

WRTC Hopes To Join Educational Network

Jim Haynes, Station Manager of Trinity's radio station announced tonight that pending allocation of funds and the working out of technical details WRTC-FM is preparing to join the newly formed Educational Radio Network. If the project is approved, rebroadcasting of network programs should begin before Thanksgiving.

Network Formed in Boston

Three months ago, radio station WGBH, Boston, began the formation of an Educational Radio Network. Upon the completion of the Network, one-fifth of the population of the United States would be served by what, in effect, would be a third major radio network. It proposes "to establish a radio network devoted to good programming; to fill the gap left by commercial radio and television with a type of programming of a high enough level to satisfy the discriminating listener."

In the short period of three months such a radio network is already in existence. Thus far, WGBH-FM in Boston has served as base station feeding programs to WEDK-FM in Springfield and to WAMC-FM in the Albany-Troy, New York area.

Expected Expansion

In the not too distant future, the Network is expected to expand southward to New Haven, relayed by a station operated by Yale University to New York City through the facilities of WNYC-FM, to Princeton University, to Philadelphia and WHYI-FM, and perhaps to Baltimore and Washington, D.C. Of course, all the stations in the chain would be able to feed the network.

"This network would not only be able to serve an area containing almost all major cities of the northeastern United States," points out WGBH, "but would have access to outstanding sources for program material: the colleges and universities of the area served, several of the best symphony orchestras in the world, the United Nations, the international news centers of Washington and New York, and so forth." Also the Network hopes to expand to carry programs of the Canadian Broadcasting Company. With the inclusion of the CBC, the Network would be on an international level, through which outlets would be provided to the BBC, the French National Radio and others.

As part of a series such speakers as Robert Penn Warren, Allen Tate, Aaron Copland, Walter Piston, and Margaret Mead will be featured this season. There will also be broadcasts of the Boston Symphony's Friday matinee performances if contractual difficulties can be worked out.

Coykendall to Head Inquiry Into Who's Who in Colleges

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges is the subject of an investigation now being undertaken by a Senate Committee headed by Robert Coykendall, of Brownell.

Scholarship Applications Offered Here

The Danforth Foundation, an educational foundation located in St. Louis, Missouri, invites applications for the eighth class (1959) of Danforth Graduate Fellows from college senior men and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1959, for their first year of graduate study. The Foundation welcomes applicants from the areas of Natural and Biological Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities and all fields of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college.

President Albert C. Jacobs has named Dr. A. H. Hughes as the Liaison Officer to nominate to the Danforth Foundation two or not to exceed three Trinity candidates for these 1959 fellowships. These appointments are fundamentally "a relationship of encouragement" throughout the years of graduate study, carrying a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions.

Campus Lecturers for the Week

British Sportsman, Author, Initiates New Lecture Series

Sir Arnold Lunn will deliver the first talk of the season under the auspices of the College Lecture Committee on Thursday evening at 8:15 in the Chemistry Auditorium. The distinguished mountaineer and a man of letters will give an illustrated account of alpinism and the development of skiing.

In one career, Sir Arnold has combined distinction as a novelist, essayist, writer on mountain topics, and controversialist. Originator of a system of controversy whereby letters between men with opposing points of view are published, he has engaged in learned argument with many leaders of British intellectual opinion that include Ronald Knox, C. E. M. Joad, G. G. Coulton, and J. B. S. Haldane.

Founder of Clubs

Sir Arnold Lunn was the founder of the Alpine Ski Club, the Kandahar Ski Club, and is the editor of the Yearbook of the Ski Club of Great Britain. He is old enough to have met Whymper, the first conqueror of the Matterhorn, and still young enough to have spent his recent seventieth birthday skiing from a height of 13,000 feet into Zermatt.

Author Sir Arnold

Sir Arnold is the author of a recent history of mountaineering, A Century of Mountaineering, which was published as a centenary tribute to the Alpine Club. His fifty-first book, a volume of autobiography, appears this month in London and is dedicated to a member of the Trinity faculty, Professor Cooper in the History Department. Sir Arnold was knighted by Elizabeth II in 1952. Educated at Harrow and at Balliol College, Oxford, Sir Arnold holds, among other academic honors, an honorary doctorate from the University of Zurich.

IFC Discusses Coming Events

The Intrafraternity Council this year is trying to improve relations between the ten fraternities on the Trinity campus. It is felt that less animosity between houses can be accomplished by more interfraternity events. This would improve the fraternity system in general as well as promote good will among the various houses.

At the IFC meeting last Monday, the IFC weekend was discussed. Although the date is not definite as yet, several things have been decided concerning the events of that week, which should take place sometime in April.

Bicycle Race

Sometime during the week there will be a bicycle race starting and ending on Vernon St. The IFC is trying to get permission to rope off the street so that the relay race can be run safely. No details have been worked out, and any suggestions would be welcomed.

On that Saturday afternoon there is the possibility of a jazz concert in the field house.

The IFC-sanctioned Steward's meet-

Dr. Calvin Buchanan To Deliver Address At Sunday Vespers

The Rev. Calvin Buchanan, Ph.D., Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hartford, will deliver the Vesper service address this Sunday at 5:00 p.m. in the Chapel.

Rev. Buchanan attended Wooster College for one year prior to beginning his two years military service in the Field Artillery. Returning to Wooster, he completed work for his A.B. in 1947.

