TENNIS TEAM TO PLAY DETROIT

FIRST REAL INTERSECTIONAL
CONTEST FOR A TRINITY
TEAM TO BE PLAYED IN HARTFORD MAY 19.

Aside from the southern baseball trips, which were abandoned during the war, and have not been resumed, Trinity has never taken part in an intersectional athletic contest. This spring, the weather man being willing, however, the Blue and Gold of Trinity will meet the Maroon of the University of Detroit on the tennis courts at Hartford.

The University of Detroit match is the most striking feature of the best tennis schedule which Trinity has had in a number of years. Yale, Springfield, Holy Cross, and Williams are also on the card this year, and should go far toward reestablishing Trinity's standing in New England tennis, which was made an intercollegiate sport through the efforts of Trinity men.

Good Prospects.

Prospects for a good record are bright in spite of the difficult schedule. Captain Jack Ortgies will probably play number 1 man, but the rest of the team is to be decided only after hard work on the part of the various candidates. Tilton, Porter and Howard Ortgies are all veterans of the Trinity teams of past years, but all fell before Graham last year in the college tournament. Graham is a former member of the Naval Academy team and gave Ortgies a tough battle in the finals. He seems sure of a place on the team this year, but who will lose out in the competition for the other places is an open question.

It is expected that another college tournament will be staged this spring on the college courts. Beard, '22, has been put in charge of the courts, and is now getting them into shape.

The Schedule.

The schedule follows:
April 23—Springfield at Hartford.
April 30—Yale at New Haven.
May 4—Williams at Williamstown.
May 7—Hartford Club Second Team at Hartford.
May 14—Worcester Tech at Hartford.
May 19—University of Detroit at Hartford.
May 28—Holy Cross at Worcester.
June 4—Conn. Aggies at Hartford.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Tom T. Hawksworth, '21, to Miss Portia Kempel of Akron, Ohio. Hawksworth is a member of I. K. A. and Delta Phi.

Umpire—Rorty.

Trinity will inaugurate its 1921 baseball season Wednesday afternoon at Trinity Field with Holy Cross as the opposing team. The Trinity team has been working hard under the tutelage of Coach Sharpe, but will have to travel at top speed to win from the Worcester outfit, always a fast club, and even better than usual this year, judging from the scores floating back from its southern trip, during which it tied one game and won the remainder.

Trinity Team Green.

The Trinity coach has had to contend with paucity of experienced men during the early part of the season, and there are still a number of positions on the team which have not been finally settled. The lineup forecasted above, however, is the most probable one for the start of the game. Of that team, only Captain Reynolds, Jack Ortgies, Brickley, Cram and Bowdidge have played 'varsity ball before. Howard Ortgies was a member of the squad last year, but the other men are all freshmen.

If Captain Reynolds should elect to pitch the first game of the season, either Johnson or Beard will cover first base. Brickley is a pitcher, but his arm has been bothering him considerably lately, and if he plays at all it will probably be in the outfield. There are a number of other men out for field positions, but Brickley is more experienced, and that should count in his favor. There is also some question as to third base, but it is probable that Bolles will start the game there. He has been hitting better than Mackinnon, although Mackinnon has been showing up better than the football star in fielding his position.

TRINITY HAS LARGE MEMBERSHIP IN U. CLUB.

Trinity ranks second in the number of graduates in the University Club of Hartford, according to the latest catalogue. Yale has the largest number, 212, and Trinity is second with 60. Amherst is third and Harvard and Wesleyan are tied for fourth place. The club has a total membership of 517. President Emeritus, F. S. Luther, is the only Trinity member of the Club who has been out of college more than fifty years. John F. Forward, '96, is the president.

BLAIR ROBERTS AND HIS BROTHER

"SPIRIT OF MISSIONS" FEAT-

WORKING IN DAKOTA.

