ATHENAEUM SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

Robert A. Buell Made Honorary Member—Plans Discussed for Debates

The Athenaeum Society held its annual banquet recently at the Hotel Heublein. President Rex J. Howard was toastmaster and Dean Hood, Dr. Motten and Mr. Robert A. Buell of Hartford were the speakers of the evening. During the festivities Mr. Buell was made an honorary member of the society. Plans were made for reviving intercollegiate debates at Trinity and a debating squad was elected to hold trial debates next fall. The men chosen were Rex Howard, Jack Sharkey and Frederick Senf, first team; and Robert Lau, James Grant and Charles Sutherland, second team.

At the last business meeting officers of the society were elected for the next term. Rex Howard of West Hartford was re-elected president; Edward Sivaslian of Albany, N. Y., was made vice-president; James Grant of Springfield, Mass., was named secretary; Frederick Senf of New Britain, treasurer; and Charles Sutherland of Waterbury, Conn., librarian.

RIGHT REVEREND PERRY TO PRESIDE AT CHAPEL CONSECRATION SERVICE

To be Assisted by Nine Bishops in Exercises—to Preach Sunday Morning

ATTENDANCE LIMITED

Ernest B. Gammons to Play Carillon Four Times During Week-end

At the consecration exercises of the new chapel to be held on Saturday morning, June 18, the Right Reverend James DeWolf Perry, D.D., of Rhode Island, Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, will preside. He will also be present for the Commencement exercises. Bishop Perry will be assisted in the consecration exercises by nine other bishops, eight of whom hold degrees from Trinity College. The oldest living Trinity bishop, Bishop Cheshire of the Class of 1869, will be present with the youngest Trinity bishop, Bishop Bartlett of North Dakota, of the Class of 1904.

Due to the limited accommodations of the new chapel only alumni, workmen on the chapel, and undergraduates remaining at college will be admitted to the actual consecration. There will also be a few specially invited guests.

On the day following consecration, June 18, four separate services have been arranged so that friends of the college, and the families of the graduates and undergraduates may have an opportunity to worship in the chapel. At the morning service, at 11 o'clock, Bishop Perry, Presiding Bishop, will preach. In the evening assembly, at 8 o'clock, Bishop Bartlett will preach the Baccalaureate Sermon for the Senior Class.

BLUE AND GOLD DEFEATS WESLEYAN IN SLOW GAME

Houlihan Pitches Well in Second Mound Appearance of Season

The Trinity baseball team made a clean sweep of its series with Wesleyan, winning the second game, played at Middletown on Wednesday, May 25, by the decisive score of 12 to 6. Behind the steady pitching of Houlihan, the Blue and Gold collected sixteen hits and displayed a fine exhibition of defensive work. Wiggers, who went the route for the Cardinal and Black in the first game which Trinity won 7 to 1, was knocked out of the box in the first inning by a five run attack. Woodbridge, a southpaw, replaced him and fared only a little better, although he managed to last the game. He was reached for scores in all innings but the second, fourth and ninth, while his teammates showed erratic form both afield and at bat.

The first inning resembled a practice batting session. Trinity gathered six hits, and every man on the team received a chance before it was over. After Bell had connected for a double which, incidentally, was the only extra-base hit of the game, Woodbridge took charge and succeeded in temporarily checking the barrage. His success was short-lived, however, for in the third Bockwinkel was hit by a wild pitch, advanced to second on Bell's out, and came home on Kelly's single.

Again in the fifth inning Bell scored on hits by Vannie and Phippen. In the sixth two Wesleyan errors and a

NORTHWESTERN U. TO HONOR PROF. SHEPARD

To be Awarded Honorary Degree of Doctor of Letters at Commencement

Northwestern University will grant an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters to Professor Odell Shepard of this college on June 13 at its Commencement exercises.

Professor Shepard, who has been the Goodwin Professor of English here since 1917, attended Northwestern for two years, graduating from the University of Chicago. He is an accomplished organist, having held positions in several middle western churches.

For a year, Professor Shepard held a position as reporter for the Chicago Tribune. Later he became professor of English at the University of Southern California, then instructor of English at Harvard, coming from there to Trinity. He is the author of several books and pamphlets.

On the same evening, June 13, he will read his Phi Beta Kappa poem, "The American Scholar", at the Chicago University.

