REORGANIZATIONS PLANS PARTIALLY RATIFIED

Senate Accepts Part of Committee Report—Action Deferred On Remainder.

FRATERNITY SENATORS STILL TO BE SETTLED.

Finance, Publications, and Activities Committee Passed by Senate.

The first definite action on the plan for the reorganization of the undergraduate government was taken by the senate at its meeting on October 17 when much of the report of the reorganization committee was adopted.

Those present at the meeting were Cumingham, Byrnes, Reynolds, Jones, Mohnkern, Miller, Webster and Smith. The proposal of the K. D. T. for boys' clubs was discussed, and the matter of taking reserve books from the library was also brought up. No action was taken on either matter.

President Cuningham stated that he had been given to understand that funds for the construction of mail boxes for each room in college were available and Mr. Mohnkern moved and Mr. Webster seconded that the senate favor the construction of private mail boxes if they were provided by the college authorities. Carried.

Mr. Byrnes brought up the matter of Trinity delegates to the intercollegiate conference on disarmament at Princeton and moved that the matter be referred to the Political Science Club with power. Mr. Reynolds seconded the motion. Carried.

The senator from Medusa reported on the activity of that body in enforcing training for members of the football squads and asked that members of the senate knowing of men breaking training report them to the Medusa.

Mr. Reynolds took the floor as chairman of the committee on reorganization and the following clauses of his report were passed:

"The Senate shall be reorganized as the central figure of this organization, about which all the other organizations shall be grouped and shall be considered as responsible to the Senate.

"A Senate finance committee of three members elected by the Senate whose duty it should be to supervise the finances of all undergraduate activities except the athletic association and THE TRIPOD.

"The creation of a committee on college activities, Medusa to constitute that committee. Its duties shall be:

1. To supervise the drawing up of a calendar of college activities each year.

2. To investigate all college activities and to recommend a course of action to the Senate whenever it deems it necessary.

"The formation of a committee to be known as the Publications Committee, which shall be composed of the editor-in-chief of THE TRIPOD acting as chairman, and all undergraduate reporters on all outside publications. The Publications Committee shall perform the customary duties of a publicity committee."

FRESHMAN ELEVEN LOSES GAME, 7 TO 0.

Loomis Wins From 1925 Team in Mediocre Contest.

Loomis scored a 7 to 0 victory over the Freshman team Saturday afternoon in a well fought game which preceded that of the 'varsity and Boston University.

The two teams played an evenly matched game with good and bad football showing up equally. The wind was an important factor and directed the movements of the teams. The freshmen made some good gains but lost their advantage in repeated attempts at end runs and in poor defense.

Bergen's kickoff was caught by Lane but recovered by Noble on Trinity's forty-five-yard line. Loomis reached the twenty-five-yard line in both the first and second quarters, but the freshmen kept them from scoring by punting.

The third quarter was marked by the touchdown of Loomis near the end of the period. Starting the last quarter with the disadvantage of having the ball on their twenty-five-yard line, the freshmen drove for the visitors' goal. Bergen gained thirty yards. The backward running of the freshmen, however, lost them ground and the game ended as they began another attack.

The lineup:

Trinity		Loomis
Comfort	LE	Hayden
Wohle	LT	Pratt
Golding	LG	Hoppen
Spelman	C	Salmon
McNally	RG	Lane
McCrum	RT	Flick
Jepson	RE	Whitlock
Maher	QB	Wildier
Bergen	LHB	Faust
DeCoux	RHB	Kidd
Tobie	FB	Colladay

Touchdown, Faust; goal from touchdown, Wildier; substitutions, Trinity: Bennett for McCrum, Schrieber for Bennett, McCrum for Schrieber; umpire, Coulter, Brown; referee, Johnson, Springfield; linesman, Harr, Dartmouth; periods, 10 minutes.

CHINA GREAT FIELD FOR COLLEGE MEN.

Dr. Miel, '88, Calls Attention to Possibilities in Asia.