Let us see, then, what can be done with men and women. Let me introduce Blair Roberts, of Gregory County on the Rosebud, to you. He had a plan, not such a bad one either, namely, that he was to make himself known and loved by every man, woman and child in his field; a territory greater in extent than the dioceses of Delaware and Easton combined. That whole country in South Dakota now known as the Rosebud was just opening up. There were few traditions; saloons outnumbered churches ten to one; cowboys, ranchers and those who follow in their train were his parishioners, and they were harder to lasso and bring into the corral than the cattle they chased over the prairie. He built a little church and then tried to coax them into it. For five years his average attendance could not have been more than ten. He did not grow discouraged. Even when his wife, a devoted and cultured churchwoman, came to help him, there were occasions when she and one or two others composed his entire congregation. Somehow he held on. When the war came, he volunteered as chaplain, served overseas with conspicuous success, and then returned to his field. At last the results have come; the church services are better attended, the Church-school is progressing nicely, the communicants at Easter were more than ever before, and his people presented him three years ago with a Buick roadster to do his work, and this past year have taken over his entire support, and we have been able to put the Reverend Delber Clark in the

ADVERTISING THE COLLEGE.

It is axiomatic that the athletic contests of its teams put a college before the public, although there is doubt in the minds of some people as to the extent of the results achieved by such publicity. Trinity has a golden opportunity to gain wide fame this year in its tennis match here with the University of Detroit. The tennis management has also received the offer of a match here with the University of Michigan team, but has been unable to accept it on account of the small athletic association appropriation for tennis. Such a match would add greatly to the prestige of the college and would help publicize Trinity at this time when the Centennial Fund committee is anxious to put the college before as many people as possible. It would seem, in view of the great good which would accrue to the college, that the appropriation for the tennis team should at least be doubled. If the athletic association cannot afford to do this, there is a wonderful chance for some football men, especially freshmen, who will have three more chances, to forego sweaters this year, "for the good of the college."

THE CALENDAR.

Beginning in this issue, THE TRIPOD is printing a calendar of future events. This will be printed in each issue from now to the end of the year, and will be open for the announcement of all undergraduate and alumni activities. Notices for insertion in the calendar should be in the hands of a member of the editorial board not later than Monday morning of the week of publication.

THE FIRST GAME.

Tomorrow Trinity will open the 1921 baseball season. It is usual to remind the student body of its duty in regard to supporting the team, but just now the biggest word of warning should go to the team itself. Holy Cross always has an unusually good ball club, and this year is apparently no exception. The Worcester nine is not superhuman, however, and the scores of some of its games indicate that occasionally one of its members strikes out or makes an error. The Trinity team must go on the field without too much thought of the strength of its opponents and plenty of the old Trinity spirit. If these conditions are fulfilled, there is no need to worry over the outcome of the game.

CONGRATULATION!

THE TRIPOD, which has just passed its fifteenth milestone, sends its heartiest felicitations to the "Bowdoin Orient", which has just celebrated fifty years of service to its Alma Mater. A half century of service is a record for any institution to be proud of, and "The Orient" has every right to the honors which are accorded it.

SOPHOMORE SMOKER INVITATIONS OUT.

Undergraduates and Alumni Asked to Bring Eligible Men Here.

Invitations for the sophomore smoker have been printed and are ready for distribution. They may be had from any member of the committee. Undergraduates are asked to invite desirable men who expect to enter college next fall.

The program for the week-end has been completed. On Friday, May 13, the interscholastic tennis preliminaries will be played, and a baseball game between Trinity and Mass. Aggies has been scheduled. In the evening, the freshmen assembly, which is an informal dance, will be held in Alumni Hall. On Saturday, May 14, the interscholastic tennis finals will be played. Interscholastic track, interscholastic baseball, intercollegiate tennis, and intercollegiate track have also been arranged. In the evening, the smoker itself will be held in Alumni Hall. Several new schools have registered for interscholastic track and the completed list to date is as follows: New Haven High School, Hartford High School, Bridgeport High School, Norwich Free Academy, Roxbury Tutoring School, Loomis Institute, Choate, Williston, Suffield, Kent School, Marquard, and Westminster. The interscholastic tennis entries are: Trinity School, Milford, Roxbury Tutoring School, and Williston. The hospitality of the various Fraternity houses has been also extended to visitors.

Such an Honest Face.

(Special to THE TRIPOD.)

Pittsburgh, April 7—Judge Buffington's mail, which has been unusually heavy since the famous overcoat incident, recently received a letter from Edward Bok, former editor of the "Ladies Home Journal", reading like this:

"Oh, Oh! Oh! And you have such an honest face!"

TRINITY FIFTH ON DARTMOUTH FACULTY.

Five Undergraduate and One Graduate Degrees from Trinity at Hanover.

