Rhys Carpenter To Deliver Moore Lecture Next Week

Archaeologist to Speak On Topic of Parthenon

Professor Rhys Carpenter of Bryn Mawr College will deliver the 29th Annual Moore Greek Lecture in the Chemistry Auditorium on November 29. His subject will be "The Parthenon."

Dr. Carpenter is unparalleled in the United States in the field of Classical Greek Archaeology. As Director of the American School of Classical Studies in Athens, Greece, he did work of monumental importance in reconstructing sections of the Parthenon. His knowledge of the life and times of Homer and his uncanny ability to analyze Greek styles through Roman originals have also enhanced his reputation.

Educational Background

Dr. Carpenter distinguished himself at Columbia, where he received his Ph.D., and at Oxford, where he studied as a Rhodes Scholar in 1911. In addition to his work in the reconstruction of ruins, he has contributed books of permanent value on Greek art and the influence of the Greeks in Spain. His poetic works include "The Sun-thief and Other Poems" and "The Plainsman and Other Poems."

Illustrating his approach to his subject is this quotation from his book, "The Humanistic Value of Archaeology": "One may, by watching the Greek artistic genius pass through phases as inescapable as those of the waxing and waning moon, penetrate to the forces behind art and so learn to front the apparent chaos of the modern world with equanimity, because with understanding and with the interest of enlightenment instead of the bewilderment of incomprehension."

Donor of Bequest

The Moore Lectures are the gift of Dr. Charles F. Moore, an alumnus of Trinity who, after practicing medicine for some years, retired to devote the remainder of his life to the teaching of Greek. Moore Lecturers in recent years have included Sir Alfred Zimmern and Sir Cecil Bowra of Oxford and Dr. Gilbert Highet of Columbia.

Moller and Schaef Recently Elected To Phi Beta Kappa

Two seniors, Charles E. Moller, Jr. and Finley Schaef, have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, it was announced by Dr. Blanchard Means, Secretary of the Trinity Chapter.

The initiation of the two men, scheduled for December 5, will coincide with the 175th anniversary of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa in 1776. An honor society, it was founded at the College of William and Mary and is the oldest Greek-letter society in the United States.

The Trinity Chapter of the society is known as the Beta of Connecticut. Founded in 1845, it is the eighth oldest chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. The chapter requires that persons elected to membership be men of honor, probity, and learning.

Later elections to Phi Beta Kappa will be held in the spring, probably one, or two months after the beginning of the Trinity term.

Frosh Mid-term Grades Released to Advisors; Many Failures Listed

Just about half of the freshman class are failing at least one subject, as of Mid-Semester it was announced by the Frosh Advisory Council on Monday.

Mr. William Peelle of the Admissions Office did not think there was too much cause for worry, however, as he commented that the grades of first year men are always lower at the Thanksgiving marking period than at any other time throughout the year. Marks tend to grow during the year and finally reach their peak in June, due to the new student's gradual familiarization with the courses, his professors, and his new surroundings in general. He also said that these mid-semester grades will not be permanently recorded.

In a change of the Mid-Term grading system, all freshmen receive grades but only upperclassmen with unsatisfactory marks are informed of their standing.

Dance at Bond Hotel Sponsored by Frosh

Last Saturday night, for the first time, through the combined efforts of the Freshman Executive Council, the Freshman Interdormitory Council, and the support of the class, a freshman dance was held off campus.

During the evening of November 17, some ninety freshmen entertained their dates at a dinner and dance at the Hotel Bond.

Following the Wesleyan game, an open house was held in the dormitories. The girls were housed that night in Middle Jarvis and at the homes of several faculty members.

Among other freshman social activities during the year was a dance in Hamlin Dining Hall attended by girls from Oxford School and Hartford Junior College. In the following weeks, the Freshman Executive Council made arrangements for parties with Smith and Vassar. Two weeks ago, some thirty freshmen were invited to a dance sponsored by the student nurses of the Hartford Hospital Training School.

Solid Gold Ring Chosen by Students

In last week's Senate poll the Student body preferred the solid gold ring to the other two styles displayed. In its meeting on Monday night the Senate voted to adopt the ring as Trinity's permanent class ring.