The field where the ideals, the enthusiasm, and the brains of American college men is most needed and can be used to the best advantage is China, according to the Reverend E. deF. Miel, D.D., '88, who preached in chapel Sunday. Doctor Miel received an honorary degree in 1912. He is rector of Trinity Church in Hartford.

"The greatest service that can be rendered to English civilization will come as a result of American influence in the Orient. To China we have to offer service, American ability, and American initiative. To us she will give an exquisite spirit of generosity, courtesy, and respect.

"Whether one go as a teacher, a business man, or in a religious capacity, China is the place. Therein lies the realization of great and glorious dreams."

Doctor Miel illustrated his point with a number of graphic stories of Americans in China and their influence.

GOOD YALE MEN.

The following Trinity students showed their preference to Yale Saturday by attending the Yale-Army game instead of the Trinity-Boston University game:

- T. W. L. Newsom, '22, president of the interfraternity council.

TWO DELEGATES TO ARMS PARLEY

Trinity To Be Represented at College Disarmament Gathering.

ELECT SLATTERY AND CUNINGHAM DELEGATES.

D'Olier and General O'Ryan Among Speakers at Conference.

At a meeting of the Political Science Club Tuesday, H. Slattery, the president of the club, and J. B. Cuningham, president of the senate, were elected to be representatives of Trinity at the Intercollegiate Limitation of Armaments Conference to be held at Princeton University on Wednesday, October 26. The delegates plan to leave Tuesday evening.

Plans for the Intercollegiate Disarmament Conference are now nearing completion, and it was recently learned that the speakers of the occasion would be Franklin D'Olier, Princeton, '98, and Major-General John F. O'Ryan. Both these men have been intimately connected with the affairs of the late war and, considering the positions which they have held, their opinions on the disarmament movement should be thoroughly sound and unbiased.

In the early part of the war Franklin D'Olier enlisted in the Quartermaster Corps of the United States

LOTHROP STODDARD ON RACE PROBLEM OF ASIA.

Second Lecture of Far East Series on October 25 in Alumni Hall.

The second of a series of eight lectures to be given here during the winter on the relations of America to the Far East will be delivered on October 25 in Alumni Hall by Lothrop Stoddard of New York who will speak on "The Racial Problems of the Far East." This lecture course, in which Dr. Ogilby gave the first talk several weeks ago, is designed to furnish an outline of the fundamentals that underlie American relations with the nations of Eastern Asia—the history of our past intercourse, what the present policies are, and what problems the future holds for us. The lectures are bringing to Trinity men who are recognized as authorities upon these international affairs—men of note with whom it is seldom the privilege of college undergraduates to come into personal contact.

Lothrop Stoddard was graduated from Harvard University in 1905; and received the degrees of Master of Arts in 1910 and Doctor of Philosophy in 1914. He also holds a degree from Boston University and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1908. Besides being a member of the Harvard Club, Mr. Stoddard is also an active member of the American Historical Association, the American Political Science Association, the American Sociology Society, the Academy of Political Science, and the National Institute of Social Sciences. He is also a writer of great versatility and, among his best known works of note are, "The Rising Tide of Color", "The Stakes of the War", "The French Revolution in San Domingo", and "Present Day Europe."

Heavy Hub Team Scores in First Two Periods, Using End Runs.

TRINITY AERIAL PLAY BIG FEATURE OF GAME.

Passes Gain Ninety Yards for Blue and Gold—Boston Overhead Game Fizzles.

Putting up the best game of football that any Trinity team has displayed on Trinity Field since the war, the Blue and Gold fell before the heavy Boston University eleven Saturday 14 to 0.

Boston had a fast and heavy team and used a shift play for practically all of its gains. There seems to have been some doubt as to whether the shift play was in accordance with the sentiment of the Central Board of Officials to the effect that on all shift plays there must be a momentary pause before the ball is snapped, and Boston was penalized several times for glaring infractions of this rule.

