TRINITY SOCCER TEAM UPSETS MASS. STATE, SCORING 3-1 TRIUMPH

Unknown Quantity Shows Power in First Clash—Second Loss in Two Years for M. S. C.

CHILDS EXCELS Turns Back Many Drives—Mowbray, Burnside, Warren Score for Blue and Gold

On Saturday, October 21, the Trinity soccer team journeyed to Amherst, Mass., where it administered a decisive 3 to 1 defeat to the strong Massachusetts State squad. Described as an "unknown quantity" in the Intercollegiate Daily News, the Blue and Gold booters scored a surprising upset over a team that has been defeated but once during the past two seasons.

The first score of the game came in the closing minutes of the first quarter, when Mowbray took a long pass from one of the wings to boot the ball past Norris. Again in the second period Burnside tallied for Trinity, scoring with a short kick. The work of Childs in the goal was outstanding, the Blue and Gold guardian making brilliant stops of what appeared to be certain scores.

Both teams slowed up in the third quarter, with neither side scoring, but early in the final period Warren sent a vicious drive into the M. S. C. nets. At this point the State players began to take the offensive, and in the midst of one of the many melees that took place in front of the Trinity goal, McGarvey accidentally deflected the ball past Childs to give M. S. C. its lone tally.

Childs, Liddell, Mowbray, and Warren were outstanding for the Blue and Gold, Liddell receiving an injury in the last quarter which forced him to yield his position to Stein. For Massachusetts State, Blackburn, Cowing, and Kozlowski starred. Over two hundred spectators attended the game.

The lineup was as follows:

Trinity	M. S. C.
Childs	G Norris
Warner	RB Sweinberger
Motten	LB Wood, R.
Varley	RH Talbot
McGarvey	CH Blackburn
Banks	LH Landsman
Liddell	OR MacKimmie
Warren	IR Hunter
Mowbray (Capt.)	C Jackson
Burnside	IL Kozlowski
Greenberg	OL Bernstein

Substitutions: Trinity — Jensen, O'Brien, Stein; Mass. State—Dobbie, Cowing (Capt.), George, Clark, Becker, Wood, Davidson. Scoring: for Trinity—Mowbray, Burnside, Warren; for M. S. C.—McGarvey. Referee: Day, M. S. C.

KENT HEAD TO LEAD SERVICE ON SUNDAY

On Sunday, October 29, Father Sill, headmaster of the Kent School, will preach at the morning chapel service. He will bring with him a group of his older boys to act as acolytes and servers, and the service will be conducted just as it is in the Kent chapel. After the service, the Kent students will be shown around the college and will dine in the Commons with a group of Kent alumni attending Trinity and living in Hartford.

1936 CHOOSES WILLIAMS SECRETARY-TREASURER

Re-election of Class Officers Confirms Previous Vote in Other Positions

Last Wednesday in the English room at one o'clock, a meeting of the sophomore class was held for the purpose of re-electing class officers. The meeting was called by the Senate as the result of a petition which was presented by Arthur V. Jensen, and which stated that the elections held last week were illegal on the following grounds: (1) The man who was elected Class Treasurer is a non-matriculated student, and is therefore ineligible to hold office. (2) The man who was elected Class Treasurer is a non-matriculated student, and therefore voted illegally on a question where one vote could affect the result. (3) There was no record kept of the proceedings, which is contrary to parliamentary law. (4) The chairman of the meeting voted on an open ballot, which is in direct violation of parliamentary law, which states that the chairman can vote only by closed ballot. (5) The chairman of the meeting did not give up the chair while being voted on, which is also contrary to parliamentary law.

The meeting was called to order by F. Scott, president of the class, who immediately turned the chair over to Kingston, president of the Senate. Kingston explained the reason for calling the meeting, and stated that one-third of the estimated expenses of the Sophomore Hop must be collected before permission could be obtained to hold the dance.

Elections then followed, and Frazier Scott was again chosen president; Stewart Ogilvy was re-elected vice-president, and John Williams was voted to succeed Carberry as secretary-treasurer. Desmond Crawford was re-elected as chairman of the Sophomore Hop.

THIRD ROUND COMPLETED IN FALL TENNIS BATTLE

Denisoff Upsets Stein; Mowbray, Craig, Jackson, A. Shaw Now at Quarter Finals

During the week of October 16-20, six of the third-round matches of the Annual Fall Tennis Tournament were played off. Two matches of the round remain to be decided and will be played, along with the quarter finals, this week. Of the seeded players, Mowbray, Craig, Jackson, and Maynard are still in the running. The other players remaining are Mason, A. Shaw, B. Shaw, McCook, Denisoff, and Miller.

