

Francis Bridge Appointed New Admissions Director

Is Present Admission Asst. at Dartmouth

Mr. Francis Gardiner Bridge, assistant to the Director of Admissions at Dartmouth, has been appointed Director of Admissions at Trinity, it was announced yesterday to the faculty by President Albert C. Jacobs.

In announcing the appointment, Dr. Jacobs said, "We are most fortunate to have Mr. Bridge join our staff. The position of admissions director is one of the most important posts at Trinity, and will become even more demanding in the years to come when the increasing number of applications will make the role of admission officer a most vital factor in the success of our college."

Assumes Peelle's Office

Mr. Bridge is assuming the position vacated by William R. Peelle when Mr. Peelle joined a Middletown business firm in December. Mr. Bridge will officially begin his duties on July 1.

A Dartmouth Graduate

Mr. Bridge, a native of St. Louis, Mo., attended the John Burroughs School, and is a graduate of Dartmouth, where he is presently assistant to the Director of Admissions, a post he has held since 1952.

He previously taught at Hebron Academy, Hebron, Me., and assisted in enrollment work. From 1953-1945 he was employed in Hartford as a supervisor in the training department of Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Corp.

Smith, Muir to Continue

Mr. Thomas A. Smith, '50, Acting Director of Admissions since Mr. Peelle's resignation, and Mr. W. Howie Muir, '51, will continue their work in the admissions office.

Mr. Bridge is Chairman of the Handover Chapter of the American Red Cross and has been on its executive committee since 1953, when he was chairman of the fund drive. At Dartmouth he was a member of Alpha Delta Phi.

Dante Group Honors Prof. Louis Naylor

Dr. Louis H. Naylor, professor of romance languages at the College, has been honored by selection to the Dante Society of America for his "encouragement of the study of the life and works of Dante."

The Society, located in Cambridge, Mass., was founded in 1881 by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, James Russell Lowell and other Dante enthusiasts. Longfellow, Lowell and Charles Eliot Norton were its first three presidents. The Society was incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1954.

Dr. Naylor has headed the romance languages department at Trinity since 1950, and has been a faculty member there since 1923.

He is a former president of the Connecticut Chapter of the New England Modern Language Association. He is also a former president of the Alliance Francaise of Hartford and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

A graduate of Johns Hopkins University, where he received the bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees, he was a graduate fellow at the University of Liege in Belgium in 1920-21. He is the author of "Chateaubriand and Virgil."

Senators Talk On Bookstore's High Prices

A widespread opinion among the students, about the prices charged at the Union Bookstore here was made known at the Senate meeting Monday evening. It was disclosed that the prices of books and other items in the College bookstore are markedly higher than the prices charged for similar merchandise at other colleges and universities.

President Zimmerman opened the discussion by pointing out that many students have complained to him about the prices now being charged. After several comments from the floor, it was decided to study the constitution regulating the operation of the bookstore, and to investigate the situation. The matter will be brought up again next week.

Other items on the agenda of the Senate included the passing of two bills.

The first of these was a motion to loan the senior class $250 to serve as a deposit for the band which will play at the Senior Ball.

The second bill passed authorized the Senate to make up the deficit incurred this past year by the Cheerleaders.

Selective Service Exam

The Selective Service College Qualification Test will be given at the College on April 19, 1956. Midnight, March 5 is the deadline for mailing applications. Applications may be secured from the Office of the Veteran Counselor on the 2nd floor of Williams Memorial. Ask to see Miss Davis.

Smith, Trinity Voices Will Blend In Performance of "Lord Nelson"

One hundred and fifty voices from the Trinity and Smith College choral groups will present the Haydn "Lord Nelson" Mass in D minor at a concert Saturday February 18th in the Trinity Chapel. The performance will be presented under the combined direction of Mr. Clarence Barber and Miss Helen Stott, director of the Smith Chorus.

Noted Soloist

Miss Dorothy Feldman, noted soprano, will be soloist for the Mass which was composed in 1798 and is known as the "Coronation" or "Imperial" Mass. Miss Feldman holds degrees in both voice and piano from the Eastman School of Music and in voice from the University of Michigan. She has performed with the New York Philharmonic Chamber Orchestra, the Rochester Philharmonic, the Detroit Symphony and Oratorio Society. She has appeared in "Cavalleria Rusticana", "La Traviata" and "La Boheme" by the Amherst Community Opera, "The Beggar's Opera" produced by Amherst College and played the lead in "The Chocolate Soldier" at the University of Michigan Summer Theatre. Miss Feldman has taught voice at the Interlochen Music Camp and the University of Michigan and piano at the Eastman School of Music.

