

SOPHOMORES FULFILL THEIR HOP PROMISES

125 Couples Dance to the Music of Bacchanalians

The Sophomore Class more than fulfilled its promises concerning its Hop, for the affair which took place in Alumni Hall Monday night deserves to go down in the history of Trinity's social events as a success. About 125 couples were present. The hall was tastefully decorated in Prussian blue and orange, the class colors, and a spot-light in the left corner cast multi-colored rays on the dancers. The Bacchanalian Orchestra, arranged on a double stage before a huge blue drop curtain, offered a lively repertoire of dance numbers. Among the musicians were N. A. C. Anderson, '25, E. B. Anderson, '23, D. D. Kennedy, '25, and G. P. Olcott, '25.

Unstinted praise is due F. R. Shields, '26, and his committee for the success of the party.

The chaperons were: Mrs. Remsen B. Ogilby, Mrs. Robert C. Buell, Mrs. Thomas B. Chapman, Mrs. I. K. Hamilton, Jr., Mrs. Benjamin Knower, Mrs. Henry A. Perkins, Mrs. Frederick T. Simpson and Mrs. Robert A. Wadsworth.

The committee consisted of J. B. Burr, representing Sigma Nu; J. J. Connor, Alpha Tau Kappa; W. S. Hubbard, Delta Kappa Epsilon; J. W. Keena, Alpha Chi Rho; T. F. Murphy, Delta Phi; J. L. Plumb, Alpha Delta Phi; J. Pryor, Jr., St. Anthony Hall; J. Williams, Jr., Psi Upsilon; and W. J. Riley, president of the class, ex-officio.

SABBATICAL YEAR RULE AMENDED BY TRUSTEES

Plans for New Chemistry Laboratory Being Made

Professors who have served on the faculty for fourteen years will be granted a year's leave of absence with full salary, according to an amendment of the sabbatical year statute. Hitherto professors have been entitled to a leave of absence every seven years with half-salary. Professor Shepard of the English department and Professor Carpenter of the Biology department are this year taking their sabbatical.

Two members of the faculty will benefit by this new ruling next year, Professor Barret of the Latin department and Dr. Swan, of the Physiology and Physical Training department. Professor Barret has served on the faculty fourteen consecutive years without taking a leave of absence. Dr. Swan has attained the remarkable record of twenty years of service without missing a day on the campus. Both professors will make next year, beginning June, 1924, their year of leisure.

The committee on the new chemistry laboratory reported that plans and calculations as to the cost of the proposed building are being made. The building of the laboratory will be entrusted to S. B. P. Trowbridge, '83, of the firm of Trowbridge & Livingston, architects, of New York City.

The members of the Board present at the meeting were, President Ogilby, Edgar F. Waterman, '98, secretary and treasurer; Sydney G. Fisher, '79, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Col. William S. Cogswell, '61, of Jamaica, N. Y.; Robert Thorne, '85, of New York City; the Right Rev. Chauncey B. Brewster, h. '97, of Hartford; the Hon. Frank L. Wilcox, '80, of Berlin; John P. Elton, '88, of Waterbury; Shiras Morris, '96, of Hartford; William S. Hubbard, '88, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Charles G. Woodward, '98, of Hartford; Samuel Ferguson, '96, of Hartford; Sidney T. Miller, '85, of Detroit, Mich.; George S. Stevenson, of Hartford; Newton C. Brainerd of Hartford; Irenus K. Hamilton, '91, of Hartford; and the Rev. Dr. John J. McCook, '63, of Hartford.

McBURNY AND MORRIS WILL MANAGE TEAMS

A. F. McBurney, '26, was elected assistant manager of football and C. R. Morris, '25, was elected manager of tennis at a meeting of the Athletic Advisory Council held last Tuesday afternoon. McBurney was a member of the track squad last spring and is a member of the Phi Psi Chapter of Alpha Chi Rho. Morris, who is a member of THE TRIPOD staff, was runner-up in the fall tennis tournament. He has played on the squad for three years. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Chapter of Alpha Delta Phi.

DR. OGILBY'S ARTICLE LAUDED BY TRUSTEES

President Ogilby's address on the government of the Philippines, which appeared in the November 24 issue of THE TRIPOD, will be sent to President Coolidge, his cabinet and the members of the Senate at the suggestion of several of the Board of Trustees, who considered it such a commendable presentation of the situation that it should receive the attention of authorities in Washington at this critical period in the history of the islands.