The Denisoff-Stein match was one of the most startling upsets in the tournament. Stein, a seeded player, was defeated 8-10, 7-5, and 6-4 in a well-played match. Denisoff is expected to be a serious menace for the more experienced seeded men.

The scores of the other matches were as follows: Mowbray defeated Kirby 6-1, 6-0; Mason defeated Barrows 0-0, 0-0; Jackson defeated Fineberg 6-2, 6-3; A. Shaw defeated Flaherty 6-3, 9-7; B. Shaw and McCook, not played; Denisoff defeated Stein 8-10, 7-5, 6-4; Maynard and Miller, not played. Mason will default to Mowbray in the quarter finals.

The cold weather which hindered the tournament last year has not arrived as yet and it is expected that the finals may be played soon. The four men who are to enter the semi-finals will be selected this week.

NOTICE

The Freshman smoker will be held tonight in Cook Lounge at 8 o'clock. The Senate has asked that all members of the Class of 1937 be present.

Johnsen, Vice-President; Warner, Sec'y-Treas; Adams Made Prom Chairman

The Junior class smoker was held in Cook Hall at 7.30 on Tuesday evening, October 17. A large number of the class was present. The speaker of the evening was Professor Bissonette.

The meeting began with the election of officers. T. H. Mowbray was re-elected president; W. B. Johnsen, vice-president; and W. H. Warner was voted the office of secretary-treasurer. P. W. Adams was chosen to act as chairman of the Junior Prom.

After the election of officers, Professor Bissonette gave a talk on his experiences in England. He told about the English universities and described his research work.

All of the Juniors honored by their fellow-clubmen have been outstanding on the campus. Mowbray, commencing his third term as president, has won his spurs in soccer, tennis, swimming, and track, thus earning the distinction of being the only four-sport man in college. In addition, he is the present chairman of the Sophomore Dining Club. Johnsen, a member of Alpha Chi Rho, is active in the Glee Club and Choir. Warner, who is a member of Alpha Delta Phi, was class president in his freshman year and has taken part in basketball and track. He too is a member of the Sophomore Dining Club. Adams served on the Sophomore Hop Committee last year and is a member of the Jesters, the Glee Club, and the Delta Phi fraternity.

SENATE TO SUPERINTEND ALL CLASS ELECTIONS

Complaint Over Sophomore Vote Results in New System for Future Ballots

The Senate met in the Cook Hall lounge on Tuesday evening, October 17, and heard a petition for a new election of all sophomore class officers. The election held on October 10 was declared illegal, and the following rules, governing class elections were adopted, and inserted into the Senate constitution:

- (1) The president of the Senate shall take charge of class elections.
- (2) In class elections, a closed ballot is required when any one person so desires.
- (3) All class bookkeeping shall be uniform, following a method to be prescribed by the Senate.

Following the adoption of the new rules, Desmond Crawford, chairman of the Sophomore Hop, announced arrangements made thus far for the dance, which is expected to take place about the middle of November. Crawford made known that the committee appointed to assist him consists of W. V. Viering, R. I. McKee, L. C. Roberts, R. N. Roach, J. R. Williams, J. K. Clark, P. J. Spelman, and F. V. Manion.

TRINITY HARRIERS WIN FROM SAINT STEPHEN'S

Gladwin, Mountford, Castagno Lead Cross-Country Team to 22-33 Victory

The Trinity College cross-country team opened its season with a 22-33 victory over St. Stephen's College on Friday, October 20. Running on the stiff and varied course at Annandale, N. Y., Coach Oosting's men captured second, third, fourth, sixth, and seventh places.

Snyder, of St. Stephen's, after leading throughout the whole race, crossed the finish line in the time of 20 minutes and 58 seconds on a three and one-half mile course. Three Trinity men, Gladwin, Mountford, and Castagno, took second, third and fourth places, respectively. Gladwin's time was 21 minutes and 16 seconds. The fifth man was Douglas (St. S.), followed by French (T), Bauer (T), Mitchell (St. S.), Schmidt (St. S.), and Blackie (St. S.). Athearn and Lane, the other Trinity entrants, failed to place but finished in good style.

