

SIGMA NUS WIN TROPHY FOR HIGH SCHOLARSHIP

Presentation Made After Dinner Held in Commons—Guests and Students Attend

LARGE MARGIN

Alpha Chi Rho is Second with Alpha Tau Kappa Holding Third Place

At a dinner held last evening, November 1, in the Commons, the Scholarship Cup was presented to the Sigma Nu Fraternity, the group having the highest percentage of A's and B's for the school year 1931-32.

In past years the cup has been presented at a college body meeting, but a change was made this year in order that the presentation might be a more dignified proceeding. The dinner was attended by members of the Medusa and the Senate, Headmasters of neighboring Preparatory Schools, and a number of undergraduates. Dr. Mather Abbot, who makes the Matriculation Service Address today, also attended.

The standings which follow are divided into two groups, highest percentage of A's and B's, and lowest percentage of failures.

Highest % of A's and B's: Fraternity:

49.76.....	Sigma Nu
35.76.....	Alpha Chi Rho
33.96.....	Alpha Tau Kappa
33.54.....	Alpha Delta Phi
31.10.....	Delta Phi
25.00.....	Psi Upsilon
19.66.....	Delta Psi
12.96.....	Delta Kappa Epsilon

Lowest % of Failures: Fraternity:

3.83.....	Sigma Nu
5.96.....	Alpha Chi Rho
7.41.....	Delta Kappa Epsilon
7.55.....	Alpha Tau Kappa
10.98.....	Delta Phi
11.67.....	Psi Upsilon
12.03.....	Alpha Delta Phi
13.68.....	Delta Psi

All Fraternities:

A's and B's.....	32.13
Failures	8.89

Neutral Body:

A's and B's.....	44.56
Failures	7.64

SENATE MEETING HELD

The fourth meeting of the Senate was held in the lounge of Cook Hall on Monday, October 24, 1932, at 7.30 o'clock. Those present were Edward S. Paige, Winston Hall, Thad Jones, Jack Leo, J. Jack Sharkey, James Henderson, Edward Sivasian and Jack Cotter. B. H. Perry, manager of the College Union, was also present. The meeting was short and the problems taken into consideration were concerned with the Union equipment and the financial report on the 1933 "Ivy."

The Senate agreed to the expenditure of $18 for a set of billiard balls in the Union, but disapproved of spending $6 for stabilizing the ping-pong table. Discussion followed on the advisability of having the bookstore run by the Union. Books could

TRIAL SPEECHES GIVEN BY ATHENAEUM CANDIDATES

Tall Stories of Paul Bunyan are Main Attraction of Meeting

The Athenaeum Society held its regular meeting on the evening of October 24, in the English I room. The literary exercises of the evening consisted of a humorous reading given by the students who are competing for admittance to the society.

The topics of Mr. Howard's reading was Paul Bunyan, the mythical hero of lumber camps. The many stories written about Paul are considered by a great number of people to be the only real myths in the United States. Had Mr. Lowell Thomas heard the tales of Paul, the man who dug the Great Lakes, of Babe, Paul's ox, who ate cookstoves and drank rivers dry, and of Lucy, Paul's cow, who ate pine trees and gave milk so strong that the men were forced to use it as a cough syrup, he certainly would have made Mr. Howard an honorary member of the Tall Story Club.

Speeches made by new men, ranging from women to war, were all well received and indeed make the outlook for the society quite promising.

The men admitted to Athenaeum, as mentioned in the last issue of the "Tripod" were Messrs. Davis, Hoehling and Heinsen.

The meeting of October 31 will be marked by more three-minute speeches, to be given by Mr. Carberry and Mr. Sisbower. In addition to the three-minute speeches to be given by applicants for admission on October 31, others will be on the leading political parties of the day. Mr. R. Lau will discuss the policies of the Democratic Party, Mr. E. Stewart those of the Republican Party, and Mr. C. Sutherland those of the Radical parties.