The lighter Trinity team fought gloriously against heavy odds with Kennedy, Nordlund and Keating, the latter starting a game for the first time, displaying all-American football. Nordlund played as usual, coolly and without ostentation, but always the most dangerous man on the field for Trinity's opponents. Kennedy brought Trinity gains steadily with his plunges through the Boston line, but the real sensation of the game was Keating. He has played in one or two of the games this year, but only for short periods, and the very fact that he was sent into the lineup at the start of the game Saturday was more or less of a surprise. He made good, however, and was one of the star performers, both on the offense and defense.

Aerial Game.

The great surprise of the game as a whole was the uncovering of the Trinity forward passing attack. Trinity used fifteen forward passes, completing eight of them for a gain of ninety yards. One pass was intercepted and six were incomplete. Trinity's big aerial period was the second when eleven passes were used, seven being completed for a gain of seventy-five yards. Boston tried thirteen passes and completed one for a gain of fifty yards, but the play was called back for a penalty. Trinity intercepted one Boston pass and eleven of them were grounded.

Boston coaches and players said after the game that Trinity had played the best game of any team that Boston had met this year, and it has played Harvard, Boston College, Worcester Tech. and Wesleyan. Harvard, which defeated Boston University 9 to 0, was able to gain only forty-six yards during the entire game, against ninety which Trinity gained on passes alone and over fifty on line plays and end runs.

The playing of the center of the Trinity line was excellent all through the game, but the ends and tackles did not get the hang of stopping the Boston end runs from the shift formation until the second half. The Trinity team was outweighed considerably, especially in the line, by the visitors.

Boston presented a very picturesque appearance as the squad trotted on the field. Each player was swathed in a brilliant red blanket and wore a headguard, which had

GOOD YALE MEN.

On another page is a list of Yale supporters who are receiving an education at Trinity College. These men, most of them seniors, and some of them holding offices from the college body, so little regard their responsibilities as to "cut" a game at which they would be cheering for their own team and go to some inconvenience to attend a game between the teams of two institutions with which the men here had no connection.

But two interpretations are possible for such action as these men took Saturday—one that the Trinity team is not worth supporting, and the other that these men are not worthy of the title of Trinity men. The showing of the team Saturday speaks for itself.

DISARMAMENT.

Trinity men are very fortunate in being able to have representatives at the intercollegiate conference on disarmament which is to be held at Princeton on Wednesday. The idea of getting college men together to obtain information of what is beyond all question the greatest move in international affairs of this year, and, at the same time, is a movement which is pregnant with all sorts of possibilities, is an excellent one and the Princeton Senior Council, which is putting the project across, fully deserves the praise which it is getting.

The duty of the Trinity delegates, in fact all of the delegates, is to bring back to their constituency the sentiment of the conference on disarmament. The question is not a simple one, and it is not at all unlikely that the Trinity delegates will bring back conflicting reports. Judging from the lack of information of the aims and purposes of the conference, any report at all is apt to prove of great value to the Trinity undergraduates.

One of the best ways of getting the disarmament idea across here would be the holding of a mock disarmament conference, similar in idea to the mock political convention which was held in the spring of 1920. Have members of the Political Science Club group themselves into delegations which will have analogies in the conference which is to meet in Washington in November. If these "delegations" really learn what their "countries" want in the way of disarmament and state these views, trying to convince other "delegates" who want other disarmament plans of the superior merit of their own, the members of the club will get a pretty good idea of the problems of the conference, and will also have an idea that is apt to stick in their minds longer than any received in a stated lecture.

THE RAILROAD STRIKE.

The cut in the wages of the railroad men of the country has met with such dissatisfaction among those workers that they have voted for a nation wide strike. They have walked out on one of the Texas railroads, and, at this time, seem determined to carry through their program. The statement of the union officials declares a real strike, and orders members of the brotherhoods to refrain from assisting in the turning of a single wheel. This includes United States mail, food trains, in fact, any train at all.

When the threat of a strike became serious, Trinity men acted. At a mass meeting last Friday night, the student body voted unanimously to offer its services to Governor Lake for use in moving food or in any other way that would help to alleviate the distress in certain parts of the state that is apt to be the result of a strike. The undergraduates are not taking sides. Their action does not align them with either the union members or the owners, but it does announce to the world that Trinity stands four-square for the relief of suffering and the general good of humanity.

