TRINITY DEFEATED

BY RENSSELAER.

Basketball Team Loses Game 31-10.

The Trinity five was defeated by the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy on Saturday, 31 to 10. The visitors put up a hard game but were hopelessly handicapped. The recent snowstorm so disarranged the railroad schedule that the trip took the entire day. Arriving at nine o'clock, the Trinity men had to go on the floor with no rest. Leeke shot a number of fouls which greatly helped the too small score. Reynolds played a considerable part of the game although he had recently recovered from a severe illness.

The summary:

Trinity		Rensselaer
Leeke	RF	Noyes
Reynolds	LF	Howard
Nordlund	C	Reimers
Hoard	RG	Flandreay
Tansill	LG	Behan, Eller

Score—Rensselaer 31, Trinity 10; goals from floor, Leeke 2, Nordlund, Noyes 2, Howard 3, Reimers 3, Flandreay 3, Behan 2; goals from fouls, Leeke 4, Behan 5; time of halves, 15 minutes.

FLOREAT TRINITAS.

Referring to your request to say something, as one of the older graduates of Trinity, respecting certain questions of general policy which have recently arisen:

There is but one thing that would seem to me becoming in a member of the Faculty to say just now; and it is this: At a time when, not only in Trinity but in some of her neighbor colleges, the air seems full of electricity and the spirit of criticism is in the ascendant, there is considerable danger of excess of introspection and, with that, in honest and earnest natures, of downright pessimism.

Now if bounce and bluster be objectionable, as it surely is, and a serious hindrance to reform, the opposite tendency is no less a hindrance. In fact it may be even a greater hindrance; for it may reduce seriously the very power of initiative, whereby alone one is able to reach conclusions of any sort, whether about ourselves or anybody or anything else.

I would therefore earnestly urge through everything the deliberate cultivation of the spirit of hopefulness and self-respect.

There is no occasion for our forgetting and there is every reason for our remembering that we have behind us as a college nearly a full century of history of which we may justly be proud. The very manner of our birth was associated with the contention for liberty of conscience, one of the worthiest of all causes. And we may well be proud of the friends we have had among the good people of this City, of this State and

ALUMNI SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Below, appears a detailed report of the recent activities of the Alumni Secretary. Mr. Johnson, in a concrete manner, formulates plans for the benefit of Trinity. We think that this report may furnish much interest to the Alumni and to others who have the welfare of the college at heart.

March 9, 1920.

To the Alumni of Trinity College,
Gentlemen:

We are pleased to make the following report regarding responses to our letter of January 8, concerning the maintenance of the office of Alumni Secretary at Trinity.

New cash payments and new pledges, direct result of our letter of January 8, from 46 men for 1920—$1,600, for 1921—$1,600.

Two gifts of $500 per year. 44 gifts aggregating $600 average $13.64.

The lamentable thing about this showing is that so few in numbers have been and are donors to this object. Two thousand alumni and non-graduates accredited to Trinity, and only 258 are regularly giving anything.

The graduates and non-graduates of Trinity certainly should be able to contribute $10,000 each year through the Alumni Council. Many needs of the College could be covered by that sum. We urge that as much as $10,000 per year be donated to the College by the 2,000 men who have attended Trinity. Suggestions for appropriations from this proposed annual income follow.

The expenses of the office of Alumni Secretary require about $4,000. The need of a new fence around our athletic field is urgent this year. The present fence has stood there 16 years, but is now rusted and fallen down. This year of 1920 a new fence should be put up—cost $3,500. In order to rebuild our athletic reputation we need good team coaching and substantial financial support for athletics.

At this moment we have chances to procure one of two competent men of national reputation for baseball coaches. Athletic Association funds do not warrant an appropriation of over $500 for baseball coach. We need at least $1,000. The students will pay $2.00 per man or about $360. A movement has already been inaugurated to raise money for a first-rate football coach. We must have good coaches, even if we cannot build the new athletic field fence until later. We can put up a part of it this spring, if we cannot get enough money to make one job of it. Therefore, it would be perfectly proper, and it is up to the Alumni to raise, and the Council to appropriate for general athletic purposes for 1920 from $1,000 to $4,500. From the balance of the $10,000 that we will raise, should be appropriated for publicity, mailing pamphlets, booklets, and for newspaper publicity, advertising the College, $500.

PROFESSOR OF CHEMISTRY TENDERS RESIGNATION.

Dr. Riggs Resigns Position he has Ably Filled for Thirty-two Years.

Professor Robert Baird Riggs, head of the department of Chemistry, has tendered his resignation to Acting President Henry A. Perkins to take effect at the end of the present academic year. Professor Riggs has been at Trinity since 1888, and is resigning because he feels that he is entitled to a rest after his long period of service. Professor Perkins is of the opinion that Professor Riggs is entitled to a Carnegie pension. No action has yet been taken regarding a successor.