COAST GUARD HARRIERS DEFEAT BLUE AND GOLD

Uphill Course and Muddy Ground Exhaust Trinity Runners Before Finish

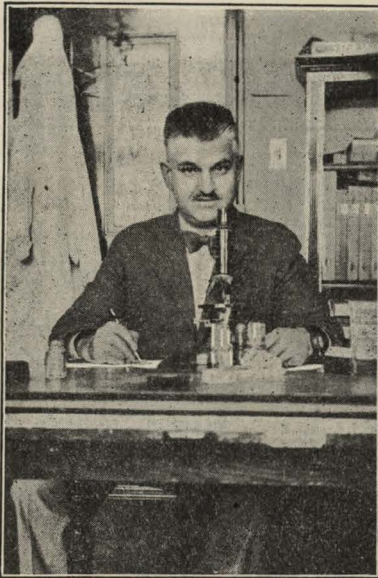

The Coast Guard Academy cross-country team defeated the Trinity harriers on October 29 by a score of 21 to 34. The race took place during the dedication of the new Jones Stadium, given by the parents of Henry Lloyd Jones, a graduate of the Academy, who was lost at sea in 1927.

The course is about two and one-quarter miles long, and the winning time was eleven minutes and ten seconds. The men ran a quarter-mile on the cinder track, then along level paved road and up a long, steep hill. They continued on level ground and then down a hill and on the track for a last lap.

The race started off rapidly, and several Trinity men kept up with the leaders until they reached the hill, where they were forced to drop back. In many places the running was hampered by mud, and the paved streets were especially difficult for those who wore the regular spiked track shoes. At the end of the run, because of the unusual difficulties, many had exhausted the reserve energy necessary for the final sprint. Trinity men came in the following order: Woodbury, Gladwin, Birch, Leavitt and Buckley.

The cross-country squad is coached by Professor Ray Oosting, and although not a recognized sport, is valued

DIET AFFECTS HABITS

Various Spectrums Also Regulate Activity of Starlings, Subject to Experiments

Professor Thomas H. Bissonnette, of the Trinity College Biology Department, a well-known authority on bird and animal life, has been working for several years in conjunction with several other professors on the subject of the effect of light on the sexual cycles of birds and animals. During Dr. Bissonnette's sabbatical leave last year he continued his experiments and research.

Ever since 1926 the question of the influence of the variations of light exposure upon sexual cycles and breeding cycles in birds, especially the starling, has been the subject of extensive research here in Hartford. Previous to last summer Professor Bissonnette and his co-worker, Mr. Morton H. Chapnick (Trinity 1927, Master's Degree 1928), had published four papers, three of them in the "American Journal of Anatomy" and one in the "Journal of Experimental Zoology" (Vol. 58). These papers dealt with the normal sexual cycle in male starlings as shown by a study of birds caught at random during two-week intervals from November to May, and from May to November, and with the changes in the natural cycle brought about by the daily period of exposure of the birds to light. This was done by illuminating their cages by day

"IVY" PICTURES

On Thursday and Friday, November 3 and 4, the pictures of the junior class and of those seniors, who were omitted from last year's "Ivy," will be taken in the "Tripod" Room opposite the Union.

Various times have been assigned to each man. His cooperation with the photographer and the Business Manager of the 1934 "Ivy" will be deeply appreciated. If any man, who entered Trinity in the fall of 1929 or 1930, has not had his picture in the last "Ivy" and has been omitted from the list posted on the Bulletin Board, please let him notify Andrew Onderdonk.

BLUE AND GOLD TO MEET AMHERST HERE

Lord Jeffs Will Bring Strong Team for Annual Clash

The Trinity gridsters will close their 1932 campaign this coming Saturday when they face another old rival, Amherst, at Trinity Field. It will mark the 36th annual clash of a series that was started back in 1886. Last year Amherst gave a battered and tired Blue and Gold team a bad beating, also in the final contest of the season.

The Lord Jeffs have had a more successful season thus far than Trinity. Victories have been scored at the expense of Union, Colby, and Wesleyan. Only two defeats mar their record and both of these were administered by teams of better than average calibre, namely, Princeton, and Mass. State. Captain Cadigan, Warner, Homer, and Murphy are the outstanding players in the lineup in this year's play.

Although Trinity lost to both Wesleyan and Colby, who were in turn beaten by the Sabrinas, the Blue and Gold are expected to put up an even harder fight than they did before the Cardinals last week, in a final effort to earn an even break in games won and lost this season. The contest will also bring down the curtain on the careers of four Trinity regulars, Captain Campion, Breck Armstrong, Lew Wadlow, and Ed Coyle.

