PRAISED BY ASSOCIATE

Ex-Executive Credits Improvements

of Successor

Martin W. Clement, '01, was elected President of the Pennsylvania Railroad at a meeting of the directors in Philadelphia on April 24. Clement succeeds General W. W. Atterbury, who resigned recently.

At Trinity, Mr. Clement was a prominent undergraduate. He was a member of the Sophomore Dining Club, and starred on the football and basketball teams. He is associated with Delta Psi Fraternity.

After graduating from Trinity, Mr. Clement immediately entered the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad, serving as rodman in the office of the assistant engineer of the United Railroads of New Jersey. He worked successively as transit man and assistant supervisor, and in 1910 became supervisor in the office of the general manager.

After a number of transfers he became division engineer in 1916, and the following year was named superintendent of the old New York, Philadelphia, and Norfolk Railroad. In 1923 he was made general manager of the central region with offices in Pittsburgh. He was promoted to the office of assistant vice-president in charge of operations in 1925 and vice-president in 1926. He became a director in 1929.

Clement's business life has also carried him to directorships in the various affiliated and subsidiary companies of the Pennsylvania Railroad, as well as of many other companies. A year ago he was instrumental in forming the Association of American Railroads.

Speaking of Clement, ex-president Atterbury said, "... He enjoys the confidence, cooperation, and respect of the entire Pennsylvania organization, for they know that many of the improvements in the service and operation which the Pennsylvania Railroad has effected in the last ten years have been due in large degree to Clement's advanced thinking on the subject of transportation development."

LAST SPRING CONCERTS ARRANGED BY GLEE CLUB

Dinner to Follow Home Performance at Christ Church
May 14th

The Trinity College Glee Club has two more concerts this Spring. The first is on May 7 at the Bristol Trinity Church. The second, which is the Annual Home Concert, is to be held at the Christ Church parish house May 14. Shortly after this, the annual dinner (at which officers will be elected) and dance will be held.

The Annual Home Concert, which commences at eighty-fifteen, will be in collaboration with the Smith Madrigal Choir, under the direction of Mr. Gorokoff. This concert is presented under the auspices of the Men's Club of Grace Church in Newington Junction, and details of the concert are being arranged by C. Junker and H. Davis. The admission price is fifty cents, and afterwards there will be dancing.

NOTICE TO SENIORS.

Measurements for graduation caps and gowns must be handed in before Monday, May 6. Any seniors who have not already done so are urged to see Territt H. Mowbray, President of the class, as soon as possible, so that the caps and gowns may be ordered in time to be delivered before the Commencement exercises.

PSI U CONVENTION HELD WITH TRINITY CHAPTER

Business Sessions, Banquets, and Pratt & Whitney Trip are Features of Meeting

The 102nd Annual Convention of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity met with the Beta Beta Chapter and its alumni at Trinity College last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Over one hundred and fifty delegates and alumni of the chapters attended the business sessions, the banquet, and various features of entertainment which took place during the three days.

The convention was called to order by Archibald Douglas, Chairman of the Executive Council of the Fraternity, at the first business session, held in Alumni Hall Thursday morning. Upon adjournment the members had luncheon in the college Dining Hall. At the second business session in the afternoon, President Ogilby welcomed the visitors, and gave a brief address on the value of fraternities in a small college.

In the evening the Beta Beta Chapter was host at an informal dinner and smoker at the Farmington Country Club.

On Friday, following the morning business session, a number of guests attended the opening exercises of the Connecticut Tercentenary at Bushnell Memorial, which were conducted by Governor Wilbur L. Cross, a member of Psi Upsilon. At the conclusion of the exercises, the guests returned to the college Dining Hall for a buffet.

HARD OF HEARING ATTEND EASTER CHAPEL SERVICE

Founder of School for Deaf Lauded in Sermon by Doctor Ogilby

On Easter Sunday, although most of the students were home, services were held in the morning and afternoon in the College Chapel. There was a particularly interesting one held during the afternoon for the League of the Hard of Hearing. This organization is composed of people in Hartford and the vicinity who are suffering from varying degrees of deafness. The service was the third of an annual series which President Ogilby has been holding for the League. On these occasions the crypt chapel has been equipped with a microphone and electric audiphones installed by N. M. Valerius, '25. President Ogilby conducted this service using the microphone, and also standing in a strong light so that those accustomed to read lips could understand him.