Although the course was somewhat longer than the one at Hartford, the Blue and Gold team displayed promising ability. All men running except Gladwin and Lane are members of the freshman class, which should indicate that the team will become increasingly strong.

The scoring in cross-country competition is done as follows: The first man to finish receives one point, the second two, etc., the first five men of each team being counted. The winning team, of course, is the one with the lower score. The next cross-country meet is scheduled for October 24, with Connecticut State. It will be run at Storrs.

VESPER SERVICE, DINNER HONOR LOCAL DOCTORS

Special Prayers Held for Medical Profession; Dr. Bissonette Addresses Group

Last Wednesday, October 16, the Feast Day of St. Luke the Physician, the doctors of Hartford were asked to the college for a brief chapel service in their honor, followed by a dinner at 6.30 in the College Commons. President Ogilvy sent out the invitations, as has been his custom in past years on this occasion, and some seventy physicians accepted.

Preceded by a half-hour organ recital by Mr. Watters, Trinity organist and instructor in music, the vesper service was held in the chapel at 5.30. Special prayers were said for the work of the medical profession, and in particular for the work of the physicians of Hartford. This was followed by the dinner in the Commons. During the meal, music was furnished by the Trinity Troubadours, which was exceptionally well received. Another feature of the banquet was the playing-in of the main course of the dinner to the tune of "Fight Trinity", while a candle-procession of the waiting staff ceremoniously brought the platter of meat before the President to be carved. After the meal, Professor Bissonette gave a talk on "The Relation of Breeding to Light Cycles in Birds and Mammals". As the banquet came to a close, the doctors were extended an invitation to return next year.

TWELVE NEW ENGLAND COLLEGE HEADS MEET ON TRINITY CAMPUS

Presidents, Deans, and Faculty Members at Seventy-fifth Gathering Here

ATTEND DINNER

Senate and Medusa Guests at Commons—Men Hear Organ Recital in Chapel

Twelve college presidents, eleven deans, and various professors were guests of Trinity last Friday and Saturday, October 20 and 21, at the seventy-fifth annual meeting of the Association of Colleges in New England.

The Association met both days in the Commons, three times on Friday, and once Saturday. The agenda included a large number of questions bearing on college curriculum, and also considerable discussion of problems raised by financial conditions of today. No publicity is ever given the discussions.

On Friday evening the Trinity faculty, the Senate, and the Medusa were invited to dine with the Association. Music was furnished by the college orchestra, and the usual ceremony of bringing in the beef was performed. Dean Murdock gave the results of a brief study of the minutes of past meetings of the Association, calling attention to the fact that many topics discussed in former years are still live issues today.

On Friday afternoon Mr. Watters gave a short organ recital, which was followed by a Vesper Service for the guests.

The president of every college in the Association was present, save President Hopkins of Dartmouth. Others were James B. Conant of Harvard, James R. Angell of Yale, Clarence A. Barbour of Brown, Harry A. Garfield of Williams, Guy W. Bailey of the University of Vermont, Kenneth C. M. Sills of Bowdoin, Paul D. Moody of Middlebury, Stanley King of Amherst, Remsen B. Ogilby of Trinity, James L. McConaughy of Wesleyan, John A. Cousins of Tufts, Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University, and Wallace W. Atwood of Clark.

Others present were Kenneth B. Murdock, and Alfred C. Hanford of Harvard; Clarence W. Mendell, Dean of Yale; James P. Adams, Vice-President, and Samuel T. Arnold, Dean of Undergraduates, of Brown; Craven Laycock, Dean, and Russell Raymond Larnon, Assistant Professor of the Science of Administration, of Dartmouth; Harry L. Agard, Dean of Williams; Elijah Swift, Dean of the University of Vermont; Edward Sanford Hammond, Wing Professor of Mathematics, of Bowdoin; Burt A. Hazeltine, Dean of Middlebury; Charles Scott Porter, Dean, Francis H. Fobes, Professor of Greek, and Dwight W. Morrow, Assistant to the President of Amherst; Frank C. Babbitt, Professor of Greek, and Stanley L. Galpin, Professor of Romance Languages, of Trinity; Leroy A. Howland, Vice-President of Wesleyan; Ruhl Jacob Bartlett, Professor of History of Tufts; William M. Warren, Dean, and T. Everett Fairchild, Assistant to the President of Boston University; and Homer Little, Dean, and Robert S. Illingworth, Associate Professor of English of Clark.