GREEK BASKETBALL.

It has been proposed that the nine fraternities and the neutral body organize basketball teams and play through a league schedule this year. There is nothing new in the proposal, as a fraternity league has been suggested at least once a year for the last two years, but somehow it never seemed to get around to playing any games. This year, with freshmen ineligible for basketball until after mid-years, a fraternity league seems to be the best possible means of giving the new men a chance to show their worth in the great winter game, and, at the same time, turn over a group of men who have been playing fairly regularly to the 'varsity squad after mid-years.

With ten teams, the best thing to do would seem to be the formation of two leagues of five teams each, each team to play every other team in its own league once. If the season started as soon as football is over, say November 21, the winner in each league ought to be settled by the beginning of the mid-year examinations, and a game between the winners in each league would make an excellent preliminary for the Junior Week 'varsity game.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Do you remember the lump in your throat when the first regiment entrained for France? Do you remember the thrill of victory when that regiment came marching home to the tune of martial bands, to the plaudits of cheering throngs? Perhaps you joined step with them. Perhaps you too had been across. At any rate, you saw and welcomed them.

But, do you remember those who could not keep step with the marching hundreds, those who rode in motor cars—because somewhere on a foreign battlefield wounds were re-

And do you remember the files of marching women who came home after the Armistice was signed, the brave, heroic ones, who in field and base hospitals nursed back to life wounded ones of the Argonne, of Verdun, and of Chateau Thierry?

If you do remember you cannot forget that it is YOUR duty NOW to think first of those who formed the first line of defense. It is your privilege to see that those men who could not march, who can not even now be fitted into the old vocations, be made strong enough to work once more and be trained into new pursuits. It is also your privilege to keep intact the army of nurses that the recovery of the disabled men may be as rapid as possible.

A WEAK POINT WELL MADE. (The Princetonian).

"In a very able editorial commenting upon the proposal to have an intercollegiate conference in Princeton upon the subject of disarmament, the 'Cornell Daily Sun' deprecates the suggestion, expressing the opinion that such a conference could not possibly give voice to nation-wide college sentiment; that its opinion would be hardly more valuable than that of an equal number of students chosen at random, and hence could not possibly carry weight in Washington. Continuing, the editorial asks:

"How could Cornell, for instance, choose one man, or even a group of men, qualified to represent the opinion of her five thousand students at such a conference? Only by first holding a referendum within her own walls could she do it. She could then base the selection of her delegate on the majority of student opinion thus determined. But would not the result of the referendum itself have far more meaning than the opinion of the representative thus chosen? **

"If all students of all the American universities could say in unison 'We want disarmament,' the international assemblage of conferees in Washington might hear them. But the voice of fifty or a hundred so-called representatives at Princeton would not, and from the nature of the case could not, carry very far.

"The problem of disarmament is not so simple that it can be put before the undergraduate world in the form of a 'yes' or 'no' questionnaire * * * How far are armies to be reduced? What is to be left for policing the world? * * * These and similar questions must be considered before the student can even venture an intelligent opinion on the subject.' **

"The 'Sun' has evidently missed the point of the conference at Princeton, but it is probable that a similar view is held by many. Even were the intercollegiate assembly a gathering of properly elected representatives, it can hardly be expected that these men should represent every shade of sentiment on the question, any more than the delegates to a legislative assembly could be expected to represent every shade of the opinion, even of the majority which elected them.

"But the sponsors of the movement here know as well as anyone that any resolution which might be made by any gathering of college representatives would have no very serious influence upon the deliberations of the Washington Conference. The prime motive in calling a student gathering, therefore, is to stimulate more active discussion of the whole subject of disarmament in the colleges, with the possible view, ultimately, to the expression of opinion in the form of a straw vote. In such a vote, moreover, it would be useless and vain to go into any details concerning what measures should be taken toward limiting armaments. It would merely be an expression in favor of or against the principle of the limitation of armaments.