In 1950 he received his B.D. from Western Seminary in Pittsburgh, and in 1957 he was awarded his Doctorate in Philosophy from the University of Edinburgh.

Senate Candidate Thomas Dodd Speaks On Campus Thursday

Thomas J. Dodd, Democratic candidate for United States Senator from Connecticut, will speak at Trinity in the Chemistry Auditorium at 4:00 on Thursday, October 16. Mr. Dodd is campaigning against the Republican incumbent, Senator William Purtell of Hartford.

Mr. Dodd's address will be sponsored by the Athenaeum Society and the Political Science Club. During the summer Herbert Moorin, President of the Athenaeum, wrote to the two candidates for Senator and the two for Governor, asking them to speak at Trinity. Mr. Dodd was the only candidate who found it possible to appear during the campaign although the other three expressed their wish to be with us.

Born in Norwich, Connecticut, Mr. Dodd is now a Hartford attorney, who lives in West Hartford. Since he was chosen as chief prosecutor at the Nuremberg war trials, he has been a prominent figure in state politics. After serving two terms in the House of Representatives (1952-1956), he became the Democratic nominee for Senator. Although he lost to Sen. Prescott Bush, he garnered several thousand votes more than Adlai Stevenson in Connecticut. He copped the Democratic nomination this year by winning a three way battle with Chester Bowles and William Benton.

McNairy Appointed Senator; Budgets, Notices Discussed

On the sixth closed ballot Monday night, the Senate elected Philip McNairy to Senior Senatorship. McNairy, an Alpha Delta Phi, recently received a Hartford Engineers' Club scholarship and is one of Trinity's first five year engineering students. Having an average of approximately 80, the new Senator participates in the ROTC as a Captain and Cadet Councilman and is also a chapel lay reader. The election of Senator McNairy was the first such action by the Senate under its new constitution.

A proposal considered by the IFC and brought to the Senate was voted down. This proposal would have sent letters to those colleges scheduled for home games this year outlining the proper behavior for visitors. The majority of the Senators believed a better example set here at Trinity, supplemented by correct disciplinary action and publicity of the regulations, would be a more effective approach.

Letters have been sent to the Wesleyan, Williams, and Amherst student governments requesting information of their controls on campus soliciting. The Senate hopes to quickly set up strict rules on the matter in order to free students from extraneous salesmen.

Next week the Senate will vote on the following constitutional amendment: "If a campus club exceeds its budget in an academic year, the club will be penalized, the maximum penalty being a withdrawal of funds for the succeeding year. This amendment as stated would guard against mismanagement in clubs and give the Senate discretion in determining the punishment."

The deluge of various and sundry notices upon the campus bulletin boards prompted a proposal by Sen. Dubel which would restrict all meeting notices to uniform announcement cards supplied by the college and all personal notices to 3 x 5 cards. President Scheibe referred it to the Extra Curricular Affairs Committee.

Desks Needed For Amherst

By JOHN MEYER

Amherst's President Charles W. Cole has urged that all Amherst fraternity houses provide one desk for every student living in the fraternity. His action seems well founded, on the grounds that the lack of desks in the houses has, or will if it has not already, made the first purpose of college life (i.e., the scholastic side) secondary to the social.

Although the college has provided facilities outside the fraternity houses for studying, President Cole believes a student's room should have a desk so that the odd hour or half break that is so frequent in college life could be used to proper advantage.

The location of the desk is important, for if the only available study room is a slight walk away, Amherst students are apt to be reluctant to exert the effort getting there, the result being that the work is often not adequately done. As President Cole says, "it is our feeling that the student should have the opportunity to study where he lives."

The Amherst House Management Committee believes that the requirement of one desk to a student could be best solved by assigning each stu-

WHO'S WHO

Each year, as one thumbs through the sumptuous pages of the Ivy, he notices that this or that young man is indicated as having been named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," a resounding designation that occupies a full line of type. It has long been wondered whether the seeming honor had any real significance, for, so far as has ever previously been determined, it has seemed that some unknown group meets somewhere, selects some names supposedly representative of the cream of the student body, and causes them to be published in a book that nobody has ever seen.

Now the Senate has undertaken the commendable task of investigating the nature of the organization publishing the book and the means of selection of the names that are included in it. The Tripod can only express its unqualified approval of any effort to shed light in dark corners.

In our opinion, some interesting facts have been uncovered (see story on page one), not the least of which is that the official title of the publication is even more formidable than the one customarily used. Some pertinent questions, however, remain to be asked. Is there anything worthwhile to be gained through association of this sort with an admittedly commercial enterprise? Might it not be better, if indeed there is any necessity for doing so at all, to have the committee simply enumerate the men who, in their opinion, are Trinity's outstanding undergraduates? The custom of going along with the Who's Who idea would not seem to be self-justifying. The whole question merits further thought.

STEAMSHOVELS

The gaping cavern at the south end of the campus has become a pregnant source of question and controversy in the past several weeks. Why the steamshovel cut a trench (trench may be inappropriate here as the hole was big enough to hide the Chinese Army) from Boardman to the center of the Elton-New Dorm quad, only to fill it up two days later—with nothing more than dirt—is an alarming question for the great unwashed.

From those who have been fortunate enough to hear the inside story, a grim picture unfolds. The mounds of rich topsoil now adding to the decor of the campus from the heating plant westward are additions to the sewer and heating systems which must be made in order to begin the Student Union addition. However, an apparent error was made in the calculation of the depth of the topsoil. Unfortunately while the elevation rises to the west, the rock beneath rises in the opposite direction, and this is one place where the twain do meet—right where the pipes are to go.