The starting line-up for Trinity will probably be L. Wadlow and Fritzon on the wings, Haring and Hanaghan at the tackles, Captain Campion and Kingston at guards, and Maher at the pivot post. Behind the line, Gallaway will call the signals, with Armstrong and Sampers serving at the halfback positions, and Brewer at fullback.

APPOINTMENTS MADE TO BOARD OF 1934 "IVY"

Sixteen Selected for Editorial and Business Staffs by Haring, Onderdonk

Announcement was made recently of the appointments to the board of the 1934 issue of the "Ivy." Willard J. Haring, editor-in-chief, selected the Editorial Staff, and Andrew Onderdonk, business manager, chose the members of the Business Staff.

Those men appointed to the Editorial Board include: H. R. Bayley, Jr., of Alpha Delta Phi, R. J. Howard of the Neutral Body, E. G. Gallaway of Psi Upsilon, C. A. Tucker of Alpha Chi Rho, R. M. Andrews, Jr., of Delta Phi, A. E. J. Holland of Delta Psi, G. A. Day of Sigma Nu, and G. H. Uhlig of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

The Business Board will consist of J. D. Gay of Delta Psi, R. L. Thomas of Sigma Nu, R. H. Daut of Delta Phi, S. E. Smith of Alpha Chi Rho, A. Shaw of Psi Upsilon, R. E. Schultze of Delta Kappa Epsilon, J. E. Baldwin of Alpha Delta Phi, and C. O. Bierkan of Alpha Tau Kappa.

It is planned to have a meeting this week to enable an early start in soliciting advertisements.

Plans for the design of the book are still undecided. At present the subject is under consideration by the Senate. In view of the fact that the "Ivy" last year had a deficit, the Senate plans to keep in closer touch with the new board.

LAST PERIOD DRIVE BEATS TRINITY TEAM

Wesleyan Rallies to Win 7 to 0 After Trinity has Ball on One-Foot Line

SCHLUMS' POINTS WIN

Maher, Eigenbauer and Fritzon Star as Blue and Gold Shows Stubborn Defense

A concerted drive early in the final quarter, climaxed by Schlums' line plunge for the touchdown and his successful try for the point, gave Wesleyan another victory over Trinity last Saturday at Trinity Field in the annual battle between the two arch-rivals. It was only after a bitter struggle that the Cardinal and Black eleven finally emerged victorious. On two occasions the light but aggressive Blue and Gold line held gallantly with Wesleyan only inches from the goal. Late in the third period, Trinity started a march down the field which was stopped only when they lost the ball on downs one foot from the last stripe. Maher, sophomore center, performed brilliantly on the defense and time and again spiked the knife-like thrusts of the much-heralded Schlums. Eigenbauer and Fritzon, wingmen, and Armstrong and Brewer, backs, excelled for Trinity on both offense and defense. The hard-running Schlums, ably backed by Terrell, a fine open-field runner, led the Middletowners' attack.

First Quarter.

Almost at the outset Wesleyan threatened. A heavy penalty for roughing placed the ball on the Trinity five-yard marker and in two plays Schlums had battered his way to the one-yard stripe. Here Trinity made her initial goal line stand and recovered the ball on downs. Armstrong then punted out of danger. Once Trinity got into enemy territory. A poor punt by Schlums rolled out on the Trinity 40-yard line. Alexander plunged off tackle for eight yards and Armstrong knifed through guard for a first down on the Wesleyan 48-yard line. Frost knocked down a Trinity lateral and recovered for Wesleyan on Trinity's 35-yard line. Schlums hit through center for five yards. Terrell broke loose for a 40-yard run, giving his team a first down on the Trinity 20-yard stripe. Houseley made two yards on a line buck and then tried a drop-kick for a field goal, which went awry. A little later Terrell shook off his tacklers and got away for a 27-yard jaunt, but the period ended with Trinity in possession of the ball.

YEARLINGS DEFEATED

Trinity Freshmen, handicapped by injuries and outweighed by their opponents, lost the last game on their schedule to Wesleyan Frosh last Friday at Middletown, by a score of 34 to 0. The Crimson team marched from their forty-five yard line to Trinity's three-yard line in the opening minutes of the game, where they were held for several downs by a plucky stand on the part of the Blue and Gold yearlings. They scored in the first period, but failed to make their point after touchdown. Wesleyan scored in each of the periods with strong opposition offered by Trinity.