Professor Riggs was born at Hazelwood, Minn., May 2, 1855, the son of Stephen R. and Mary A. Riggs. He was graduated with the degree of A. B. from Beloit College, Wisconsin, in 1876, and received the degree of Ph.D. from Göttingen in 1883. From 1884 to 1887 he was a chemist for the United States Geological Survey, and from 1885 to 1887 he was Professor of Chemistry at the National College of Pharmacy. He came to Trinity as Scoville Professor of Chemistry in 1888.

Professor Riggs has contributed articles on various branches of chemistry to "The American Chemical Journal", "The American Journal of Science" and other journals. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity and of the American Chemical Society and the Deutsche Chemische Gesellschaft.

SENATE MINUTES.

A meeting of the College Senate was called at 7 o'clock, Friday evening, March 5, by Lyon, president. Those present were Lyon, Reitemeyer, Levin, Ameluxen, Ransom, Cunningham and Hodder.

A discussion of the St. Patrick's Day Scrap took place. It was the sentiment of the Senate that all the members of each class should take part. A roll-call will be taken. The entire Senate will act as judges, while Sturman, Puffer and Reitemeyer were appointed, by Lyon, a committee to draw up the rules governing the affair. Reitemeyer was appointed to speak to the freshmen and discuss the scrap with them. The Senate states that the affair should be made similar to those which took place before the war.

Hodder moved and Ameluxen seconded, that the Senate again resume charge of the College Union. After a brief discussion the motion was carried. Ameluxen was appointed chairman of the Union committee. Levin and Hicks were appointed to serve with him.

The condition of the A. A. was discussed at considerable length. A question was asked about its constitution. Ransom, president of the A. A., said he could not find it. It was

A PASSING COMMENT.

In a recent issue, "The Times" quotes an article which appeared in "The New Haven Journal-Courier" concerning Trinity College's need of a big man for President. The out-of-town periodical shows hopeless ignorance of the subject it is endeavoring to discuss, while, frankly speaking, to our minds the local paper appears to exhibit a like lack of knowledge concerning the facts.

It might be interesting to know the motive which prompted the leading paper of New Haven to discuss Trinity and its affairs. Surely it could not be to distract the attention of its readers from the little family row the Yale faculty is having to some other affair not so near home.

We take exception to a number of statements which appeared in this article. In discussing Trinity, "The Times" says: "It (Trinity) is hampered by the fact that it is known as a distinctively Church College. As such its appeal is limited to adherents of the Episcopal Church and its service to humanity is very much limited. "The Journal-Courier" comments on this phase of Trinity's problem by saying: "By diversifying its personnel, broadening its policies, and frankly making its appeal, not to denominations but to all, Trinity would interest many. Certainly if such a policy were to be adopted there would be a greater local interest in the college, as well as a greater outside interest."

We respectfully suggest that the two papers, quoted above, wake up. At the present time the Episcopal Church has one strictly church college in the East—St. Stephen's. Trinity was founded by the Episcopal Church; so were also Columbia and the University of Pennsylvania. It has some cherished traditions which are due to its noble founding and its honorable history. Of these it is and ever will be justly proud.

Again we refer these periodicals to a religious census of the college, recently taken by the Y. M. C. A.

True, the Episcopalians outnumbered any other denomination here, just as they do at Yale and just as one denomination outnumbers any other at Wesleyan. Again the Episcopalian members of the Trinity faculty are in a very slight minority.

Trinity may still be known to some as a distinctively Church College in spite of the facts, still it does not speak well for "The Times", dwelling almost within its shadow, to have this opinion. Certainly its editorial might lead many to think it had.

A RESIGNATION.

It is with sincere regret that "The Tripod" hears of the resignation of Professor R. B. Riggs, head of the department of Chemistry. For more than thirty years "Bobbie" Riggs has served Trinity well. During his long period of service his courses have been very popular. He has turned out many fine chemists. All those who are fortunate enough to have been under his instruction speak, in the highest terms, of his sterling qualities as a teacher.

Certainly, in the departure of Dr. Riggs, Trinity College will lose, not only a scholar of the first rank and a noted professor, but one who, in the years past, has proved himself a true friend of the institution he thus faithfully served.

of nearly every state in the Union. It is true we have never been a large college and are not large now. But it is also true that this fact is rarely commented upon, outside our own number, except to our advantage. At all events it is perfectly certain that the estimation in which we are held is not at all gauged by our bigness. And if other evidence of the truth of what I have said concerning our standing were demanded, I should point to the fact that here where we are best known, in this splendid City of Hartford, we have never asked for help without a quick and generous response.

And if our endowments are small, it may also be stated that our needs are relatively small.

With such a past and with such an attitude towards us of the people who know us best we have every reason to be sure of our future. I do not say that we shall pass Wesleyan or overtake Yale, for I do not know nor do I much care. Something better than either of these may be reserved for us. We shall of course be obliged to work and to work together. To be hospitable to new ideas that commend themselves to us and to be courageous in the elimination of what may presently prove to be superfluous or outworn or bad,—these are of course universal conditions to success and must be taken for granted.