The only solution to this problem is to blast; but this too creates its own problems. The Hartford Fire Department requires that the buildings in the area, from the Chemistry Building and Goodwin to Elton and New Dorm be evacuated at the time of blasting, the estimates of which run three or four days. This leaves the authorities with only one recourse (well—they really couldn't turn so many collegians loose on society for such a length of time). The blasting is set for Christmas vacation. For the benefit of those members of the great American Labor force, it must be conceded that a balmy December would be in order. This also would prevent any further obstacles from being encountered; that is, three feet of frozen topsoil.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE PURPLE COW IS DEAD. LONG LIVE THE PURPLE COW!

Williams' "literary magazine" the Purple Cow has gone down the old path to the barn. And this situation is characteristic of many college magazines throughout the country. However, here at Trinity, the Review is in the midst of the most formative and creative period it has ever seen. In answer to The Cow editor's statement about the "preponderance of apathy" which caused the demise of the magazine, we can only say that Trinity has demonstrated a preponderance of interest in the Review, this year particularly. Although it is too early to "evaluate" results, that is, although it can scarcely be said now that the interest and products of the Review are rivaling the best magazines today, it can be said that if interest is at all indicative of creative, good literary work the Review has little to fear.

Meeting in Goodwin

Friday afternoon, October 17, the first meeting, if it can be called that, of the Review Society will be held at 4:00 in Goodwin Lounge. Aside from the obvious attraction of coffee, anyone interested in literature, any kind of literature, will have the opportunity to speak his mind, read anything he wants to contribute and to honestly damn anything else he may hear read. Of course, it is easy enough to damn anything, and easy enough to start controversies and create ill-feeling. But to do this productively, ah! there's the hard part. But this is what the Society will be trying to do. Last week in a Tripod editorial, the nascent Society was praised for its raison d'être. The principle discussed was that of struggle. From this struggle we on the editorial board of the magazine hope to gather enough really top rate material to put together a magazine which will honestly deserve a place in the British Museum and major libraries throughout the country to which it is now being sent.

The purpose of this letter is to call the College's attention to this first meeting of the Society. Certainly it will be difficult for some to get up and read what they've written: equally difficult for some to honestly criticize. Yet, we are told, few good things come easily. And the Review will be a good thing.

ALL THE NEWS, PLEASE

Although the Tripod offers ample coverage of many phases of campus life, it rarely allots any space to Trinity's Secret Police Force, the Medusa.

Do they really wear black robes? Is it true that they shine a scary bright light in the criminal's eyes? Just what do they do? Those of us who have successfully evaded the grasp of this disciplinary body might ask these questions.

The only evidence a student is allowed of the Medusa's existence is an occasional list of a few students whom they have tried and sentenced. But our animal curiosity wants to know what the guilty did to deserve their sentence of censure, suspension, or expulsion.

The Tripod is the only campus communication. As such, it should present all the news, truthfully, whether it affects the standing of the college or not. Last spring several students were arrested for holding up a popular drive-in restaurant with water pistols. Most of Trinity heard the report, but the Tripod wouldn't print it.

More than five members of the student body have already been tried in the secret cells of the Medusa. Who are they, Tripod? What did they do?

Foreign Comedies Excellent

Opening tonight at the Cine-Webb are two outstanding comedy imports. Law and Disorder, written and directed by the team which created the Lavender Hill Mob, deals with the problems of a semi-retired con man. Recalling Kind Hearts and Coronets (Michael Redgrave plays seven parts, as did Alec Guinness in Coronets) and Tight Little Island (with its liquor smuggling theme), Law and Disorder is a deft slap at British justice, as Redgrave's crew leads Robert Morley's minions of the law on many merry chases.

The Webb's second feature is Mr. Hulot's Holiday, which won the Cannes Film Festival Award in 1954. The story of misadventures at a seaside resort, Holiday, although partially in French, provides no English subtitles. This is no barrier to understanding, however, as Jacques Tati (the bumbling vacationer) depends entirely on the type of visual comedy reminiscent of Charlie Chaplin.

Law and Disorder and Mr. Hulot's Holiday, both crisp satires, combine to make an extremely entertaining twin bill.

Brando Stars in Twin Bill

Marlon Brando shines in Streetcar Named Desire and Viva Zapata, two pictures now on view at the Allyn. In five Academy Award winner Streetcar, the T-shirted one is outstanding as Blanche's bete noir. Switching from salami to tamales in Viva Zapata, Marlon runs up against a gang which makes the Teamsters Union look like a Youth Fellowship group. Say anything you want about Paul Newman, but the way he sports those cigarettes behind his ear puts Marlon first in my book.

Dickens Mistreated

A Tale of Two Cities, a British film, is now in town. Featuring a low-budget Bastille-storming which more closely resembles Easter egg rolling on the White House lawn, Cities is well acted, although dragging in spots. Dirk Bogarde, a top British actor, gives a vivid portrayal of Sidney Carton (an elbow-bending martyr whose head is only clear when its about to come off).

Despite an excellent performance in the part of Madame DeFarge, who sticks to her knitting while the guillotine chops, Dickens' long-winded novel is far, far better than this adaptation.

Along Broadway

The last of Eugene O'Neill's full-length plays, A Touch of the Poet, starring Helen Hayes, Kim Stanley, Betty Field and Eric Portman, has received rave notices. With "inspired acting" noted as the show's highlight, A Touch of the Poet (written in 1942) may turn out to be the best play of the precocious season.