Special mention at this service was made of the Gallaudet family. Doctor Berne Budd Gallaudet, Trinity 1880, died just a year ago. His great grandson, Doctor Thomas Gallaudet, was the founder of the School for Deaf in West Hartford, and various members of his family, who have attended Trinity in preparation for the medical profession, have done what they could to meet the problems of the hard of hearing.

COURTMEN EXHIBIT FORM TO WIN FIRST MATCHES

Vermont University, Haverford Decisively Defeated in Openers

TAKE EVERY SET

Captain Mowbray, Stein, Denisoff
Star in First Three Positions

The Blue and Gold Tennis Team opened its season at the Hartford Golf Club courts on Thursday against University of Vermont and made a complete sweep in all the matches, winning by a 9 to 0 score. Vermont showed a lack of practice though the Trinity players were much too superior to make that count. During the afternoon not a single set was lost nor was any one of the Trinity team extended.

Mowbray playing in number 1 position displayed too much power in disposing of Costello with the loss of only four games in two sets. Louis Stein defeated Harris of Vermont 6-1, 7-5 in a base line duel and Igor Denisoff outstaided Hart to win handily at 6-3, 6-3. Harris and Parsons, the two newcomers to the team, played good all-round tennis with Harris displaying good form at the net and Parsons winning on long-topped drives which completely baffled his opponent. Barclay Shaw overcame Reed by accurate placements to win 6-4, 6-3.

Little trouble was encountered in the doubles. Mowbray pairing with Stein beat Costello and Harris 6-2, 6-3 without much difficulty and the net attack of Parsons and Harris was too good for the Swift brothers of Vermont.

The summaries:

Singles.

Mowbray (T) defeated Costello (V), 6-1, 6-3.

Stein (T) defeated Harris (V), 6-1, 7-5.

Denisoff (T) defeated Hart (V), 6-3, 6-3.

Harris (T) defeated Swift (V), 6-1, 6-3.

Parsons (T) defeated H. Swift (V), 6-2, 6-1.

Shaw (T) defeated Reed (V), 6-4, 6-3.

On April 16, Trinity's baseball team journeyed to New Haven and was overwhelmed by Yale to the tune of 16 to 4 in a game which marked the opening of the season for both teams and a resumption of athletic relations between the two institutions after a lapse of more than a decade.

Trinity threw three hurlers into the box in an effort to halt the Elis, while Yale found the right man in the person of Lou Walker, who went to the rescue after Rankin, the starting pitcher, had been touched for six hits and four runs in the first three innings.

Eigenbauer and Marquet made a run out of two singles and a double steal to give Trinity the jump in the first inning, but Yale tied it up in their half of the frame.

Hanaghan opened the second by drawing a pass, and Ferrucci singled to right field. Amport and Patton followed with bunts, and Mimi Marquet checked in with his second hit to

TRACKMEN DEFEAT TUFTS IN EVEN CONTEST, 66-60

Trinity Strong in Field Events

Lead Scoring

The 1935 model of the Trinity Track Team was unwrapped for the first time this year at Medford, Mass., last Saturday, where it proved its superiority over the strong Tufts College team by the close margin of 66 to 60.

The Trinity model still needs its flashing acceleration tuned up a bit, however, since it won none of the dash events. However, the knee-action hurdlers showed to great advantage in coping firsts and seconds in both hurdle events. Plenty of stamina was also displayed by a first and a second in the two-mile event, while great versatility was manifest in the field events by a third in the pole-vault, a first and a third in the high-jump, a third in the javelin throw, all three places in the discus throw, a first and a second in the shot put, and a first and a third in the running broad jump. In fact, Trinity's exceptional strength in the field events won the meet. The new members of the team, the freshmen, did well by garnering five places, a first, two seconds, and two thirds.