Efforts to standardize class rings have been unsuccessful in the past, and each class has made its own choice. The military style ring came second in the voting, and the expensive signet ring was last.

Orders for rings will be taken in the Bookstore between 9:00 A. M. and 1:00 P. M. on November 29.

The status of the accelerated students who began their courses in Summer School was discussed by the Senate at length. It was finally decided that the accelerated students should participate in the coming elections with the Freshman class.

The question of installing laundromats in the college was also discussed. The Administration had agreed to have two laundromats and a dryer installed if the suggestion was well received by the students. More than 300 evidenced enthusiasm for the plan, and the Senate passed a resolution to install campus laundry facilities.

Freedom Crusade Scrolls Signed Here

Hundreds of signatures were affixed to Crusade for Freedom scrolls yesterday in the second annual visit of that organization to Trinity College.

The signatures will be sent to the people of Berlin to affirm the American belief in freedom and in the fight of the German people against totalitarianism. They will be entrusted to "Radio Free Europe," a station in Berlin beamed to Russian-occupied territories in Europe.

The contributions of sixteen million Americans previous to this year made possible $1,317,000 worth of construction on the transmitter, which is the most powerful instrument of its kind in the world. The station itself began operation on July 4, 1950.

Frosh Dorm Council Discusses Violations

The freshman Inter-Dorm Council held a special meeting yesterday evening to discuss the future of freshmen putting up their dates in the dorms on special weekends.

They investigated in particular the case of the three first-year men who entered their dates' quarters in Jarvis 23 after 3 A. M. last Sunday morning.

This is the first time this year that a frosh dorm section has been made available for dates.

Fourteen Seniors Named To Intercollegiate "Who's Who"

Sophomore Dining Club Elects Ten Men

The Sophomore Dining Club elected ten new members from the Class of 1954 at a meeting held last Thursday evening at the Sigma Nu House, it was announced by William H. Hayward, president.

The new members are William M. Aiken, Louis J. Christakos, John N. Davenport, Richard A. Hennigar, Donald F. Johnston, David O. MacKay, Neil S. Mutschler, Frederick H. Searles, Albert L. Smith, and Thomas R. Tucker.

The Sophomore Dining Club is an honor society organized in 1897 whose purpose is to act as official host for the college. New members are elected from the sophomore class. The present membership is thirty-eight.

This year the Club has welcomed to the college the Dickinson, Colby, and Middlebury football teams, inviting the men to the fraternity houses and giving directions around the campus. The members have also assisted at the college lecture series on Thursday evenings.

Hamilton Discusses Abstract Art Periods

Dr. George Hamilton, Associate Professor of Fine Arts at Yale University, spoke last Thursday evening in the nearly filled Chemistry Auditorium on the subject of Abstract Art.

His speech was the second in the series of four lectures given this semester.

Dr. Hamilton's lecture dealt with three ages of abstract art: past, present, and future. He stated that if a discussion such as this had been held in Hartford around 1900 very few would have attended it.

Abstract Art in 1890

He added that between the years 1890 and 1910 abstract art was being born. At that time painters were just beginning to toy around with the subject. From approximately 1910 to 1930 some artists were searching for technique, and from 1930 to the present abstract art has been in the process of perfection.

"When will we return to realism?" is a question that countless scores of people have asked Dr. Hamilton. He asserted that since we have never left realism we cannot return to it. Through a series of black and white, (Continued on page 4.)

Biographies Printed In National Directory

Fourteen Trinity seniors were elected to appear in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, it was announced today.

The men selected for this honor by an anonymous committee from the college are Thomas DePatie, Richard Ellison, William Goralski, Robert Krogman, Antony Mason, Charles McElwee, Allan Miller, Finley Schaef, Edwin Shapiro, David Smith, James Stanley, Edward Thomas, Horace Vaile, and John Wynne.

Book Published In Summer

The biographies of these men will appear in the next issue of the Student Who's Who, which will be published early in the summer. That book has been in operation for sixteen years, and this year over six hundred institutions are cooperating in nominating men for publication.