Last Friday at 5 o'clock, Professor Shepard inaugurated a series of radio lectures sent from the Travelers station, WTIC. The purpose of his series is to set before the public during these times of stress, those works of American authors and poets which have come to be the literary foundations of our civilization.

T. TERTIUS NOBLE TO GIVE ORGAN RECITAL

Received Honorary Degree in Music at Trinity in 1926

The first organ recital to be played on the new organ will be given Saturday afternoon, June 18, by Dr. T. Tertius Noble, organist of St. Thomas Church, New York City. Dr. Noble received an honorary degree in music from Trinity College in 1926. The program of his recital is as follows:

1—Toccata and Fugue, in D Minor, Bach

One of the most dramatic of all Bach's organ works, it was written during his sojourn at Weimar, 1708-17. The toccata opens with stormy rushes of sound and is very free in design. The Fugue pursues its rolling and restless course up to almost the end, where a very fine interrupted cadence occurs immediately before the Coda with which the Fugue is brought to a close.

2—Sarabande, Bach

A splendid example of Bach's genius for writing a melody of great breadth and dignity. It is from the Sixth Sonata for Violincello, and is in the key of D major.

3—Fugue, in G minor, (Vol. IV. Peter's edition), Bach

This fugue is not so frequently played as the ever popular G minor in Vol. II. It is certainly a notable example of stern and dignified organ music.

CHAPEL SERVICE

The chapel service this morning was held as a tribute to the memory of Dr. and Mrs. Luther. Mrs. Luther died in Pasadena on Memorial Day evening. Dr. Luther was president of Trinity College from 1904 until 1919.

BLUE AND GOLD NINE RALLIES TO DEFEAT CONNECTICUT AGGIES

Trinity Team Hits Way to Victory Late in Close Memorial Day Contest

BOCKWINKEL STARS

First Baseman Makes Four Hits—Adams Hurls After Freak Fifth Inning

In one of the closest and most exciting games played this year, the Trinity baseball team came through with two runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Connecticut Aggies 9 to 8 at the local field on Memorial Day. The contest was marked by loose playing on the part of both teams, nine errors being committed at critical moments. The Blue and Gold used three pitchers, starting Henebry, who gave way to Houlihan in the fifth, and finishing up with Ray Adams. Calamari went the route for the Aggies, but was reached for eleven hits, while his teammates succeeded in getting only six.

Connecticut started off with two runs in the first inning, but Trinity evened the count in the fourth, Bockwinkel led off with a single and scored on a triple by Adams, who came home on Bell's hit. Then in the fifth inning, which was the longest of the game, Henebry gave way to Houlihan after three runs had been scored. The latter proved wild, walking three men to force in another run, and Adams, yielding his post in right field to Armstrong, retired the next batter. The Blue and Gold came back to take the lead with a five run attack in their half of this big inning. Two errors, a passed ball by Allard, and

W. W. SISBOWER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF JESTERS

Professors Allen and Ullmer Made Honorary Members of Society

Two members of the faculty and seven undergraduates were made Senior Jesters recently, according to an announcement made by William Wallace Sisbower, president of the organization. At the same time Robert J. Lau was made business manager of the society, succeeding T. Robert Stumpf who has served in that capacity for two and one-half years, and William Ewing became assistant stage manager.

The faculty members elected were Professor Morse S. Allen of the English department, who has aided the dramatic group with assistance in picking the casts for its various productions; and Bernard Ullmer, instructor in German, who has aided the Jesters in all their productions this year as assistant coach.

Undergraduates made Senior Jesters were Harry J. Oxford of Port Chester, N. Y.; Nathaniel Clark of Boston; William S. Ewing, Jr., of Hartford; William H. Benjamin of Garrison - on - the - Hudson, N. Y.; Charles H. Smith of Haddonfield, N. J.; Robert M. Andrews, Jr., of Rahway, N. J.; and Robert J. Lau of Long Island City, N. Y.

In addition the following were elected Junior Jesters: Willard J. Haring of Beverley Hills, Calif.; Charles Sheafe of Boston; John F. Campbell of New York City; John Coleman of Hartford; William F. De-

TRINITY MEETS HARVARD HERE ON CLASS DAY

Adams, Phippen and Fontana in Farewell Appearance—Visitors Strong

Trinity will conclude its 1932 baseball campaign when it faces a good Harvard team at Trinity Field on Class Day, Saturday, June 18. This is the first time Harvard has appeared on the baseball schedule in recent years.

