CONN. AGGIES WIN TRACK MEET, 68 TO 67.

Javelin Throw Helps Aggies— Seniors Star.

The Trinity track team lost its only home meet of the season to the track team of the Connecticut Aggies on June 4 by a single point, 68 to 67. The meet went to the Aggies largely through the javelin throw, an event in which the Trinity team had had no training, and in which the Aggies took all the points.

The three outstanding features of the meet were furnished by men who were competing for the last time for Trinity. Ameluxen sacrificed first place in the 220 low hurdles, allowing Allen to win. This was the first time that he has lost this event in a meet at Trinity Field. Ransom went into the pole vault because Trinity needed a point in this event, although he was so exhausted from the other events in which he had competed that he was unable to see the cross bar. Hungerford forced Fineman to tie the Trinity record for the half mile, and then, when he crossed the finish line, less than a yard behind the winner, he collapsed.

The rest of the Trinity team showed up very well, Nash, Johnson and Bradley collecting a good share of points.

The summary:

100-yard dash—First heat, Nash (T), Keating (T); second heat, Ransom (T), Peterson (C); finals, Nash (T), Ransom (T), Peterson (C); time 10 2-5 seconds.

220-yard dash—First heat, Ransom (T), Chapman (C); second heat, Nash (T), Peterson (C); finals, Nash (T), Chapman (C), Ransom (T), time 23 2-5 seconds.

440-yard dash—Bradley (T), Ransom (T), Worcester (C); time 55 seconds.

Half-mile—Fineman (C), Hungerford (T), Worcester (C), time 2 minutes, 4 3-5 seconds.

NINETY -- FIFTH COMMENCEMENT

CLASS OF 1921 TO BE GRADUATED MONDAY MORNING—OPEN AIR SERVICE ON CAMPUS SUNDAY—FOOT GUARD TO BE PRESENT.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION.

The President's Reception will be held at his home, 115 Vernon Street, Saturday afternoon, following the Class Day exercises, instead of on Monday afternoon as announced in the commencement program.

On Monday, Trinity will confer degrees on the ninety-fifth group of young men who, having sojourned for a time within the halls of the college, now go forth to battle a way through the world. As those men step onto the dais to receive their degrees, they will be the focus of the gaze of the men of previous classes who have stepped off the same dais into the whirl of a busy, hardened world—and have made good, according to the teachings of their Alma Mater, "Pro Ecclesia et Pro Patria."

The conferring of degrees Monday morning will be one of the two great phases of commencement. The other will come Sunday evening when the graduates assemble at Christ Church Cathedral to listen to the baccalaureate sermon of President Ogilby. Before and after these two events, the newest alumni of the college will have a rather gay time, cared for by doting parents, admired by sweet girls and envied by those of their campus companions who are not graduating this year.

Friday night the graduates mingled with the alumni and undergraduates at the fraternity reunions. Saturday morning they will loaf around the campus, a few exercising their newly-found prerogative and attending the alumni meeting and luncheon Saturday noon. Saturday afternoon will come the Class Day ceremonies in front of the tall spire of Northam Towers. In cap and gown, with tobacco and punch served by "Bill" Duffy, the seniors will listen to recitals of their past and future. Immediately after the class day exercises, there will be the president's reception, where the fond parents will meet in person the author of those notices of admonition. Saturday night will be the big alumni gathering at the Class of 1823 reunion.

On Sunday morning, following the baptism of the president's son in the chapel, the usual open air service will be held on the campus, with Colonel William Barclay Parsons as the speaker. The Sunday morning service is one of the things which always survives in memory—the beautiful women with proud smiles, for they all have a proprietary interest in one of the men present, grinning undergrads, beaming alumni and faculty members, and the seniors, grave and serious in their newly-acquired dignity. The president of the college will conduct the simple religious services this year, and blending with the flags and the green of the campus this year will be the buff and red and black of the Governor's Foot Guard, an organization which was old and honored when Trinity was started. It is entirely fitting that the class which has survived the whole war and is still graduating on time should receive a tribute containing a little of the brilliant panoply of Martian splendor.

Of course to the graduate himself the climax of the week will come Monday night, when he trips off to the strains of the latest dance hit, albeit the music is a mere detail as long as he is with HER. The prom is the final event of the year, and the only time when alumni, graduates and undergraduates can get together, and discuss their common mother—Trinity.

RELATIVITY.

Professor Dadourian Explains the Why and How of Einstein.