Grenat, Geere and Sinclair, the acting captain, starred in Trinity's backfield, while Winans made some tackles from his position at end. Burton, at

IT'S YOUR GAME — HERE'S ONE PASS

Football men love the game. They play it for its own sake. They play for their Alma Mater, not a reward. They do it for the honor!

Such are the tongue-in-the-cheek excuses offered by the men who give out single passes to the football men for home games. We realize that the players who came up here the first part of last September did not expect that they would be paid. They would resent pay for services rendered, but they would not resent the opportunity of having their parents or friends attend their games.

As thanks for their daily work-out and unstinted efforts, they were each given one pass for the big game of the season with Wesleyan last Saturday. They will probably be offered one pass for this coming Saturday's game with Amherst. It is no surprise that the football men want at least two passes for the games they are making possible.

To give each man only one pass is foolishness. He has two parents; his girl-friend needs an escort; his sister must be accompanied, and his brother is no hermit. Two passes is the only really acceptable minimum. It is murmured that the gate receipts will be reduced, for those who use passes would otherwise pay $2.20. Our field is big, the air is free, numbers are needed and if we run out of seats who minds standing when there is a football game going on?

We feel certain that the athletic authorities are tearing their hair at this proposed loss of gate receipts—receipts which they would not have unless our players were generous. The same men are also probably mumbling something about "honor." One version of honor is that it is a kind of mallet which is used to hit somebody on the head when you want him to do something for nothing. Our men are not paid. They are awarded letters which would not bear close scrutiny (some colleges even give sweaters with letters). The least we can do is give them passes which do not need several dollars added to them to make them useful.

LET US NOT DOZE OFF

The prodigious amount of pep and enthusiasm which Trinity fans demonstrated at last Saturday's Wesleyan game was a distinctly pleasurable shock to many persons who had attended Wesleyan or other games in the past. The air was perfect for football, the bells rang out in glee, the stands were full, there was a line of two-dollar-and-twenty-centers at the gate to brighten somebody's heart, the Legion Band was a welcome innovation, the rooster appeared for the first time in perhaps five years, the team was on its toes, Wesleyan was surprised and the stands went wild. What matters the final score? It was our day!

Not in many years has such tremendous excitement been shown before, during and after an athletic event. Many feared that Trinity men had, for years, been either dozing, asleep or simply sophisticated—conditions not conducive to loud cheering. The pep-meeting on Friday was an excellent send-off for the week-end.

At the game, the stands wanted to cheer and they did, with a leader or without. Perhaps the cheerleaders should station themselves out in front and watch with alertness for every opportunity to send a yell across the field. They should immediately cheer substitutions and time the cheers to suit the tendencies of the crowd. There is little to be gained in trying to slow down a wildly-cheering mob. One who tries to stop a train is crushed.

We have but one more football game. We will show even more enthusiasm this Saturday. Let the season be followed with several cheering practices, so that when we get our crowd in the Hopkins Gymnasium for the basketball games, we will ring out cheers and songs in a way which will show our opponents we are living Trinity men not sophisticated clams. We have made the start. We have opened our mouths and cheered. Let us not doze off now, when prosperity in cheering is here, not around the corner.

MATRICULATION SERVICE HELD THIS MORNING

Headmaster of Lawrenceville School Gives Annual Address to New Students

The annual Matriculation service at Trinity College was held this morning at half-past eight in the College Chapel. The first part of the service was as usual in the nature of a tribute to the founders of the College, and especially to the Trinity men who have died during the past year. There were twenty-eight names on the roll of the honored dead read by the President, five of whom were men who have received honorary degrees from the College. The following is the list, with their class or the date on which they received their degree.

Those Who Have Died Since All Saints' Day, 1931.