The choir from Smith is made up of eighty selected voices from the freshman class, chosen on the basis of competitive try-outs by over 450 students. This choir is one of three

Social Season Opened Feb. 10 By Junior Prom

Winter's winds may blow, but they will be forgotten as a host of beauties from all corners of the collegiate world arrive on campus Friday for the Junior Prom and its associated parties.

Couples will dance at the Hartford Club from 9 to 1 to the music of Richard Linsen and his thirteen piece orchestra. During intermission the Summit Street Six, The Pipes and the newly formed Bishop's Men will provide a varied program of entertainment.

House party plans for the fraternities go as follows:

Alpha Chi Rho: Friday afternoon cocktail party and banquet following. Saturday afternoon cocktails, followed by house party that evening.

Alpha Delta Phi: Friday afternoon cocktails, Saturday night a "Spook" party will be held amidst a spooky set of cellar decorations. Sunday afternoon the Alpha Deltas will have a jazz concert.

The Dekes will hold a Friday cocktail party. On Saturday they will have another one. That evening they will have a Mardi Gras type party and a Sunday jazz concert.

A "Pea-Picking" party and square dance will crown the Saturday night activities at Delta Phi. On Friday evening they will have a formal dinner.

Delta Psi men and their guests will be entertained by a jazz band Saturday afternoon and a dance that night.

Kappa Psi will have an Artists Ball Saturday night followed by a skating party. Friday evening cocktails will be served.

Saturday afternoon Marie Blake of Greenwich Village will sing at Pi Kappa Alpha. A buffet supper and lunch will be served Friday and Saturday for the PiKA's and Saturday night they will have a House Party. (Continued on page 6)

Taylor Reviews Religious Art In Chapel Talk

By Frank Barrie

"Of all the reasons that stimulate the making of art, the religious one is perhaps the oldest and most constant. This has always been one of art's chief functions," said Dr. John C. E. Taylor, of the fine arts department, in his February 2nd chapel speech. His speech was another in the series of "The Christian in the Academic World."

He said that great art also inspired us to greater worship. Here he mentioned the cathedrals of Chartres in France and St. Mark's in Venice and said how much more a building like that inspired us than one of simple design. He continued "But you might ask, doesn't this make us dependent on the right setting for worshipping God? Are we that weak, is our faith that dim and wavering? . . . I do not suggest for a moment that we should depend on any of the arts for the sustenance of our faith. That would be contrary to everything that Christianity stands for."

As he said later in the speech, "No where in the New Testament do we find a reference made to the fine arts. In fact, in the Sermon on the Mount, Our Lord speaks of the lilies in the field, and says that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. This suggests among other things that man-made beauty is poor indeed beside that of nature."

Beauty Is the Evidence of Art

"But if we believe that man-made beauty is evidence of God working through man, then it is beyond doubt that great art in the service of religion can greatly aid us." He mentioned how much more inspired we were when we saw a beautifully made cross rather than two sticks of wood tied together.

The final topic of the talk by Dr. Taylor was that great art also consisted of sincerity. He commented, "Sincerity is just as necessary as beauty if religious art is to perform its function . . . Sincerity is the driving power behind the skill."

In conclusion Dr. Taylor said that the great religious artists had "given the best they had to the best they knew."

Bill Barnewall, '55 Dies in Auto Crash

William H. Barnewall, '55, died early Monday morning, February 6, from injuries incurred in an automobile crash in Rye, New York the previous day. The car which he was driving went off the road and collided with a tree.

At College "Barney" was a member of Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity, and prepared at Deerfield Academy. He starred in the Jesters' production last spring, and was one of the Senior Jesters.

A veteran sailing enthusiast, Bill Barnewall was a charter member of the Corinthian Yacht Club. He also held the position of second diver on the swimming team. He was a junior adviser, and graduated as an English major.

Frosh Pre-Exam Party Exhilarating

"It's not that I'm mad at you men," said Dean Joseph Clarke to a meeting of the freshman class held the Tuesday before exams, "it's just that I'm disappointed in your conduct."