Goldilocks, by Walter (Tribune drama critic) and Jean (Please Don't Eat the Daisies,) Kerr, has been tabbed "unexciting" by reviewers. Although they rap their colleagues for a dull book, the critics praise Leroy Anderson's music. Goldilocks, which opened last Saturday, stars Don Ameche and Elaine Strich.

The off-Broadway production of Heloise by James Forsyth is called "head and shoulders" above standard dramatic fare. Adapted from the medieval story of Heloise and Abelard, the show may be as memorable as last year's off-Broadway production of The Iceman Cometh.

Promising Plays

Three shows to open soon should add much to the New York season. The Girls in 509, starring Peggy Wood and Imogene Coca, is a sprightly comedy. Rogers and Hammerstein's Flower Drum Song, starring Juanita Hall and Pat Suzuki, is already sold out until July of 1959. The World of Susie Wong, directed by Josh Logan, is based on the best-selling book of the same name.

Parents' Weekend Activities Include Game, Campus Tour

The college will host the Fifth Annual Parents' Weekend, November 1 and 2. The weekend which will be highlighted by the Bantams' gridiron attack against Coast Guard, and the soccer contest against Worcester Tech, will include talks to the parents by President Albert C. Jacobs, Dean Arthur A. Hughes and John F. Butler, Director of Placement.

The Saturday agenda will include registration at the Hamlin Arch from 9:00 to 12:00. A coffee hour will follow at 9:15 which will include tours of the campus conducted by the Sophomore Dining Club, weather permitting. The tours will originate at the Downes Memorial Clock Tower.

A meeting of the parents in the Chemistry Auditorium at 10:30 will be followed by separate talks by members of the administration. Dr. Jacobs will address the freshmen parents in the Chemistry Auditorium, while in the Library Conference Room, Dean Hughes will speak to parents whose sons are preparing to enter graduate and professional schools. Also, Mr. Butler will speak to parents whose sons are preparing to enter the fields of business and industry, in Seabury 34.

A buffet luncheon for parents, sons, and faculty members, in the field house, will be followed by the sports calendar for the day.

The evening agenda will include a reception at the home of the President for freshmen parents, while the fraternity houses will host their parents. Following dinner, the College Glee Club will present a concert for parents.

Thomas A. Smith and O. W. Lacy, Co-Chairmen of the Parents' Day Committee have urged students to issue their own personal invitations to their parents in addition to the invitation already extended by the college. They also stressed that students who do not eat regularly in Hamlin Dining Hall must secure luncheon tickets for the buffet, in the Dean's Office, after October 23.

The Reverend G. O. Ekwall will speak on "The Episcopal Ministry" to the Canterbury Club Tuesday, October 21, at 6:45 P.M. in Cook Lounge.

Second Editorial Conference Conducted at Ohio Wesleyan

By PHIL SIMSHAUSER

During the summer, nearly 100 student editors attended the Second Editorial Affairs Conference, or SEAC, at Ohio Wesleyan from August 19-21. The whole country was represented, and editors from every conceivable size and type of college newspaper were in attendance.

The opportunity to exchange ideas and discuss various problems concerning newspaper management, news reporting, and freedom of the press, was a very enlightening experience for those concerned. The chance to exchange ideas and problems with other editors brought several opportunities to gain a keener insight into the conditions of the Trinity campus.

By comparison with many of the college news services, the Tripod appears to be an example of ideal operating conditions. This is a position which the Tripod and the student body must never take for granted. A great deal of freedom is allowed to the organ of the Trinity campus. After attending the SEAC conference, I am reassured that Trinity is a progressive and liberal institution.

The problem of "censorship" concerned the greatest number of the conference delegates. Not only do colleges which are supported by denom-national grants suffer from explicit censorship, but many state and private schools are limited in their realm of coverage and availability of material. Faculty and Administrative censors approve and disapprove of the copy before it is placed in the paper. Needless to say, the controversial material which stimulates campus ideas and initiates reform never reaches the student reader. The Editorial Board of the Tripod can say without reservation that it is allowed a free rein in its news and editorial policy. We hope to remain worthy of this apparently rare privilege.

The most valuable return received from the SEAC conference was the opportunity to see Trinity from a new point of view. The realization that the Tripod is in a responsible position has brought about a new sense of discretion and maturity on the part of the Editorial Board. At this conference, it was made clear that the college paper belongs to the student body. It is a reflection of the campus and the students, and therefore should work in the college's best interests.

Spanish Club Guitar Concert

One of the most colorful performances presented on campus in some time was witnessed by the Spanish Club and a score of guests Monday night. The feature of the evening was Luis Enrique Gonzalez, a Hillyer student from Venezuela and musician extraordinaire.

In a two hour program Gonzalez demonstrated his proficiency on a variety of instruments including the cuarto, a four-stringed device resembling the ukulele. The cuarto is meant to accompany harps and maracas or voices, but Gonzalez was able to captivate the audience with his solo work in the music of his native land.

After a brief interruption during which he returned to Hillyer for an examination, Gonzalez returned to give an even more sparkling performance on the Spanish guitar. His rendition of the traditional melodies of Spain was highlighted by his playing the harmonica and the guitar simultaneously.

Gonzalez' technique must be seen to be appreciated. He is able to use the base of his instrument percussively while strumming, singing and exhibiting a modest bump and grind.