"It may be said that we can take it for granted that everyone is in favor of such a principle—in favor of the general theory of disarmament. But if this be the case, general apathy on the question is inexcusable. Nothing weakened Mr. Wilson's hand so much during the later days of his regime than the realization by the foreign powers that he was not backed by the public opinion of America. If we are in favor of the proposed course of the present administration, nothing can be more prejudicial to the chances of success than indifference or a cynical attitude toward the whole question."

ANNUAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT ON.
Players Well on in Second Round—Ortgies Going Strong.

For the first time in several years, a cup has been offered to the winner interest in the fall tournament will Athletic Association. By doing this, interest in the fall tournament, will be increased, and the tennis manager will be able to get a line on the new men for the team next spring.

The tournament has progressed through two rounds and will probably be completed as far as the finals by the end of the week. Dealey, '25, who starred on the Kent School team for a number of years, looks good and will undoubtedly play into the semi-finals. Howard Ortgies, '22, a member of last year's team, although handicapped by lack of practice, is fast recovering the form he displayed last year against Detroit. Morris of Howe School has been doing some fast playing in the elimination matches and promises to be a strong factor in the tournament. Brainard and "Ted" Cuninghams have also entered and are playing a creditable game.

Summary.

TWO DELEGATES TO ARMS PARLEY.

Army and embarked for France in July, 1917. There he organized the entire salvage service of the United States Expeditionary Force, later rising to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. On returning to this country, Colonel D'Olier was elected first national commander of the American Legion, and has had a great deal to do with the success of that organization.

The second speaker chosen to address the mass meeting, General O'Ryan, is a veteran of both the Spanish-American and recent European conflicts. In 1913, President Wilson appointed him Commander of the National Army, and in the year 1917 he was named as Commander also of the 27th Division from New York State, in which capacity he served until the close of the war. General O'Ryan's word should carry great weight in the discussion of the disarmament question, as he will represent the military view on the issue.

During the past week letters have been received by President Hibben of Princeton from many of the heads of various institutions throughout the east, in which they congratulate Princeton for having taken a leading step in the disarmament issue. All of these men thoroughly approve of this university's stand and are willing to cooperate to their utmost in setting forth the policy adopted by the intercollegiate convention. The idea of the student conference has become so popular in collegiate circles that many distant institutions to which invitations had not been sent, have already written the Princeton Disarmament Committee inquiring just what the nature of the meeting will be.

President Alderman of the University of Virginia is among those who have expressed to President Hibben their hearty approval of his position in regard to disarmament. Also President H. A. Garfield of Williams, who during the late war was appointed United States Fuel Administrator, encourages Princeton's step. Among others from whom word has been received are: President W. H. P. Faunce of Brown, President H. P. Judson of the University of Chicago, and Dean Walter T. Marvin of Rutgers College.

AID FOR GOVERNOR IN EVENT OF STRIKE.
College Body Offers Services to Move Trains.

Trinity students, at a meeting of the college body held just before the mass meeting Friday night, voted to offer their services to Governor Lake of Connecticut if the threatened railroad strike materializes. The Trinity men specifically proffered their services to the state in event of volunteers being needed to move trains with food supplies, or trains for the relief of distressed areas.

The following letter was sent to Governor Lake, informing him of the action of the undergraduates:

"October 21, 1921.
Hon. Everett J. Lake,
Governor of Connecticut.
Dear Sir:

At a mass meeting of the student body of Trinity College held tonight, it was voted that the students of Trinity College offer their services to the State of Connecticut for use in moving food supplies and relieving distressed areas, if the threatened railroad strike should materialize. Respectfully yours,

STUDENT BODY OF TRINITY COLLEGE,
by Robert D. Byrnes,
Secretary, College Senate."

Alpha Chi Rho gave a dance on Saturday evening, October 22, at their house. About twenty-five couples were in attendance. Mrs. R. B. Ogilby and Mrs. Deckleman were patronesses.

FRESHMAN NINE FALLS IN INTERCLASS GAME.
Team From Three Upper Classes Shut Out New Men, 21 to 0.

The so-called sophomores overwhelmed the freshmen in the annual inter-class baseball game Friday afternoon, 21 to 0.