But whatever be decreed us I believe it will be something honorable, useful, necessary, and not unworthy of our parentage and of those who in the past have trusted us and kept us going.

J. J. McCook, '63.

MONTHLY MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the college body was held in the public speaking room, Monday morning and was addressed by Professor Barrett of the Latin Department and Professor Lewis B. Paton of the Hartford Theological Seminary. Acting President Henry A. Perkins opened the meeting by pointing out that much could be gained by the study of the ancients.

Professor Barrett was the first speaker and told of our increasing need of knowledge of the Oriental on account of our increasing contact with the East in trade and in international politics. He said that the three great religions of the world—Christianity, Mohammedanism, and Buddhism—had their origin in the Orient. The Orient is defined as all land east of the Suez, as well as Turkey and the parts of Africa, not included in the classical study of Greece and Rome. In closing, Professor Barrett made a plea for re-enforcement from America for the orientalists of Europe, who are greatly handicapped now on account of the shortage of money in their countries as the result of the war.

Professor Paton declared that a study of the modern issues was not enough for a liberal education. He characterized such a view as horizontal, and advocated what he called a perpendicular view—one which took in the past and the future. Even though most of the conveniences of our present life are modern, the great ideals of the world came from the ancients. The classics are too essential to a liberal education to be dropped. It is absolutely necessary that we know the ancients, if we are to know the men of our own day. The two most widely-spoken languages of the world today are English and Arabic. Historians now start Modern History with the fall of Rome. Modern history should start about 5000 B. C. If we represented history on the face of a clock, with the present at twelve, the birth of Christ would only be at half-past eleven. The speaker said that all present should get rid of the idea that a liberal education can start with the study of Homer.

WILSON GREET'S MASARYK.

Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, who received an honorary degree from Trinity last June, celebrated his seventieth birthday on Saturday, March 6. In cabling his congratulations, President Wilson said: "I offer you my warm felicitations and best wishes, at the same time congratulating the people of Szecho-Slovakia on the good fortune that has placed the administration of their affairs in the hands of one whose broad-minded tolerance and scrupulously fair treatment of the minorities are contributing so largely to the welding of Czecho-Slovakia into a stable nation."

Trinity needs a new gymnasium. It should be erected as a memorial to our soldier and sailor dead in all our wars. $1,000 per year regularly will begin a fund. Therefore let us put aside each year as much as we possibly can, and next year $1,000 at least for a New Memorial Gymnasium Fund.

Donors can give the money to the Council for appropriation as it deems advisable, or gifts to special objects will be gladly received and credited as Alumni Council subscriptions. The above distribution is proposed simply as a suggestion, showing some of our needs. If individual donors or the Council Committee elect to appropriate the gifts to other needs that appeal more to them, it can and will be done. Library books can be bought to advantage now, and professors' salaries must be increased. But for whatever purposes the money is used, a few should not be relied upon to do it all. From 2,000 men there is no reason why $10,000 each year should not be given for vital college needs. The athletic field fence properly rebuilt would last 20 years at least, and with yearly care longer. But don't let us stop until we have an assured income for the Alumni Council of at least $10,000 each year from now on—an average of $5.00 from each man. Of course it can be done. Why, yes, 258 men alone are giving over $3,100 per year now. We have many more who are just as able and just as loyal who should think of Trinity and send in the funds. A $5.00 per man average? Trinity men can pull that out of their pockets at least once each year. Yes, it is easy, But "Do It Now."

SOPHOMORE ELECTION.

At a meeting of the sophomore class, held Friday noon, in the public speaking room, Merle S. Myers was elected chairman of the Sophomore Smoker committee. There was considerable discussion of the coming scrap with the freshmen on St. Patrick's Day. It was decided to leave untouched, if possible, the money now in the class treasury and hold it for a reserve fund.

Myers has announced the makeup of the Smoker committee as follows: Myers (chairman), Mohnkern (ex-officio), Reynolds, Delta Phi; Newsom, Delta Psi; Plumb, Alpha Delta Phi; Doran, Delta Kappa Epsilon; Anderson, Phi Gamma Delta; Hungerford, Alpha Chi Rho; Clapp, Sigma Nu; Byrnes, Alpha Tau Kappa, and deMcCarthy, Neutral Body.

suggested that, if the constitution were not found, a new one should be drawn up. Hodder suggested that an executive committee, consisting of the captains and managers of the various teams, be formed to carry on the work of the A. A. The Senate approved the suggestion and also the idea of putting into practice the printed ballot system, used before the war at former elections of the A. A. This system will go into effect this spring. Ransom said an A. A. meeting will be held in the near future for the purpose of electing a secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Hodder moved and Ameluxen seconded, that the Senate express its approval of making basketball a major sport next year. The motion was carried.

It was moved and duly seconded, that the secretary send a letter to Acting President Perkins asking the possibility of the additions of two more courses to the curriculum next fall. These courses are International Law and Public Speaking.