His reception was one of unanimous approval. The Spanish Club has demonstrated that there is an untapped wealth of cultural entertainment available in the Hartford area.

ing took place last Thursday and was reported as quite successful. The meeting was attended by all the house stewards to discuss, among other things, the acquisition of food and other materials at more economical prices.

On the 4th, 5th, and 6th of December in Atlanta, Georgia, the National Interfraternity Conference is sponsoring a convention of delegates from the interfraternity organizations of all American colleges and universities. The purpose of the conference will be to discuss and debate problems of the college fraternity system such as pledging policies, fraternity scholarships, relations of the fraternity to the college and relations of the fraternity to the other fraternities on campus.

The IFC will probably select two delegates to travel to Atlanta to attend the convention.

For the best in entertainment, fun, and frolic, see the 1958 edition of Trinity's soccer team.

The success recipe is not a secret. Add one seasoned Briton to one smiling Irishman. Then sprinkle freely with a gay Scot. Mix well. Sift with various combinations of wings. If you're playing Tufts, start with a Hungarian freedom fighter and a grinning silent man. This is the forward wall.

While the remainder of the ingredients are being added, preheat team spirit to 375 degrees fahrenheit. Do not raise above this point, over confidence may set in.

Pick from a tree budding with halfbacks, the three most ripe. The best to be found include a redheaded Epicurean, a square-shouldered co-captain, and a husky sophomore. Stir for weeks to form a good offensive attack. Watch closely or combination will crumble under stress of competition.

To support and strengthen the mixture, pour in two fullbacks with leadened feet. Don't remove "guts." After adding one brazen and experienced goalie, the team is ready to be baked. Remember . . . 375 degrees. Don't use too much yeast. Team must rise gradually to full potential by midseason.

Those who watched the Tufts game here on Saturday were treated to a feast. The gathering of 200 witnessed a skillfully presented and oftentimes humorous show. Enjoyment, many time provoking laughter, was the "feature du jour."

Alex Guild caused most of the first half's "oohs" and "ahhs." Time after time he embarrassed Tufts' booters, and left them tripping over their own feet and clawing dirt, as he nonchalantly dribbled past them. Although he didn't score until late in the game, the "Gay Scot", who casually kept pulling a handkerchief from his sleeve to allay an autumn sniffle, was a fine showman.

The second half entertainment was of a more comical nature. Dr. Lundborg actually treated someone without offering him a pill. The player's head was gashed. Word has it that the doctor is saving his red pills for the imminent invasion of the Asian Flu.

Archie Thompson, reserve goalie, prides himself as one of the best-groomed goaltenders Trinity has had in many a year. When he substituted for starter Outcalt in the second half, the wavy-haired blond began smoothing his sweatpants, adjusting his shinguards, primping his hair, and generally tidying himself, while awaiting the rushing Tufts wingmen.

During the closing minutes of the game, substitute wing Jim Forman found himself entangled in the Tufts goal nets. Any more laughs? No, just the broad smiles of victory on everyone's faces, when the final whistle blows. UMass, here we come!

Frosh Football Squad Readies For Coast Guard

Its originally small squad depleted even further by injuries to key personnel, the freshman football team has been working out for Friday's game with Coast Guard. Fullback Albert Maurice and right half Dave Foy, both starters in the Springfield game last Friday, were not with the team as this week's practice began. Maurice, who injured his knee in the first half, will be out for an undetermined amount of time, while it is hoped that Foy, who broke a rib, will be able to rejoin the team soon.

Coach Chet McPhee nevertheless is optimistic about the team's development and the away game with the Guardsmen this Friday. This optimism is based chiefly on the performance of his squad, quarterback Ian Bennett in particular, in the 6-6 tie with Springfield.

Bennett to Bishop

Trinity drew first blood, scoring on a pass from Bennett to halfback Bishop. The try for the conversion failed and the score stood at 6-0 at halftime.

A slow start in the second half which allowed Springfield its lone tally, found Trinity without a first down to its credit in the third quarter and only four in the entire half. Trinity came to life again as time was running out. With the accurate arm of Bennett supplying the impetus, they moved the ball deep into Springfield territory where pass interference was called on the visitors, giving Trinity the ball on the one yard line with less than a minute remaining. However the drive was stopped there by a fifteen yard penalty on the locals. A blocked field goal attempt ended Trinity's hope and the game.

Trinity Outplays Opposition

It was an especially hard game to let slip away, as Trinity outgained the visitors fourteen to seven in first downs. The success of the Trinity offense was due primarily to Bennett's completing eleven of sixteen pass attempts, for a remarkable .688 percentage.

Other standouts were John Kraft, aggressive left tackle, and Charlie Sargent, end. A pleasant surprise to Coach McPhee was Jud Robert, who turned in a fine game while playing center for the first time.

Where's The Depth

While Coach McPhee was encouraged by the team's performance on both offense and defense, the big problem remains unsolved: how to get sufficient depth on a squad of less than thirty.

Tom Wycoff spilled in Tufts game

Sitting in the hotel bar, I felt a quick pain as I realized everything was nothing. Also, the waiter had put an elbow in my eye as he served the beer. It was teeming rain outside. Later perhaps, with luck, there would be a tidal wave. I began to sob happily.

"Stop crying in your beer," my father said, moving my Schaefer. "It's your kind of beer—real beer." But was it? Was anything mine, or his, or anybody's? We had been coming to Atlantic City too many seasons. Just me, my father, Annette, Yvette, Babette. I was bored.