Ray Adams, ace Trinity twirler, will probably draw the pitching assignment against the Crimson. Adams, making his farewell appearance, will have to be at his best to quell the heavy hitting attack of the boys from Cambridge who have pounded out several high-score victories this year. Captain Henry Phippen, veteran receiver, and Joe Fontana, slugging third-sacker, will also be donning Blue and Gold uniforms for the last time in this game. Along with Adams, Phippen and Fontana have been the mainstays of Trinity teams which have recorded many notable victories in the past three years. The rest of the Trinity line-up will remain intact with Bockwinkel, Elliot and Kelly rounding out the infield, and Vannie, Carey and Bell patrolling the outer gardens.

Harvard has had a better than average season on the diamond up to date and is expected to give Trinity plenty of trouble. They have scored decisive wins over Boston U., Syracuse, Maine, Vermont and Brown among others. Columbia and Pennsylvania, two of the best nines in the East, barely managed to beat the men from Cambridge.

The probable line-up for Harvard will see Sheldon at first base, Eddie Mays of football fame covering second, Thatcher at the hot corner, and Barry Wood, famous versatile athlete, at shortstop. In the outfield will be Captain Al Lupien, Ben McCaffrey and Ware. Lupien and McCaffrey are the leading hitters on the team. "Brick" Fincke will catch and Harold Taylor or Sprague pitch. There is, however, still an outside chance that Charley Devens, one of the outstand-

SIGMA NU WINS ANNUAL INTRAMURAL TRACK MEET

St. Anthony Takes Second Place with Delta Phi Third

The annual intra-mural track meet held on Tuesday and Thursday of last week was won by Sigma Nu fraternity with a total of 66 points. St. Anthony placed second with 45.5 points, while Delta Phi followed with 34 points, Alpha Delta Phi with 29 points, Alpha Chi Rho with 14 points, the Neutral "C" team with 7 points, Neutral Blue with 6.5 points, Neutral Golds with 6 points, and Delta Kappa Epsilon with 2 points. The first four teams, with a minimum of six contestants, scored an additional three points toward the Alumni Trophy.

Lucius Kellam was high point winner, winning 28 points. Bob Daut was second with 25 points, and Bill Warner third with 11 points. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to each of these men, respectively, at Commencement. W. Adams, Bill Carleton, and Rowan Alexander each scored 10 points. The times and distances of ten out of the fourteen events were bettered over last year's records.

Unforeseen circumstances have arisen which will not allow the publication of The Tablet in June, as was announced in the last issue of The Tripod.

Because of this, and also the fact that many events are taking place on the campus that are worthy of record, this issue and one during Commencement week-end will appear.

THESE CHAPEL TALKERS

Too often a collegiate editor is criticized for sticking too many irons in the editorial fire and getting no results on any. With this in mind, we venture the following as a suggestion worthy of consideration, not simply another iron just to fill space.

In 1881 The Tablet head-lined criticisms of compulsory chapel, and 1931 found the situation still of prime importance. To hope for complete abolition of compulsory chapel here is to butt our heads against the college charter. This year has been a comparatively quiet one in this matter. We are aware that individual cases have been strongly fought and with little head-way.

The theory of compulsory chapel is no worse than compulsory physical training. One insists on material exercise, the other on spiritual exercise. The difficulties, however, with the spiritual training administered here are dual—the hour of the dose, and the kind of dose.

There are doubtless many good reasons why chapel is held at eight in the morning, yet we are sure that a reversion to the old Trinity custom of holding chapel during the middle of the morning or even at noon would do much to make the dose less painful. The time of the dose is, however, not so important we feel as the kind of medicine offered to the patient.

We can find very little bitterness in the medicine offered by the first Christian Doctor. With this in mind every effort should be made to present an interesting and pleasant chapel service. Perhaps the first step would be to arrange a series of speakers for next year's chapel services which would be an attraction instead of a repulsion. We hasten to say that we have had a few fine speakers this year. Has the supply of competent speakers been exhausted? Speakers must be competent who would pretend to interest a collegiate audience—a critical body of listeners. A glance at the speakers listed at some of our New England colleges makes one wonder what is different about Trinity students that we should be so grossly neglected. We are not an unimportant college, and we are not five hundred miles from nowhere.