Trinity stands fifth in representation on the faculty of Dartmouth College, according to the Dartmouth "Alumni Magazine", which recently published a list of the number of men from each college represented on the Dartmouth faculty. The table was published in order to correct a previous statement to the effect that Trinity had the largest number of men on the faculty of any college in the country except Dartmouth itself.

The ten colleges having the greatest number of men on the Dartmouth faculty are:

REITEMEYER BECOMES A WARD POLITICIAN.

Member of Senate Oligarchy Pulling Strings in Eighth Ward.

"Big trees from little acorns grow", and sometimes national political figures trace their start to ward politics. Then again, sometimes, ward politicians are forced into temporary inactivity for the good of society. Trinity men will watch and hope for the best in the career of John R. Reitemeyer, '21, who is now launched as a ward politician. In the recent city election Reitemeyer was a member of the ward committee of the north district of the eighth ward. He is also a member of the board of governors of the Eighth Ward Republican Club, and a member of the press committee of that organization.

Reitemeyer, like Horace Greeley, is a member of that profession which is occasionally dignified by Dr. McCook as the Fourth Estate, is known at Columbia as Journalism, and described by a large part of the public in epithets that would not look nice in a family newspaper. Reitemeyer was a member of the Odd Year Oligarchy in the Trinity Senate last year, so his is not entirely an unshorn lamb among the wily bosses of Hartford. Whether or not, like Mr. Greeley, he aspires to the honor of being defeated for president, could not be learned up to the time this paper went to press, as he was busily engaged in thwarting the evil forces of school consolidation and daylight saving through the columns of "The Courant."

HARDER TO GET JESTER CHARM NOW.

Dramatic Society Sets Harder Re- quirements in New Constitution.

The Jesters have adopted a constitution, which will make membership in the organization more difficult to achieve, and also makes the winning of a charm a harder task. The new standards require that a man take part in two plays to be eligible for membership, and must receive a two-thirds vote to be elected. Passing the standards for membership for two years will be the qualification for a charm. The organization now has a membership of nearly thirty and the charm is rather common on the campus.

NORDLUND TO LEAD BASKETBALL TEAM.

Veteran Guard Elected Captain of 1922 Five.

At a meeting of the basketball letter men held Wednesday, April 6, R. E. Nordlund, '22, of Hartford, was elected captain of basketball for next season. The election was unanimous. "Ray" has already been leader of the quintet at Trinity, being captain in 1919-1920, during his sophomore year.

Next year Trinity should have a very successful season, the 'varsity team remaining intact. Only Hoard and Ransom, both substitutes, will be lost by graduation this June. The team has worked very well together this season and next year the teamwork should be even better.

Here From Austria.

Joseph Adam, '14, a member of the Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity, who went in 1912 to his native Austria to visit his sick sister and to complete his musical studies at the Imperial and Royal Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts in Vienna, has just come back to America. He described conditions and prescribed the remedies he deemed necessary for Austria's health. Mr. Adam is now the guest of Corporation Counsel Schutz and Mrs. Schutz at their home on Girard Avenue.

Who Was Moseley?

HE was a young Oxford man, only twenty-seven when he was killed at Gallipoli. Up to his time, man had never seen the inside of an atom. He turned the X-rays on matter—not figuratively but literally—and made them disclose the skeleton of an atom just as certainly as a surgeon makes them reveal the positions of the bones of the body. Moseley proved that all atoms are built up of the same kind of matter. He saw, too, just why an atom of copper is different from an atom of gold.

Atoms are built up of electrons. Each atom consists of a nucleus, a kind of sun, with a certain number of electrons grouped about it, like planets. Moseley actually counted the number of electrons of all the metals from aluminum to gold.

When you discover what gold is made of or a new fact about electricity, you open up new possibilities for the use of gold or electricity. For that reason the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are as much concerned with the "how" of things—atoms and electrons, for instance—as they are with mere applications of the electric current.

Hence Moseley's work has been continued in the Research Laboratories, with the result that more has been learned about matter. How does water freeze? What is lead? Why are lead, iron, gold and tungsten malleable? Such questions can be answered more definitely now than ten years ago. And because they can be answered it is possible to make more rapid progress in illumination, in X-ray photography, in wireless telegraphy, and in electrical engineering as a whole.

There would have been no coal-tar industry without the vast amount of research conducted in organic chemistry, and no electro-chemical industry without such work as Sir Humphrey Davey's purely scientific study of an electric current's effect on caustic potash and caustic soda. Sooner or later research in pure science always enriches the world with discoveries that can be practically applied. For these reasons the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company devote so much time to the study of purely scientific problems.