The Dean of Students then began to reprimand the frosh for the deplorable condition of the freshman dorms, especially New Dorm, after a wild party night held just before Christmas vacation began. Windows were broken, floors torn up, doors were damaged, and ceilings were ruined by the over-jubilant 59'ers.

Dean Clarke warned the students never to allow such actions to occur again or the College would be forced to give the Junior Advisors a tighter rein. He also warned that the Medusa might be used to enforce more strictly the College rules, especially those dealing with alcoholic beverages in the dorms.

IFC Warns Frosh About Illegal Rushing Penalties

To the Freshman Class:

Recently several cases of alleged illegal rushing were tried before the Interfraternity Council. For the first time, the freshmen involved appeared at the council meeting with the accused fraternity men. These freshmen, without exception, pleaded that they were not familiar with the rushing rules. This is no excuse. We were lenient with them, but will not be so in the future.

The rules state that freshmen shall be held as responsible for illegal rushing as the fraternities. This means that you must familiarize yourselves with the complete code, as it is printed in the gold-covered Trinity Handbook. By not knowing these rules, and becoming implicated in illegal rushing, you may forfeit your right to join a fraternity when you return here as eligible sophomores in September.

By knowing your rushing rules you are helping not only the fraternities and yourselves, but you are providing a stronger base for our fraternity system at Trinity.

Kimball Shaw,
President, Interfraternity Council

THE IFC AND PRECEDENTS

The opinion that there is a great deal of room for improvement in the constitution of the IFC has gained the solidity and integrity which only age can give. It is edifying to see that at last that organization has done some thinking about this problem.

We are happy to learn that the freshmen as well as the fraternity men involved in the incident referred to above were brought before the IFC. We believe that the freshmen have an equal responsibility in adhering to the rushing regulations.

Any law must of necessity be general in order to be applicable to every situation. Because of this a specific incident requires interpretation. One of the most important duties of the IFC is to interpret the spirit of its rules as they apply to any particular case. This duty, we believe, is one which involves a tremendous amount of careful thinking and responsibility, especially in view of the fact that whenever the IFC makes an interpretation it sets a precedent which future IFC's will follow.

In the past, there have been several cases of illegal rushing brought before the IFC. The punishment dealt out as a result of these trials has never affected the freshmen involved. The IFC has set a precedent in this latest incident—a precedent which we hope they will sincerely follow. Whether or not a freshman regrets having to wait a full year before joining a fraternity, he is just as responsible for observing and obeying the rushing rules as the fraternity men. Because of this he is equally liable for the penalties meted out for infringement of these regulations. We heartily approve of the IFC's intention. The sincerity of that intention, however, still remains to be proven.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY JOE

The Tripod wishes to convey its sincere best wishes to Dean Joseph C. Clarke, who will celebrate his fiftieth birthday tomorrow. He has spent twenty-seven of these years serving Trinity in several capacities. Besides his duties as Dean of Students and Registrar, he has been the coach of the varsity swimming team and is an Associate Professor of Physical Education. He has carried the Trinity banner while serving on many civic and community boards. He is Director of the Hartford Times Camp for Underprivileged Children, Vice president of the Board of Trustees of the Goodwill Boys Club of Hartford, and Chairman of the Water Safety Commission of the Connecticut Red Cross.

Karl Kurth Defends P. E. Requirements for Vets

To the Editor of the Tripod:

This letter is being written at the request of the Tripod staff. The several articles relative to required Physical Education for veterans, appearing in recent issues of the Tripod, have been critical of existing Physical Education requirements. Their thesis apparently is to formulate special educational requirements for veterans as differentiated from non-veterans. In order to justify a dual requirement it is necessary to assume either or both of the following: (1) A veteran should be granted a degree from Trinity College without benefit of Physical Education in all its aspects, despite the fact it is required of all undergraduates; (2) the veteran, through his Service experience, has attained all the objectives of the program, i.e., to secure and maintain a condition of good health and physical fitness, to develop recreational skill which can be enjoyed while in college and in leisure time after college, to establish habits of regular participation, and to develop favorable attitudes toward wholesome play.

Those who have had Military Service experience are well aware that only in a few isolated instances does a Serviceman receive formal instruction in leisure time carry-over sports such as golf, tennis, squash racquets, and the like. Once basic training is completed, the majority of Physical Education activities in the Service are of a voluntary recreational nature.

It may well be stated here that veterans' cases are considered individually in an honest effort to reduce or avoid hardship.