- 1870—James Robert Fuller, Delta Psi.
 - 1872—Horace Russell Chase, Psi Upsilon.
 - 1881—Simeon Lord Gilbertson.
 - 1881—Frank Ebenezer Miller.
 - 1882—Augustus Phillips Burgwin, Psi Upsilon.
 - 1887—Charles Ephraim Deuel, DKE.
 - 1888—William Festus Morgan, Alpha Delta Phi.
 - 1890—John Stockton Littell, Alpha Delta Phi.
 - 1892—Gordon Hall, DKE.
 - 1892—Romilly Francis Humphries.
 - 1895—Ellis Bedell Dean, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
 - 1894—Myron Potter Robinson.
 - 1895—Edward Myron Yeomans.
 - 1896—Mark Miller Sibley, Delta Psi.
 - 1897—Hermann Von Wechlinger Schulte, Delta Psi.
 - 1899—Emmett Addis, Alpha Chi Rho.
 - 1900—Alexander Arnott, Alpha Chi Rho.
 - 1914—John Jay Whitehead, Delta Psi.
 - 1923—Julius Jacob Nirenstein.
 - 1929—Henry Greenbaum.
 - 1935—Sotero Walwal.
 - 1935—Worthington Griswold Fletcher, DKE.
 - 1935—Peter William Fuller, Delta Psi.
- Honorarii.
- 1881—Allen Everett Beeman.
 - 1915—Marcus Hensley Holcomb.
 - 1921—William Barclay Parsons.
 - 1924—Burton Mansfield.
 - 1929—George Payne McLean.

After due honor had been paid to the men of the past the focus of attention was the new students who were all sitting together in the body of the Chapel. The Matriculation address was given by Mather Abbott, Headmaster of Lawrenceville School, Lawrenceville, New Jersey. At the close of the address the new students all stood and answered to the Matriculation Pledge read to them by the Secretary of the Faculty.

Following the service, the new students all signed their names in the Matriculation Book.

THE RED CROSS—JOIN!

In the colleges of the country the Red Cross looks for its trained leadership. The real importance of enrolling college students as members is not merely to obtain memberships from among a particular group but to spread a knowledge of the aims and objects of the Red Cross and to arouse the lasting interest of the young men who are soon to become actors in the public life of their communities.

As readers of news events, college students know that the Red Cross has been active everywhere in the past year in promoting its general peace-time activities and especially in relief work. Nor should one lose sight of the steady service given by the Red Cross in other lines. Among these services is the teaching of first aid and life-saving, which has been given at many colleges over the country as supplemental to athletic work.

Let it be remembered that the Red Cross annual Roll-Call opens on Armistice Day, November 11, and ends on Thanksgiving Day, November 24.

COMMUNICATION

October 30, 1932.

To the Editor:

And here is the latest example of the fine consideration shown the students at Trinity by the administration.

Last Saturday night (yesterday) at Commons I saw one of the waiters stop at a table and say to a student, "Don't think I am telling you what to do, or anything, but Mr. So-and-so who has charge of this place told me to speak to you. You're not supposed to wear sweaters here at night; so after this will you wear a jacket?"

Of course, the student was very much embarrassed, also annoyed. I expected to see him hit the waiter, or something. However, he said it was all right, and finished his meal. At the time there were two other men in the room wearing sweaters.

Later I mentioned the incident to him and here is the story: Smith is a new student, but not a Freshman, and a bit older than most of our students. He is a gentleman in every way and at first was greatly surprised at seeing students coming to dinner in sweaters. He soon got use to it, however, and lately has occasionally done the same thing himself. Now he has been needlessly humiliated.

Would it not have been possible, five or six weeks ago to have made it understood by announcement or by a note on the menu that "students were requested to wear jackets to dinner?" To my mind, making a personal thing of it at this late day is even worse than the Sophomores trying to put caps on the Freshmen two weeks after college opened.

Smith calls it an impertinence, not on the part of the waiter, but on the part of the person who gave him his orders, and I think he is right. How about you?

P. I. X.

INTER COLLEGIA

Future classes in English may expect to hear themselves in the talkies, according to George B. Franklin, professor of English, at C. B. A., Boston University. Recent projects and experiments will soon bring them into use in the classroom and in this way the student may study himself objectively, just as he appears to others.

The Little Three presidential poll, conducted by Amherst, Wesleyan and Williams, places Hoover far in the lead, but gives Thomas preference over Roosevelt.

"The Grand Hotel" is the name given to a dormitory at Santa Clara University.