Tufts' outstanding field event was the javelin throw which found Bratenas breaking the old Tufts' record by more than seven feet with a toss of 182 feet and 3 inches. The other

The Trinity baseball team, on the long end of a 14 to 3 score, took over the Haverford College batters last Friday at Haverford, Pa., with Ray Patton pitching a steady game and striking out seven, Beers and Kase gave the Hartford invaders 18 hits to the three allowed by Patton to the Pennsylvanians. The Trinity squad averaged two hits apiece.

Until the fifth inning, Trinity was held to two counters which were made in the third, with Beers on the mound. The fifth and sixth saw the bantam running wild to the tune of 10 runs. The fifth turned up four runs and the fourth error for the Blue and Gold. Amport singled with the bases loaded. In the sixth session six more scores were made, featuring O'Malley's home run with one on base.

In the sixth, one run was scored by Haverford without a hit. In the same inning two more were scored by them: one on a hit and one on a walk. Every Trinity man had at least one hit while Marquet walloped three.

PLANS FOR SPRING GOLF AND TENNIS COMPLETED

Trinity Golfers Will Have Use of Rockledge Country Club
in West Hartford

Definite arrangements are being made by Coach Oosting for as satisfactory an accommodation as possible of the tennis players and golfers of the College. In regard to tennis, courts numbers three to five are being reserved for the varsity players. The intramural players are allowed the use of the other two. This is the best possible arrangement considering the serious lack of courts. Further, men are requested to leave the courts after two sets if other people are waiting to play. Outsiders must not use the courts whenever Trinity men are waiting for them.

For the golfers, an agreement has been reached with the Rockledge Country Club of West Hartford to the effect that Trinity men and profes-

FREE SPEECH ON THE CAMPUS

Tolerance and the spirit of democracy have been perfectly epitomized by Voltaire's famous epigram: "I heartily disagree with what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it." For centuries our ancestors, both in Europe and in this country, have fought for the right of free speech. Often they were in disagreement and the rulers in power would try by every means to stop the mouths of the citizens. But the greatest men fought on, striving not only for the right to express their own opinions but also for the same privilege for their opponents. When the United States were formed there were lengthy and heated debates about the Constitution, but all were in agreement as to one thing: the citizens of this new country must have free speech.

For one hundred and fifty years it was an accepted fact that we enjoyed this privilege. The country was vaguely proud of this. It was referred to in the press occasionally, but otherwise did not affect us. But recently the situation has changed. This country, along with the rest of the world, has had to face serious difficulties, both economic and social. In Europe two new kinds of government have sprung up: Fascism and Communism. Many believe it likely that eventually we too will have to choose between one or the other of these forms of government. We are facing the most serious problem since the formation of the United States. And for the first time we can realize the importance of the issue of free speech. We are the young intellectuals of the country. Our views are more valuable, perhaps, than those of people who are more in contact with the world, because contact often conceals clarity as much as it teaches common sense. But properly to form our ideas on these vital issues we must be able to discuss freely any and all opinions which we hold.

In the last few years any observer could trace a trend toward the restriction of free speech in this country. Lately it has been aimed directly at the colleges of the country. The "oath of allegiance" in New York State was aimed at the freedom of thought and speech in the state colleges, but it was defeated by the overwhelming opposition which rose against it. There are many instances of attempts to force the acceptance of R. O. T. C. in colleges, which has been a target for those who wish to keep the military spirit apart from our seats of learning. The newest and most blatant example of this has recently occurred in Connecticut State College. President MacCracken has declared that formal discussion against the R. O. T. C. unit will result in the dismissal of any faculty members or students concerned. This edict is directly contrary to the principle which our ancestors fought for; it is un-American and undemocratic. If we students are to be limited in the range of subjects for discussion, we have lost one of the greatest values of our college life.

Opposition is massing against President MacCracken. We should back his opponents in the fight for free speech to a man. And we should all be more awake to the fact that in this country the very existence of a sacred and inalienable heritage is being threatened. Every student should join the fight for intellectual freedom and free speech.

ALUMNI NOTES

It is reported that the following alumni, "located in the Flower City of Rochester, N. Y.," are thinking of forming an alumni group there in the near future: Dr. David B. Jewett, '00; Charles E. Blake, '12; Clare E. Cram, '23; James G. McNally, '24; Stanley L. Bell, '27; George H. Sachaklian, '30; and John H. Baker, '34.