Past experience of our Alumni has shown clearly that, although they were not always anxious to complete the requirement while at college, many have returned to say they were glad the College insisted upon the requirement. What a student deems most valuable does not always prove to be the case. Can we tell how many lives may be saved as a result of our undergraduates all being required to take swimming and water survival—"The life you save may be your own"; it may even be the life of your child.

Following World War II many colleges and universities waived the Physical Education requirement for two reasons, namely the lack of facilities and the lack of personnel. Four years ago Trinity College reduced the Physical Education requirement from three years to two years. The above-stated reasons were major factors in affecting this change at Trinity.

Physical Education is an integral phase of a well-rounded education. Why, therefore, should it not be required of all who seek a Trinity diploma? Nicholas Murray Butler, Past President of Columbia University, said of leisure and education, "How many human beings are capable of good use of leisure, or of understanding what the opportunities of leisure are? That understanding is one of the best products of a liberal education. Sports are well enough in their way, but save for those professionally devoted to them, they cannot occupy more than a limited amount of one's free time. There are, of course, many uses of leisure which are wholly admirable, but it requires some knowledge and some experience to know how to take advantage of them."

During the last several decades the American mode of life has developed to a point where the average individual has considerably more free time which may be fruitfully devoted to wholesome, healthful leisure time activity. I believe that Trinity College carries a major responsibility in this effort.

Sincerely yours, Karl Kurth, Jr.

Library Owns Set of Books By Audubon Worth $30,000

Valued at $30,000, one of the two hundred original, complete sets of John James Audubon's "Birds of America" is owned by the College Library, in the Russell Collection of Natural History. Believed to be the finest copy of Audubon's work, the original prints were selected and colored by the engraver, Robert Havell, as his personal copy of Audubon's elephant folios. Each original page is larger than two newspaper pages.

Recently, a 1956 Bird Calendar Engagement Book was edited by Marjorie P. Gray and published by Grant Hill Publishing Company in Bloomfield. Opposite every page of engagements in the wire-bound pad is an Audubon bird illustration, photographed from the College's valuable collection of "Birds of America." The precise black and white photographs were taken by Art Brown, class of 1950, who is with the Bond Press, printers of the Tripod for forty-three years, and who also did the lithography work necessary to reproduce Trinity's famous Audubon bird prints.

The Engraver, Mr. Havell, produced the original plates between 1827 and 1838 for Audubon. In 1839, Havell moved to America and shortly before his death in 1878 held an exhibition and sale at his home in Tarrytown of paintings and books, including this copy of the Audubon birds. They were purchased at the sale by a Mr. Francis of New York, from whom Dr. Gurdon W. Russell of Hartford purchased the volumes in the same year. Dr. Russell was a graduate of Trinity in the class of 1834 and one of Hartford's most distinguished citizens. His noted library on natural history contained all of the Audubon originals plus two hundred and seventy-five other volumes, all of which he willed to the College to form the Russell Collection of Natural History.

Dr. Morse Writes Book of Verse; Termed "Disturbing"

The Scattered Causes: Dr. Samuel French Morse, 1955; Alan Swallow, Denver, $2.50; 61 pp.

REVIEWED by REMINGTON ROSE

Recently published under the title of The Scattered Causes is the latest collection of poems by Dr. Samuel French Morse, assistant professor in our English department. Mr. Morse was born in Massachusetts, but he looks upon Maine as his home. Educated at Dartmouth and Harvard and receiving his Ph.D. from Boston University, he taught at Harvard and the University of Maine before coming to Hartford. Married to the former Jane Crowell, they have a year-old son, and Mr. Morse is not teaching any undergraduate courses this semester as he is engaged in further work on the writings of Wallace Stevens, the famed Hartford poet, who died last year.

Mr. Morse's verses are not easy to read; they refuse to be quickly swallowed and categorized as representative of this tradition or that. Influenced by Stevens, possibly Eliot, and seemingly the late French symbolists, his work is disturbing and challenging, demanding concentration upon and a desire for communication coupled with a willingness to work toward it. The poems are strongly personal, sometimes, perhaps, too much so, but the sharp, scattered images which must emerge demand synthesis. The poet's anger at men's quarrels, a metaphor of prehistoric art, the sensuous sweetness of flowers, an allusion to Mallory, the clear tang of New England—all this and more serve to puzzle, then to fascinate, but, perhaps, never to completely satisfy. One is left with a sense of something else, something missed, something better grasped from a different perspective or a different attitude on the part of the conscientious reader.