At the University of Wisconsin there are three athletes who are captains of teams no longer in existence. They were chosen before there was a reduction in the athletic budget, placing tennis, hockey and wrestling on an intramural basis.

None of the one hundred students at William and Mary last year who studied Czecho-slavakian flunked the course.

A poll on leading magazines was conducted at one of Bowdoin's fraternities. Unpopular ones received checks, favorites were left unmarked. The results were as follows, these five being at the top: "Vanity Fair" (no checks), "New Yorker" (one check), "Judge" (two), "Time" (four), "Readers' Digest" (six).

In the curriculum of the University of Nebraska there is reported to be a course at the disposal of men students on the selection of clothing. It includes instructions concerning the proper sort of clothing, suggestions on colors and patterns and how to determine good material.

BISSONNETTE ON BIRDS.

light during the day and by electric light for periods at night reaching six or seven hours during the winter periods and by shortening the periods of daily exposure to light in spring when the normal breeding season occurs. In both cases groups of birds receiving the normal daily periods of illumination were kept as controls, and studied in comparison with experimental birds. These studies had shown that on a normal mixed diet it is possible to modify the sexual activity of these birds at will by changing the daily period of exposure to light either to greater or less extent, no matter what the difference in temperature may be between that of winter and summer in this locality. This means that if food, temperature and other weather conditions remain similar in two sets of birds, the sexual activity of the one group compared with the other depends on whether those groups are receiving increasing or decreasing amounts of illumination per day. In the past year Professor Bissonnette has published seven papers dealing with a further analysis of this interesting phenomenon in birds and in mammals, particularly the ferret, a carnivorous animal used in England to drive rabbits and rats from their holes in hunting or in exterminating these pests. Professors Bissonnette and Wadlund have published a joint paper on effects of changes in the light exposure of starlings and have two in process of printing at the present time. In general these studies, and the papers based on them, deal with the changes in the sexual cycle dependent upon changes in intensity, in wave length and the color of lights used and also upon the length of the periods during which they are used. One of the most interesting facts brought out by these studies is the very limited region of spectrum which is most effective in increasing sexual activity in the birds. Red light of comparatively long wave length stimulates sexual activity, while green light of the same intensity does not stimulate at all, but rather tends to reduce sexual activity. The studies on ferrets, so far carried out, show that in these mammals, as in birds, the period of sexual activity from March to August, can be changed to the winter season—November, January and February—by prolonging daily exposure to light, as was done in the birds, in spite of low winter temperatures. While the ferrets can be prevented from becoming sexually active even in their normal breeding period by shortening the daily periods.

WESLEYAN WINS.

Second Quarter.

Frequent Wesleyan passes were batted down by the alert Trinity secondary and Maher and Fritzson were continually breaking into the Cardinal backfield. Wesleyan finally punted and the Blue and Gold, with Armstrong and Brewer reeling off long gains, made three successive first downs, bringing the ball to Wesleyan's 25-yard line. The Wesleyan forward wall stiffened and they took the ball on downs. Fritzson, soon after, blocked Schlums' punt and Haring fell on the ball 20 yards from the Wesleyan goal. Brewer went five yards more and, for the second time in this period, the Blue and Gold was in a scoring position. Unable to gain through the line, Armstrong tried a pass, which was grounded in the end zone, costing Trinity the ball.

Third Quarter.

In the early part of the second half Trinity completely outplayed the Cardinal and Black. Armstrong, kicking beautifully, had much the better of his duel with Schlums. A 65-yard punt by Armstrong rolled 10 more yards and out of bounds on Wesleyan's one-yard line. Schlums kicked back to Armstrong who went to the 27-yard mark before he was downed. On a triple lateral Eigenbauer circled left end and sprinted 22 yards to the five-yard stripe. Line bucks by Sampers and Brewer failed and Wesleyan repulsed the rally less than a foot from her goal.

Fourth Quarter.