1914
Arthur A. N. Fenoglio is living at 127 Union Avenue, West Haven, Conn., and is the Senior Highway Engineer of the State Highway Commission, with which he has been connected since October, 1919. He is married and has a boy who is scheduled to attend Trinity.

Ernest T. Somerville is living at 2258 West Grand Boulevard, Detroit, and is a representative of Associates Investment Company, Commercial Bankers of South Bend, Indiana. He has one daughter, Jeanne, who will enter Bennington College, Vermont, this coming year.

1915
The Class of 1915 will hold its 20th reunion on Saturday, June 15. Plans for the day include the Alumni meeting and the annual Alumni luncheon, and the class will go in a group to lend its support to the baseball team at the Connecticut State game. In the evening, at seven o'clock, the 20th Reunion dinner will be held at the Hartford Club. Ralph H. Bent, permanent secretary of the class, announces that a letter will be sent to each member of the class in the near future, and urges that all who intend to be back for this event get in touch with him at 5253 Fieldston Road, New York City.

1926
A daughter, Nancy Ruth, was born on April 13 to Stimpson and Katherine Hubbard. This is their second child, the first being John, who is now five years old. Stimpson Hubbard is with the Western Electric Company of New York and lives in Westfield, N. J.

Newton Blakeslee has two of his fine colored photographs published in the last issue of The National Geographic Magazine. There are also two pictures of him in the same article, for which he posed to his colleagues in the photographic laboratory of this popular magazine. He will spend part of this summer in South Dakota, covering the picture interests for the coming stratosphere flight under the auspices of the Army-Geographic party. Blakeslee says he was the only Trinity man present at the recent Psi Upsilon alumni banquet held at the Hay-Adams house in Washington.

Joseph Satriano returned to Hartford for the Easter vacation. He is studying to be an eye specialist at the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry in Philadelphia.

Wyatt Williams is specializing in animal husbandry at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, where he received six A's and one B as marks in his seven courses for the term just past. He intends to take up dairy farming in Virginia in the near future.

COMMUNICATION

Contributor vs. Contributor.

To the Editor of the Tripod:

A letter was recently published in these columns from someone, purporting to be an alumnus, who was so careless as to omit signing his name. This man expressed the belief that the editorial columns of the Tripod should be devoted, not to the expression of student opinion, but solely to extolling the "glories of Trinity." In justice to the writer it must be said that he exhibits an evidently sincere interest in his college. But on the other hand, it is equally apparent that he is viewing his Alma Mater through that romantically sentimental haze which so commonly clouds the vision of the "Old Grad." A few sentences from the concluding paragraph of his letter will amply illustrate this point. "The alumni have fond memories, the undergraduates hope to experience those same memories of Trinity College. Don't shatter those memories and that respect by printing the shady side of Trinity's diary. You are only throwing mud at your own college and its members by trying to bring to their attention something not connected with Trinity (the bold face type is my own addition). Print the glories of Trinity in your editorials."

As a consistent editorial policy, this would place the Tripod in the same category with the college catalogue and so emasculate the paper as to deprive it of any influence as an expression of student opinion. I should be willing to venture that our Anonymous Contributor who advocates this "Pollyanna" journalism would have been among the first in his own undergraduate days to decry such a policy. The college paper is not meant, except indirectly, to be an advertisement for the college. Every campus has to contend with a small percentage of those who seem to have no other purpose than to make fools of themselves by their stupid, childish conduct. The offence which called forth the editorial under censure, the breaking of windows in the Dean's office by some drunken idiot, clearly was committed by one of these persons. Since this was a flagrant breach of good taste, but not actually an offence against public morality, the Tripod was fully justified in dealing with the matter as it did. Good taste demanded that the incident be sharply reprimanded and then forgotten, in hope that the offender was sufficiently a gentleman to make no further action necessary.

In fairness to the man who voiced his objection to the editorial so frankly, however, it must be said that its phraseology was indeed somewhat unfortunate. A strong, vigorous protest could have been as effectively expressed without recourse to the slang which was employed. That was undoubtedly not in keeping with the dignity of the editorial department, the standard of which is expected to be higher than that of any other department of a paper.