This is not a book with which to begin a study of contemporary American verse; its subjective viewpoints and widely varied metaphors may make it difficult at first. But the perceptive and receptive reader will be rewarded by a curious and stimulating sense of understanding, and bettered by the resolve to sharpen his senses and his insight.

Those of us who have studied under Mr. Morse know his interest in the problem of encouraging, or even maintaining, creativity on an artistic level while concentrating upon academic duties, and his belief in the possibility of such encouragement is convincingly illustrated by his work. Yet not only is The Scattered Causes proof that poetic creation of a sensitive kind is possible in spite of embroilment in what might seem too pedantic an atmosphere for a poet, it further demands agreement, respectfully given, with another of Mr. Morse's beliefs—the responsibility of the reader as well as of the poet to initiate and sustain communication. The writing of poetry is an art, and so, in a sense, is the reading of it. Likewise, both are difficult to do well, yet done well both are intensely satisfying. In The Scattered Causes the writing has been done; the rest is up to us . . . and it is well worth the effort.

Development Program to Seek 4 Million Dollars

Survey Discloses 5 Campaign Objectives

A $4,570,000 goal has been set by the Board of Trustees as the College's "Program of Progress." The development campaign was launched at the Board's annual winter meeting.

"The Program of Progress," stated President Jacobs, "will be the first major capital campaign for funds at Trinity since the 125th Anniversary Development Program in 1946, '47, '48. By strengthening the College's resources and by adding certain new tools of education, such as buildings and modern equipment, Trinity can perform a service of even higher calibre."

Robert S. Morris, '16, a Hartford businessman, has been chosen to head the National Committee as chairman. The Honorary National Chairman will be Martin W. Clement, '01, formerly Chairman of the Board of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He is also the author of "Pigskin Parade."

A comprehensive survey of the College's needs was made as the primary step of the program and five objectives were decided upon. These are:

1. To lift faculty salaries to a competitive level and furnish the environment for creative thought.
2. To enhance student life by providing first-rate facilities for living and for extra-curricular activities. New dormitories and a student center are planned.
3. To update facilities for teaching physics and life-sciences by erecting a modern laboratory building.

4. To bring a Trinity education within reach of superior young men unable to finance the whole cost themselves.

5. Finally, to provide funds to replace annual giving during the campaign and for special, non-recurring projects.

The campaign will be launched locally in late February, and in the Spring and Fall of 1956 will be expanded throughout other parts of the country.

New Exhibits Shown In College Library

As part of a Middle Ages series sent out by Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the College Library reading room is exhibiting a pictorial display on Monasticism. The Museum will supply the College with a different exhibit on a section of Medieval life every two weeks from now through May.

The Bethlehem Steel Company has placed a lighted board in the library lobby showing the wide range of operations the corporation is engaged in. This exhibit is to coincide with the visit of Mr. Horace Houghton, company representative, who will be at Trinity February 15.

Canterbury Club meeting on Sunday, Feb. 5.

In his speech Dean Horton stressed that people today must come to understand others if they are going to be in the ecumenical movement. This movement is the joining together of the Churches of Christ such as the World Federation of Churches. This he said was started in 1910 in Edinburgh with the meeting of the missionaries of non-western lands. The need for unity in this field was evident in missionary work in India where the out-castes, who were united, would not become Christians because it would mean the end of their unity. From this meeting the International Missionary Council was established. This was the starting gun of the movement which led to the World Federation of Churches, which so recently had its second meeting in Evanston, Illinois.

Dean Horton also said that he believed unity would eventually come someday in the distant future and pointed out two things we as individuals could do. First, understand ourselves, that is know our own religions; and second, was to bring ourselves up to date on other religions.

Cagers Bow to Panthers For Second Loss in Row

Vermontmen Victors In Lopsided Affair

The Bantam Cagers seemed to be in the midst of a mid-season slump this evening as they bowed to Middlebury by the lopsided score of 76-56. It was the 8th victory in 14 starts for the Panthers, being Trinity's second loss in a row after winning their first five games.