COUNCIL FACES MANY ATHLETIC QUESTIONS

Worcester, Not Columbia, Will Be First Grid Foe

At a special meeting of the Athletic Advisory Council held last Sunday afternoon, problems attendant upon the arranging of the 1924 football slate were discussed. It was definitely decided that the proposed contest with Columbia early in September should not take place. In lieu of this game, the council accepted the offer of Worcester Tech for the first game of the season. There is practically no possibility of a game next season with Wesleyan inasmuch as the Red and Black has closed negotiations with Bowdoin for the only date available to Trinity. Six games have been approved by the council. These are with Worcester Tech, Colby, N. Y. U., Union, Hobart, and the Connecticut Aggies. A game with Middlebury is now in the works, according to A. L. Peiker, '25, Manager. New Hampshire State, Boston University, and Massachusetts Aggies have dates available to Trinity, and it is possible that one of these teams will also be booked.

Manager D. L. Hadlow, '25, reported that his baseball schedule was not complete, but that games with Amherst, Boston University, Dartmouth, Connecticut Aggies, Williams, Hamilton, Springfield, and N. Y. U. are being negotiated.

The plan for the junior 'varsity team to play preliminaries to the 'varsity games at the H. P. H. S. gymnasium, and to serve as a foil to the 'varsity five, was adopted. Coach Stone, of the baseball team, will take care of the shaping-up of the junior quintet. The faculty eligibility rules will hold, although Freshmen and transfers will be allowed to play. The scheme will give men of ability, unable to play with the 'varsity on account of the one-year rule, a chance to exhibit their prowess. Games will be booked with nearby preparatory and high schools.

C. R. Morris, Captain of the tennis team, received the permission of the council to hire the state armory for tennis practice this winter. Wesleyan racquet-wielders have adopted the plan, considering it an excellent method of moulding its netmen prior to the opening of the season. The council provided ample means for the support of the scheme by agreeing to contribute half the expense of the hiring of the hall, if the eight men of the tennis squad would offer the other half.

In order to facilitate the making of schedules, the council voted to appoint a sub-committee whose duty should be to handle the numerous and complicated problems of the work. The committee appointed consists of R. Z. Johnston, '16, representing the alumni, Dr. Swan, representing the faculty, and M. P. Johnson, '25, representing the student body. The committee will work in conjunction with the managers of the major sports.

YEAR OFF AND FULL PAY NOTHING TO "CHARLIE"

"Charlie" P. Johnson, who has watched the Trinity night-prowlers amble across the campus for fourteen years, working twelve hours a night, told a representative of THE TRIPOD in an interview last week that he did not intend to take advantage of the new ruling by the Board of Trustees concerning sabbatical years. "Hmmm, all da boys freeze to death without my pooting a ton coal in dot boiler ev'ry night."

PRESIDENT MAKES PLEA FOR BROADER CULTURE

Only Wide Knowledge Will Develop Critical Sense

President Ogilby delivered the chapel sermon Sunday. In his talk he showed the necessity for a critical mind formed by an abundance of culture. He said, "The critical sense is developed by wide knowledge and its effectiveness is blurred by an emotional appeal."

"Here in America," said President Ogilby, "we are facing an increasing distrust in the trial by jury, for it is getting to be the practice of lawyers to put more weight upon the means at their disposal for swaying the emotions of jurymen rather than to stress truth as indicated by testimony."

"When Joseph Conrad arrived in America the other day, he was greeted by many reporters at the ship. He is quoted as having parried questions by saying: 'I have not a critical mind, because I have not got any general culture.' We do not often note the part that wide learning plays in developing the critical sense, or the great number of discoveries that are made by accident by men who have the broad culture to make the most out of the discovery by noting its relation to known fact."

"In thinking of the means by which the critical sense is to be developed we must stress the necessity for the superfluous. One can never tell when and how assimilated knowledge can be of use in determination of truth. Certainly a specialized education weakens the power of criticism, so all students, but especially those heading for a definite profession, should devote themselves to the acquisition of broad culture."

"TRIPOD" OPENS PRIZE BOOK REVIEW CONTEST

THE TRIPOD wishes to start a column of book reviews open to the undergraduate body. Through the generosity of a friend of the paper, the editor is able to award contributors for their efforts. Any review of a book published within the past year of merit sufficient to meet the approval of the English department or of the professor in the field covered by the book and is accepted by the editor of THE TRIPOD will be awarded $5.00. No more than ten such reviews can be accepted in the present academic year. Reviews should be typewritten and submitted to THE TRIPOD. They must not be more than 300 words in length.