TENNIS MATCHES.

Doubles.

Mowbray and Stein (T) defeated Costello and Harris (V), 6-2, 6-3.
Harris and Parsons (T) defeated R. Swift and H. Swift (V), 6-1, 6-3.
Denisoff and Chapman (T) defeated Hart and Reed (V), 6-4, 6-4.

On Saturday the Trinity Tennis Team opposed Haverford College from Pennsylvania on the Hartford Golf Club courts and again met with little difficulty, sweeping all the matches in both singles and doubles.

In the feature match of the day, Captain Mowbray defeated Memhard of Haverford in a close three-set match, 6-1, 4-6, 6-3. At the outset of the match Mowbray got away to a good lead and had little difficulty in taking the first set. The second set, however, went to Memhard when he came up to the net to put away many placements. In the third chapter Mowbray led at 5-0 and after several match points, ran out the set at 6-3. Stein and Denisoff likewise captured their matches rather easily winning in straight sets, as did Harris and Parsons. Harris, perhaps, won his match more decisively than any one winning at 6-0, 6-3. Barclay Shaw, however, had difficulty in keeping the ball in play but steadied down to win in a long match.

In doubles the Blue and Gold netmen prevailed more completely as the three matches were all won in straight sets. Stein and Mowbray displayed good teamwork to dispose of the Haverford's number one combination.

The summaries:

Singles.

Mowbray (T) defeated Memhard (H), 6-1, 4-6, 6-3.
Stein (T) defeated Weighman (H), 6-4, 6-3.
Denisoff (T) defeated Bevan (H), 6-3, 6-3.
Harris (T) defeated Perry (H), 6-0, 6-3.
Parsons (T) defeated Broucher (H), 6-3, 6-2.
Shaw (T) defeated Dugdall (H), 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Doubles.

Mowbray and Stein (T) defeated Memhard and Broucher, (H), 6-1, 6-3.
Harris and Parsons (T) defeated Bevan and Perry (H), 6-4 6-2.
Denisoff and Chapman (T) defeated Dugdall and Cowles (H), 6-3 6-2.

THE CURTAIN

After a somewhat crowded vacation, one returns to school to find the weather conducive to staying out under the Bishop, and otherwise enjoying the Great Outdoors. With finals on the way, too, there will be less of this going to the movies which was so necessary to a Tired Brain all winter. But movies there are, and some are still too good to miss.

LOCAL BOY, ETC.

It is fitting, no doubt, that we glorify the performance of our Hollywood alumnus, Richard Barthelmess. But we would not do so were not his performance worth praising, as it really is. As a matter of fact, the present bill at the Allyn is one of the first we have sat through in a long time.

The feature at the Allyn, "Four Hours to Kill," is a "Grand Hotel" in the 43rd Street Theatre. Barthelmess, an escaped convict who is being taken to Sing Sing to be hanged, misses a train, and is taken by his guard to the theatre. During the performance, he becomes quite chatty with his guard, to whom he is handcuffed, and confesses that there is only one thing he'd like to do in what little of his life remains to him—to get his man, and then drop dead. How he gets away from the guard, persuades his enemy to come to the theatre, and realizes his wish, is the theme of the picture. Barthelmess does an extremely good job, toning himself down in a role which it would have been extremely easy to overact, and make melodramatic.

CINEMA.

Witty, grey-eyed Victor Herbert would indeed venture a quiet nod of approval were he able to be at Poli's this week, and see Jeanette MacDonald in what was and is the most popular of his operettas, "Naughty Marietta." Miss MacDonald gives a brilliant performance as the disguised French princess who is seeking escape from a marriage of state in order to wed an English officer. Being the story of the settlement of New Orleans in the days of Louis XV, the picture is elaborately beautiful, with no expense having been spared to make it something of a spectacle.

The melodies: "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "I'm Falling in Love With Someone", "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp", and the "Italian Street Song", have lost none of their freshness, and are as beautifully carried on the screen as ever they were on any stage. The picture is peculiarly complete, and extremely well done.