Accurate Shooting Sets Pace

Middlebury's Charlie Sykes and Jim Wagner set the pace in the first half with accurate shooting to cop the lead 35-16. Trin fell still further behind, trailing at one point 43-20, but then put on a full court press to cut the lead to only a ten-point margin, 59-49. That was the closest they could come with the Panthers going on to win, 76-56.

Johnny Hopps led the Middlebury aggregation with 17 points followed closely by teammates Sykes and Wagner with 16 apiece. Center Bob Godfrey headed the Blue and Gold efforts with 16 tallies and sophomore Jack McGowan was next with 14.

Shooting Inaccurate

The game was one of the poorest of the season for the Bantams. Both floor and foul shooting were very inaccurate. Middlebury made only 24 of 36 foul attempts while the Hilltoppers got but 16 out of 24, both for a 66 2/3% average.

This week the Bantams have two home games in the Memorial Field House. Union poses the opposition on Feb. 7th followed by Bates on the 11th before the Junior Prom Week-end crowd. The return of ailing coach Ray Oosting to court side should be a great boost to the faltering Bantams.

Swanson Honored by Soccer Recognition

Ken Swanson, senior standout on the Blue and Gold soccer team during the past season, has been named honorable mention All-American, it was announced last month.

Scores Half of Goals

Swanson, a product of Hall High School, led the Bantams to a three won, three lost season by scoring half of the 12 goals amassed in the team's efforts during the fall. Two of the regularly scheduled contests were cancelled, and Swanson failed to see action in the Wesleyan fray due to an injury.

Other recent Trinity players to join the ranks of All-Americans were Pete Carlough and Neil Mutchler who were picked to the first team two years ago, and George Lunt who was chosen for the second team. The selections are made by the National Soccer Coaches Association.

First Team Members

Sticka Awaits All-Star Game

Charley Sticka, the Little All-American fullback who blasted his way into the national sports scene last fall, will accept an invitation to play in the annual Pro-Collegian All-Star game in August, informed sources recently revealed.

Receives Invitation Letter

The Natick, Mass. senior received a letter from Ray Richards, coach of the Chicago Cardinals, asking him to participate in Chicago's Soldiers' Field midsummer spectacular. Richards is aiding in the selection of the forty-four men comprising the collegiate squad which will face the Cleveland Browns, professional world champions. Sticka stated that the only other eastern player contacted, to his knowledge, has been John Bredice, rangy end of Boston University.

Alexander Also Drafted

Sticka was one of two Trinity grid-ders to be drafted by a professional club. The Los Angeles Rams selected him on the tenth round of the drafting, while Bob Alexander, the pin-point passer from West Hartford, was chosen by the Chicago Bears, and is awaiting further word.

Monday, February 20

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS

- Any B.A. or B.S. degree.
- Mathematics through differential and integral calculus.
- One year of college physics (additional courses in chemistry or related sciences desirable).
- A good scholastic standing in undergraduate work, particularly in math and science courses.
- Desire to pursue a career in engineering.

PRATT & WHITNEY AIRCRAFT, one of America's greatest engineering organizations, is offering a comprehensive engineering course to qualified B.A. or B.S. graduates. Throughout the training period, those enrolled in this program will be paid a liberal salary — with increases as scholastic progress is shown.

The educational program itself will be conducted, at our expense, by one of the nation's foremost engineering colleges. Graduates of this 30-week course will be assigned to our engineering department. Here, they will be given the opportunity to do creative engineering work on the world's finest aircraft engines.

Such an unusual opportunity should be fully investigated by B.A. or B.S. graduates with engineering interest. Further information and literature can be obtained from the College Placement Office — appointments for interviews can also be made.

Frosh Swimmers Ready For Williston, Mt. Hermon

Home and away meets this week will provide the freshman swimmers an opportunity to climb above the .500 percentage mark. This afternoon the frosh travel to Williston Academy and will play the role of host to Mt. Hermon Saturday at 2:30 in Trowbridge Memorial Pool.

Drop Season Opener

After dropping the season's opener to Hotchkiss, the yearling tankers bounced back to dump Canterbury last Saturday in a meet highlighted by some very fine times, according to Coach Slaughter.

Leading freestylers on the team include Bill Mannion, Brian Nelson, Walt Burns, and Barry Shechtman, with other point-makers being Phil Jacklin, Pete Onderdonk, Bill Johnson, Butch Lieber, and Jared Long.