The meeting of the Association at Trinity was its seventy-fifth, for in 1858 a group of college professors met at the home of President James (Continued on page 4.)

VENTILATION

We remember one master we had in prep school who would rush into his classroom every wintry day, cry out a cheery and business-like, "Good morning", and immediately throw open all the windows. He would then explain to his shivering students that crisp fresh air stimulated the mind of every young man, making him more understanding and quick to learn.

Such a memory is not a fond one, yet we are amused at times by imagining our former master preaching his doctrine in most Trinity classrooms. He would probably go mad pulling strings that tilted open either a few little portholes, or panes of glass about two feet square. After spending forty-five minutes with as many students, he would soon notice that although only one-quarter of them were actually asleep, the remaining three-quarters were struggling to apprehend through a very thick fog.

Surely some means of affording better ventilation could be found without marring any architectural beauty our stained glass windows might have. We are quite sure that such an improvement would be greatly appreciated by both the groggy students and the earnest professors who struggle so valiantly to keep them awake.

TROUBADOURS

It was not without some satisfaction and a certain amount of pride that many on the campus learned of the organization last week of the Trinity Troubadours, a band of Trinity men who have taken it upon themselves to supply the college with good, popular music. Other colleges have found such an orchestra a boon and a necessity, and at last the need here has been recognized. That the band has lived up to its purpose to be a success is borne out by the fact that the occasion of its debut at the doctors' banquet last Wednesday evening drew such comments as the following one from Mr. Watters: "I was pleasantly surprised; the whole effect was unusually good"—truly no slight tribute to men who had had but a week of practice.

The organizing of orchestral music among undergraduates is certainly an undeveloped activity at Trinity, but here is evidence that talent cannot remain long under cover. The Troubadours already have opportunities to play at off-campus dances, but their chief purpose is to make the orchestra a college activity. Indeed it would raise the self-respect of many a Trinity man at informal college dances to be able to tell outsiders that the Trinity Orchestra, of course, is playing. May the Troubadours live up to their aim, and add fresh laurels to Trinity!

REGULATED ROWDYISM

The recent mischief done to the familiar and extremely useful bulletin boards on the college campus leads us to resurrect an old and much debated question here at Trinity—namely, that of reviving the old and one-time hallowed observations of the practice of hazing, the St. Patrick's Day Scrap, and the enforcement of Freshman Rules.

When the American college student turned his thoughts to the more serious side of life and began to decry the seemingly childish antics of his "collegiate" classmates, all these practices became passé. But the devil will out. When such false repression exists a natural outlet is sought elsewhere—in our particular case, it has taken form in the willful destruction of valuable college property.

No doubt it is a fine thing for the individual to be able to suppress himself as much as possible. There are, however, limits to everything, and it is certainly neither normal nor healthy for the average college student not to "let off steam" now and then. Hence we are of the opinion that a sensible revival of some of the practically harmless stunts of the past is preferable to that much lower form of youthful exhibitionism which finds its expression in ruthless depredation. Of course we would advocate some reasonable regulations by the upper-classmen or, preferably, a unified body such as the College Senate.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Trinity Tripod:

I left the Coast Guard game last Saturday with the feeling that the rooting section for Trinity had done a pretty good job. I felt that the support which they gave the team was more enthusiastic and wholehearted than any crowd had given a Trinity team for more than three years. I was, therefore, rather amazed at the sharp, caustic comment which appeared in yesterday's Tripod, in the column entitled "Campus Comment." I could not see any good reason for any Trinity rooter's feeling ashamed, as your column expressed itself. It seems to me that at a time when, for the first time in years, an active rooting section is getting organized, it ill behooves anyone to criticize. I should think, on the other hand, that encouragement ought to be forthcoming.

It is possible that the remarks were not addressed to the rooting section, but to the lone cheerleader. If I am the cause of the "flushes on the faces of many a Trinity rooter," I am very sorry. If anyone cares to take my place, and feels that it would be advisable to do so, and if the students think someone else would be better, I shall be glad to step aside, in order that someone can take over the job of organizing some support for the teams.

It was remarked that more than one cheerleader is really necessary. Mr. Editor, I am more acutely conscious of that fact than you are. When the Senate selected me to take over this job, I immediately issued a call for more cheerleaders. My call was answered by one student! I appreciate his cooperation. But here is the reason that you have not got a half-dozen cheerleaders on the job: no one else is, apparently, interested.