Interesting, capable speakers with varied leaders and readers might put this credit-for-attendance idea into the insignificant place it deserves. What we need next year is chapel "speakers", not chapel "talkers".

AUDITORIUM AND THEATER

With the dedication of the new chapel this June, many of the fittings of the old chapel will be removed and it will cease to exist as a place for spiritual gatherings. The question naturally arises, what is to be done with the old chapel? We can think of no more important college need at the moment than an auditorium.

We were tempted to say turn it into a theater, but the word auditorium is perhaps more aptly chosen, not because of the size of the place, for it is small, but rather because of the nature of the affairs we would have take place there.

It could be a combined theater, public speaking room and assembly hall, with only a few changes needed.

For years the Jesters have had no place for their activities. They have been forced to use the second floor of Alumni Hall in competition with the basketball teams. They have had to erect a temporary, creaky stage for each production and have never had the advantage of many rehearsals on their own stage. With a stage constructed at the south end of the old chapel, the Jesters could increase the number of their productions along little theater lines to the great advantage of the students. The organ could be left where it is, a valuable asset to any little theater. The present seats could be removed, the various levels left and movable seats installed, producing an original and attractive arrangement.

Such alterations would make the place adapted to classes in public speaking with the advantages of platform work and reason-

ORGAN RECITAL.

4—Chant Triste,..... Bonnet
Bonnet, organist at St. Eustache, Paris, is well known not only as a composer, but as a fine recitalist.
5—Choral Prelude, "St. Kilda", Noble
The tune, "St. Kilda", by William Bloomfield (1826-1888) is a splendid example of what a hymn tune should be. In this number, the first half of the tune is given out on the pedals, with strong, detached chords for the hands. Following this, the tune is used as a melody, with a rippling accompaniment. Then the second part of the melody is given out on the pedals, and again repeated with the rippling accompaniment. From here the piece is developed at considerable length, the composer making frequent use of the main theme, with the final announcement on the full pedal organ, with rugged harmonic progressions for the manuals.

6—Solemn Prelude,..... Noble
This prelude, which has become a great favorite with recitalists, was written at York when the composer was organist at York Minster. The piece displays to the full all the orchestral color of a modern organ. The work is developed on a short phrase, afterwards fully harmonized

INTER COLLEGIA

For the benefit of those interested in Intercollegiate News, The Tripod has made arrangements with the librarian to place the most recent issues of Collegiate Exchanges on the first reading table in the library. Some thirty schools send us their publications, which will be changed weekly as each issue arrives.

The faculty of Brown University seems to have been in an abolishing mood lately. According to a recent issue of the Brown University News, all fraternities have been abolished there.

"For many years," said the Dean, "we of the Faculty have been aware that fraternities have outlived their usefulness."

In the same issue was an article stating that all semester examinations are to be abolished. "Students will be given one final and an all inclusive examination at the end of their four years' work."

The Wesleyan Argus report of the the Trinity-Wesleyan game contained the following: "The Trinity board of strategy upset the dope yesterday and sent Henebry to the mound against the Cardinal ball team instead of the redoubtable Ray Adams; but Henebry was a worthy substitute."

"According to the records of the Boston police department, co-eds at B.U. cause twice as much trouble as the men students," says the Boston University News.

At Allegheny College two co-eds were punished for walking to and from church with male students.

"Muhlenburg College in Pennsylvania is to receive more publicity through drives." Several Muhlenburg men are giving talks and programs in prep schools "for the purpose of bringing 'Berg to the attention of men graduating in June."

"The University of Rochester has decided that it is better for students to sleep in their own rooms rather than in the classrooms. Hence all 8 o'clock classes have been abolished."

able voice training. A further advantage would result in having a place for public addresses. The Union is not suited for such affairs, and the new dining hall while exceptionally beautiful is, no matter how you look at it, a dining hall and not a place for political dissertations. It would be a fine thing if speeches of a political and educational nature could be heard in a place like the remodeled chapel instead of being forced into the new chapel or even into the Union.