A proud, frail young man approached our table. My cheeks grew damper than ever. I was in love again. "I see you drink Schaefer, too," he said to me. "Do you know why experts call it 'round'?"

I shook my head, sailing tears about the room. "Of course," my father interrupted, "round means a smooth harmony of flavors." I wanted to kill him.

My young man's dark-circled eyes grew sad. "To your kind of beer," he said, "all liquid gold and capped with snow." My father raised his glass to return the toast, but I quickly pushed him over backwards in his chair. "To your kind of beer," I said, my voice alive with ennui. We clinked glasses, and then he was gone.

And I was all alone again, surrounded by people. But the clink of the glasses of Schaefer, ah, that is my bitter-sweet treasure. So each evening, when the Schaefer comes, after the pain of memory, after the waiter's elbow, I say, "Good evening, happiness . . . Good evening, Schaefer." And then I cry.

Shultsmen Debut In Overtime Win

On Friday, the freshmen soccer team will play its second game of the season against the Wesleyan J.V.'s. The Wesleyan J.V.'s do not seem too strong as they were beaten by their own freshmen team. Our frosh beat them last year and are hoping to do it again. They will be looking for their second straight victory as they edged Nichols last week.

On Friday, the 10th of October, the booters commenced their season defeating St. Nichols 3-2. They started at once to dominate the play and held this advantage during most of the game. The first Trinity goal was scored by Traut in the second quarter as he booted it in from twenty yards out. St. Nichols then proceeded to rally for a few minutes, making their first goal, tying the game at 1-1, at halftime.

Coming into the third quarter, the Frosh again began to roll as Sein scored, giving them a 2-1 lead. Following this goal, St. Nichols, as before, put on the pressure and scored as a result of a pass from three consecutive headings. The score remained at this 2-2 tie until the end of the game. An overtime was then begun, and Traut scored once more for Trinity, giving them a 3-2 victory.

Coach Shults, looking back over the game, cited halfbacks Morgan, Smith, and Dunkle, and fullback Edwards as the outstanding players of the game.

Very satisfied with the play of the defensive unit, he feels that the others need some polishing. Trinity took 49 shots to Nichols' 10.

A Peek at the Records Of Remaining Grid Foes

Listed below are the records of Trinity's remaining football opposition after the Colby game.

Alfred

Alfred, a newcomer to the schedule, will pose the opposition for the next home game which is slated for October 25th. The Saxons, like Coast Guard, play freshmen on their varsity.

vs. Cortland 9/27 lost 36-0

vs. St. Lawrence 10/11 won 8-0

Coast Guard

Coast Guard is the feature for November 1st, Parents' Day. Last year the Cadets topped the Bantams by a 26-7 score. In the series which dates back to 1933, Trinity has won nine and lost five. Thusfar, Terry Lucas, a thorn in the locals' side last year, has been the Coast Guard's big threat on offense.

vs. Vermont 9/27 tied 30-30

vs. Norwich 10/4 won 12-0

vs. Wesleyan 10/11 lost 15-6

Amherst

Amherst, the perennial power of New England, will display their wares here on Homecoming Weekend. The date is November 8th. In games to this point, the Jeffs have crushed all opposition, and have not as yet been scored on. Their offensive workhouse is Jack Close. He has gained 313 yards on the ground and 88 yards through the air, ranking third in the country among leading groundgainers.

In the series which dates back to 1886, Amherst has won 26, Trinity has won 8, and 9 games have been tied.

vs. Springfield 9/27 won 12-0

vs. Union 10/4 won 58-0

vs. Bowdoin 10/11 won 34-0

Wesleyan

The finale of the season is down at Middletown against Wesleyan on November 15th. Last year Trinity squeaked out its fourth straight victory over the rival by a 20-19 score. The series started in 1885, and Wesleyan has a decided edge, winning 37 games to Trinity's 20.

Thusfar, the bulk of their attack has been centered around sophomore fullback, Dom Squatrito, and Terry Smith.

vs. Middlebury 9/27 lost 8-0

vs. Bowdoin 10/4 won 32-8

vs. Coast Guard 10/11 won 15-6

Tufts Outscored in Romp As Local Offense Flares

Trinity Booters To Oppose Rough UMass, Away, in Friday Competition

Tufts devised a method of holding Alex Guild to only one goal after his outburst of four against Coast Guard, but in the process of so doing, they must have overlooked Brendan Shea. The prematurely greying Loomis product knocked in four goals against the Jumbos, three of them in the last quarter. That in itself was enough to topple the club that snapped Trin's victory skein last year. Shea received plenty of help though the final score read Trinity 7, Tufts 1.

Trin kicked off and kept the ball in Jumbo territory from the outset. Scarcely had the solitary Trin cheerleader loosened up his lungs, when co-captain Jon Widing smashed the first marker of the game into the Tufts net.

Poor Goalie

The defense made quick work of the Jumbo attack, and the black-cheeked Tufts goalie crouched deep once again to await the barrage that was to be aimed at him all afternoon. Guild let one go that hit the cross bar and came straight down. Before the goalie could grab it, Shea had pushed it in to make the count 2-0.

Conversation along the sidelines was all Trin, and a rout seemed inevitable. But, what Tufts lacked in skill, they made up in pure aggressiveness. Their aggressiveness occasionally became a little too pronounced as they sent a few Bantams sprawling to the earth.