After being held in check virtually all afternoon, Wesleyan at last made her decisive bid for victory. A Trinity lateral was intercepted and Schlums punted out of bounds on the Trinity two-yard line. Armstrong, kicking from behind the line, booted the ball to the 32-yard marker. Terrell cracked guard for six yards. Houseley dove over guard for two additional yards. A Schlums' pass netted 11 yards and a first down. Houseley smashed his way through to the eight-yard line for another first down. Schlums then went over in four plays for the lone score of the game. He also converted the try for point and Wesleyan had a 7 to 0 margin. Aroused by their success, the Cardinals were soon marching down the field again. Schlums and Terrell, alternating in carrying the ball, advanced it to the one-yard line. Beaten, yet still game, a stubborn Blue and Gold line held for downs and Wesleyan was denied a second score. In possession, Trinity initiated a desperate rally. Armstrong faked a kick

After being held in check virtually all afternoon, Wesleyan at last made her decisive bid for victory. A Trinity lateral was intercepted and Schlums punted out of bounds on the Trinity two-yard line. Armstrong, picking from behind the line, booted the ball to the 32-yard marker. Terrell cracked guard for six yards. Houseley dove over guard for two additional yards. A Schlums' pass netted 11 yards and a first down. Houseley smashed his way through to the eight-yard line for another first down. Schlums then went over in four plays for the lone score of the game. He also converted the try for point and Wesleyan had a 7 to 0 margin. Aroused by their success, the Cardinals were soon marching down the field again. Schlums and Terrell, alternating in carrying the ball, advanced it to the one-yard line. Beaten, yet still game, a stubborn Blue and Gold line held for downs and Wesleyan was denied a second score. In possession, Trinity initiated a desperate rally. Armstrong faked a kick the college chapel. The artistic blend of the four voices produced an almost organ-like quality, despite the poor acoustics of the new chapel.

Of course, no program of Negro spirituals is complete without "Water Boy" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." "Water Boy" was the best-rendered number on the program as far as artistic execution goes. The very blend and swing of the singers' voices, coming from their innermost beings, seemed to cry out for the water boy as if they themselves were seeking him. This swinging quality beautifully interprets the swishing of the water against the sides of the pail, and the swing of the pails themselves.

The rendition of "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" was perhaps the most enthusiastically received by all. Here again, the work of the bass was perfect. The pianissimos which the men so beautifully produced in this number were characteristically the work of the Hampton Quartette.

The entire recital was characterized by rolling crescendos, and the perfect rhythm that these men seem to possess. The audience was very appreciative of the good work done by the quartette, as was shown by the great applause which was acknowledged by an encore.

During a short pause between selections, a representative of the institute, Mr. Robert B. Pope, gave the audience a short summary of his experiences at Hampton and also his future aims.

The papers which Professor Bissonnette has published in the last year together with Professor Wadlund are as follows:

Two in the "Journal of Physiological Zoology" (Vols. 4 and 5).

One in the "Journal of Morphology and Physiology" (Vol. 52).

Two in "Science" (Vols. 75 and 76).

One in the "Proceedings of the Royal Society" (England, Series B, Vol. 11).

One in the Cambridge University Agricultural Society Magazine (Vol. 3, No. 3).

One in "Nature" (Vol. 129, for April, 1932).

The two which Professors Bissonnette and Wadlund have in press now, are to appear in the "Journal of Experimental Biology" (England) for October, and in "Birdbanding" (America) for January next.

then be sold below list price, and the margin of profit obtained would bring about a general reduction of all the prices in the Union. The need for more furniture in the Union will be debated next week.

It was specified that at the next meeting P. E. Coyle, manager of the 1933 "Ivy", should present the long-delayed report on the Annual's finances. Andrew Onderdonk and Willard Haring will also be present to give an estimation of the 1934 "Ivy."

The next meeting of the Senate will be held in the lounge of Cook Hall on Monday, October 31, 1932, at 7.30 o'clock.

What is Cross Blending?

an Artist might explain it this way...

"Let's say you're painting clouds. You've got your primary colors here on the palette. But you haven't the clouds until you blend certain colors into the special tone you want.

"This is very much what happens in making a good cigarette. And I gather that what Chesterfield means by Cross-Blending is what an artist does with colors. Their Domestic and Turkish tobaccos — many varieties of each—are the primary colors. They blend and cross-blend these tobaccos until they get the special tone they want—in other words, the Chesterfield flavor.

"And just as each color you use acts on the others to change and enrich them, so each Chesterfield tobacco partakes of the fine qualities of every other.

"You 'weld' different kinds to get a better kind. That's Cross-Blending!"