Remark was made as to the cheering of the Coast Guard contingent. The Coast Guard is better able to organize a regular cheering section than we are, for many reasons. I fail to see any reason on earth for being ashamed of Trinity's showing last Saturday.

I do not care the least bit about the remarks, or "razzing" of certain ones who fail to support their teams, and who are always the first to criticize a losing team, but I was surprised to find out the feelings of the writer of the column in the Tripod.

As to the matter of the cheerleaders working continually, that is practically impossible. The rooting section would be tired out before the beginning of the last quarter. There is likewise a limit to the amount that a cheerleader can do.

I shall be glad to continue as a cheerleader as long as the student body cares to have me, and shall be willing to step aside for someone else whenever the student body shall deem it advisable.

In closing, Mr. Editor, I wish to have it understood that I certainly appreciate the sort of support that we had Saturday afternoon, and that I hope that it will continue.

—CHARLES O BIERKAN, '34.

SCREEN REVIEW

"FOOTLIGHT PARADE."

The Brothers Warner, with the far-sightedness which characterizes most high-pressure American salesmanship, are well on the way to killing the goose that lays the golden egg. "Forty-Second Street" was good; "The Gold Diggers" was well above average; but even the unenlightened inhabitants of Katonsville, must eventually tire of cinematic "$4.40 Broadway productions", with which these producers are apparently trying to elevate rural America.

In the third offering, "Footlight Parade", now playing at the Strand, the musical movie suffers a severe setback. The tunes are distinctly below par, and the direction and photography are, with one exception, quite mediocre (the much-advertised swimming pool number contains a few of the best aquatic shots that have yet come out of Hollywood). The acting is average: James Cagney seems lost without a racing car or a machine gun, and is not too good a dancer; Ruby Keeler, on the other hand, dances better than she acts, not a very high compliment; and there is also the inevitable Dick Powell.

Were it not for its two predecessors and the ballyhoo incident on its arrival, "Footlight Parade" might be one of the highlights of the season. As it is, however, the impression is that of several good scenes and shots, strung together by a nondescript plot with the sole intention of carrying on a remunerative tradition. Instead of being a picture that should not be missed, it provides merely an enjoyable means of killing an evening.

CAMPUS COMMENT

Hoping to do something towards spurring on the student body to even better cheering, we criticized in this column last week the support our team received from the Trinity rooters during the Coast Guard game. We also suggested that there should be more cheering, so that at every occasion time out was called on the field, between the quarters, and at all opportune moments, the cheerleader should perform. During the week we received a letter from Charles Bierkan, our only cheerleader, who, unfortunately, but perhaps naturally so, took our complaints to heart. We apologize to Mr. Bierkan, humbly. We appreciate his work as cheerleader, a thankless job that deserves more credit than is ever given it. And we hope that he will forgive us, who idly sit and criticize others who are doing their best.

We were reading a communication last week in the Wesleyan Argus of October 12, written by one of their alumni, and were suddenly aroused by a statement that brought forth a nasty, "Oh yeah" from several underclassmen to whom we showed it. A Wesleyan graduate of '25 wrote that his team should come through in fine style this year, judging from the results of the games of the previous Saturday. "Only Trinity won," he wrote, "and if a team of modest pretensions can be said to schedule a 'breather', that, in our case, is Trinity." We could not help but think of some of the "breathers" of past years.

Eight Men Give Trial Speeches,

at Next Session

The weekly meeting of the Athenaeum Society was held in the Economics room at 7.30 p. m., Monday, October 16. Another group of new men applying for admittance to the society presented short speeches to be judged by the present members of the club. President Senf presided at the meeting, introduced the speakers, and made comments after each talk concerning the points which were brought up.

The new men who spoke were E. Summer, L. Stein, J. F. Donohue, J. V. Davis, S. Nieuwenhou, W. O'Connell, R. Varley, and F. L. Smith. Summer outlined the progress of the National Recovery Administration, giving much of the credit to Mr. H. Johnson, whom he proved to be incorruptible. Stein spoke on "Education for Leisure." He said that the leisure time offered by the new working plan should be used to good advantage, and not wasted on useless diversion. Donohue explained the advantages of the new system of housing at the Yale University. Davis spoke on "How to Study", stressing the importance of environment.