The Jesters have already filed a petition asking for the renovation of the old chapel into a kind of theater. The other activities already named could easily use the same place without further changes. The old chapel could be put to no better use than as an auditorium.

and culminating in a tremendous climax. After varied treatment of the principal theme this work ends in a very peaceful manner.

7—Choral Prelude, Brahms
"O How Blessed, Faithful Spirits, Are Ye."
"A Rose Breaks Into Bloom."
Brahms wrote these beautiful choral preludes in 1896, the year before his death. They were not published until 1902. The two played this evening are veritable gems, both being quiet and soulful.

8—Walter's Prize Song, "Meister-singer", Wagner
A superb example of Wagner's genius as a creator of great melodic writing. This is one of the most passionate and appealing tunes ever written, and never fails to hold the attention of its listeners. The accompaniment, with its fine harmonic and contrapuntal freedom is the work of a true and colossal genius.

9—Lento, Reinecke
The Lento is the introduction to act 5 of the opera Manfred, a beautiful composition, very quiet and peaceful in character.

10—Toccatina, Yon
This piece is from the "Twelve Divertimenti" by Pietro A. Yon, the eminent composer and organist. A brilliant number, with continuous movement from start to finish, it is played on a single stop on the swell manual, with a light pedal of sixteen foot tone.

11—Sonata, in C minor (Adagio and Fugue), Roubke
This remarkable composition, written in his youth, (for Roubke died at the age of 24), is one of the greatest of modern times. The main theme, used throughout the Sonata, is startling in its daring originality. The slow movement is rich in unusual harmonies.

like number of hits gave the Blue and Gold three more runs. Woodbridge could no longer hold back the Trinity batters, who closed a successful day with two runs in the eighth, scored by Bell and Houlihan. Vannie and Bockwinkel led the assault with three hits apiece, while four members of the team were credited with two each. Houlihan, who was walked three times by Woodbridge, recorded six strikeouts and walked three men, while the two Cardinal pitchers fanned five between them and gave out a similar number of passes.

At no time in the game did Wesleyan threaten to take the lead. Their runs were scored in pairs in the third, sixth and ninth innings. In the last frame, four substitutions were made, and these new men actually seemed to perform better than the regulars, for while they were on the field Trinity did not score and Wesleyan tallied twice. What might have been an even greater rally was ended by a fast double play from Kelly to Elliott to Bockwinkel, a combination which has hits by Vannie, Fontana and Bockwinkel accounted for the scores, but two of which were earned.

The Trinity supporters were kept in greater suspense when Tourville scored in the sixth frame to tie the score. Then in the eighth the Aggies took the lead again when Cummings, to all appearances, had been tagged out at the plate by Phippen. It turned out, however, that the Blue and Gold catcher, in his anxiety to check the runner stealing home, had stepped out of his box before the ball had crossed the plate, thus interfering with the batter, and the run was allowed on those grounds.

In the last half of the ninth Trinity came to bat with the score 8 to 7 against them. Phippen reached first on an error by Allard, the Aggies' catcher, who made a wide throw to first base. Fontana then laid down a perfect sacrifice, advancing Phippen to second. The tying runs was scored the next moment when Bockwinkel, making his fourth hit of the day, singled through the second baseman. Adams followed with another single, and then Bell rapped out a sharp grounder which eluded Cummings to let in the winning run and make the final score, 9 to 8.

DO YOU INHALE?

Is this question too revealing for other cigarettes?

WE do not criticize others. We merely call your attention to the fact that the vital subject of inhaling has been generally avoided in cigarette advertising.

Why? What's there to be afraid of? Everybody inhales! Seven out of ten smokers inhale knowingly—the other three do so without realizing it. From your side—you want to be sure that the smoke you breathe in is pure and clean—free from certain impurities.

But from the manufacturer's side—he should be sure of giving you this protection. And if he is sure—he need not worry about the question: "Do you inhale?"

Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

STRONG WILLIAMS' TEAM WINS TENNIS MEET

Last Wednesday a powerful Williams' tennis team led by Horton, New England Intercollegiate champion, easily took the measure of the Trinity netmen at Williamstown. The final margin of victory was 8 matches to 1 in favor of the Purple. Mowbray, Blue and Gold third singles player, saved Trinity from a shut-out defeat by winning his match.