Tom DePatie is a member of Alpha Chi Rho, a member of the Sophomore Dining Club, and the Medusa, and has won a letter in baseball and football. Dick Ellison is President of the Commons Club, Secretary of the Senate, Business Manager of WRTC, and Co-Captain and Coach of the fencing team.

Bill Goralski has won a letter in three major sports: football, basketball, and baseball, and this year is captain of the football team.

Bob Krogman, a member of Theta Xi, is Business Manager of the Tripod, Chapel verger, and an Illinois scholar. Tony Mason is a member of Alpha Delta Phi, the Sophomore Dining Club, the Medusa, and the Senate. He is also Captain of the swimming team.

Atheneum Defeats Amherst Debaters

The Atheneum Society gained a victory over Amherst November 19 through the efforts of two of its freshman debaters, Mario Cardwell and Keith Black.

The debate was on the national topic of Government control of wages and prices. The decision was rendered by Attorney James Egan and Mr. Eugene Davis, and although they gave the debate to Trinity's affirmative team, they presented the best speaker's award to Amherst's Robert Helander. The other Amherst speaker was Gene Specker.

2nd Tournament Coming

The Society will participate in its second intercollegiate invitational tournament of the year, November 30 to December 1, at Tufts. (The first was at the University of Connecticut, Oct. 17). Roger Harmon and Bruce Fox will debate the affirmative, while John Wynne and Ellerd Hulbert uphold the negative of the national topic: "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Adopt a Permanent Program of Wage and Price Controls."

Twenty or thirty colleges and universities are expected to participate—each school having a total of (Continued on page 4.)

NBC Program Dec. 16

Broadcasting over NBC on December 16, the Trinity Glee Club will participate in a program entitled "Songs From New England Colleges." The program will be broadcast over all New England stations, including WTIC in Hartford. This is the fourth year this program has been in existence, and the third time the Trinity Glee Club has participated. They will sing in Hamlin Dining Hall. The public is invited to attend.

On February 8, the Club will journey to Pembroke in Providence, R. I., and the return concert will be held here February 14. The Sarah Lawrence College Glee Club will join (Continued on page 4.)

At Last—A Traditional Ring

It is gratifying to note that in Trinity's 129th year, we have at last selected what will become a traditional college ring—we hope.

We applaud the Senate for taking the initiative in this long overdue move.

The Senate's decision to promote, through a ring committee, an all-college ballot to establish one Trinity Ring climaxes a series of scattered and less effective efforts over the past few years which have resulted in each new senior class selecting different ring designs from year to year. The short-lived results, however pretty in themselves, have had little meaning with regard to Trinity College.

In view of the careful, democratic manner in which the current balloting was carried out, the Tripod joins with the Senate in endorsing this latest selection as the official Trinity College Ring. Any attempts of future senior classes to embark on speers of individualism is to be discouraged.

We further urge, as a long-run consideration, that the Trinity design be submitted to all of the reputable ring companies for bids. The awarding of the contract to the lowest bidder would keep the cost down, which in turn, might prove to be an important practical factor in keeping our ring traditionally standard.

Another Football Season . . .

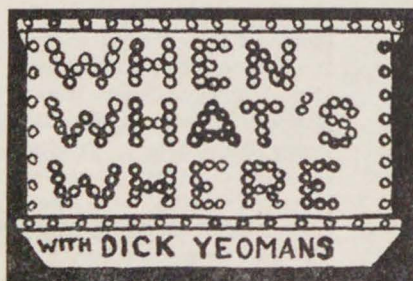

Another winning football season ends this week.

Seventeen seniors play their last game tomorrow against Tufts. These men—Captain Bill Goralski, Tom DePatie, Art French, Tom Head, Bob Hunter, Ed Kulas, Al Magnoli, Fred Minton, Chuck McElwee, Bob O'Brien, Red Ratcliffe, Don Rathbone, Dave Simmons, Dave Smith, George Smith, Bill Vibert and John Wentworth—have been a big part of Trinity's Golden Era of sports.

These fellows have been on a history-making combine. They have gone through two undefeated seasons, lost three times in their college career including once on their home field. That is quite a record.

Now, if the prognosticators are right, Trinity fans must realize that Dan Jessee will very likely lack enough material necessary to turn out the winning teams of the past few years.