Tufts Goal

The half waned with neither side able to score, and it appeared that Tufts was going to make a game of it after all. With only 15 seconds left of the second stanza, the Jumbo wing got around a too cautious Trin fullback and zeroed in on John Outcalt in the nets. His shot was good, and the Bantams retired to the shadows of the chapel with only a one goal advantage.

When play resumed, the inability of both sides to score remained present. Midway through the third period, a sharp crack, like that of cleat hitting shinguard, reached the sidelines. But the agony evinced by the blue-shirted, Tufts halfback writhing on the ground showed it was more serious than that. Later examination at the hospital showed that he had broken his leg on the play.

Janos Scores

Shortly after play resumed, Janos Karvazy stormed in from the right wing's slot to score another goal for the Bantams. When Shea scored shortly after the start of the final period, the sentiments of the Tufts wing matched those of everyone concerned. He just shook his head and smiled knowingly; the Jumbos were simply outclassed.

Before the cheering had subsided after Shea's goal, he had scored again to make it 5-1. By the time the final horn had sounded, the affable Irishman from Manchester had piled home his fourth goal of the afternoon, and the husky Scot named Guild had headed a cross into the nets.

Six To Go

The final score read Trinity 7, Tufts 1. The Jumbos had been far more aggressive, but they lacked one major item — class.

Pigskin Squad Sizes Up Colby After Bowing to Strong Tufts

Undeclared Tufts, led by a trio of fine running backs, scored a 20-6 victory over the Trinity Bantams last Saturday in Medford, Mass. It was a much closer game than the score indicates, for it wasn't until well into the last period, when Tufts scored its last touchdown, that the Jumbo fans could even think of breathing easily again.

Tufts got a break early in the game and quickly capitalized on it. On the second play from scrimmage, a Trinity fumble, one of the several which plagued the Bantams, was recovered on the Trinity twenty-five. Nine plays later, Mark Lydon dived over from the one and Tufts led 6-0 by the time the game was five minutes old.

Frustration

Trinity got the equalizer a period later, but the play in between the two touchdowns was more indicative of the contest than were the scores themselves. Tufts mounted an offensive from their own forty, only to be pushed back when they got within striking distance of the goalline, and finally lost the ball as the result of a fumble on the Trinity twenty.

The Bantams roared right back, pushing seventy yards to the Tufts ten, where another fumble cost them possession. The big play in the drive was a sparkling thirty-seven yard run by halfback John Kenney at the end of the first quarter.

Back and Forth

Such was the ballgame; a long march, but then a fumble; a drive back, and then an intercepted pass. It was frustrating to the coaches, it wasn't a good game to the puritan critics, but it was an awful lot of fun for the spectators. Every once in a while, one of the teams went all the way.

Tufts did early in the first quarter, Trinity marched sixty-five yards for the tying score midway in the second, climaxed by a twenty-five yard dash off right tackle by fullback Bob Johnson. The Jumbos scored again in the last period on a sustained drive.

Dash by Burzins

Almost out of place in a game otherwise predominately filled with hard earned bits of ground, but exciting and dramatic to say the least, was an eighty yard gallop by big Juris Burzins on the first play from scrimmage after the Trinity touchdown.

Each team had its share of heroes. For Trinity, end Doug Tansill and tackle Bill DeColigny were stalwarts on defense, halfbacks Kenney and Wycoff turned in fine all round performances. For the opponents, the big three, Lydon, Burzins, and Dave Fox, as fine and fast a halfback as seen thus far this year, were outstanding.

Depth Hurts

But it was not individuals who won the game for Tufts, nor was it inopportune fumbles and such which lost for Trinity; rather it was the overwhelming superiority in depth, especially visible in the second half, which dictated the final result. Dan Jesse's men put up a valiant fight. Tufts won the game, Trinity did not lose it. There is a big difference.

Next week, the Bantams travel to Waterville, Maine to tackle the Colby Mules. Colby thus far has beaten Brandeis and Springfield and has lost to Williams. The loss to the Ephmen is misleading; they got off on the wrong foot, never recovered, and finally lost 46-0. The Mules are a better team than that. Led by Quarterback Mark Brown, Colby is a balanced club and must be rated as one of the powers in New England.

Tough Road Ahead

There is no team that can be termed a "breather" on the Trinity schedule; the Bantams will never be a "breather" to any of their opponents. It is too bad that Waterville is such a distance away; many of us will miss another fine football game.

HOW GREEN WAS MY CAMPUS

Don't tell me: I know how busy you've been! I know all the things you've had to do in the opening days of the school year—registering, paying fees, finding lodgings, entering a drag race, getting married, building a cage for your raccoon. But now, with all these essentials out of the way, let us pause and join hands and take, for the first time, a long, leisurely look at our campus.

Ready? Let's go!

We begin our tour over here on this lovely stretch of green-sward called The Mall. The Mall, as we all know, was named in honor of our distinguished alumnus Fred Mall, inventor of the opposing thumb. Before Mr. Mall's invention, the thumb could not be pressed or clicked against the other fingers. As a result, millions of castanet makers were out of work. Today however, thanks to Mr. Mall, one out of every three Americans is gainfully employed making castanets. (The other two make croquet wickets.) Mr. Mall is now 106 years old and living in seclusion on a sea cliff in Wellington, Kansas, but the old gentleman is far from idle. He still works twelve hours a day in his laboratory, and in the last year has invented the tuna, the cuticle, and lint.