Bantams Await Home Contests

Two important home basketball tilts confront the Trinity varsity this week, as Union and Bates invade Memorial Field House. Coach Ray Oosting's outfit is trying to shake off a two-game losing skein after having started off with a blistering showing of five straight victories.

Union, which provided the opposition last night, appears to be less formidable than the Bates contingent, making its appearance Saturday night. The Schenectady, N. Y., team has four of its five starters returning from the squad which Trinity dumped last season. Even though Union recently lost a 92-66 decision to a Williams five which bowed to Trinity 68-64, Coach Oosting believes that the Empire Staters have been getting progressively better and cannot be taken too lightly. Last Saturday they lost to a powerful Amherst team, Trin's next week's opponents, by an 86-63 count.

Bates on the other hand, has one of their best teams in years, recently beating Colby, a perennial New England powerhouse for the first time in ten years. Bates' two standouts appear to be Manteiga, who dropped in twenty-nine points against the Bantams last year, and Hartleb, a key man in a fine fast-breaking offense. Manteiga, besides being the possessor of a deadly jump shot, is an excellent rebounder.

The Trinity team and coaching staff, it may be added, feel that student support, which was greatly lacking in the first two home games, will be an important factor in the remaining games.

Twenty Midsemester Skiers Net One Injury; Renkert '56

Approximately twenty students from the College went on ski trips during the mid-semester vacation. This year David P. Renkert, a senior from Canton, Ohio, was the only student to break a bone while skiing. Last year there was a grand total of three injuries.

Lord Jeffs Invade Memorial Pool As Trin Tankmen End Long Layoff

The Trinity tankmen resume activity after a three week layoff when they engage Amherst in the field house pool tonight at 8:15 p.m.

Trinity coach Art Christ has called Amherst "probably one of the better clubs we will face this season," and he has indicated he expects a tough battle for his undefeated squad. The Trinity tankers have thus far downed Tufts, 58-26, and the strong Bowdoin team, 47-37.

Leading the Trinity parade will be co-captains Hugh Zimmerman and Don Scott, along with the high scoring Walt Shannon and Ron Boss. Scott and Shannon star in the freestyle, while Zimmerman tops the backstrokers and Boss is the leading diver.

Amherst will counter with strong ammunition. Bob Keiter set a new Amherst record in the Yale meet, and tied the New England record in the 50-yard freestyle. Robinson (Sonny) Hollister, captain of the squad who participates in the backstroke and individual medley, has also been a strong scorer.

Although loaded with potential, the Amherst squad has only two victories in five starts. In their opener they were thumped by Yale, 19-65, then dumped by the University of Connecticut, 43-41, lost to Brown, 31-53, to Dartmouth, 26-57, and in their last start beat the University of Massachusetts, 47-40.

JV Basketeers Eye St. Thomas Invaders

St. Thomas Seminary will provide the opposition for the junior varsity basketeers Saturday afternoon at three o'clock as the visiting five attempts to find the winning combination.

Coach Roy Dath expects his charges will have plenty on their hands when they face the St. Thomas squad, as the Trin frosh recently had difficulty in downing them in a nip and tuck battle. Dath plans to use a starting line-up of Don Nevins and George Bogert at the forwards; Jerry Channel at center; and George Case and Bill Abeles at the guard posts.

Before the exam break, the jayvees bowed to Wesleyan 56-43 and Nichols Junior College 75-70, after losing their opener to Trinity Church.

Foreign Policy

A round table discussion sponsored by the Foreign Policy Association between Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bres and Miss Sue Robinson is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. on Monday, February 13 in Cook Lounge. They will discuss the affairs of French North Africa where they have spent many years as missionaries and teachers.

Professors Means, Campo Kurth, Klimczak Promoted

Dr. Blanchard Means To Head Philo. Dept.

The promotion of four professors, Dr. Blanchard Means, Dr. Michael Campo, Karl Kurth, and Dr. Walter Klimczak, was recently announced by President Jacobs.

Dr. Means has been named Brownell Professor of Philosophy, and will head the department when Dr. Harry Todd Costello retires in June. Dr. Costello has held the philosophy chair here since 1920.

Dr. Means has taught philosophy here since 1932, but was on leave of absence during 1946 and 1947 when he was a visiting fellow and lecturer in philosophy at Yale. Since 1936 he has been a Trustee of the Julius Hartt Musical Foundation.