ROBERTS BROTHERS.

west end of the field, at Winer, and thus divide Blair Roberts' responsibilities. Today Gregory County rises up and calls this missionary blessed. If there is any job to be done, from Red Cross to rounding up bootleggers, Blair Roberts is the man to do it. He has won a community to the Church because he believed in reaching them as individuals by the force of a Christ-filled character, without cant and without scolding them because they could not see eye to eye with him before their eyes were opened. Blair Roberts is the last man in the world to realize what he has done for the Church, but to me, he is a successful experiment in the Church's endeavor to revive the apostolic method of forwarding the Kingdom.

"Shake hands with Paul Roberts, his brother." This is the way in which you would be introduced, if you were visiting Brookings, where for eight years another sixfooter, of the Roberts' tribe worked out his plan. This was a different problem—a growing town, with an agricultural college as a feeder. Greatly interested in wheat and corn and oats, in cattle and hogs from all over the state, to perfect themselves in making things grow where the prairie defied them and the dry climate scorched them up; where a man had to doctor his own hogs and shear his own sheep and feed and milk his own cows; and secure a life partner who would not only be his joy and pride, but who knew how to create the crust to go over the top of the "best pie in the country", and incidentally feed chickens, raise children and establish and maintain a home. Not much care for the things of the Church. The people for the most part were brought up on a type of Christianity which saw religion as a Pentecostal fire, which often consumed the wheat along with the chaff and left little to the harvest. It was up to Paul to present Christianity as a biological necessity, the unfolding of a normal, natural process of life, like the development of the seed to fruitage, and yet to make them see that "man doth not live by bread alone" and that he should concern himself with something higher than wheat production or hog cholera. This Paul did, like his brother Blair, at first by becoming personally attractive to the community. He also was the mainstay of every welfare project in Brookings. But he had an ideal of a worthy church, which would compel the imagination, and lift the aspirations of a materialistic society to higher things. So he went to see Mr. Ralph Cram, and today Brookings has a Cram brick and stone church and a lovely rectory of the same materials, due to Mr. Cram's generosity in designing and to friends in the East for assisting in the building. The present missionary, Howard Fulweiler, is carrying out Paul's plan and putting on some finishing touches, both in the church and in the college work.

The Rev. William B. Roberts graduated from Trinity in 1905, and his brother Paul in 1909. Paul is now rector of Holy Trinity Church in West Orange, N. J.

BUFFINGTON, '75, "WINS" OVERCOAT

GARMENT OF U. S. VICE-PRESIDENT TAKEN FROM HIM IN WASHINGTON STREET BY MRS. CALVIN COOLIDGE.

M. JUSSERAND'S HAT, TOO

CENTENNIAL FUND CHAIRMAN MAKES STARTLING EXPOSURES TO TRIPOD MAN IN EXPLAINING INCIDENT.

(By the Managing Editor.)

WATCH YOUR OVERCOAT!

"Watch Your Overcoat" was the slogan at the meeting of the general committee of the Centennial Fund at the Hartford Club on April 3. Judge Buffington was also subjected to a cross examination as to the source of other articles of his raiment.

"It is a question in my mind whether I actually took Mr. Coolidge's overcoat, or whether he forced it on me and took mine," said Judge Joseph Buffington, '75, in a special interview with a TRIPOD scribe recently. "His coat was stolen while he was in the South preparing for the strain of the inauguration, and the wool growers of the country, I believe, with an eye to future tariff schedules, presented him with the overcoat he now has, made I understand, entirely from American wool. Of course such a coat has a certain value, aside from its intrinsic worth, but then mine was a good stylish coat."

THE TRIPOD sought the interview with Judge Buffington when he was in Hartford in order to get the details of the report that he had been apprehended while he had in his possession an overcoat belonging to the vice-president. In the interests of the college, this paper felt that all the details of the escapade of the chairman of the general committee of the Centennial Fund should be laid bare, and the fall of a judge of the United States District Court be narrated as a warning for the younger generation.

Trustful Natures.

The incident from one angle throws a spotlight on the relations between the judiciary and the executive. When Mrs. Coolidge recovered her husband's overcoat, she looked through the pockets for vice-presidential gloves, and Judge Buffington took his own coat and carefully checked up his personal property. So far as is known, the contents of both overcoats were intact.