The 1924 team touched Harris, the freshman pitcher for twenty safe blows, and, playing against weak fielding, made a complete joke out of the game. Canner let down the 1925 team with four hits and struck out seven men. The erstwhile sophomores played errorless ball and presented a seemingly well-organized lineup.

The freshman lineup was a makeshift one, with an inexperienced battery. The team was no match for the "sophomores" who had a lineup made up largely of varsity men. Tuck, the freshman first sacker was the only 1925 man to hit consistently, making two hits out of three times at bat. He also played a fine fielding game.

The "sophomores" started off strong and put six runs over the plate in the first inning by the aid of doubles by Anspacher, Jones and Mancoll. In the second session five bunched hits sent in five more tallies. The fourth frame was a farce with six bingles, including a triple by Canner, a base on balls and two errors, going for seven runs. The freshmen could not touch Canner's delivery and except for doubles by Tuck and Morris, they did nothing to avoid a whitewash at the hands of the other team. The game was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of darkness.

The editorial board is: W. G. Brill, editor; S. B. Gammell, F. W. Bowdidge, S. P. Miller.

The business board is: L. Celentano, business manager; G. Johnson, C. H. Gesner, C. M. Hallberg, S. A. Cullum.

OLD BROWNSTONE STILL IN USE.

Old College Buildings Foundation for Capitol Walks.

Last summer, while digging up the walks around the capitol, the workmen came upon the old brownstone slabs that had formerly been the walls of the Washington College buildings, but since that time have been serving as a foundation for the walks. At the same time that work was commenced on the college buildings on Summit Street, the Capitol was under construction, all but one of the old college buildings having been torn down to make way for it. As soon as the new state house was completed in the 70's, the brownstone from this building was used in the foundation work for the walks around the capitol building. Not only brownstone slabs but also chips of marble and stone from this building were used.

These old walks have been replaced by new ones but the old stones were used again and put deeper than before with cinders placed over them before the concrete walks were laid.

It is also interesting to note that the step of one of these old buildings was used for the floor of the fireplace of the Lodge of the I. K. A. when it was built on Vernon Street.

President R. B. Ogilby was elected a director of the Hartford Chamber of Commerce at the annual election on October 4.

It was voted that the Hartford association hold weekly luncheons for the purpose of getting together in an informal way.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY DEFEATS TRINITY.

been painted silvery white, giving the squad more the appearance of a group of Caesar's imperial guard than a twentieth century football team.

First Quarter.

Boston kicked off and Nordlund got the ball on the Trinity fifteen-yard line. He made five yards before he was downed. Kennedy made two through the line, Nordlund three and Keating four off tackle and then Nordlund punted, the ball being downed on the Boston forty-eight-yard line. Two end runs from shift resulted in a first down and then a run around left end went for twelve more. Captain O'Hare broke away for the first score of the game and Cochrane kicked the goal.

The kickoff went over the goal and Trinity put the ball in play on its twenty-yard line. Kennedy made a couple of yards and Nordlund added three more by line plays. Boston was penalized half the distance to its goal for unnecessary roughness and one of the B. U. men was banished to the sidelines. Kennedy and Nordlund made eight yards in three rushes and then Nordlund fumbled and Boston got the ball on its own thirty-three-yard line. Boston tried a forward pass which failed and then kicked offside on the Trinity forty-three-yard line. Nordlund made two yards and Kennedy plowed through center for five. Kennedy made another and then Nordlund kicked offside on the Boston eighteen-yard line. Boston started its sensational end runs again, working them from a shift formation. The Bostonians made three first downs and were well on their way to another in spite of a penalty for having men in motion when the ball was snapped when the period ended with the ball on Trinity's thirty-nine-yard line. Score, Boston University 7, Trinity 0.

Second Quarter.

