An mein Volk.

Der Tag.
Ein Volk in Waffen.

- 11—Reichsland.
- 12—Vaterland.
- 13—Fürstenstaat.
- 14—Fürstentum.
Staatrecht.
- 15—Kultur.
- 16—Pronunciamento of Der Kaiser, Des Kriegsherr:
- 17—We are the salt of the earth. The Germans are the salt of the earth; they will fulfill their destiny, which is to rule the world.
The German people will be the rock of granite upon which our Lord God can build and complete his work of Kultur in the world.
- 18—Suprema Lex Regis Voluntas.
We Germans fear God, nothing else in the world. We Germans fear God and absolutely nobody and nothing else in the world.
God has called us to Kulturize the world: we are the missionaries of human progress.
Our God would never have taken such great pains with our German Fatherland and its people if he had not been preparing us for something still greater.
- 19—I received this crown from God's hand and from none other.
I held my crown in fief of Almighty God.
Considering myself as the instrument of the Lord, without heeding the views and opinions of the day, I go my way.
Remember that the German people are the chosen of God. On me, on me as the German Emperor, the Spirit of God has descended. I am his weapon, His sword, and His vice-gerent. Woe to the disobedient. Death to cowards and unbelievers.
- I received this crown from God's hand and from none other. The crown was accorded William I by the will of God alone and not by parliament or by an assemblage of the people or by popular vote, and he looked upon himself as the chosen instrument of Heaven.
- 20—No mere parchment shall be interposed between God and this land.
- 21—The only pillar upon which the empire rests in the army. We Germans are a people who rejoice in weapons and who lightly and joyfully wear our uniforms.
- The glorious war-lord (Kriegsherr) worthy of all honor—a spectacle more beautiful than any other and one which speaks more tellingly to our hearts.
- We Germans fear God and absolutely nobody and nothing else in the world.
- A good Christian is synonymous with a good soldier.
- 22—It is to the empire of the world that the German genius aspires. As to war, it is a trade, in which the least scruple would spoil everything, and indeed, what man of honor would ever make war if he had not the right to make rules that should authorize plunder, fire,

- 13—State Sovereignty.
- 14—Common Law.
- 15—Civilization.
- 16—Words of the U. S. Constitution and her Presidents:
- 17—All men are created equal.
No other people have a government more worthy of their respect and love. . . . But we can not forget that we make these gifts upon the condition that Justice and Mercy shall hold the reins of power, and that the upward avenues of hope shall be free to all people. Conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. They are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights. . . among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Governments deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.
- 18—Government of the people, for the people, and by the people.
A decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires. . . . That the great aims to which our fathers dedicated our power as a people may not perish among men.
- 19—Relying, then, on the patronage of your good will, I advance with obedience to the work, ready to retire from it whenever you become sensible how much better choice it is in your power to make, and may that Infinite Power which rules the destinies of the universe lead our councils to what is best, and give them a favorable issue for your peace and prosperity.
- 20—The world must be made safe for Democracy.
That your union and brotherly affection may be perpetual, that the free Constitution, which is the work of your hands, may be secretly stamped with wisdom and virtue: that in time, the happiness of the people of these states, under the auspices of liberty, may be made complete by so careful a preservation and so prudent a use of this blessing as will acquire to them the glory of recommending it to the applause, the affection, and adoption of every nation which is yet a stranger to it.
- 21—To crown with the highest honor the state that has most promoted education, justice and patriotism among the people.
No nation can longer be indifferent to any other. And as we are brought more and more in touch with each other, the less occasion is there for misunderstanding, and the stronger the disposition, when we have differences, to adjust them in the court of arbitration, which is the noblest forum for the settlement of international disputes.
- 22—Observe good faith and justice toward all nations, cultivate peace and harmony with all. . . It will be worthy of a free, enlightened, and, at no distant period, a great nation, to give to mankind the magnanimous and novel example of a people always guided by an exalted justice and benevolence.

The Alumni Secretary is working conjointly with us in this department and communications may be forwarded to Mr. C. A. Johnson, Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., or to "The Tripod".

'99—Bryan Killikelly Morse, died January 12, 1916, at Bahia Honda, Cuba, as the result of a mine explosion while prospecting for a mine near Bahia Honda.

He was a son of Henry Grant and Mary Margaret (Killikelly) Morse. His father was a graduate of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, New York, in the class of 1871.

Morse prepared for college at the Friends' School in Wilmington, Delaware, and at the Episcopal Academy of Philadelphia. After leaving college he entered the mining field and was, at various times, president, manager, or owner of mines in the Western states and in Mexico. He was employed as representative and in other capacities by Earl Grey and various New York capitalists, and at the time of his death was in correspondence with Russian capitalists in regard to opening certain mines in Russia. He contributed various articles to magazines and newspapers and furnished reports to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington on the Cuban mines.

In the fall of that year he entered Trinity College. At the end of two years he obtained an honorable dismissal and entered Lehigh University where he graduated in 1915 with the degree of mining engineer. For one year he worked as expert chemist with several concerns and then decided to devote his time to mining engineering. In March, 1916, he became connected with mining interests in Mexico, where he remained for some time, but was finally obliged to leave the country with other Americans. He then became connected with mining interests in Arizona, and through ability and hard work, had just been appointed superintendent engineer of the Miami Copper Company before his death, which was caused by a mine explosion.

NEW ENGLAND COLLEGES AND THE WAR.

The undergraduates of the technical schools were advised by their teachers when the war started to stick to their studies so that they would be more efficient when called to take up government tasks. Most of them did, and directly upon graduation the members of the senior class of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, for instance, were taken into the service of large munitions and ship-building plants working on government contracts. In addition to these, 16 per cent. of the students, without waiting to qualify as engineers or scientists, joined the colors.