Decide That Old Ruling Will Remain in Force

POWERS THAT BE NOT SWAYED BY ARGUMENTS

"Careful Consideration" Given, Claims Trustee

Trinity students will continue to answer the summons of the chapel bell six days a week in accordance with the decision of the Board of Trustees at its meeting in the Williams' Memorial Saturday regarding the petition drawn up by R. E. Fleming, '25, S. S. Fishzohn, '25, and G. Malcolm-Smith, '25, in behalf of the undergraduate body. The petition requested the abolition of compulsory attendance of religious exercises on the ground that it was "contrary to the spiritual welfare of the individual * * * detrimental to the best interests of Trinity College * * * contrary to the best interests of the Christian religion."

The notice of the action of the Trustees to Fleming, chairman, follows: Dear Mr. Fleming:

I have the honor to notify you that at a meeting of the Board of Trustees held December 1, 1923, the petition of the student body in regard to compulsory chapel was presented, and the following action was taken by the Board:

"The Trustees having received and carefully considered the petition presented by the committee of the student body on compulsory chapel, and after further discussion of the arguments advanced by them, it was unanimously voted that in the opinion of this Board no change should be made in the statutes and rules covering the matter of chapel attendance."

Yours very sincerely,
(Signed) EDGAR F. WATERMAN,
Secretary.

This is the second occasion within the memory of the present generation that such a petition from the students has been refused. The Hon. F. L. Wilcox, '80, a member of the Board, requested President Ogilby to remind the students that the decision of the Board had not been made without a careful and diligent consideration and that thirteen of its members were graduates and had undergone the same experience concerning chapel as the present undergraduates are having.

The petition presented to the Board of Trustees follows:

To the Trustees of Trinity College:

Inasmuch as the compulsory attendance of religious exercises at Trinity College is:

Contrary to the spiritual welfare of the individual in that it influences him in believing the false doctrine that the spirit of piety and devotion can be forced; in that the element of compulsion breeds in him artificiality, hypocrisy, and contempt; in that it crushes that element of volition in the individual essential to his spiritual life; in that it has been proven by actual vote to be contrary to the earnest convictions of 95.8% of the undergraduate body;

Detrimental to the best interests of Trinity College, in that the exercises are distinctly and inevitably denominational limiting the universality of its scope as an educational institution; in that through its denominationalism the growth of Trinity College has been inhibited and will be (Concluded on page 4.)

PRESS COMMENTS.

"The 'Worcester Telegram' observing that the students of Trinity College like those in many other colleges are making a drive against compulsory chapel attendance notes that they say they do not intend to neglect chapel, but that the compulsory feature is distasteful to them. The editor admits that proposed laws compelling all citizens, unless sick or disabled or with some other good excuse to go to church on Sunday would have always been met with ridicule and with the argument that people cannot be made truly religious by legislation. Most of us are agreed with that, but the 'Telegram' points out a difference between such proposed laws and the regulations of a college. It says that compulsory chapel attendance at colleges cannot be regarded as resembling state laws to make people go to church.

"Chapel, it says, is part of the daily program. It continues:

"Unless the students can present a convincing argument as to why they should not attend chapel, they have no good reason to object to its compulsory feature. They weaken their case when they say they do not propose to neglect chapel. If they do not propose to neglect it, there is no cause for demanding the right to neglect it. Students in colleges are not supposed to be wholly free, despite the idea of the modern young people that they have the right to do just as they please on all occasions."

"That is sound common sense as is also the statement that perhaps in time the students will say to the authorities: 'We ask to be relieved from attending all classes and all examinations. We do not intend to neglect classes and examinations but we object to their compulsory feature.' The weak word there is 'perhaps.' Those who so willingly lead a spineless world to loftier heights we feel certain have already made such a proposal. Perhaps in time the professors who do the work and the trustees who are supposed to see to it that there is money enough to keep things going will see the light."

—Hartford Courant.

"Perhaps the students of Trinity College, Hartford, are right in declaring that compulsory chapel is contrary to the principles of the Christian religion, but they seem to have overlooked the advice to go two miles with the man who compels them to go one."—Boston Herald."

FROM THE PROM CHAIRMAN.

We must have a 5 o'clock Prom and we will have it if every one of the student body who wants the party to be a success will support me. I am still wondering why the faculty are bucking our desire for a 5 o'clock affair; I haven't heard a good sound reason yet.