...the old gentleman is far from idle...

But I digress. Let us resume our tour. At the end of The Mall we see a handsome edifice called The Library. Here books are kept. By "kept" I mean "kept." There is no way in the world for you to get a book out of the library... No, I'm wrong. If you have a stack permit you can take out a book, but stack permits are issued only to widows of Presidents of the United States. (That lady you see coming out of the library with a copy of Girl of the Limberlost is Mrs. Millard Fillmore.)

Next to The Library we see the Administration Building. Here one finds the president of the university, the deans, and the registrar. According to ancient academic usage, the president is always called "Prexy." Similarly, the deans are called "Dixie" and the registrar is called "Roxxy." Professors are called "Proxy" and housemothers are called "Hoxxy-Moxxy." Students are called "Algae."

Diagonally across The Mall we see the Students Union. It is a gay mad place, frankly dedicated to the fun and relaxation of we undergraduates. Here we undergraduates may enjoy ourselves in one of two ways—with filter or without. We undergraduates who prefer filters, prefer Marlboro, of course. Oh, what a piece of work is Marlboro! The filter filters, the taste is smooth but not skimpy, mild but not meagre.

We undergraduates who prefer non-filters, prefer Philip Morris, of corris. It is a natural smoke, a clean smoke, a flavorful, zestful, pure and peaceful smoke... Now hear this: Philip Morris and Marlboro each come in a choice of two packs—crushproof Flip-Top Box or the familiar Soft Pack.

So now, as the setting sun casts a fiery aura over the spires and battlements of our beloved campus, let us hie ourselves to our tobacconist's and lay in a night's supply of Marlboro or Philip Morris, and then let us, lowing, wind slowly o'er the lea to our dormitories and sit upon our army surplus cots, spent but content, and smoke and dream and hark the curfew toll the knell of parting day. Aloha, fair campus, aloha!

© 1958 Max Shulman

For a complete tour of smoking pleasure try filtered Marlboro and non-filtered Philip Morris, whose makers take pleasure in bringing you this column throughout the school year.

New Chapel Cabinet Projects Include Volunteer Social Work

There is a definite need within the Hartford area for volunteer social service to the aged, delinquent, crippled, blind and others. Volunteer aid is needed for education, recreation, and entertainment. The Chapel Cabinet, working through the student body, is trying to fulfill these needs.

Most of the convalescent homes, homes for the aged, and hospitals are lacking in personnel to provide recreation. Patients at these hospitals and homes have nothing to occupy their time. Any ability among Trinity students toward music, religion, art, literature or political science would interest these people.

In the field of education, the Y.M.-C.A. is sponsoring the "Soundscaper program," by which a volunteer worker reads textbooks into a recording apparatus. The records are used in schools for the blind. Anyone interested in this type of work should contact Stuart Coxhead, D.Ph.

An entertainment unit, another phase of the program is now being formed. This unit will include various performances from musicians to magicians.

The group will be divisible so that either the whole unit or separate parts will be able to entertain at homes and hospitals around the area. Since the entire group has not been selected, there is still room for more entertainers. If anyone feels he has something to offer and is interested, he should contact Mike Lieber, Box 190, Phi Psi.

This is only a general outline of what is needed, and the need certainly a great one. The Trinity student body has an opportunity, both individually and group wise, to do a great service to Hartford. Volunteer service is not a one way proposition; the personal satisfaction resulting from making another's life fuller and more worthwhile is enormous. Each one of us has something to offer; we need personnel to fill positions at the various homes and community centers.

Desks . . .

dent a desk in the library, study halls, and other places set aside solely for studying. President Cole mentions the added expense of these study rooms, which, due to rising costs, may soon have to be turned over to other uses.

If fraternities are not suitable places for study, then that situation presents a challenge. If houses are merely places for a good time and endless drinking orgies, then the role of the Amherst fraternities should be questioned.

Restoring the desks to fraternity houses would seem a move in the right direction for an institution whose prime objective is education.

Danforth . . .

ditions as there may be need. The maximum annual grant for single Fellows is $1400 plus tuition and fees charged to all graduate students with an additional stipend of $350 for each child. Students with or without financial need are invited to apply. A Danforth Fellow is allowed to carry other scholarship appointments, such as Rhodes, Fulbright, Woodrow Wilson, Marshall, etc., concurrently with his Danforth Fellowship, and applicants for these appointments are cordially invited to apply at the same time for a Danforth Fellowship. If a man received the Danforth Appointment, together with a Rhodes Scholarship, Fulbright Scholarship, or Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, he becomes a Danforth Fellow without stipend, until these other relationships are completed.

All Danforth Fellows will participate in the annual Danforth Foundation Conference on Teaching, to be held at Camp Miniwanka in Michigan next September, 1959.

The qualifications of the candidates as listed in the announcement from the Foundation are: men of outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, and integrity and character, including serious inquiry within the Christian tradition.

All applications, including the recommendations, must be completed by January 31, 1959. Any student wishing further information should get in touch with Dean Hughes.

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE - BUT TODAY'S L&M GIVES YOU-

Four field goals in one game by a man who'd never kicked one before! Bobby Conrad himself said, "I never kicked a field goal in high school or college. In fact, I never even tried." But the amazing Texas A&M back broke two All Star records by booting four three-pointers, including one for 44 yards, as the 1958 college stars upset the Detroit Lions, 35 to 19. Conrad is now a Chicago Cardinal.