Trinity may well lose more games in the next year or two than it has in the past several seasons. Students and alumni must face this reality. We hope that the highly successful campaigns of the past few seasons will not make poor sportsmen of us.

This is the time of year the amateur dramatic groups begin to show their offerings. One of the locals, the Cue and Curtain Club, gives their first play next Friday and Saturday, November 30 and December 1, at the Avery Memorial.

Under the title "Apron Strings," and being directed by Paul Neil de Sole, the play is a comedy which is really quite amusing.

Daniel, a young man with ideas of 20 years ago, falls in love with Barbara, a girl with very modern ideas. Daniel gets advice on conditions which arise from his mother. The fact that she is dead is a minor matter. A series of letters had been entrusted to her lawyer, one to be mailed as the need for its contents arises.

For example: Daniel is given the idea that a girl needs several weeks after her marriage before she gets

The Fetid Air

By Henry Eckford, II

Oops! It has come to my attention by manners devious and otherwise, that my column has been of great concern to some of its readers. By poison pen letters and reports from the grapevine, as well as from information my well-attuned ear takes in from the weeping wall, I am led to believe that some people have actually taken me seriously. Let me set the record straight.

Although it would seem a bit late in the game to suddenly come up with a Credo, or Declaration of Purpose, it is better late than never. In the first place, I have never taken anything in the world seriously (with the possible exception of myself). It would be hard for me to have written in such facetious tones had I had a real thought on the topic under discussion. Only once this year have I said anything in this space which might be construed as serious, and that was a couple of weeks ago on the idea of organized "pep." Other than that, I have never meant anything. I feel it below me to take a definite stand on anything—not only is it embarrassing, but it tends to land one in hot water. I don't like hot water; as a matter of fact, I rarely bathe.

In the second place, I'm jaded.

In the third place, I couldn't care less about anything that goes on around here. Go ahead, vote in the honor system; have P.E. twice a day; make those poor miserable freshmen wear short pants in winter; it doesn't bother me, for the reason stated in the third paragraph.

A happy and festive holiday to one and all—I sign off with the expectation that maybe five or six disgruntled students and the whole janitor's staff will be around by the time the Tripod comes off the presses and is safely ensconced in the racks provided for it on campus.

Efforts of Forty-Four People Required for Wesleyan Extra

The efforts of some 44 people went into last Saturday's Wesleyan Extra Issue. They ranged from clerks in the offices of the Bond Press and Watson Cheney to Al Kurland, Tripod sports editor and his assistant, Dave Fisher.

Actual preparation for the issue began several weeks ago, when, with the financial approval of the Business Manager, the Executive Board voted to put out the issue.

Members of the Business staff, under Bidwell Fuller, began contacting possible advertisers. Arrangements were completed with the Bond Press. Stan Miller, Tripod cartoonist, began work on the cartoon.

Under Editor Ed Shapiro, final plans for the Extra were made last Thursday. That afternoon the back page was laid out, the picture and ad arrangement decided and the captions written by Managing Editor Dick Yeomans. The Bond Press set up and printed the 1600 copies of page two Friday.

Kurland and Fisher alternated writing quarter periods of Saturday's game. As each was completed, teams of drivers and runners took copy to the printer, where a typesetter was waiting. When the final whistle sounded, the first three periods were already set and proof-read. The fourth quarter copy, a lead paragraph and final statistics were on their way within 30 minutes.

Not expecting the outcome of the game to be as it was, the head TRIN WINS had already been put in the page form. However, the letters WES were close at hand—just in case. It later developed that no one at the Bond Press Saturday knew where the rest of this large type was kept; the editors are still wondering (Continued on page 4.)

over her "timidity." When he marries a girl like Barbara, the consequences are not hard to imagine.

Special reduced-price tickets are available to Trinity students. Regular $1.50 seats are $1 for each performance. Two-play subscriptions are also available for $1.75. Interested students may contact this column.

Hilltoppers Favored Over Tufts Eleven In Thanksgiving Day Contest Tomorrow

Seventeen Seniors In Final Contest

By Jim McAlpine

Trinity's football team will be the odds-on favorite tomorrow as they travel to Medford, Massachusetts to meet the Tufts College Jumbos in the closing game of the season.