If the Hartford Electric Light Company sold light by the pound instead of by the kilowatt hour, and sold it at the present rate of ten cents per kilowatt hour, one pound of light would be worth $1,130,000,000. They could sell it this way, because energy, of which light is a form, has weight. On the other hand, weight has energy, and if the Electric Light Company could take out of a single pound of coal all the energy contained in it, one pound of coal would suffice to furnish all the light Hartford would need for the next 50,000 years. This was only one of the many startling statements made by Professor H. M. Dadourian of the Physics Department at the public lecture on the Einstein theory of relativity and universal gravitation on June 2.

Under the same weight-energy theory, a man weighing 150 pounds would have energy enough to run a million horsepower plant for five hundred years, working thirteen hours a day. An artillery shell has an energy of weight which is equal to 180 billion times its energy of motion. If a single dust particle exploded in this room (the public speaking room), one would not be able to recognize the building.

The Einstein Theory.

Professor Dadourian traced the progress of Science from the Greeks to the present time to Einstein, when in 1905 he first promulgated his theory of relativity. The theory assumes that the velocity of light is constant, and if two things are in uniform motion it is impossible to tell their relative motions to each other. In consequence, simultaneity has no meaning unless it is accompanied by a specification. The same thing is not necessarily simultaneous to two different observers. The curious results obtained are not the fault of the theory of relativity but the fault of the inability of humans to comprehend it and to adjust their thoughts to it. It is exactly the same as the inability of people to comprehend a spherical earth because they considered the up of the antipodes as the absolute up rather than the direction away from the center of the earth.

Einstein's universe is a fibrous one, from which force is eliminated. He believes that a body falls because there are natural tracks (geodesis). Einstein is not a negation of Newton; he is an extension of him.

President Ogilby presided at the meeting, which was one of the most largely attended in the history of the college, and expressed his hope that Trinity College and its plant and faculty would be of use to Hartford citizens.

'TWENTY-ONE.

Monday morning a small number of seniors will receive their degrees. The number will be smaller than usual, and the part of the procession composed of men in simple cap and gown will be shorter than usual this year. Those who do march will march with a certain precision which will reflect previous training. Some of them received that training in the base camps in France, others in the naval stations, and some in the huge cantonments in this country. A few learned the rudiments of military life here on the Trinity campus during the S. A. T. C. There are very few of those who will receive degrees that did not at one time or another shoulder a rifle in their country's cause.

'Twenty-one has not left behind it a brilliant record on the campus. It will stand out in the person of one or two individuals, rather than a class to most of the men who were in college with it. The class did not have wonderful athletes nor brilliant literateurs. The true glory of the class will not be known until that day when a permanent list is made of the Trinity men who went to answer the call of their country. Those men of other classes who receive their degrees Monday are to be congratulated in that they will stand with that class, which, probably more than any other, has lived up to the motto "Pro Patria."

THE INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL.

Last September the nine Greek letter fraternities at Trinity all pledged their new members under the rushing agreement which had been worked out the preceding spring. The rushing agreement was not perfect, although it received no real criticism. The organization which had charge of the carrying out of its provisions functioned during the rushing season and then fell into a state of coma. A half hearted effort was made to arouse it a couple of weeks ago when a meeting of the old members and those who will be on the council next year was called. Every unit was represented at the meeting, but only six by the men who will be in the council next year, and for this reason the meeting was adjourned for two days. At the second gathering, there was a much smaller attendance than at the first, so that no meeting at all was possible. Conspicuous among the absentees was the president of the council.

Something must be done by the new council before the opening of college next year, if the rushing rules adopted last year are to be enforced. Several fraternities want a ruling made which will prevent freshmen boarding at a fraternity house during the rushing period. Others have suggested a change in the rushing period, and the old council had gone on record as being against downtown rushing. These points should all be discussed, and really should be acted upon before the men come back next fall. It seems rather late now to get the council together, but it might be possible to have a member of each fraternity selected from those who are spending the summer in Hartford represent his crowd on a temporary council which could meet once or twice during the summer and reduce these nebulous ideas to concrete points to be laid before the actual council at its first meeting.

HAVE YOU SUBSCRIBED?

During the past two weeks a few subscriptions or pledges of subscriptions to THE TRIPOD for next year have been coming in. The number has not, however, been nearly large enough to justify the board signing contracts for a larger sized paper next year. It is essential that five hundred alumni agree to support the larger paper with their subscription before the board can go ahead. During the past few weeks, the paper has been sent to every alumnus by the Centennial Fund Committee, which recognized it as the best medium through which to reach the graduates of the college. You will want to keep in touch with your college through the next year, and there will be no way of doing it except through your college paper. One grad writes that he considers a bigger paper essential to the welfare of the college. Think this over, and then mail us the blank today.

Clapp Track Captain.

On June 6, at a meeting of the track men who have scored at least one point during this season, V. W. Clapp, '22, was elected captain for next year.