Too much drinking? That cannot be the reason. The softest-footed betotaler could not have detected a suspicion of alcohol on the breaths of any dancers at the three parties staged last year. The amount of drinking that takes place at any Trinity event as compared with that occurring at any function in Hartford is remarkably small.

Too much petting? If the faculty are going to say that Trinity men do not bring the right kind of girls to their parties, they are going to tread on rather thin ice. The very fact that a man takes a girl to a college dance proves that he thinks she is the best he knows. If we wanted girls for petting, we would not have to pay our Prom assessment before we could get them. Public dances are much cheaper, and although the brand of osculation one gets there may be inferior, they fit the weekly check better. To say that our Proms are necking matches is to speak poorly of the best that Hartford society has to offer.

Is a 5 o'clock Prom too much of a physical strain? It is my opinion that the purpose of the Prom is to relieve one's mind of the strain of sitting up o' nights during the preceding exams by indulging in a little physical exercise. And take it from one who knows (and not one of the faculty) we need plenty of physical relaxation!

Too much of a strain on the chaperons? A number of women prominent in Hartford society and who have been kind enough to act as chaperons at past proms have spoken to me in favor of 5 o'clock affairs. They state that they receive as much enjoyment as the younger people. They seem to offer no objection.

I have spoken to several members of the Board of Trustees and they have expressed themselves in favor of a 5 o'clock affair. The only opponents are the members of the faculty. I am still waiting for their reasons for not fulfilling the promises they made last year to the effect that if the parties then proved satisfactory, they would grant us later proms this year.

HARTFORD ALUMNI TO HOLD SMOKER JANUARY 25

A big Trinity Alumni Smoker is now being arranged for January 25. The "Bigger Trinity Committee" will report at this time and their plans, "whereby not only Hartford Alumni but all Trinity men can assist in the development of athletics at College, and the presentation of Trinity College to the students of the preparatory and high schools of the country," will be heard.

The committee which was elected at the October meeting of the Hartford alumni and which will report is composed of three active Trinity men: Horace B. Olmstead, '08, Howard R. Hill, '15, James E. Breslin, '18.

The committee in charge of this important gathering of Trinity men was appointed at the October meeting and includes the following: Robert P. Butler, '05, chairman; A. V. R. Tilton, '20, Ralph R. Wolf, '08, Sidney D. Pinney, '18, Arthur L. Gildersleeve, '11, William P. Barber, '13, Roger B. Ladd, '17, Harold N. Chandler, '09.

Many attractive features will be offered at the Smoker. The College Glee Club will sing, and movies of the Centennial Celebration will be shown.

JESTERS WILL PRODUCE TWO PLAYS THIS YEAR

At a meeting of the Jesters held last Thursday night, G. W. O'Connor, '24, president of that organization, announced the plans formulated for the coming year. Two plays are to be given during the coming year; one on Saturday afternoon, February 2, as the opening attraction of Junior Week, the other during Commencement Week. Mrs. H. G. Reynolds of Hartford has been secured by the organization to coach the plays for this year. She has coached former Jester productions, and her work has always been of the highest type of artistry. Mrs. H. A. Perkins, also of Hartford, will assist Mrs. Reynolds in the voice training. It is planned for the Junior Week production to present several one-act plays. These will be followed by a concert by the College Glee Club and a dance. In all probability the Hartford Club will be the scene of the performance. Several plays have been suggested by Mrs. Reynolds, and it is possible that George Bernard Shaw's "Getting Married", or Millet's "Rehearsal" will be given. For the Commencement program, it is planned to give a longer play. Production Manager H. Manaccio, '26, announced that tryouts for the cast will be held Monday afternoon in the public speaking room. Parts from Shakespeare will be used for the first rehearsal.

A. A. AWARDS MANCOLL LETTER AND CHANGES ELECTIVE COMMITTEE

At a meeting of the Athletic Association held last Monday morning, a football letter was awarded to M. M. Mancoll, '24, for three years' service on the squad. Although Mancoll took part in the Worcester Tech, Lowell Textile, Connecticut Aggies and the Amherst game last season, he did not play in enough periods to meet the requirements for a "T."

The association voted to amend the rule concerning the committee on the election of managers. It was voted to include the assistant manager in the committee, on the grounds that he is familiar enough with the workings of managerial affairs to be capable of making a just choice. While it is the duty of the manager to attend to the finances, it is the business of the assistant manager to take care of the irksome routine work, and in doing so he is able to judge the merits of the embryo managers who assist him. The elective committee will henceforth be composed of the manager, assistant manager, and captain of the sport in season, the coach, the president of the student body, and the president of the athletic association.