Boston was penalized on the first play for having men in motion and then Kennedy intercepted a forward pass on the Trinity thirty-one-yard line. A pass to Nordlund gained seven yards and Kennedy made it first down by a plunge through center. A pass, Nordlund to Keating, gained twenty-five yards. Kennedy failed to gain through the line and got four yards on a pass. Nordlund made two yards through the line and Kennedy made it first down. Keating was thrown for a loss of two yards, but a pass, Nordlund to Tansill, netted ten. Kennedy hit center and made first down. Nordlund made one and Kennedy two through the line. A forward pass failed. Trinity had the ball on the Boston eight-yard line, seven to go, and last down. Another forward was attempted and Tansill, behind the Boston goal, was waiting with open arms to receive the ball when a Boston man broke through and knocked the pass out of Tansill's reach. Boston took the ball on downs and, by a series of end runs with an occasional line buck marched down the field for another score, Williamson taking the ball over and Cochrane again kicked the goal.

Boston kicked off to Kennedy on his fifteen-yard line and the Trinity half back made a brilliant run back to his forty-five-yard line. A pass, Nordlund to Kennedy, gained twenty-two yards. Kennedy made five through the line and Nordlund made first down. A pass failed, but one to Kennedy gained three yards. Another pass failed and another worked to Keating for four yards. The half ended before Boston could run off a p.ay. Score, Boston 14, Trinity 0.

Third Quarter.

Brill kicked off for Trinity, the ball going to the Boston twenty-five-yard line and Boston running it back to the Trinity twenty-five-yard line. Boston fumbled and Dolan recovered for Trinity. Nordlund made two, Kennedy three, and Keating circled right end for fifteen. Trinity fumbled and Boston recovered on the Trinity forty-four-yard line. Boston made two first downs, making nearer twenty than ten yards each time. Boston was thrown for a loss of seven yards, but two rushes made five yards. Then a pass from the center went wild and Boston recovered the loose ball for a loss of twenty-five yards. Trinity took the ball on its own forty-yard line. Keating made two, and Ransom, who had replaced Bowdidge, lost a yard. A pass, Nordlund to Kennedy, gained fifteen. Nordlund made a yard, Kennedy three and Nordlund two. A pass failed and Boston took the ball on its own forty-yard line. A pass to Barrett went for fifty yards, Keating hauling him down from behind when he had a clear field ahead of him. The ball was brought back, however, and a five-yard penalty inflicted. A plunge through the line gained two yards and a pass failed. Boston punted to Nordlund, who took the ball near his own goal and ran to his fifteen-yard line. Trinity lost two yards on two plays and the quarter ended with the ball in Trinity's possession on its own thirteen-yard line. Score, Boston 14, Trinity 0.

Fourth Quarter.

Nordlund punted to O'Hare who fumbled, O'Connor recovering on Trinity's thirty-seven-yard line. Trinity fumbled and Boston recovered on the Trinity forty-eight-yard line. A line buck lost ground, two passes failed, and Boston kicked to Sutcliffe who fumbled, Nordlund recovering for Trinity on its own twenty-yard line. Kennedy gained three yards through the line, a pass was grounded and then Harris intercepted a pass on the Trinity thirty-yard line. Boston failed to gain and Cochrane tried a drop kick which went wide. Trinity put the ball in play on its twenty-yard line and was forced to punt, Nordlund kicking to Boston's forty-five-yard line. Boston made two first downs and then Cochrane tried another drop kick which also failed. The game ended before Trinity could put the ball in play. Score, Boston 14, Trinity 0.

STARR, '09, WILL AID MUSICAL CLUBS.

Offers to Hire Coach for Club If Organized This Year.

The reorganization meeting of Trinity's musical clubs was held Thursday in the history room with about twenty present. Hicks, '22, temporary president of the musical clubs, called the meeting to order, and spoke for a few minutes on the advantages of musical clubs to the college.

Mr. Jonathan Starr, '09, through President Ogilby, offered to supply a man experienced in training voices to coach the club. The only request he makes is that the club sing good music and give one concert at his summer home.

The next meeting of candidates will be held soon.

STEVENS LOSES AGAIN.

Trinity's Next Opponent Without a Single Victory.

Saturday's football scores show that one of Trinity's coming opponents played a tie and the other was badly defeated. New York University and Wesleyan, in a well played game, each scored one touchdown. Captain Weinheimer and Friedlander were the ground-gainers for the Metropolitan eleven. Trinity's other foe, Stevens, was humbled before Rensselaer to the tune of 23 to 0. Stevens has lost three of her contests and won none.