"Mark of the Vampire" (Palace): Harking back to "Dracula" and the vampire superstition, this picture has all the elements necessary to make it one of those eerie things which are supposed to keep audiences continually in a cold sweat. There is the ancient castle, the small deserted village (save for a few mysterious inhabitants) and Bela Lugosi, who seems to be getting to be part of the scenery in mystery pictures of this nature.

A fine performance is given by Lionel Barrymore, as a professor who attempts to solve the mystery, and a good supporting cast is present. All in all, the picture is above the level of others of the same kind, and an excellent way to cool off on one of these hot evenings.

"Transient Lady" (Loew's): The movie version of Octavus Roy Cohen's "Liberty" story. It concerns the machinations of a small-town "boss", who demands a life in return for his dead brother's, and is not particular whose it is. Gene Raymond as a lawyer, and Frances Drake as the girl who started all the trouble, win out over small-town superstition, fall in love, and make "Transient Lady" resemble a well-rounded picture.

BIG LEAGUE CHATTER

Howard T. Storms, Jr.

By this time, all of the noted sports authorities have made their predictions as to the outcome of the major league pennant races. It remains only for a rank amateur to add the final touch to the well-nigh complete melange by presenting the results of a carefully worked-out and completely maniacal scheme for determining the exact relative strength of each team.

It will be noted that the writer has not availed himself of what might seem to be an obvious advantage over pre-season prophets; namely, that of tempering original opinions with actual indications of team strength as shown by the present standing of the clubs.

Although, at this writing, the Tigers appear to be firmly entrenched in the cellar, they will, under the able leadership of a certain Mr. Cochrane, out-slug the other contenders to retain their supremacy in the junior circuit.

Joe Cronin, as newly-acquired player-manager, should add enough batting strength and hustle to the Red Sox to land them in second place. Defensively, they are the strongest team in their loop.

McCarthy, with his pitching problem finally solved, will find the Yankees too weak in other departments to merit the flag.

Cleveland's pitching staff has been just a trifle over-rated. They will have quite a job on their hands, keeping the Browns out of the first division.

While the American League has attracted much early-season attention, the really close and exciting struggle will again be found in the National League.

The Giants, by virtue of a superior defense, will regain the title so rudely snatched from them last fall by the boorish Cardinals.

The latter will slug it out with the Cubs for the runner-up position with an insufficiency of good pitching costing both teams enough games to keep them behind the New Yorkers.

Here's the way they'll line up in late September:
NATIONAL LEAGUE	AMERICAN LEAGUE
New York	Detroit
St. Louis	Boston
Chicago	New York
Pittsburgh	Cleveland
Boston	St. Louis
Philadelphia	Chicago

field event which Tufts won, the pole vault, was a disappointment for Trinity when Joe Astman, who has consistently done 11 feet 6 inches and even more in practice failed to do the 10 feet 6 inches which won and had to be satisfied with a third.

Bill Warner was Trinity's outstanding performer with three firsts in the high jump, the discus, and the running broad jump. He was closely followed by Alexander who copped three seconds in the discus, the shot put, and the 120-yard high hurdles.

Tetzlaff, with firsts in the 220 and 440-yard dashes, and Starr, with firsts in the 880 and the mile, were Tufts' biggest point-grabbers.

100-yard dash — Smith (Tufts); Bramhall (Tufts); Kellam (T); 10 3-5 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—Haight (T); Alexander (T); Ingraham (Tufts); 18 1-5 seconds.

8,271 men and women
visited the Chesterfield factories during the past year . . .

A man who visited a Chesterfield factory recently, said: "Now that I have seen Chesterfields made, I understand better than ever why people say Chesterfields are milder and have a better taste."

If you too could visit our factories you could see the clean, airy surroundings; the employees in their spotless uniforms, and the modern cigarette making machinery.

You could notice how carefully each Chesterfield cigarette is inspected and see also how Chesterfields are practically untouched by human hands.

Whenever you happen to be in Richmond, Va., Durham, N. C., or San Francisco, California, we invite you to stop at the Liggett & Myers plants and see how Chesterfields are made.