It will be the 10th meeting of these teams and the second as a Thanksgiving Day contest. Last year Trinity was an easy victor, 48-6.

Tufts has had a winless season, losing to Bowdoin 47-7, Northeastern 39-7, Middlebury 14-13, Williams 47-0, Amherst 21-13, and New Hampshire 60-0.

Trinity Has Scored 198 Points

The Jumbos have been able to score only 59 points in eight games and have not scored more than 13 in any one contest. So far Trinity has scored 198 points in its seven contests and, with the exception of the Wesleyan game, has scored three or more touchdowns against each of its opponents.

Tufts has fought hard all season but always seemed to fall short of victory. The Jumbos played well against Middlebury and Amherst but were not strong enough to come out the victor, and two weeks ago New Hampshire took them apart 60-0. Last weekend, however, Tufts came back and tied Massachusetts 6-6.

Looking over the statistics and records of both clubs, it looks as if Trinity will overcome the Jumbos easily and end the season with another lop-sided victory.

Freshmen Lose to Massachusetts, 13-0

The Trinity freshmen closed out a losing grid season last Friday, by dropping a close 13-0 decision to the "Redmen" of the University of Massachusetts.

The two teams battled on even terms through most of the first quarter, with Trinity having a slight edge. Just before the close of the quarter, however, a hard charging Massachusetts lineman broke through and blocked a punt by Bill Rhodes, and the "Redmen" took over on the Trinity 27-yard line, as the quarter ended.

Kovalski Scores

After eight second quarter plays, Massachusetts pushed across what proved to be the winning touchdown, as the quarterback, Kovalski, scored on an end run. The extra point was good, and the score was 7-0. The rest of the quarter was uneventful, and the half ended with the "Redmen" on top, 7-0.

After the kickoff, the two teams exchanged fumbles before Trinity made its first serious move of the day. Magelaner hit end Ed Lindenmeyer with passes good for 22 and 28 yards respectively. The Trinmen could not push this advantage, however, and Massachusetts took the ball.

Burton Excels

From this moment until the end of the game, it was all Massachusetts, except for several nice runs by team captain John Burton. The "Redmen" ran through and around the Trinity line until fullback DiBiao plunged over to give them their second touchdown and the game 13-0.

The first Trinity-Wesleyan game was played in 1885. The winner was Wesleyan, by an overwhelming score, 60-6. William Barber, '88, was the Trinity captain; he was the only man in Trinity football history to be elected captain for three consecutive years.

Frosh Soccer Club Tops Wesleyan, 5-2; Lunt-to-Royston Combo Scores Twice

The Trinity freshman soccer team fought its way to a 5-2 win over the Wesleyan yearlings on a soggy, mud-ridden field last Thursday.

Lunt and Royston Score Again

Exactly one minute later, this same combination, Lunt and Royston, hit for another goal to give the locals a 2-0 lead. A few minutes after this, Bill Booth charged down the middle and netted the ball for the final score of the period, making the count 3-0, Trinity.

In the second quarter, the respective defenses took charge, and neither team was able to score.

Wesleyan Rallies

In the third quarter, the Cards came to life, both defensively and offensively. Goalie Keena made two sensational stops, one with his head and the other on a penalty kick by O'Connell.

Near the mid-point of the period, Marshall scored the first Wesleyan goal. With thirty seconds remaining in the period, Trofymeko of Wesleyan sent his penalty kick into the Trinity nets, making the score Trinity 3, Wesleyan 2.

Close Scores

A short while later, Wade Close scored one for Trinity, to give the Bantams a two-goal lead at the end of the quarter.

In the final period, neither club could score, until Lunt counted for Trinity on a penalty kick. The game ended soon after with the same score, Trinity 5, Wesleyan 2.

Soccer Team Ends Season With Loss To Yale, 1-0, Tie With Cardinals, 1-1

By Fred MacColl and Ted Oxholm

Yale's talented booters edged a courageous Trinity soccer team last Wednesday 1-0 on a rain-soaked field that had the players fighting to retain their footings rather than kicking goals.