Judge Buffington said when interviewed that he felt the incident had been forgotten, and gave the following reasons:

1. Vice-President and Mrs. Coolidge had accepted an invitation to speak in Pittsburgh late this month.
2. He had dared to venture in the neighborhood of the home of the vice-president.
3. He had been asked, after the incident, to preside at a meeting in Philadelphia at which Senator Beveridge spoke on a Biblical topic.

Concerning the mixup, the "Pittsburgh Post" said:

"Diplomatic relations between Washington and Pittsburgh, seriously strained last Thursday, are again on a friendly basis. Vice-President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge and Ambassador Jusserand send their greetings to you."

Judge Joseph Buffington received a message that read something like this from United States Senator P. C. Knox yesterday afternoon. He heaved a sigh of relief, and sank back in his old Morris chair and emitted a laugh that reverberated through the halls of the Federal Building. Then he called up George H. Clapp, chairman of the board of trustees of the University of Pittsburgh, and read him the telegram.

This is how it all came about:

Judge Buffington and Clapp were hosts at a luncheon in the Willard Hotel, Washington, last Thursday. Among their guests were Vice-President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge, Senator Knox and Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury. After luncheon the party went to Mr. Coolidge's apartment in the hotel. Senator Knox wanted Judge Buffington and Mr. Clapp to call upon Ambassador Jusserand at the French embassy. He called the French diplomat, who said he would be glad to see them.

The two Pittsburghers walked to the embassy. They exchanged greetings with the Frenchman and after a little while departed. They had walked about three blocks when an excited foreigner approached them, all out of breath. He spoke with a pronounced accent and it was difficult for Judge Buffington and Mr. Clapp to understand the cause of his excitement. Finally he said something in the French language. Judge Buffington understood it. He—the judge—was being accused of taking Ambassador Jusserand's hat.

"Where Did you Get That Hat?"

Judge Buffington looked at the hat carefully and found it wasn't his. He gave it to the Frenchman, who accompanied the Pittsburghers back to the embassy, and the judge got his own hat. The ambassador was then engaged and Judge Buffington did not want to bother him with explanations and apologies.

Judge Buffington and Mr. Clapp again started for the business district. They were walking down

Pennsylvania Avenue, still laughing, when their attention was attracted by a fast traveling automobile.

A woman had her head out of the side of the car and was beckoning frantically to some one in the direction of the two Pittsburghers, who looked on, curious to learn the cause of the excitement. Other persons stopped; policemen and secret service men, noticing that it was a White House car, bearing "V. P. No. 1" on the side, followed the machine.

The automobile suddenly pulled into the curb. The woman stepped out—or jumped out—and, running toward Judge Buffington, exclaimed:

"Judge Buffington, you have my husband's overcoat!" The accuser was Mrs. Coolidge. Judge Buffington was startled for a moment, then he looked at the coat he wore.

"I guess you're right, Mrs. Coolidge," he said.

Mr. Clapp couldn't repress a hearty laugh. And then the judge looked at Mrs. Coolidge and she too, was laughing. The crowd joined in. But, when Mrs. Coolidge struck her hands into the pockets of the overcoat "to see if Calvin's gloves and other things are all right," everybody screamed. Mrs. Coolidge with a triumphant smile, beckoned Judge Buffington and Mr. Clapp to get into the machine with her. They drove to the Senate building, where Vice-President Coolidge and Senator Knox were awaiting them.

President R. B. Ogilby preached in the chapel at West Point on Sunday, April 3. He was accompanied by E. J. J. Cullum, '23, the leader of the Trinity choir.

J. H. K. DAVIS HEADS EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Men who are national figures in the life of the nation, leaders in the judiciary, the government of state and city, and the church are included in the committees for the Centennial Fund announced last week at National Headquarters. Every man on the list announced, with two exceptions, holds a degree from Trinity, and no stronger argument for Judge Buffington's contention that the warf and woof of the nation is the product of the small college could be given. The list includes Governor Lake of Connecticut, Ex-Governor Clement of Vermont, three judges, three bishops, and a host of men who are recognized leaders in journalism, medicine, law, religion and other professions.

The three committees which will have general charge of the campaign to raise the $1,500,000 birthday gift to Trinity are:

A LOT FOR OUR MONEY.