Nieuwenhou reviewed the changes in representative government. He advocated representatives in Congress for all important industries, on the grounds that one man could not represent one of the industries that thrive in his state. O'Connell talked on Socialism, which he favored because it is against Capitalism. Varley explained the game of chess, giving the rules of the game and the powers of the various pieces. Smith, the last speaker, contrasted the United States treatment of crime to that of Canada. He favored the

The orchestra is made up of ten men, who have been selected on the basis of past experience and tryouts. At present the following students are playing: piano, J. Flynn; drums, C. Tucker; trumpet, R. Hazenbush; saxophones, H. Eichacker, R. Solomons, J. Banks; trombone, R. McKee; violins, C. and W. Kirby; director, K. Babcock.

The band has already made two appearances, the first being at the dinner which was given to the Hartford doctors on October 18. A similar program was presented when the presidents and deans of the New England colleges dined in the Commons on October 20. Engagements for the remainder of the fall and for the winter season are being arranged at the present time, and two tentative dates have been already secured.

BLUE AND GOLD TO MEET CONN. STATE SATURDAY

Trinity Expected to Score Win in Annual Game With Dolemen

Coach Dan Jessee's Blue and Gold-clad gridmen will return to the wars this Saturday noon, facing the Connecticut State eleven at the Storrs Field. While Trinity was enjoying a week-end of rest due to an open date on the schedule, the State forces were being handed an artistic 42-0 lacing by a strong Tufts squad. It was the fourth defeat in five starts for the Dolemen this season.

Although Trinity's record reads only a little better in the won and lost column, their power-house attack should prove too much for Connecticut's sophomore line, which has received a good deal of battering from Vermont, Wesleyan, Mass. State, and Tufts on successive Saturdays. Trinity seems to pack plenty of power in its starting backfield. "Ike" Eigenbauer, hard-running halfback, is almost certain to prove a constant thorn in the side of the State line and he will have a very able supporting cast in "Mimi" Marquet, his flashy running mate, and "Sis" Sampers, who hopes to return to his fullback berth after a two-weeks' lay-off necessitated by injuries. "Charley" Weber will direct the attack from his quarterback post as usual. The Dolemen have no quartet equal to this Blue and Gold contingent and must rely wholly on the speedy "Sammy" Groher for the majority of their ground gains. They will, however, probably pepper the air with passes, as the Trinity secondary has exhibited a decided weakness against this type of attack all season thus far. In the Tufts game, State completed no less than nine out of sixteen attempted forward passes with Cronin and Skowronski on the throwing end and Lewis receiving. With this in view, Coach Jessee has been drilling his men all week in an attempt to perfect an adequate pass defense. Friday the Varsity scrimmaged with the yearling eleven and, although they ripped the holes in the frosh line almost at will and stopped nearly every ground play successfully, they still looked shaky against a passing

CROSS-COUNTRY MEET

Professor Oosting has announced that the annual intramural cross-country meet will take place probably on Friday, November 17. For the information of all those planning to enter the run, it is necessary for each entrant to qualify by covering the course at least once prior to Wednesday, November 15. He must make a formal report of doing so to some member of the Physical Education Department.

Gold, silver, and bronze medals will be awarded to the first three men to finish, and the winning team will be awarded the Lyman Ogilby trophy. The Sigma Nu fraternity has held the trophy for the last two years.

Canadian system because of the much shorter period of time which elapses between the apprehension and conviction of a criminal.

After the candidates' speeches had been given, the members and candidates discussed informally the possibilities of legislating prosperity in connection with the N. R. A. The members decided that it would be difficult to legislate prosperity.

At the next meeting of the Athenaeum, which will be held October 23, the last group of candidates for the society will give short speeches. The members will judge all the candidates and elect several new members to the society. A formal announcement of the men's names who are to be made members will be made at that time.

Dr. Motten, College Treasurer, has announced that he is reserving Northam 2 as a room for the use of the Athenaeum. The society expects to use it for all meetings, as well as for a library and for the filing of records.

COLLEGE HEADS HERE.

Walker of Harvard to consider the possibilities of annual meetings to be held for the purpose of discussing college problems. The organization was to be composed of the president and one faculty member of each college represented. The Association was organized with representatives from Harvard, Yale, Williams, Amherst, Trinity, Brown, and a few others. Other colleges were admitted until the total number reached fourteen. None have been added recently.

The Association meets at the different colleges in rotation. Questions are suggested and submitted to the college acting as host and are printed as programs. No action is taken by the group as its purpose is simply deliberative, and no publicity is ever given the discussions. The minutes of the meetings have been kept in the custody of Harvard University.