Although Yale seemed to maneuver more efficiently in the sloppy mud than did Trin, the Eli did not outplay the men from the Hilltop. It was decidedly a game of who could retain control of the ball in their attacking zone. For, once in enemy territory, the mud managed to engulf the ball, and gave the defenders a ticklish time as they attempted to clear it out of danger.

Cordes Scores for Yale

Yale's score by Capt. Cordes came as a result of a mele in front of the Trin goal at 10:30 of the final period. It could be termed as lucky inasmuch as it was more the inability of the backs to clear the ball than the skill of the Eli forwards to maneuver a scoring thrust, for the goal was kicked from in close.

After this score, Yale pressed the attack to its fullest but Capt. Scott and his defense were impregnable. And, although Trinity had a few opportunities to tie the game up, the Yale goalie was equal to his task and stopped the Trin marksmen. With less than two minutes to go, Trinity had an out-of-bounds kick deep in Yale territory, but on a high kick in front of the goal-mouth none of the Trinity forwards could apply his head to the ball at close quarters which would have meant the equalizer.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 27...THE LYNX

This sporty student really teed off on a long tirade when he found himself stymied on the "single puff" and "one sniff" cigarette tests. "They're strictly for the birdies!" said he. He realized that cigarette mildness requires more deliberation than a cursory inhale or exhale. Millions of smokers concur — there's only one true test of mildness and flavor in a cigarette.

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

Approved Today

Dr. Hamilton said that there is no question of abstract art being accepted today, as it already has a stamp of approval. The reason that most of the younger, more-gifted painters turn to abstract art is that they feel one should not imitate what he is trying to create.

Following the lecture was a discussion period.

what would have happened if the game had ended in a tie.

To make the corrections required only a few minutes (most of the copy had Farese spelled Faresa). The type was put in its columns, adjusted to fit, locked together and was ready for printing.

One hour after the game ended, the Extra was on the presses. By 5:40 the job was done. A stop at the Hartford Courant with the first copies of the Tripod scoop and to give that paper the story delayed distribution ten minutes. At 6:20, however, the Extra had reached every fraternity house and campus distribution spot. The game had been over two and a half hours.

The Bond Press used 15 of their staff Friday and Saturday to do the printing. Another ten at Watson Cheney Photoengraving Company worked making the cut of the cartoon. The Tripod used some nineteen more.

The proposed entertainment of veterans in the fraternity houses after the Wesleyan game was called off because hospital officials felt that the weekend parties would put too much of a strain on the disabled veterans.

twelve debates in the two days—six on Friday and six on Saturday. A dance is scheduled for that Friday night with girls from Jackson College as hostesses. The following Saturday evening, the debaters will be guests at a banquet for the presentation of the tournament trophy and the making of awards.

Debate on Vatican

"Resolved: That the U. S. Send an Ambassador to the Vatican" was the topic under discussion in an intracampus debate on Thursday, November 15. Dave Seufert and Roger Harmon upheld the Negative, while Mort Shechtman and Joe Michel advanced the proposal. Rendering a decision upon the debate only, Chaplain O'Grady, Professor Downs, and Professor Fanta awarded the victory to the negative team.

Both teams were exceptionally good under the dismal playing conditions. Perhaps the outstanding features of the game were a slick-passing Yale forward line and a spirited Trinity defense.

The soccer team closed a successful season last Saturday, holding Wesleyan, the Little Three champion, to a 1-1 tie in a game which included two overtime periods.

Playing on a muddy field, neither team was able to use its offensive strength effectively. The first period was devoid of scoring, but Trinity made the first goal, on a boot by Maury Fremont-Smith, in the second canto.

Scott Outstanding

During the first half, and through most of the third quarter, the Trinity defense was impregnable. Fullbacks Bill Tryon and Dave MacKenzie, backed up by co-captain and goalie Put Scott, played their finest game of the season. But with less than a minute left in the third period, Wesleyan center Jim Sailer shot one past Scott, and the score was tied, 1-1.

The Trinity defense then tightened up again, and the Cardinals failed to find another opportunity to score.

The Trinity offense continually pummeled the Wesleyan goal, but Jim Reap, the goalie, and the rest of the Wesleyan defense were equal to the task.