WOULD HAVE TRINITY REPRESENTED AT IND. STUDENT CONFERENCE

Urging the student body to send two undergraduates and one faculty representative to the Indianapolis Student Conference December 28 to January 1, Leslie Adkins, formerly a student of Cambridge, Oxford, and now studying at the Berkeley Divinity School, Middletown, addressed the student body at its monthly meeting Monday morning.

The student body voted that the senate be empowered to delegate two students and one member of the faculty to the conference provided the expenses of the trip could be obtained by an assessment on the undergraduates. Tuesday evening the senate suggested the names of three men whom it considered capable of representing Trinity at the conference: R. E. Fleming, '25, H. W. Herick, '24, and S. S. Fishzohn, '25.

The Indianapolis Conference, according to Mr. Adkins, is one of the most important student conventions ever held. Representatives of nearly all the American colleges and a number of the European institutions will be present to discuss international and interracial problems. Among the champions of the conference are Dr. John R. Mott and Robert E. Spears, leaders of student thought in America, and Dr. Aggie, a colored native of the African gold coast who lately received a Ph.D. degree from Columbia University. Ex-President Woodrow Wilson has been invited to attend, though it is doubtful that he will forsake his long seclusion from public affairs to take part in the event.

Choice of a Career

From the Yale News

THE NINETY-FOUR

Someone, probably an insurance agent, was quoted recently as saying that from the mass of one hundred college graduates one individual only rose to the Polo and butler class, perilously near the top of the financial ladder. Five others became comfortably off and found themselves after twenty years at the small yacht and chauffeur stage. The other ninety-four presumably congregate in the great section of the American people who drive their own Buicks to the golf club. In other words, dreaming about being a rich man is one thing, and making the grade is "something else again."

Yet the ninety-four presumably work just as hard as the sumptuous six. Their business is the axis on which a small and uninteresting world revolves. They have become devotees of the dollar and when that fickle deity deserts, have nowhere else to turn. Jammed in a dull, straight rut of business they can never leave the road and jump the fence into finer fields of life. This, then, is the portion of ninety-four men out of every hundred now on the campus.

The answer to the problem lies in the proper choice of a career.

Between now and Commencement we shall have something to offer on the subject of "Careers." Watch for the space with the Famous Signature.

QUINTET MEETS ALBANY LAW IN OPENING MATCH

The untried 1923-'24 basketball quintet will make its debut tonight in the H. P. H. S. gymnasium, playing the fast Albany Law School team. The team has been practicing every day for the past two weeks and with Captain Keating, Montgomery and Jepson back, the outlook for this season is particularly bright. Although no definite combination has been announced by "Spud" Drew, it is expected that Jepson will start the game at center. Keating and Montgomery will in all probability be at the forward positions and O'Brien and Norman may start at guards. The Empire State outfit has an enviable reputation in its neighborhood. Last year Canner's basket from the floor in the last few seconds of play won the game for the Blue and Gold.

TRUSTEES DECLINE.

inhibited as long as the system of compulsory exercises endures (vide "Facts for the Alumni of Trinity College" by Sydney G. Fisher, '79, hereinafter appended); in that it is not in keeping with the spirit of the Charter of Washington, now Trinity College: " * * * Trustees empowered to make laws and by-laws * * * provided always that such ordinances or by-laws shall not make the religious tenets of any person a condition of admission to any privilege in the said college, and that no President, or Professor or other officer shall be made ineligible for or by reason of any religious tenet that he may profess, or be compelled, by any by-law or otherwise to subscribe to any religious test whatsoever * * *";

Contrary to the best interests of the Christian religion, in that it—compulsion—has a tendency to deaden and ultimately destroy whatever religious enthusiasm and fervor may already be present in the individual undergraduate; in that it assumes that compulsion is necessary to the survival of Christianity among college men; in that it is not in accordance with the spirit of Christ's teachings;

We, representing with but eight exceptions the entire undergraduate body and believing said undergraduate body to be past that adolescent period when compulsion is necessary in religious matters, do, therefore, respectfully request that direct action be taken for the immediate abolition of any system whereby an undergraduate is compelled to attend any religious exercises whatsoever as a condition for his retaining his status as a student at Trinity College.