A relative newcomer to the Trinity faculty, Dr. Walter J. Klimczak has now been named Associate Professor of Mathematics. He was appointed assistant professor in 1951, having previously taught at Yale and at the University of Rochester. He did both his undergraduate and graduate work at Yale, receiving his doctorate in mathematics in 1948.

Recently Dr. Klimczak was given a grant by the Air Research and Development Command under the National Research Council to study a convexity problem in the theory of differential equations of an infinite order.

The versatile doctor also had a brief but successful baseball career. He was third baseman on the 1937 Yale team, then joined the ranks of the professionals as a catcher, playing for numerous minor league teams. In 1942 he was sold to the Philadelphia Athletics and ordered to report to spring training, but the doctor started a new career by enlisting in the Navy Air Corps in lieu of the glories of the baseball diamond. Taken seriously ill with tuberculosis shortly after entering the service, Dr. Klimczak has since had to forsake baseball for the textbook.

Karl Kurth, Jr., has been appointed Associate Professor of Physical Education. Mr. Kurth joined the Trinity faculty in 1952 as assistant professor after having been director of athletics and physical education at East Hartford High School from 1947 to 1952.

Born in Albany, N.Y., he grew up in Bayside, L.I. A member of the Springfield College Class of 1942, he was runner-up for the 175-pound New England inter-collegiate wrestling championship, an All-New England football tackle, and holder of two college hammer throwing records. He served on a Naval minesweeper during the early years of World War II, then was commissioned and commanded two anti-submarine ships, one in the Aleutians and the other in the South Pacific.

A native of Waterbury, Conn., and an alumnus of Trinity, Dr. Campo received his B.A. in 1948, and his M.A. and doctorate from Johns Hopkins University. He joined the Trinity faculty as instructor in 1952, following study at Middlebury College, the University of Perugia, and the University of Rome.

Psi Upsilon will have a cocktail party Saturday afternoon and a band will entertain them that night.

19 Students Dropped From College Roster

Nineteen students were required to withdraw from the College at the end of the Christmas Term, it was disclosed recently by Dean Joseph C. Clarke. The Dean also added that a complete statistical analysis of grades and fraternity and class averages will not be available for two or three more weeks.

Of the nineteen students forced to withdraw from the College ten were required to do so as the result of academic deficiencies. Two of the men were freshmen, six were sophomores, and two were members of the junior class.

Seven men were suspended from the College for one semester for being on cut probation two consecutive semesters.

One man was suspended for taking his second successive overcut in Physical Education. Another student was expelled for a semester for being delinquent in chapel attendance for the second successive semester.

Sigma Nu will have cocktails Friday, cocktails Saturday, a drinking party that night, and a milk-punch party the morning after.

Friday night Theta Xi has its Sweet-heart Ball, and Saturday it will have a Bohemian Blast.

Five Trin Men Play In New England Band

Five members of the College Band have recently been selected to play in the fifth annual New England Inter-Collegiate Band concert. They are: F. Barton Hewitt, hornist; Earle Schaller, xylophonist; Myron Pisetsky, clarinetist; Robert E. Richardson, baritonist; and Frederick J. Gleason, percussionist. These men were chosen from a large number of musicians from many New England colleges and universities.

The concert is sponsored by the Baton Society of M.I.T., and is under the direction of Mr. Thor Johnson, conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. The program, to be given at M.I.T. on February 12th, will feature David Bar-Ilan, a brilliant Israeli pianist.

Stearns Re-elected Atheneum President

Martin Stearns, a senior from Scarsdale, New York was re-elected president of the Atheneum Society. Frank Kury was re-elected corresponding secretary, he is a sophomore from Pennsylvania. Ted Brown, a junior from New York was elected to his second term as treasurer. Talbot Spivak, a freshman from Philadelphia, was elected the recording secretary.

Campus Crier

In reply to requests for an extension of library hours for the purpose of later studying, Dean Clarke and Norman Walker, Property Manager, have arranged for Seabury 44 to be open for the purpose of study until 1 a.m.

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Chemistry Auditorium, the Cinema Club will present "Desire", starring Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper. The movie is free and all are invited.

School Law - Seminar Renders Decision

The final decision in the mock trial of the Seminar in School Law, was handed down on January 24, at an evening session. The case concerned the discipline exercised by a public school teacher when a pupil refused to salute the flag.

The judges held that the defendant was liable for physical damages, but not to the extent that the plaintiff claimed because the teacher's actions were not of malicious intent.