Tilton, President of Senate, Ex-officio God-father.

President Ogilby's son, Peter Brinckerhoff Ogilby, will be baptized in the college chapel on Sunday, June 19, at 10.15. President Ogilby will officiate, and the god-parents will be the child's uncle, Charles F. R. Ogilby of Washington, D. C. Arthur V. R. Tilton, president of the college senate, and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid of New York City. Tilton is god-father ex-officio, as it is the idea of President Ogilby to always have his son have a god-father on the campus in the person of the president of the college body. This will be the second time in the history of the college that a baptism service has been held in the chapel.

CRAM ELECTED CAPTAIN OF BASEBALL.

Nine men Get Letters—Good Spirit Commended.

"Prexy's" Busy Time.

A record which probably has not been equalled by anyone, except political party spellbinders, was set last week by President Ogilby when he spoke at three different schools within twenty-four hours. On Friday, June 10, he spoke in the afternoon at the prize day exercises at the Wykham Rye School, Washington, Conn., on Friday evening he spoke at the Sanford School, and on Saturday morning he spoke at the Ridgefield School.

Undergraduate Pledges.

The undergraduates are "showing the way" in the Centennial Fund Campaign. At a meeting held May 23, the student body voted to support the project one hundred per cent. Since then, H. T. Slattery, '21, chairman of the undergraduate committee, has been collecting subscription blanks as fast as the students can fill them out.

The dates for the active campaign in the undergraduate body unfortunately conflicted, to some extent, with the examination period. For this reason it has not been possible for the committee to collect all the blanks which were issued. There remains about thirty pledges which have yet to be handed in.

It is estimated that the total amount given by the students will be $4,500. This record is a good one, and, if it is equalled proportionally by the alumni, there will be no doubt as to the success of the campaign.

Seniors Plant Class Tree.

On June 2 the class of 1921 planted a class tree. The class formed at Northam Towers and marched to the bishop's statue and then turned to the right and marched to a point opposite Seabury Hall where the tree was planted. President Ogilby said a few words and then each member placed a shovelful of dirt on the roots of the tree. The class then sang 'Neath the Elms.

Hartford Men Give Valuable Collections of Interesting Specimens.

Dr. Robert M. Yergason, '08, of Hartford, has presented the department of biology with a collection of embryological and anatomical specimens to be used for demonstration purposes in premedical courses. This collection, besides being interesting, is very valuable to the department.

C. E. Hadley, a graduate student here and a teacher of biology in the Hartford High School, has given the museum some specimens of aquatic insects. These will be put on exhibition as soon as they are prepared.

BASEBALL TEAM WINS
FROM ST. STEPHENS.

First Victory by 6 to 5 Score—
 Union Wins.

On June 3, the Trinity baseball team registered the only game won this season when it defeated the baseball team of St. Stephens College, 6 to 5. Although the St. Stephens team had won half of their games this season, the Trinity game was much more one-sided than the score would indicate. Trinity started off with two runs in the first inning and added four more in the fifth. St. Stephens did not threaten to score until the fifth, when they found Bowdidge for their runs. Reynolds replaced him in the sixth and from then on retired the St. Stephens' batters in regular order. The fielding of the entire team showed marked improvement. Colwell, who pitched for St. Stephens, had a baffling delivery, only one extra base hit being made off of him although he was connected with for a total of eleven hits. Cram fielded well at short.

Union Game.

The Trinity baseball team played its last game of the season on June 4, when it lost to Union at Schenectady, 7 to 4. Reynolds, who has been out since the Yale game, started on the mound, but was hammered rather severely and was replaced in the fifth by Bowdidge who allowed only three safe clouts. Both teams started off with runs. Hall, the first man up for Trinity, walked, went to second on a sacrifice by Ortgies, and was brought in by Cram who knocked a long fly to center field. A running catch by Hall in the sixth with two men on and the hitting of Lewis of Union who got two singles, a triple and a home run were features of

L. B. RIPLEY WINS DEGREE OF PH.D.

Will Take Chair of Entomology at State College of Natal, South Africa.

Word has been received that Lewis Bradford Ripley, '15, has received the degree of Ph.D. from the University of Illinois.

While at Trinity Ripley created life by chemical means, fertilizing the eggs of a moth by means of acids. This experiment was verified by the college faculty, and caused considerable discussion, both in this country and abroad.

Ripley served overseas in the Argonne sector in the tank service. He has been studying and teaching at the University of Illinois for several years, and has been employed by the British Government to serve in South Africa. He will take the chair of entomology at the State College of Natal, at Cedara, South Africa, at once, sailing late in June, via England.