Outside Trinity's sphere the colleges presented few surprises. The one unexpected result was the tie score of the Harvard-Penn. State game, 21-21. Yale succeeded in winning its fourteenth victory over the Army out of seventeen games. The Princeton Tiger ate out of Chicago's hand after it had been tamed by the score of 9-0. Centre College, the little wizard of the South which meets Harvard next Saturday, trounced Transylvania 98-0.

The records of Trinity and her opponents so far are:

President at Foot Guard Anniversary.

President Ogilby, Chaplain of the First Company of the Foot Guard, delivered the sermon at the 150th anniversary of the company in Center Church on Wednesday, October 20. He took his text from Isaiah, 32: 8: "The noble deviseth noble things and in noble things shall he continue." He touched upon the facts that, "the institution is the expression of an ideal," and, "devotion to an ideal demands faith." The conclusion drawn was that Americans must be faithful to the ideals of their country.

INNER CIRCLE FOR POLITICAL CLUB.

Thirty Members To Meet For Monthly Discussions.

A new idea is being tried out this year by the Political Science Club, the organization of a group of about thirty men which is to meet once a month at the various fraternity houses and there discuss current topics. The membership in the Political Science Club itself is open to any man in college who has taken a course in the history department or who is taking one at the time he wishes to become a member of the club. The smaller organization is to be limited to those members of the club who take a special interest in the problems of the day and are willing to devote one evening a month to discussion of the most important of the world's affairs.

The first meeting of the new group was held at the Phi Gamma Delta House recently and the following men read papers: Slattery, '21, on the Mexican Oil Situation, Brill, '23, on the Disarmament Conference, Byrnes, '22, on the International Court, Dolan, '23, on the Irish Question and Gable, '22, on the Chile-Peru controversy.

New Books.

The Institute of International Education has furnished the Political Science Club of Trinity College the following books which have been placed on reference for study in connection with the Course of Public Lecture on "The United States and The Far East":

Iyemaga, T. and Sati K., "Japan and the California Problem."

Hornbeck, S. K., "Contemporary Politics in the Far East."

CELESTIAL GREEKS

STRIKE A SNAG.

Chinese Students Have Difficulty in Getting Hellenic Name.

A Chinese fraternity was recently organized in one of the large American universities and wished to be known by the first letters of the Greek words translating "Chinese Students' Club" but this translation was a problem. In desperation, Gus, the restaurant man down the street, was consulted but his modern Greek could not rise to the occasion and he admitted reluctantly that he knew no suitable equivalent for "Chinese" in his native tongue.

A final appeal was made to the language department of a Detroit college. The head of the Greek department was pressed into service and asked to help in finding the missing word for the new Greek letter fraternity. He declared at the outset that there apparently was no word for "Chinese" in classic Greek since the ancient Hellenes apparently had no definite knowledge of China. However, it was found, reference was made in their literature to "the people of the Far East" and for this group, the professor could furnish a Greek name.

Of course, the word was immediately adopted and shortly after the American college world became acquainted with a new American-Chinese Greek letter fraternity.

Ehlers at Pei Yang.

J. H. Ehlers, '14, is now located at Tientsin, China, where he is Professor of Structural Engineering at Pei Yang University. He is National Secretary of the Phi Tau Phi, honorary society, the organization in Chinese universities which corresponds to the Phi Beta Kappa in America. He recently made a five thousand mile trip through the interior of China for the society. His permanent address is 151 Seymour Street, Hartford, Conn.

A dance was held at the Deke House on Saturday evening, October 15, after the Bowdoin game. About thirty couples were present.

Brady on Traffic.

The article by Philip Curtiss, '06, entitled "Traffic Problems" in THE TRIPOD of October 11 has brought forth the following from another alumnus, R. McClelland Brady, '90.

"Here lies the body of Edward Jay, Who died maintaining his right of way.

He was right, sure right, as he sped along,

But he's just as dead as if he were wrong."