Trinity Ranks High in Number of Work Days in Academic Year.

An interesting table of the number of week days devoted to academic work during one school year has been compiled by Dean Otis E. Randall of Brown University. Trinity, with the exception of Harvard, has more work days than any college in New England. The University of Maine has the smallest number. The average is 204 week days of work and 30 days lost. The list, with the smallest number first, is as follows:

University of Maine,.....	199
Princeton,	200
Bowdoin,	201
Boston University,.....	202
Williams,	202
Yale,	203
Tufts,	204
Brown,	205
Amherst,	205
Wesleyan,	206
Trinity,	208
University of Vermont,.....	208
Harvard,	211

'99—The marriage of the Rt. Rev. Frank Arthur McElwain, D. D., Bishop of Minnesota, to Mrs. Mabel Collins Lofstrom was solemnized at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Windom, Minn., last summer.

Connecticut Alumni Start Drive at Banquet.

The above is a picture taken April 4 at the Hartford Club of the gathering of the Connecticut alumni which officially started the campaign for the Centennial Fund. Over 200 were present at the rally, held at the Hartford Club, and the old Trinity "pep" was rampant.

The speakers of the evening included President Ogilby, who spoke on the ideals for which Trinity should strive, Judge Buffington, who set forth the value of the small college to the nation, Edgar Wells, who explained the details of the Harvard endowment drive and conveyed Harvard's best wishes to Trinity, Justice Philip McCook who sounded the call "Your personal property for your personal college", Robert P. Butler who spoke on loyalty and urged the creation of a permanent endowment drive, and Major J. H. K. Davis who outlined the details of Trinity's campaign plans. Major Frank L. Wilcox presided at the dinner.

Aside from the enthusiasm of the drive, the feature of the rally which evoked the most comment was the number of classes represented. The fact that the old, the middle-aged and the young alumni turned out in equal numbers shows clearly the interest which Trinity's sons are taking in her welfare, and how ready they are to answer her call for aid. One of the older graduates, who has attended every Trinity gathering in Hartford for a score of years, stated after the meeting that the dinner was absolutely the best and most enthusiastic gathering of Trinity men that he had ever attended.

that's

4 leaf blend

Why not three or five, instead of four? The answer is: "The blend must be balanced." Burley heart-leaf for that good old tobacco taste; rare Macedonian and Golden Virginia for spicy aroma and sparkle; and good old Maryland tobacco for cool-burning.

Crimped

Have you noticed how much longer, more evenly, Spurs burn? How trim and clean-cut they look? The edges of the paper are crimped—not pasted. This patented method is found only in Spurs.

WHY TRINITY NEEDS MONEY

INTERESTING FACTS REVEALED
IN ANNUAL REPORT OF TREASURER—LESS THAN TWO PER CENT. OF EXPENSES FOR NEW EQUIPMENT AND ADVERTISING.

Professors' salaries,.....	53.1%
Other salaries,.....	15.7%
Lighting and fuel,.....	8.6%
Miscellaneous,.....	7.6%
Scholarships, etc.,.....	6.9%
Upkeep of buildings,....	5.3%
Running library,.....	1.4%
New equipment,.....	1.3%
Advertising,.....	.1%

From the above it may be seen that more than half of the expense is that of salaries of the professors, last year 53.8%. The total spent for salaries amounts to 68.8%. One twentieth of the expenses goes to upkeep of buildings. The library, new equipment and advertising altogether are less than 3%, and the last named item figures in the grand total for one-tenth of one per cent. This last fact has a unique interest, for found in the same volume as the treasurer's report is the report of Professor Perkins as acting president, in which he recommends employment of a professional publicity agent for the college.

It is interesting to note the following facts as to the distribution of expenses as shown in the treasurer's report published this year. Of the total expended, $133,142, the sum of $70,730 was spent for salaries of professors and emeriti $20,934 for salaries other than professors'. Light and fuel cost $11,471, and the payments for scholarships, fellowships, prizes, etc., were $9,198, other expenses were: upkeep and repair of buildings, $7,078; the library, exclusive of salaries, $1,132; advertising, $250.58; new equipment, $1,753, and all other expenses $10,244. There was a deficit for the year of $1,283.-89. Of these expenses 19% were met by the income from students' fees. The remainder of the expenses were covered by the income from trust funds and payments from gifts.
